Pat uses a strong touch of diplomacy when viewing the Wings in action. She usually sits alone or with a friend, rather than with the wives of other players. She does not do this because of "snooty" characteristics—Pat is far from being placed in that category. She is using common sense and there is no point in causing feelings should an argumentative point arise during a game. She is an outstanding young helpmeet, one who should assist Johnny to travel far along the pro hockey trail.

Johnny is one of a hockey-playing duo of brothers. Larry, a year younger, is with the Hawks and will likely team up with Johnny on a new Hawk line this winter. Larry is a centre player, while brother Johnny patrols the left fore-lanes. They were born in Kincardine, Ont., and played junior hockey together before joining the Windsor Spitfires, a Junior "A" squad. Both went to Detroit in 1949-50, and both went to Omaha and Indianapolis the following two seasons respectively. They came back to Detroit in 1950-51, back to Indianapolis the next year, then back to the Wings the following season.

Then the duo split up. Johnny remained with the Wings, while Larry was sent to Edmonton. He stayed there a season and last year was drafted by the Hawks. This year, as was said before, sees the brothers reunited. Johnny is 26 and Larry 25.

Johnny inquired about the health of former pro, "Red" Doran and "Sammy the Man" Mulholland, former team-mates of his in Indianapolis.

Durocher, Lopez Will Field Best Men in Victory Effort; Pierce, Roberts Start on Hill

By JOE REICHLER

MILWAUKEE (AP)—"To win is the thing . . . no matter whose feelings are hurt."

"I'd like to get everybody into the game," added Leo Durocher, the National League's manager in today's 22nd annual all-star clash, "but if it will weaken my team, I won't do it."

Durocher's sentiments were echoed by Al Lopez although the American League pilot did not utter them so emphatically.

"I'll play the best men I've got and substitute only when I think it will help us win," he said.

Neither pilot would venture any prediction on the outcome although each declared his squad represented "the greatest" collection of stars any manager has ever been blessed with.

Durocher, who earlier had bypassed Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn, then the National League's leading hitter, "because I need more right-handed hitting strength," surprisingly said he may not even use Willie Mays, his own center-field ace.

"IT ALL DEPENDS"

"I'll get Stan Musial in there as soon as the rules permit me (after three innings)," Leo added. "I'll have him in left field. But I may not use Willie at all if I don't have to. I don't know. It all depends on how the game goes."

Durocher reflected for a moment and apparently reconsidered: "If I do put Willie in, it will be in center field. I'll send Henry Aaron to right. I won't lose a thing because that kid is one of the best hitters in the league."

Lopez exercised the last minute switch privilege when he decided to open up with Billy Pierce, Chicago's fine lefthander after first deciding upon Early (11-4) Wynn, his own righthanded ace.

"I know that Pierce's record (5-6) does not look good on paper," Lopez said, "but it's misleading. Three of his defeats were by 1-0 scores, two by Cleveland. We beat him by that score last Friday but he looked great in defeat."

SIX SOUTHPAWS

"What made me certain about Pierce as my starter was when I realized that the other guys would start a lineup loaded with left handed strength. Ted Kluszewski, Snider, Ed Mathews, Don Mueller, switch hitting Red Schoendienst and possibly catcher Smoky Burgess. Roberts will be facing six southpaw swingers. Nellie Fox, Ted Williams, Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Mickey Vernon and Pierce. Lopez indicated strongly Pierce would be followed on the mound by Wynn for the middle three innings and Whitey (10-4) Ford, New York Yankee southpaw, for the final three, unless circumstances dictated otherwise.

Durocher said he planned to follow Roberts with Nocombe and righthander Sam Jones of the Chicago Cubs. Leo explained the choice of Jones this way: "First of all," he said, "I think Jones is a real good pitcher. I think he can be a problem to the American Leaguers because of his sharp curve and strange motion."

HAD A REST

"I've got to come in with a right-hander in the late innings because their alternates are predominately right-handed hitters. Gene Conley (Milwaukee Braves) is my only other right-hander and he pitched nine innings Sunday. Jones hasn't pitched since Tuesday."

Leo's desire for victory is stimulated by the fact that he wants to improve his record as an all-star manager. He lost 3-1 in 1942, lost again 5-2 in 1948 and on 3-2 in 1952. Lopez, on the other hand, is an all-star rookie as a pilot.

Strangely enough, no all-star game starter has been involved in a decision since 1946 when Bob Feller was the winner and Claude Passeau, the National League starter, was the loser.

The fans apparently were as enthusiastic about the game as the managers. A sellout crowd of nearly 45,000 was a virtual certainty. All the tickets, priced from $1.50 to $7 were long gone with speculators asking and getting anywhere from $25 to $75 a pair from desperate latecomers.

The odds still favored the National Leaguers who have won but eight of the previous 21 games. The game is slated for a 3 p.m. EST start.

Canadiana Second At Jamaica

NEW YORK (CP)—Canadiana, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, finished second in the $16,925 Champlain Handicap Monday as the three-week downstate session of the Saratoga Racing Association opened at Jamaica.

Mrs. Joe Goodwin's Oil Painting was the winner. The four-year-old took the lead at the start and never was headed, opening up a decisive lead in the stretch to win by six lengths in the snappy time of 1:11.

Canadiana closed fast to take the place by three-quarters of a length over Mrs. George D. Widener's Evening Out.

Bell Paces Junior Golfers

TORONTO (CP)—An 18-year-old junior golfer who borrowed a driver after breaking his own in practice shot a par 71 over the Summit club course Monday to pace the field in the qualifying round for the Ontario junior golf championship.

Billy Bell of Aurora Highlands finished four strokes better than his nearest rival, Hugh Paterson of Toronto St. George's.

The provincial finals are scheduled for this Friday at St. George's. Bell won the championship 10 years ago. Last year's winner, Steve McLean of York Downs, carded a 78 in Monday's play.

Bell and Paterson each carded an eagle three on the 492-yard ninth hole.

Chiefs Hand Jets 4-1 Loss; Wings Clip Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Columbus Jets, who have been moving along in hot and cold streaks during the International League season, are currently bogged down in one of their more frigid periods—and the slump has finally cost them fourth place.

The Jets now have dropped 12 out of 18 since June 27, when a 10-game winning streak put them into the first division. Despite the slump they clung tenaciously to fourth place until Monday night, when a 4-1 loss to Syracuse, plus Rochester's 2-1 victory over Toronto moved Rochester into the first division and Columbus out.

The rest of the league was postponed by rain.

A ninth-inning home run by Syracuse catcher Lou Heyman, who came in to catch earlier in the inning, broke up a 1-1 tie. The big blow came off reliever Jim Miller, who took over for starter Ossie van Brabant in the eighth when van Brabant allowed the tying run.

STARTER REPLACED

Columbus had scored in the sixth inning on a walk, Dick Kryhoski's single and an error.

Syracuse starter Dick Farrell lasted eight innings before being lifted for a pinch-hitter. Jack Spring pitched the final inning to get credit for the victory. Each team backed up their hurlers defensively by reeling off three double plays.

Lefthander Ed Ludwig pitched a strong five-hitter to bring the Red Wings out of the second division. Rochester scored twice in the first inning on three singles and a sacrifice fly. Toronto cut the lead in half in the third on a single, a wild pitch and Hector Rodriguez' double.

Jack Crimian went the distance for the Maple Leafs. Except for the lone Toronto run Ludwig was never in any serious trouble as he fudomately walked two, in gaining his fourth victory against two setbacks.

Favorites Win In Opening Tennis Matches

By MEL MORR

Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)

"Most of the weekend players were on the sidelines today as the nation's top tennis stars, headed by three newly-named Davis Cuppers, prepared for some serious play in quest of the Canadian championship.

Densons of Quebec players, many of whom entered the tournament with a nothing-to-lose attitude, were eliminated during the first day's play, marked by only one upset.

That came when Jean Marois, a former professional hockey goalie with the Quebec Aces, dropped dinky little placements all over the court to edict 11th-seeded Jim Bentley of Toronto 6-1, 6-6, 6-4.

Henri Rochon, the little Montreal veteran who went into his match with sixth seeded and came out a member of the Davis Cup team, easily whipped Roger Labrie of St. Georges de Beauce, Que., 6-2, 6-2. Rochon's selection to his ninth Davis Cup team was announced while he was on the court and he did not know of it until told by a reporter after the match.

MAIN PLAYS TODAY

Top-seeded Lorne Main of Toronto and Vancouver and second-ranked Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., picked to the cup team along with Rochon, play their first matches today and both are expected to win in walkovers. Main plays Guy Michaud, a little-known Quebec player, and Bedard opposes Gaston Blais, another local entry.

Monday's selections left four positions to battle it out for the last position on the team, unless the selection committee decided to go along with only three players. They are Larry Barclay, John Swann and Paul Willey of Vancouver and Don Fontana of Toronto.

Performances in this tournament are expected to decide who will complete the squad.

Willey and Barclay got off to fast starts Monday by winning two matches apiece. Willey whipped Jacques Robitaille of Quebec 6-1, 6-1, and Maurice Benoit of Montreal, 6-0, 6-2, while Barclay downed H. Hendy of Toronto 6-2, 6-1, and Theo Paradis of Quebec 6-1, 6-1.

BIG PAY-OFF

CHICAGO (AP)—Forty-seven winning tickets were purchased at Arlington Park Monday on a daily double payoff of $1,435.60, biggest of the year in Chicago.

The combination was made up of Harvey C. Freuhau's Windtrace, who took the first race at $38.80, and Mrs. Jake Lowenstein's Sugar Dad, $72.40 winner in the second. Each $10 ticket was worth $17.6.

Why only TCP gets the full power from High Octane Gasoline

You might expect that all you need to get the full power out of a high compression engine is high octane gasoline. Actually you need more than just high octane—you need a gasoline with a special kind of additive.

That's because the way most of us drive most of the time—short trips here and there—creates a power-wasting problem that neither engine design nor highest octane gasoline can solve by themselves.

This problem is the increased build-up of certain deposits within the combustion chambers . . . the principal cause of power waste.

What happens is this:

As your engine warms up, these deposits warm up, too—glow red hot. And these glowing particles act like hot coals—ignite the gasoline mixture ahead of time . . . before the pistons reach proper firing position. This is called pre-firing and means that power works against you instead of for you.

In addition, these same deposits have another power-wasting effect: They foul spark plugs, causing your engine to miss.

Engineers will tell you there's nothing more wasteful of power and gasoline than pre-firing and spark plug "miss."

But there is an answer—there's one high octane gasoline that gives you all the advantages of high octane without the power-crippling effects of these deposits—Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP®.

TCP, the Shell-developed additive, fireproofs the deposits so that they no longer cause pre-firing. No longer can they glow red hot and ignite the gasoline mixture. And TCP stops spark plug "miss," too. Your spark plugs do the job they are supposed to do.

Start getting the full power built into your engine. Get Shell Premium with TCP. It's the most powerful gasoline your car can use!

*Shell's trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and High Octane!

Top Players 'Jump' Panthers

KITCHENER (CP)—Kitchener Panthers of the Intercounty Senior Baseball League have run into another crisis in their management.

Last month the directors of the club withdrew their services and left the running of the team up to the players. Since that time Panthers have found the situation not too bad and have climbed from fourth place to second in league standings.

However, a couple of the team's top United States imports have thrown in the towel and gone home. Preston Elkins, a top pitcher with the club this season who had a 6-2 won-and-lost record, left the team a week ago for a North Dakota league.

Monday Dolph Regelsky, another good U.S. import, followed him. Regelsky was batting .350 when he left.

In an effort to fill the gaps left by the two players, Panthers signed Johnny Ambrose, who was released by St. Thomas Elgins.

The 25-year-old pitcher from Vineland, N.J., will take over Elkins' pitching chores. Kitchener hope to re-sign George Boniface to fill the infield gap. The club has until Friday to make any changes on the playing roster.

Fat Rolls as Grid Prospects Start Shape-Producing Grind

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tons of fat will roll off hundreds of players before the end of the month as Canada's big-league football teams beat down on the business of getting into shape for the 1955 season.

While sports fans talk about baseball or take in their favorite fishing spots, football players in the Big Four and Western Interprovincial unions are going through light drills to work off excess lard. The target is the Grey Cup, the country's greatest football classic. Six of the nine WIFU and Big Four clubs have started training. Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the east and British Columbia Lions and Edmonton Eskimos in the west got their practices underway Monday night.

Saskatchewan Roughriders and Calgary Stampeders held drills last night. The other three pro teams, Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Ottawa Rough Riders and Montreal Alouettes, go through their first session Friday night.

More than 450 players, many of them United States imports, will be shooting for a position on the clubs. Scores will be cut loose long before the seasons open. The 16-game WIFU schedule starts Aug. 20 with Winnipeg at Regina and Edmonton at Calgary. The Big Four opens Sept. 3. Hamilton is at Toronto and Ottawa goes to Montreal.

MAY LOSE JOBS

Although some high-priced imports have been signed to no-cut contracts, there's no guarantee they'll be around to play. In the words of Argonaut coach Bill Swicki:

"If another player shows me he can do the job better, he'll get it. We'll pay off any other player with a no-cut contract if it means we can get a Big Four club jumped the gun on training. It was originally set to open July 15 but Argonauts said they intended to start

Monday night. After a poll vote of league clubs the date was changed. That's when Tiger-Cats switched their starting time.

Swicki had his team running off plays. He also had a couple of training gadgets—a tackle dummy and a cross-cross pater of ropes tightly strung about a foot above ground that tripped up quite a few who tried to negotiate the obstacle course.

Two signed imports missed the practice. They were Gil Mains, who had a wrestling date out of town and Bucky Curtis, an end with Vanderbilt and Cleveland Browns of the week after his discharge from the U.S. Army.

GI TRY OUT

Guard Bill Albright from New York Giants impressed about 500 onlookers with the ferocious way he engaged the tackle dummy. The heaviest man to report was tackle Billy Shipp, formerly with the Giants. He went 300 pounds.

Treat coach Carl Voyles had his first look at new recruits in action when 61 players turned out for the Hamilton workout. Voyles put the players through light exercises, kicking and passing practice. Voyles also gave a short chalk talk.

About 50 candidates appeared for the first practice drill with Edmonton Eskimos, 1954 Grey Cup champions. They were eyed by the largest coaching staff in the club's history—coach Frank (Pop) Ivy, assistants Ray Prochaskas and Eagle Keys plus special practice coaches Darrell Royal and Gomer Jones.

Ivy doesn't intend to stand pat on his championship team. He says the ones who make the team will have proven their right by performance this year—not on last season's record.

Lions held their scrimmage at Edmonton, B.C. Fifty-eight players, including 25 imports, were on hand.

Orfuns Down Bobcats 9-1 For Tenth Win

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Combining the two-hit hurling of Bobby Hunter and a 13-hit attack, led by Vic Bromley, the Belleville Orfuns wrapped up their tenth victory of the season last night in the B. and D. Softball League, a 9-1 decision over their inter-city rivals, the Bobcats.

Hunter fired brilliant ball for the Orfuns, allowing a single in the second and an infield hit in the seventh. The Bobcats broke his goose-egg in the eighth on a pair of walks and as many errors while Bob whiffed six and walked five.

Meanwhile his mates got to Al Adams for three runs in the fifth and chased him in the sixth. Adams left with two runs in and two on and his successor, Skip Dracup, was greeted with Vern Goyer's three-run homer for a total of five runs and an 8-0 score. The completed the scoring in the ninth with a single tally.

Adams took the loss in 5 2/3 frames, allowing seven runs on nine hits, fanning one and walking four. Skip Dracup completed the game, touched for four hits, striking out two and passing one man.

Right fielder Vic Bromley paced the winner's attack with a home run, double and two singles in five trips to the plate, while Vern Goyer clouted his homer and a single. Jack Wardhaugh also had two hits, including a double, while Doug Hull, Jones and Hunter hit doubles and singles went to Batheolter and Carr. Carl Woods had the first Bobcat blow to score, field while Doug Bone beat out a grounder to deep short for the other safety. Ron Belnap came up with a beautiful running shoestring catch on Gord Donovan's liner in the seventh to end the game.

Jack Wardhaugh slashed a single off Woods' legs at third base to open their three-run inning and Claude Carr followed up with a double-blow single down the first base line. Hull plated one run with a double and Dave Jones' two-bagger sent another pair home.

An error started the fateful Carl Hull was safe on fielder's choice and J. Batheolter singled sharply to centre for another tally. Dracup came in from the outfield and with a two-strike count on the batter, Goyer pulled his homer down the left field line. Vic Bromley completed his hitting spree with a line drive homer to right centre in the ninth for the final tally. The Cats scored on walks to Creegan and Woods and errors by Hunter and Russell, the latter's a throwing error that would have completed the inning.

The Bobcats looked good on the field, making but one error. The line-ups: Orfuns—Wardhaugh, Carr, Hull, Batheolter, Goyer, Jones, Bromley, Soule, Russell, Belnap, Hunter. Bobcats—Dracup, Creegan, Lockyer, Woods, Donovan, Bone, Adams, Empp, Day, Temple. Line score: Orfuns 9, Bobcats 1.

Consuegra Looms As ERA Winner In American Loop

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Consuegra, the crafty right-hander from Cuba, is in a good position to become the first relief pitcher to win the American League's earned run title.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press today show Consuegra, a Chicago White Sox mainstay, leads the American League in the earned run competition with a brilliant 1.55 mark. He has given up only 18 earned runs in 83 innings while winning five games and losing four.

Bob Rush of the St. Louis Cardinals, another Latin, is the National League's pace-setter with a 2.43 average. The little lefty from Puerto Rico has given up 30 unearned tallies in 111 innings. He has won 10 games and lost three. The only relief expert to capture a major league earned run crown was Hoyt Wilhelm of the New York Giants, who finished with a mark of 2.84.

Billy Pierce, also of the White Sox, is second to Consuegra in the American League. He has permitted 22 earned runs in 94 innings for a 2.11 ERA. Pierce is followed by teammate Dick Donovan with 2.21, Jim Wilson of Baltimore with 2.25 and Whitey Ford of the Yankees with 2.60.

Bob Rush of the Chicago Cubs is runnerup to Arroyo in the National. He has an unimpressive 5-5 won-loss record, but has given up only 41 earned runs in 130 frames for a mark of 2.84.

Roberto Roberts of Philadelphia, a 13-game winner, is third with 2.88. Don Newcombe of Brooklyn, who boasts a fine 14-1 record, is fourth with 2.93. Then come Warren Hacker of Chicago with 3.02 and Sal Maglie of the New York Giants with 3.03.

'Mother's Decision' Yells DeMarco After Dropping Verdict to Dupas

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Paddy DeMarco, the bloodied Brooklyn billygoat, today belittled for a rematch with top-ranked Ralph Dupas in a "mother's decision" in a 10-round loss to the French-quarter speedster.

The former lightweight champion dropped a decision Monday night to the New Orleans fifty-rated No. 1 challenger for Bud Smith's lightweight crown.

Although most of the blood was DeMarco's everybody in the ring and many front-row spectators were some of it when it was over. DeMarco fumed in his dressing room. "I think he's nothing, that's what I think. He misses a jab and the crowd goes crazy. What kind of a shake is that?"

"Talk about your hometown decisions, this was a mother's decision. I beat him easier than I did last time," the stubby brawler said, referring to his 10-round decision over Dupas in January, 1954. Dupas hit DeMarco really used his head in the fight—as a battering ram.

"I was more afraid of his head than his hands," the 19-year-old Dupas said. He contended that a DeMarco but caused a slight cut on the bridge of his nose.

Referee Francis Kercheval had Dupas in front 4-3, while Judge Lucian Joubert tabbed it five rounds for Dupas, three for DeMarco and two even and Judge Phil Gaffney saw it for Dupas 72-71.

TOLEDO LOST TOSS LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Minneapolis won the toss of a coin from Toledo Monday and became the site for the 1955 American Association all-star baseball game July 21.

The game customarily is played in the city atop association standings on July 10. However, Toledo and Minneapolis are tied, making the coin-toss necessary.

Keeping Wrists Cocked on the Downswing

Today's player is demonstrating pretty good form in most respects except for one serious error. He has had the artist illustrate this with dotted lines. Can you spot what the error is?

It's that old bonehead play nearly all fair-weather golfers have had the artist illustrate this with dotted lines. Can you spot what the error is?

The wrists must remain fully cocked until the hands get down to about hip level. If they don't, the "oomph" is all gone from the swing before the clubhead gets anywhere near the ball.

If the wrists remain properly cocked, then the club at this point of the downswing is still back over the right shoulder, as indicated by the dotted line, instead of perpendicular as shown by the solid line.

Other than this one flaw (which causes slices and robs the stroke of power), the form shown is good. I like the straight left arm and the way the player's hip turn and body pivot are leading the shoulder and arm action.

Note also the slightly flexed position of both knees, giving him kind of a "sitting down" posture at this stage. This is correct form. (Copyright 1955, by John F. Dille Co.)

DROWNED AFTER JUMP
DURHAM (CP) — Leslie Lawrence, 10, of Durham, was drowned in a pond near here Monday. Lawrence, with a companion, jumped off a diving board into seven feet of water. Both were unable to swim. The boy was rescued after 10 minutes. His companion, also 10, was rescued.

Thinks Carib Stars Burn Selves Out With Year-Round Baseball Play

By GATLEY TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The relegation of Chico Carrasquel to second string shortstop for Chicago White Sox and the charge of "indifferent play" lodged against the graceful Venezuelan recalls some off-the-record remarks made by an American League manager in Florida last spring.

"I'd have to give the Sox a real good chance to win it," he said. "If there was some way of knowing that Carrasquel was going to lose every game, I'd be beginning to wonder if Chico will ever play that way again."

"When he first came up in 1950, and for a year or two after that, he was as great a fielding shortstop as I ever saw and he could hit, too."

"But even in those years I seemed to notice that Chico made his most miraculous plays when the opposing shortstop was Phil Rizzuto or Lou Boudreau or Marty Marion. He recognized them as great shortstops, and he was determined to prove that he was even better. He made it mighty close."

LOST INTEREST

"But then, as they began to play out, it seemed to me that Chico started to lose interest. He had no one left quite in his class, no one to offer him the challenge he needed."

Pointing out that Carrasquel was only 27 and should be approaching his prime, the manager said he believed we would see more and more cases of players from the Caribbean countries going "over the hill" much earlier than is usual.

"I've noticed that they come up here full of fire," he said. "I think they're determined to show the home folks that they are big leaguers. Maybe they try even a little harder than our own boys at first, but once they've got it made that seems to be it. Their minds don't stay on baseball."

"One reason is, I suppose, that they play all year—all summer up here and all winter down home. They never have a chance to sit around and wish for the season to start again. The game just comes a job to do and to forget when the last out is made. They don't sit around and play a game over in the clubhouse. They want to get out and enjoy themselves."

This carefree attitude is the principal reason the magnates would like to hold their stars out of the Caribbean League. They want their men to be baseball-hungry each March 1, and to think of little else right through September. They like to have a spot of trouble with the Caribbean League before it's settled.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, July 13, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Mental alertness, study, quickness of perception and artistic matters are rightly favored today. Astute judgment and sensible caution needed in financial transactions; however, watch budget carefully.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — You should be able to turn in a good record today. Be keen about opportunities but don't be extravagant or make promises which you cannot fulfill. Examine financial propositions carefully.

July 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Caution is stressed in personal affairs, in disposition and attitude toward others, obligations. Otherwise, the day is propitious. Home, family, children's interests and artistic matters highly favored.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — This day's aspects were against buying foolishly, spending beyond your means. But thoughtfulness and smart management can bring benefits, even unlooked for gains in your work, family matters.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — This can be an excellent period for you and the activities of work for which you have both talent and ability. Be ambitious and have faith in succeeding, but don't overdo and injure health.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Notation to Taurus also pertains to you today. Bonuses and fresh opportunities will reward your earnest efforts. Exercise care in money matters but try to advance all you can, occupationally.

BLACKHEADS
Don't squeeze blackheads — dissolve them. Get two ounces of PEROXINE POWDER from any drug store and apply gently with wet cloth over the blackheads. They simply dissolve and disappear by this safe method.

October 24 to November 22 —

(Scorpio) — Mars' position warns of irritability in the air. Have no part of it. A genial, understanding attitude is very important if you would obtain co-operation and put across your best ideas.

November 23 to December 22 — (Sagittarius) — Restraint, sensible caution stressed now. Both Jupiter and Mars admonish you to be of your sensible self, especially in financial and personal matters. Day benefic for those worthwhile activities.

December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — Accept responsibilities—even the tedious details cheerfully and you will sail along with fresh advantages on your side. Laborious tasks may be done less quickly than artistic and domestic ones.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — Neither too restrictive nor too stimulating a day. A great deal depends upon your type of work and the tempo with which you proceed. System and steadiness of effort are important.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Don't yield to worry or doubts. Be mindful of your fine qualities and go forward with confidence. You can accomplish much.

You born today have many wonderful characteristics, including love of family, home, children; kindness and patience with the lonely and ill. Keep restlessness and changeability under control. Recognition of the value of new methods, materials, machinery, etc. You have special talent and aptitude for progressive occupations, executive management, manufacturing selling, the stage and law. Birthdate: John Dee, mathematician, astrologer.

Tests With Mice
Do Not Reveal
Any Connection

LONDON (Reuters)—Tests with mice during an 18-month period have not revealed any connection between smoking and lung cancer, the British Empire Cancer Campaign announced today.

But preliminary research suggested a connection between cancer of the stomach and certain soil characteristics, the report said. It said there was increasing recognition of many naturally-occurring substances capable of inducing cancer.

The report said two preparations of artificially-produced tar from cigarette smoke had been tested in five strains of mice over 18 months in test at Leeds. There has been a "completely negative result to date."

The report said no induction of lung cancer had been observed in other experiments where mice were exposed to cigarette smoke for long periods. But it added that this might be due only to the "unavailability" of that particular species.

Negative results were also obtained in two other tests in which mice were fed and injected with tar from cigarettes smoked mechanically and under conditions as nearly as possible like those of ordinary smoking.

Company Gives Reason Workers Not Paid

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Holeproof Hosiery Company of Canada officials said Monday union interference with office employees has prevented it from paying back wages to 170 striking employees.

In a pamphlet distributed to the strikers, the company said it "realizes that your wages are due and wants to pay you as quickly as possible, however the union has prevented the company from doing this."

Earlier Monday officials of the Textile Workers' Union of America (CIO-CLC) said they would take court action if the strikers are not paid.

Edward Richmond, counsel for the union, said he will contact company officials to seek satisfaction. A union spokesman said the workers were to have been paid last Friday.

The workers, members of Local 826, walked off their jobs last Wednesday in protest to a company plan to cut wages.

Court Refuses
Dr. Sheppard
A New Trial

CLEVELAND (AP)—A three-judge appellate court today refused Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 31, a new trial on the basis of error in the 10-week trial which ended Dec. 21 with his conviction for second-degree murder in the bludgeoned death of his wife, Marilyn, last July 4.

The three judges indicated they would not rule until next week on a second motion by Sheppard for a new trial. The second motion is based on defence claims of "newly discovered evidence."

Should the court of appeals hold against Sheppard on this second and final motion, he would be removed from county jail to Ohio penitentiary to begin serving a life term to which he was sentenced. Under Ohio law Sheppard will be eligible for parole consideration after serving 10 years in the penitentiary.

Thomas Maldona, 21, at left, and George Peter Trent, 17, are shown at police station in Mineola, N.Y., after their arrest in connection with an SOS hoax which sent the U.S. coast guard on a $50,000 sea and air search for a non-existent fishing boat reported sinking off coast of New Jersey with 21 men aboard. The pair reportedly confessed sending a phony distress call after they were picked up on burglary charges for allegedly breaking into a boat anchored at Oceanside, Long Island. The pair were arrested on a tip given police by a fishing boat captain who said the hoaxers had used his ship radio. Maldona, of East Rockaway, N.Y., told police he sent out the distress signals to show his friend, from Oceanside, how to operate the ship's radio. (Central Press Canadian).

Roller Coaster
Kills Worker

NEW YORK (AP)—Edward C. Santo, Jr., 1, collected the fares and waved goodbye to the roller coaster train at Coney Island.

Minutes later the car completed its run. Twenty white-faced passengers told the youth the three-car train had struck a man.

Santo knew immediately who the victim was. For 23 years, his father Edward Carmine Santo, 43, had walked the coaster tracks as a maintenance man.

Sure-footed and keen of hearing, he always had been able to step safely back on a catwalk to let the cars go by.

Monday, however, he appeared not to hear, the passengers said. The train hit him 23 feet above the ground, knocking him 10 feet to the catwalk that would have given him safety.

He died soon after reaching a hospital.

MR. TWEEDY

by Ned Riddle

"Nonsense, Tweedy—we insist you spend the night with us."

Little Benny's
Note Book

Mr. was signing to herself at breakfast on account of not feeling cheerful saying, "Oh dear, I don't know what's a matter with me."

Whatever it is, you'll feel better after you've heard the cockeyed dream I had last night, pop said. It was really one for the books, and if I ever write a book I'll put it in the first chapter. The way it started was, I picked up a newspaper, and the whole thing was printed upside down, he said.

G, pop, how did you read it? I said, and pop said, I stood on my head, naturally. Well, the first headline I saw said Careless Berringer Overlooks Treasure. It seems what happened was, this berringer robbed a house of 5000 dollars of jewelry and never even noticed a dozen rusty 5 and 10 cent store spoons that were in plain sight on the kitchen table, pop said.

My what a silly idea, even in a dream, ma said, and pop said, The worst is yet to come. The next MEANING he probably just made it up, and she laughed like somebody feeling better instead of worse, and pop kissed her goodbye and left for his office.

Survey Shows Most Camps Run by Youth Organizations

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Parents throughout Canada are probably heaving sighs of relief as their children head for summer camp.

A Canadian Press survey shows the camps this year are mainly sponsored by youth organizations, although some are backed by religious organizations and others are run on a commercial basis by private operators.

The camps devote much of the children's time to building character as well as healthy bodies. First aid, nature lore, swimming lessons and handicrafts will be on most programs.

MARITIMES BUSY

Camps sponsored by the YMCA, YWCA, scouts and girl guides are studied throughout the Maritime provinces and Newfoundland. Most are of two weeks' duration and fees are on a sliding scale.

In August 72 young Britons will cross the Atlantic for a six-week camp in Newfoundland, organized by the British Public Schools Exploration Society.

Three commercial camps in western Nova Scotia are open to boys from five to 18. A camp for blind children will be held in New Brunswick.

Rainbow Haven near Halifax is sponsored by the Halifax Chronicle-Herald and Halifax Mail-Star for underprivileged children.

French-speaking Canada is active in the youth camp field. In the Montreal area groups of 400 scouts are under canvas for three successive two-week periods at St. Jerome. The same number of girl guides are camping at Morin Heights.

Fresh air and sunlight aplenty are in store for youthful tuberculars at a camp run by the brothers of St. Vincent de Paul near Quebec City. A total of 500 children is expected there by the end of the summer.

More than 5,000 children and teen-agers will attend camps with accommodation for from 40 to 1,500 in the Quebec City area.

Ten thousand scouts, 4,000 of them Canadians, will attend a world jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake in mid-August. Other scouts and a few cub Scouts will spend a holiday in 200 camps dotted about Ontario's forest and lakeland.

Jewish children in Ontario have a choice of five camps organized by the YMHA and YWHA. One, a day camp, is in the garden-like Rosedale ravine which slices through bustling north-central Toronto.

SURVIVED FLOODS

Organisers of 20 camps in Manitoba expect an attendance of 10,000. Most camps are run by youth organizations but one is sponsored by a group of welfare organizations for young delinquents, the other by the Salvation Army and the United Church for the underprivileged. A summer camp in Saskatchewan was floated away as debris in the wake of one of last spring's devastating floods, but others, although some were menaced, remained intact. About 1,200 children will attend them, including 30 cripples at the Easter seal camp at Long lake near Regina.

About 4,000 young Albertans will attend summer camp this year. Edmonton will provide 1,000, Calgary 1,500. One camp near Edmonton will be for 25 diabetics aged from eight to 16. A camp near Calgary will be for the blind.

Thirty-five camps are scheduled for British Columbia, and 14,000 children are expected to attend. Most are run by youth organisations but six are commercially operated.

Full Freedom Of Information
Does Not Exist

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto radio man, Charles W. Fenlon, said today full freedom of information does not exist in Canada. He told a Kiwanis club Canadian broadcasting stations operate under strict controls, which he termed a domination of mass communication against the interests of free citizens.

Mr. Fenlon is sales director of the Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters. He said private stations do not operate within the framework of the law of the land as do all other forms of publication, but are controlled by the Broadcasting Act.

SIX IN ONE
A group which has power to regulate private stations is the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, which competes with privately-owned stations and is judge, jury, policeman, competitor, prosecutor and hanger-on, all in one, Mr. Fenlon said.

He said the necessary powers of review and regulation should be embodied in a separate regulatory body not connected with any broadcasting system.

Freedom of the press has been established and since broadcasting is electronic publication it also should be free, he said.

CANADIANS MAY ASK ABOLITION
OF SENATE--DREWHouse Rejects Motion
To Reform Chamber

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Drew says Canadians may demand abolition of the Senate unless it is reformed and made more effective.

The Progressive Conservative leader said in the Commons Tuesday there is need for an upper chamber in Canada's Parliament. But the present Senate had little impact on the public because of "unreality" in its debates.

A Commons vote of 85 to 62, however, rejected his party's motion that the government should take steps to reform the Senate so it could "more effectively discharge the constitutional function it was intended to serve."

Liberal members voted solidly against the proposal, which was supported by all opposition groups and three independent members.

CCF members said they prefer to have the Senate abolished. But if it must be retained, it should be improved.

Harold E. Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) said that since 1940 the Senate has rejected no bills sent to it from the Commons, although between 1923 and 1940 it rejected 43 of 1,164 Commons bills.

"From 1940, it is completely obvious that the Senate is the stooge of the government," Mr. Winch said.

Mr. Drew said the reason for Senate acquiescence since 1940 was a pledge required by the late Liberal prime minister Mackenzie King that senators he appointed would agree to support government legislation. Since 1940, there had been a Liberal majority in the upper house.

The 102-seat Senate now has 73 Liberals, seven Progressive Conservatives and 22 vacancies.

Mr. Drew said the need for Senate reform would only be obscured if Prime Minister St. Laurent, as reported in press speculation, appointed politically-independent persons to the Senate.

Unless the Senate was made more effective, there might be an overwhelming demand for its abolition. It cost $3,000,000 a year to operate. The government should make sure the money is well spent.

KITCHENER (CP)—A Toronto man held in jail here 38 days awaiting trial, was released Tuesday after a Kitchener lawyer successfully defended him against a charge of breaking, entering and theft.

A. W. Boos, appearing in court on another case, offered his services when Montag told deputy magistrate Alan Barron he could not afford a lawyer.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING

BELGRADE (AP)—Nine persons were killed Tuesday when lightning struck an abandoned house on the road near Zabljak, high up in the mountains of Yugoslavia's Republic of Montenegro. A storm forced 12 persons to look for shelter in the house. Nine of them including two children were killed.

Only Reade, 26, and her daughter, Cheryl, 12, were left early Tuesday.

"Inwardly I feel that I want to be the best Christian in the world and outwardly I'm a damn mad," she told police. "I can't control the outward part and I don't know why."

Francis Reade, 24, the husband and father, found the nude body of his daughter in a bedroom of his four-room apartment as he returned home from work.

Russians Propose All-European Collective Security System

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
MOSCOW (AP)—Russia has proposed a step-by-step reunification of Europe in an all-European collective security system. The Russians said Tuesday night the holding of all-European elections to reunite the former Reich was a "subordinate" problem which could wait.

"The solution of the German question," the Russians said, "is indisputably linked with ensuring the security of Europe as a whole."

The Russians warned against involving West Germany, or a reunited Germany, in any military alliance. Such a policy, they said, "leads to an increased threat of a new war."

The Soviet statement was issued through the official news agency Tass and came six days before the Big Four summit conference at Geneva.

"It is not possible under present conditions to reach immediate agreement on the reunification of Germany on peace-loving and democratic foundations," the statement said, "it will be necessary to obtain the solution of this problem step by step in accordance with the establishment of an all-European system of collective security, with the participation of all European states irrespective of their social and political differences."

The statement said both West Germany and Communist East Germany could join such a security system, then work within it for reunification.

The statement turned thumbs down on any plan that would give Germany a choice of linking up with the Western military alliance.

Officials in Washington said the Soviet statement would be studied carefully to see if it offered any new opening for negotiations at Geneva. Observers said it appeared that Russia was hardening its basic position on German unification.

The West has not announced formally any plan it will offer at Geneva on this question, but diplomatic informants have reported the Big Three would propose a guarantee against aggression for Communist Europe if the Russians would agree to free elections to unify Germany.

Two London Men Charged
With Daring $18,000 Theft

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two local men have been charged with robbery following a daring daylight theft of more than $18,000 in bank notes from a Canadian Pacific Railway express truck driver late Tuesday.

Donald Antone, 24, and Hubert Nevitt, 22, both of London were arrested about 1½ hours after the robbery, police said. Most of the money was recovered.

Truck driver Victor St. Louis of London told police he had just got into his truck after picking up the money from a CPR telegraph office when a man opened the right hand door and snatched the parcel.

St. Louis said when he jumped out of the truck to give chase he was confronted by a second man.

Police said the package contained $18,300 in old Canadian bank notes and was being shipped from a branch of the Royal Bank here to Ottawa for disposal.

Immediately following the robbery, police threw up road blocks on all main arteries out of the city. Antone and Nevitt were apprehended while riding in a truck.

Police said the truck driver, who was later released, told them he had been approached by the two men and asked to drive them to St. Thomas.

TRUCK DRIVER, BERSERK FROM DRINK, KILLS 3Irritated by Laughing,
Giggling of Patrons

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A drinking truck driver, irritated by the "laughing and giggling" of fellow patrons, shot two couples in the head in a neighborhood tavern Tuesday night, state police reported.

Two women and a man were killed. Another man was near death today.

Kenneth Kuzner, 30, of Detroit was seized in his truck a short time later near Pontiac, 25 miles from the scene. Police said he readily admitted the shootings and could give no explanation except the irritation other patrons caused him. They said he had been drinking but was not drunk.

"I was just out for a good time," police quoted him as saying.

"TOTAL STRANGERS"
Kuzner told officers the four victims were "total strangers."

They were sitting together in a booth at a bar and restaurant at suburban Grand Blanc when Kuzner walked in.

State police said Kuzner sat at the bar drinking a beer. When he finished, they said, he went to a rest room, came out and strode up to the two couples' booth, spoke not a word and began firing point blank.

"I thought they were firecrackers," Mrs. Edna Smitley, the proprietor, said of the rapid-fire shots.

Other patrons said the man threw the empty shells at them and riddled his gun before leaving.

Said Farah, 26, of Flint, and his wife, Jeannine, died minutes later. Farah belonged to a prominent family that operates a grocery chain.

Mrs. Margaret S. Cross, 37, a divorcee, died two hours later in hospital.

James Dollars, 26, who was with Mrs. Cross, was reported in a critical condition. He is a Flint junior college student.

Mrs. Smitley said the four victims had not been noisy and had done "absolutely nothing" to provoke the shootings.

Brig. S. Lett
Chief Justice
Of B.C. Court

OTTAWA (CP)—Brig. Sherwood Lett, 60, of Vancouver today was appointed chief justice of the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

The wartime army commander who until recently served on the Indo-China truce commission succeeds the late Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, in announcing the appointment, said it takes effect Sept. 1. The post carries a salary of $18,500 a year.

Brig. Lett, wounded at Dieppe in 1942, fought in the two world wars. He is a short, slender and quiet-spoken man who was born at Trois-Rivières, Ont., and attended the University of British Columbia and Trinity College, Oxford.

Watchers Find Whooping Cranes
In Secret Nesting Area Increasing

OTTAWA (CP)—Watchers of the elusive whooping crane have discovered that the big, white bird is once again on the increase.

W. W. Mair, chief of the resources department's wildlife service, told a press conference Tuesday two pairs of young whoopers have been spotted by wildlife officials in Wood Buffalo Park, a 17,000-square-mile Buffalo sanctuary that straddles the Alberta-Northwest Territories border.

The discovery brings the known total of their nests to a deep secret until last year, when Mair searches located three nests 50 miles west of Fort Smith, N.W.T.

A round party sent into the area to observe the birds is on its way out, but only sketchy reports of its findings have been received so far.

It is known, however, that four young cranes were spotted during a helicopter flight July 6 by Robert Allen, noted United States wildlife authority.

In Shark-Infested Waters

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (Reuters)—Nineteen crew members were missing and at least one was killed after the British cargo vessel Geologist collided with another ship and sank off the northwest coast of Trinidad early today.

Port officials here said 22 of the 42 persons aboard the 6,155-ton Geologist were picked up after the disaster, and one body was recovered. But the rest of the ship's personnel were still missing in shark-infested waters between the coast of Venezuela and a group of islands of the northwest Trinidad coast.

The Geologist collided with the 5,221-ton Liberian ore carrier Sun Princess. The Sun Princess later limped into Port of Spain harbor.

The Geologist was on its way from Britain to Trinidad with 3,600 tons of general cargo, including motor cars.

Farm Union Calls
For Co-operation With Labor

SASKATON (CP)—Delegates to the Interprovincial Farm Union Council voted unanimously Tuesday in favor of closer co-operation.

Clarence Wyatt, Trades and Labor Congress Saskatchewan representative, told the convention that "when labor and farmers get together there's nothing they can't do."

Working together, he said, "we can replace any government that's in power."

The resolution urged the IFUC and the various provincial farm unions to seek the "closest possible co-operation with existing and geographic areas."

Close co-operation is "in the best interest of both farmers and workers," and Canada's farmers and workers "have long suffered" as a result of one group pitted against the other "by and in the interest of the selfish few," the motion added.

"Farmers and labor cannot be split down the middle as in the past," said Mr. Wyatt. "Labor wants 'the earth and the fullness thereof.' You farmers want the same thing. There is nothing too noble or too lofty that is not within your power to attain."

Calling for an organization which would include every farmer across Canada, the labor representative said, "when we once begin to organize to the extent we should, then governments must sit up and take notice."

NAPANEE (CP)—The grand walk was just over and the speeches were about to start.

It was the turn of the Orange-Bome of the village of Marlbank, 18 miles north of this eastern Ontario town, to act as hosts Tuesday to district Loyal Orange lodges.

All but 10 of Marlbank's adults and youths were here for the day when police stopped the parade with this emergency message:

"Marlbank men please return home immediately. A fire is threatening to wipe out the village."

The men ran in all directions. The heading for their cars and the rush

Glorious Twelfth Celebration
At Madoc Attracts 28 Lodges

MADOC (Staff.)—With pomp and pride Orangemen of Central Hastings County gathered yesterday for the 25th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne here.

It was one of the most outstanding Loyal Orange celebrations of recent times here, about 700 Orangemen, their aides, petitioners and junior organizations from 28 lodges taking part. Beside the traditional principles of their order which they were reasserting all of them were agreed on one thing—that King Billy's Day should be hailed on July 12th, and no excuse should be offered for holding the celebration on an alternative day.

There was loud applause from the assembled Orangemen in the town's fairgrounds when John McMurray, United church minister at Foxboro-Roslin, said from the speakers' platform he believed a petition should be sent to the Grand Lodge to ensure the Walk would be held on no other day save July 12th.

"I believe that if we are going to celebrate the Battle of the Boyne we should do so on the eighth of July, or the ninth of July but on the twelfth of July—and let's make it a real celebration."

Celebrating it on the proper day as they were, his listeners did yesterday's walk proud. A cooling breeze floating over the fair grounds as the parade started off in bright sunshine swinging out onto the highway at about 1:30 p.m. For nearly an hour it wended its colorful way through the district and the town's streets, returning at 2:40 to the grounds.

At the head of the loyal bodies rode County Master Nelson Howard seated on the traditional white steed. However, he was far from being alone in the glory of riding a King Billy steed. Immediately behind him were other mounted riders while at intervals along the line six other riders preceded their various lodges.

Amid all the centuries-old traditions of open rebellion, Orange drums and fifes and slogans of steadfastness to the cause a concession to modern times danced prettily several yards in front of the procession.

It was a drum-major, in this case Fredine Smith of Belleville.

Behind a pipe band there were 13 fife and drum combinations to shrill out time for the marching lodges as they marched past. Among the most colorful of course were the women's lodges, clad in pure white dresses, sprinkled with the red and orange of sashes and club orders. The men of Wallbridge lodge made an orderly and cool-appearing array as they stepped in all of them wearing uniform sun helmets.

However, the outstanding members of the procession were the youngest. Pride of the entire turnout was Beulah JOL 378, whose turnout drew admiring comment from spectators and speakers alike. Neat and trim, they wore short cloaks of royal blue and marched behind their own horseman—who was riding a small brown pony.

Following the tour of the bannered highway and streets of the town, the parade slowly wended its way back to the grounds and dispersed toward the waiting throng, clustered around the refreshment stand tended by members of the Madoc lodges. A welcome blast greeted the parade's return from the whistle of an old steam engine, set up in the grounds to cook potatoes for the meal to be served by the Madoc busy in the city Tuesday. This 20 cents had been stolen.

The speaking session was under the direction of County Master Howard. First speaker of the day was William Cottrell, Past County Master who underlined the importance of the day played by young people in the organization.

"We look to the young people and we only hope with all our hearts that they should be properly instructed in those principles for which we are banded together," he said.

GRAND CHAPLAIN HEARD

F. C. Beazer, Grand Chaplain, Ontario East, stressed the necessity of the day for Protestant teachers in public schools.

"I think the Orange Order should say something of letting Protestants take care of the immigration and the great Dominion of Canada," he told them.

He reminded the gathering of the importance of the Bible to the organization: "Take the Bible away then indeed Protestantism will fall immediately—that is our great stand."

"The Orange Order is by no means dead. It will live on for ever and ever, because I consider Protestantism as absolute necessary in the Dominion of Canada."

To younger members he emphasized the need of turning out to every lodge meeting, because unless you attend the meetings you are apt to become lukewarm and indifferent."

Roscoe Robson, M.L.A., Hastings East, noted the turnout of junior lodges and spoke briefly on the importance of the lodge to the younger people.

John McMurray recalled King William's victory at the Boyne and said he achieved it because he had dedicated his life to Jesus Christ, entirely and completely.

"We should be able to give ourselves wholeheartedly to Jesus Christ," for then it would be possible to protect against the teachings of the church of Rome, which he dubbed "corrupt, evil and iniquitous."

He commented on the Catholic teaching that the Virgin Mary is the mediator between God and human beings and said "Such teaching is utter blasphemy and nonsense and is not according to the word of God. Christ is our mediator."

He criticized Catholic teachings that the Virgin Mary is the Queen of Heaven, holding that if such is the case then the Virgin Mary rules from the throne of Heaven.

GREETINGS FROM GRAND LODGE

"Christ not only died. Christ not only lives again; but Christ, the Christ of the Bible can save you from your sins."

"Jesus died. Jesus loves. Jesus saves."

"Jesus Christ is the only one who can save you from your sins and from hell itself," he said.

Rev. H. Beare, deputy Grand Chaplain, Ontario East, spoke briefly on the essence of the Orange movement.

"The Order," he said, "encourages truth and worship of God, loyalty to the sovereign and law-abidance."

Greetings from the Grand Lodge of Ontario East were extended the throng by Fred Bateman, past Grand Master of Ontario East.

"I believe no fraternal organization has stood the test of time so well as the Orange organization, for such a number of years," he said.

The reason for its continued life was that "the Bible is an integral part of the organization," he said.

House Down

PERUGIA, Italy (AP)—Whoever wrote those latest anti-Communist leaflets in the Hungarian language brought the house down here in Italy.

A balloon carrying some of the leaflets drifted hundreds of miles off course and stuck in a tree near Florino Pezzanera's farm at Monte Castello.

The farmer carried it home and cut it open with scissors to see what was inside.

But he stood close to the fireplace where dinner was cooking. The gas in the balloon exploded. The roof, caved in. Pezzanera was taken to the hospital for treatment.

The new synagogue, which the Sons of Jacob are erecting on the southeast corner of Bleeker and Victoria Avenues. Jewish Community of City,
Trenton, Picton Signs Contract
To Construct New Synagogue

A new adventure in the life of Belleville district's Jewish community begins this week.

It takes the gleaming shape of a new synagogue, the first specifically-designed place of worship and community activity in the congregation's history.

Ground shortly will be broken on the south-east corner of Bleeker and Victoria Avenues, and the structure should be completed by the end of this year.

Yesterday, the plans and hopes of the Sons of Jacob congregation, the district's Jewish community, which includes Belleville, Picton and Trenton, passed into the embryo stage with the signing of a construction contract by the community's officers and the Tatham Co. Ltd., Belleville construction firm.

Announcement of the signing was made by J. Albert, president of the congregation.

The design of the building is the work of the Belleville architectural firm of Watson and Wiegand and was planned with an eye of making the synagogue fit in with its location and to have it a credit to the residential district in which it will be located.

First seeds were laid in the plot for the new structure last January, when a building campaign was organized among members of the community. Although the Sons of Jacob congregation is a comparatively small one, consisting of about 45 families in the three centres, the campaign was successful because the entire community subscribed to it "one hundred per cent," one spokesman said.

When the new synagogue is in active use, it will present a sharp contrast to the congregation's present centre, which has been in use for over a quarter century. The present synagogue on Pinnacle St. has been a centre of Jewish worship and activity since 1929 when the congregation, which then counted only 20 families as its total membership, took over and converted an old house into a synagogue.

A single-storey building, the new synagogue will present a facade of brick and large expanses of glass, cased in aluminum frames.

It is built roughly in the shape of a T with the chapel forming the body of the T. The main entrance will face Victoria Ave. and through it visitors will pass into a foyer giving access to the chapel, a large auditorium, a classroom and a small club room.

Focal point of the synagogue's activities will be, of course, the chapel. Treated with wood arch timbers, it has a wooden ceiling and is lighted by a single stained glass window, facing north along one entire wall, and glazed with various shades of amber-tinted glass.

It will seat an estimated 60 people. The chapel is divided from the auditorium by a large sliding door, which, during special holy days can be rolled back to allow a seating capacity of nearly 300.

A half-flight of steps leads from the foyer up to the classroom, used by the community for instruction of the younger generation in Hebrew. It is equipped with every facility of the modern and is laid out to provide for future easy subdivision of the class into a junior and senior school. Down a half-flight of stairs takes the visitor to a small club room, which will be used for small social gatherings and committee meetings.

WILL ERECT STAGE

The main body of the building is made up by the auditorium, which will be a centre for large social gatherings. Here a stage and dressing rooms have been planned for dramatic presentations and concerts while the job of holding a banquet will be made easy by large, fully-equipped kitchen off the main floor.

The floor of the auditorium will be laid over with linoleum and the ceiling covered with acoustical tile.

The congregation hopes to vacate its present Pinnacle Street centre in November, when it will be taken over as the new headquarters for the local branch of the Canadian Legion.

With the move the congregation will record the most auspicious event in its history since the first 19 families banded together to meet a common need.

For the records the following are some of the names of those who participated in the building of the first synagogue, under Rabbi Getzel: A. Safe, president; J. Diamond, B. Springer, N. Katz, A. Lipson, H. Yanover, J. Samuels, J. Werker, W. Yanover, S. LaPalin, S. Kroch, L. Kroch, H. Goodman, M. Marcus, J. Berger, A. Albert, Jonas Bergman, Mrs. Tobie, W. Yechter, H. Burke and F. Gitelman.

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—Thousands of Vietnamese students, many of them from the Communist north, demonstrated against the three-nation Indochina truce control commission today, accusing it of favoring the Viet Minh Reds.

The students marched a mile through Saigon's streets to the commission headquarters. The demonstration was orderly. At the head of the parade were 100 wives of Vietnamese army officers still prisoners of the Viet Minh.

The commission, set up by the Geneva accords, is composed of Indians, Poles and Canadians. India is its chairman.

Atomic-Produced
Electric Energy
Ready for Sale

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission today announced plans for the first government sale of atomic-produced electric energy and said it would be introduced into the Niagara-Mohawk Power Corporation's public utility system "in the near future."

Indications were that the AEC would be pulling the switch to launch the project this coming Monday in ceremonies at West Milton, north of here.

As the AEC explained it, steam from a prototype submarine reactor at West Milton, N. Y., will be channelled into a 10,000-kilowatt turbine generator to produce power which will be sold by the AEC to Niagara-Mohawk.

The reactor is a prototype of that which is to be installed in the Sea Wolf, the second U. S. atomic submarine scheduled for launching at Groton, Conn., July 21.

Minor Softball

Blain's Sportsmen took a 4-0 lead in the initial stanza and scored almost at will throughout the game to crush Elliott's Regents 23-4 in a bantam softball game played last night.

Holloway tolled the distance for the winners, touched for five hits while his mates pounded 12 off the slants of T. Hook and Moreau. Hook was the loser, walking seven, while Moreau passed 10.

Sonny MacDonald slammed a homer in the fourth frame for Blain's, while Norm Till punched a trio of singles. Holloway helped his own cause with a brace of doubles, while Latchford and Ethier each singled twice. Moreau had a triple and a pair of base hits in defeat.

Pointer caught for the winners, while Clapp was the Elliott receiver.

Too Beautiful

TAUNTON, England (AP) — Druggist W. H. Adcock appealed today against the town council's decision that his window display was so beautiful he couldn't use it.

The display, an advertisement for perfume, is a large floral display made from modelled metal. The council said anything so pretty would distract passing motorists and create a driving hazard.

Camp Hyanto AGA Completes Year's Activities

The teen-age girls' camp, under the direction of the Anglican Girls' Auxiliary, at Camp Hyanto, Lyndhurst, has just completed its activities for another year. Old friends and newly found acquaintances bid each other farewell on Saturday last.

A resume of the week's activities is as follows—campers arrived on Thursday afternoon, June 30, and were happily installed in their respective sleeping quarters—tents, or cabins, as they themselves wished.

Friday, being the Dominion of Canada's birthday, and also the tenth anniversary of Camp Hyanto, the girls were divided into groups according to their birth-day month, and each group was instructed to decorate its table at supper-time to represent the activities of that particular month. They proved to be a most talented group of girls.

By Saturday, new acquaintances had been made and everyone got into the swing of camp life with swimming, handicrafts, nature study groups, drama instructions and leadership training classes.

On Sunday, the campers joined with the villagers in a celebration of Holy Communion at St. Luke's Anglican church. The Rev. R. Booth of the Parish, conducted the service. In the evening a service, was held by the edge of the lake, after an enjoyable shore supper.

Monday's program was devoted entirely to take in a picnic supper-hike. Four groups of campers, led by their leaders, went in various directions, and thoroughly enjoyed themselves on a two-hour walk while they gathered material for their nature study. Later Canon A. S. McConnell showed slides on his visit to Europe and the British Isles and was enthusiastically applauded.

HOLY COMMUNION

On Tuesday morning, the girls with their leaders attended Holy Communion in the church, and in the afternoon were happy to welcome members of the executive of the Diocesan Women's Auxiliary to camp. Miss Winifred Burns, president; Mrs. Stanley Andrews, vice-president; Miss Elsie Saunders, treasurer; Miss Irene McCormick, correspondence secretary; Mrs. A. C. McCullum, recording secretary.

Those visitors who had not been to camp before, were shown around and then all joined the campers at supper in the dining hall.

Later, the girls enjoyed a treat of watermelon, which was a gift of the visitors.

Mrs. Gordon A. Anderson talked to the girls on Tuesday evening about the AWTC, and a film was shown before evening prayer and taps at the flag pole.

Wednesday's activities followed the regular pattern for the day, with morning prayer at the flag pole after a five minute dip in the lake. Breakfast and tent duties until ten, when the whistle called the girls to three groups with 20 minutes each for religious instruction, drama, and nature study, while one of the leaders inspected the tents and cabins, and marked them by point system. Eleven o'clock whistle sent them off for handicrafts and swimming.

After dinner the girls rested until 2.30 when there was another period of swimming and handicrafts followed by nature study and camp craft. After supper there were games followed by a variety program in place of the usual campfire.

At 9.30 there was cocoa for everyone and the girls, dressed in their pyjamas, came to the flag pole for evening prayers and songs.

Thursday was "Sports Day", and there were two age groups—up to 13 years, and 14 years and over. The events were well arranged by the girls in charge, and many campers won prizes. The girls enjoyed dancing for an hour before cocoa and evening prayers.

SWIMMING AWARDS

Friday was a big day for everyone as most of the girls tried their "Red Cross" swimming tests. Those who successfully passed are as follows:

Miss Margaret Poole, camp director, presented awards to Christ church, Belleville, G.A. groups and to Bancroft G.A. for their participation in camp.

Debutantes Given Last-Minute Instructions for Presentation

By RON EVANS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Forty-five excited Canadian debutantes today received last-minute instructions for their presentation at Buckingham Palace.

Dressed in light summer suits and frocks, they crowded into the home of High Commissioner Nor-

Robertson for a brief rehearsal of Thursday's big event. Mrs. Robertson served tea, iced or hot, small sandwiches, chocolate cake and handy tips on saluting royalty.

This year's Canadian group is the largest yet presented at the palace. "I think it must be because so many more Canadians are travelling these days," said Mrs. Robertson.

MARILYN ABSENT

One debutante, swimmer Marilyn Bell of Toronto, did not appear and friends could not explain her absence. Marilyn, 17, is in Britain training for an assault on the English channel.

(The Telegram, Toronto newspaper sponsoring Marilyn's swim, said she is suffering from a mild case of quinsy, a throat inflammation, and was ordered to bed by her doctor. Only person to swim across Lake Ontario, Marilyn is said her throat ailment may prevent her from attending the palace presentation.)

Among the debutantes is Ellen Stone, 18-year-old daughter of Thomas A. Stone, Canadian ambassador to The Netherlands. Miss Stone, who will wear a grey Italian silk dress, said her parents will attend.

Kathleen Hallon, 18, daughter of CBC commentator Matthew Hallon, will wear a pale grey-blue silk dress. Thursday and Moyra Smith, 22-year-old daughter of Dr. Sidney E. Smith, president of the University of Toronto, will wear a blue shantung silk frock with white straw hat.

BRADSHAW—MASON

Tall white standards of summer flowers interspersed with ferns formed an attractive background for a double-ring ceremony in Springbrook United church, on Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, when the pastor, Rev. H. E. Beare, united in marriage, Lois Doreen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Mason, of Springbrook, to John Ross Bradshaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bradshaw, of Stirling.

Miss Barbara Melkjohn, of Amora, provided the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Thomas Stirling, aunt of the bride, to rendered "The Prayer of the Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony, and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the garter.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Malcolm Mason, the bride was beautiful in her gown of white embroidered tulle net in waltz length, featuring a fitted, strapless bodice and full-skirted skirt. She wore a matching bolero with long sheer sleeves, lily-pointed over the rists. Her fingertip veil of tulle lusion bordered with Valenciennes lace was caught to a Juliet tied headress also of tulle lusion encrusted with rhinestones and iridescent sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of Talisman roses and white stephanotis with a laceon ribbon.

Miss Carol Wellon, Mimico, Ontario, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a waltz-length gown of yellow nylon organza frosted with small white elva-ray flowers fashioned on rincess lines with matching raltz and shoes. She carried a cascade bouquet of green and yellow hasta daisies and mauve 'mums with matching shades of ribbon and wore a floral headress to match.

Misses Mona Pierson Wellington and Evelyn Emerson Molra, were bridesmaids wearing mauve and green waltz-length gowns respectively similar in style to the maid of honor with mits and shoes to match.

They carried cascade bouquets of green and yellow Shasta daisies and mauve 'mums tied with ribbons of the same shades and wore local headresses to match.

Little Miss Brenda Dafeo, Barrow, niece of the bridegroom, was a dainty flower girl in her teal-length frock of yellow nylon organza frosted with small white elva-ray flowers featuring a fitted bodice short puff sleeves, and skirt. She carried a basket of yellow and green Shasta daisies and mauve 'mums with matching ribbon streamers and wore a floral headress to match.

Master Lynn Mason, brother of the bride, was ring-bearer attired in a white dinner jacket and black trousers and wore a wine-colored tie and a spiced carnation.

P. C. Ray, Hermiton RCAF Centralia, Ontario, attended the bridegroom. The ushers were Mr. Bill McKeown, Springbrook, and Mr. Bob Way, Peterborough.

All men folk of the bridal party wore white dinner jackets, black trousers and wine bow ties and spiced carnations.

Following the ceremony the reception was held in the LOU hall and catered to by the Springbrook W.A.

The guests were received by the bride's mother attired in

HUTCHINSON—WOODWARD

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, was the setting of a quiet wedding on Monday, May 22, at 10 a.m., when Joyce Gladys Woodward, daughter of Mrs. Woodward and the late Mr. Ross Woodward, became the bride of Robert Joseph Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hutchinson. The Rev. Peter Murphy officiated, before a background of tall standards of purple and white lilacs and tulips.

The Rev. Sister Wilhelmina, organist, provided wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Burke, who sang "Ave Marie" and during the signing of the register, "On This My Wedding Day."

Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw will reside in Belleville upon their return.

Guests attended from Mimico, Peterborough, Marmora, Trenton, Stirling and Belleville.

Previous to her marriage the bride was entertained at a linen shower at the home of Miss Mona Pierson, Wellington. Mrs. Edgar Graham entertained a number of ladies at the home of Mrs. Malcolm Mason to a miscellaneous shower, while Miss Marilyn Wright, Stirling, entertained a number of ladies to a kitchen and pantry shower.

The bride was also the recipient of a hammered aluminum combination casserole and fresh fruit dish from the teaching staff of the Queen Elizabeth school at Belleville, the presentation being made at their annual party held at Presqu'ile Point the latter part of June.

The Y.P.U. of Bridge Street United church Belleville, also presented Lois with a silver candy dish in honor of her marriage.

BONISTEEL—LOGAN.
White and yellow chrysanthemums, interspersed with ferns, formed a lovely setting in Westminster United church, St. Catharines, on Saturday, July 9, at 3 p.m., for the marriage of Edna Bonisteel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bonisteel, Trenton, to Roy Ernest Logan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bonisteel, Trenton. The Rev. E. E. Ashley officiated.

The wedding music was rendered by Mr. Wallace Laughton.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. E. F. Hooke, the bride was attractively attired in a street-length gown of yellow lace over yellow silk taffeta, featuring a fitted bodice having a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. A yellow picture hat, matching gloves and shoes completed her ensemble.

Miss Isobel Ayre of St. Catharines, attended the bride, wearing a street-length gown of combed cotton in pale aqua marine shade, with three-quarter length sleeves and matching jacket.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Harold Bonisteel, of Rochester, N.Y.

An outdoor reception was held at the young couple's farm where the guests enjoyed a buffet luncheon on the lawn. The bride's mother received wearing a pink gown, trimmed with white, with white accessories. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was gowned in navy blue and white, with white accessories.

For travelling, the bride chose a brown and white ensemble with white accessories. Upon their return, the young couple will reside at R.R. 4, St. Catharines.

DAUGHTER PLANS THEIR SILVER WEDDING CELEBRATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman: Please will you help me plan an informal Open House to celebrate the Silver Wedding anniversary of my mother and father? It is to be on a Sunday in late July. (It might help you if I tell you that I am a junior in High School, and that I am an only child, so I'm the only one to help with the plans.) Also we have only a few relatives who would be able to come to the Open House.

1. What hours would you suggest for this Sunday occasion?

2. There are about seventy-five people whom Mother and Father would like to have invited. I would like to know the correct way to invite them. By word of mouth, or by written invitations?

3. We are planning to serve punch. Who should preside over the punch bowl? (Four of my mother's friends have offered to help in any way we wish.) Besides punch, what would you suggest that we serve?

4. If it is a nice day, would it be proper to have the party in our garden? — Their Daughter

And, bless your heart, what a wonderful daughter you are . . . to be making such fine and loving plans for the festive celebration of this wonderful anniversary! I'm sure you'll make it a gala occasion, and a beautifully memorable one.

1. I suggest afternoon hours for this Sunday occasion . . . from either three o'clock or four, a n d to either six o'clock or seven. There are no definite hours for this party . . . naturally the hours are chosen for the greatest convenience for the majority of the guests.

2. For such an important occasion I like the idea of sending invitations. Because I like the idea of featuring the silver motif, and the featuring of the significant dates 1830-1935. I suggest you buy white cards with silver edges, and with ink write the dates at the top.

3. If you note, then the details of the occasion. This creates a charming Prologue to the party.

3. I think you should consider

Cooking School Review

By Mary Moore

There are two recipes in this column for today that are for hearty eaters, trenchermen who want hot food and plenty of it even when the thermometer is hovering around 90 or 100 deg. Fahr.

And, girls they are made in one dish—the meat and vegetables together and so you can make them in one full swoop and all the remainder of the menu can be ice cold in the refrigerator.

These were made at the cooking school last May.

CASSEROLE OF SHOULDER CHOPS

Four shoulder chops—browned, 1 cup sliced carrots, 1 cup canned or frozen peas, 1-4 cup celery, 3 tablespoons chopped onion, salt and pepper, 1-4 cup hot water, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Trim fat from chops; dip in flour, brown in hot fat. In large casserole place carrots, peas, celery and if no other potatoes are being served then add 1-2 cups cubed potatoes—and the chopped onion. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, add hot water. Top with servicing coffee (so many people expect this), and it's so easy to make and serve. Or serve tea, if you think your guests prefer this. Sandwiches are usually served . . . small, slim ones, made with the simplest of fillings. Some open sandwiches if you wish. Cool, rolled watercress sandwiches are particularly popular if the day is warm.

It's good to have some accessories for nibbling: nuts, assorted or all of one kind; potato chips, popcorn, any of the delicious packaged tidbits, mints or other candies. And there most certainly should be an Anniversary Cake, with "23" featured on the date, perhaps the initials also. And there should be the cake-cutting feature . . . and toasts "To the Bride and Groom." (You might ask these friends of your mother's to preside over the serving of the punch . . . one or two for each hour or half hour.)

4. Certainly, if the day is a "co-operating day" have the party in your garden . . . or use both the house and the garden.

browned chops, sprinkle with parsley, salt and pepper. Cover and bake in moderate oven at 350 deg. for one hour. Serves four.

GOLASH OF BEEF AND PORK

One pound of beef cut in 1 inch cubes, 1 pound pork, cut in 1 inch cubes, 1 medium onion minced, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1 teaspoon salt, 13 ounce can sauerkraut (3 1-2 teaspoon dill spoon paprika, 1-2 teaspoon dill spoon paprika, 1-2 teaspoon caraway seeds, 8 peppercorns, 1 cup sour cream, 8-4 cup water. Fry the onion in shortening until golden brown. Add meat, brown on all sides. Add remaining ingredients. Add the water, 3-4 cup. Cover and bring to bubbling, then simmer on low heat for 2 to 2 1-2 hours. May need more water during cooking. Add sour cream before serving. Serves six.

In the refrigerator you could have waiting—ice cold—to produce at dessert time, for either of the above meals—

LEMON SNOOW

Two-thirds cup of sugar, few shavings of lemon rind, 1-3 cup boiling water, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 1-6 cup cold water, 1-6 cup lemon juice, 2 whites of eggs.

(1) Make a syrup of sugar, water and lemon rind, boil three minutes and remove rind. (2) Mix cornstarch with cold water, add gradually to syrup, stir until thick, cook until there is no taste of raw starch. (3) Set back; add strained lemon juice and whites of eggs beaten stiff. (4) Beat with wire egg beater; turn into moistened molds, chill. (5) Serve with

LEMON CUSTARD SAUCE

Three-quarters of a cup of milk, 1 yolk of egg, 1-2 tablespoons sugar, few grains of salt, 8 drops vanilla, shaved rind from 1-4 of a lemon. Heat milk with lemon rind added; beat egg yolk, add sugar and salt. Add to hot milk. Cook over hot water stirring constantly until mixture will coat a silver spoon. Remove from heat, strain and add vanilla.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE WAS CALLED A "MOVIE PICK-UP"

Whatever grown-ups may think about modern young people, there definitely are some who really try to think straight.

One of this kind writes me the following letter:

"Every once in a while, when I am out with some of my girl friends, we get what grown-ups call 'a little wild.' (We are not known as bad, just wild.) We flirt more than we should and, although our intentions are innocent, we get a reputation I am not too proud of. 'I never realized what this could mean until a short while ago. Then one night when I had gone to the movies, a good-looking boy came and sat next to me. He told me all about himself and even kissed me a few times. In all honesty, I have to say it was nothing but a pick-up."

"I didn't know he was serious until the next day, when he came to my house with some of his friends. After meeting my parents, who liked him, and having two of my girl friends come over for his friends, we all went for a short walk. He was quite shy, and I liked him because he was fun and not as serious as most of the boys I had been out with. After that, he called me up two or three times a week and I continued to go to the movies with my girl friends and meet him there. This was the only time I could see him, because we were going to different schools. Neither of us went out with anyone."

else and, although we were not going steady, it was generally known we were going together. The only thing I didn't like about him was the fact that he didn't want to do in the movies was kiss.

"Then one day one of his friends insulted me by calling me a movie pick-up, and when he made no move to stick up for me, I moved to another seat and hardly talked to him, except to say goodnight. I was insulted to think that he had no respect for me, but now that I have thought it over, I am not too sure I had given him any reason to respect me, because I did let him pick me up that first time."

"This all happened four weeks ago, and I have now calmed down, and would like to know if I was doing right in doing what I did. I realize now that I still like him very much, and I hope you can tell me how to gain respect from him."

Since this teen-ager seems to be honest about herself, I may tell her that I think she is quite right in feeling that perhaps it was her own fault that she was called a "movie pick-up." For, of course, it was.

And now let's do some straight thinking right here on this business of "pick-up" acquaintances at the movies. In general, and if the behaviour on both sides is what it should be, I can see no real harm in teen-age boys and girls talking to each other at the movies even though they have not been formally introduced. If everything said and done is in accordance with standards of good conduct, and kept that way throughout, there can hardly be any objection. But if an unconventional acquaintance of this type proceeds at once to kissing, as this girl says she permitted hers to do, then it is the cheapest kind of thing, and completely inexcusable. Under the circumstances, I would say she fully deserved the snub she finally got.

She says that the incident which so "insulted" her happened some four weeks ago, but she does not say whether or not she has seen the boy since. I assume she has not, and that he believes she is still angry.

If this is so, then I suggest she write him a note and say, very honestly, that she now realizes she had no real right to resent what his friend said. She should say that she is well aware that her behavior the first time they talked to each other was not the behavior of a well-brought-up girl and that she can hardly blame anyone who drew different conclusions. Having said this frankly, she can then add that she is sorry she made a scene, and that she hopes he will forget the whole unfortunate incident, as she intends to do herself.

If the boy really likes her, and wants to be her friend, he will respond appropriately. In any event, such a letter will automatically give him a new and better impression of her and arouse his respect. But of course she won't be so foolish as to go in for any more kissing, not even to celebrate making up!

MINIMUM SIZE

Under Canadian government regulations eggs graded "A, large," must weigh at least 24 ounces per dozen.

BEAUTY

SELF-INFLICTED BEAUTY PROBLEMS

Some beauty problems are inherited, some are wished upon us by old Father Time—and some are our own making. Every woman should realize that she is, in a way, the custodian of her appearance, and that she should faithfully give herself the attentions needed to preserve youthful contour and a pleasing countenance.

The smart woman does not patiently accept and bear beauty imperfections. She isn't willing to settle down and go to seed. On the contrary, she gets busy and does something about them.

Cleanliness to a degree of fussy fastidiousness is the first beauty law, especially in the care of the complexion and hair. Unless one looks fresh and well groomed, there isn't the slightest hope of ever competing for beauty laurels.

No cosmetic will impart to the complexion that lovely freshness and glow that comes from keeping the skin all over the body well scrubbed with soap, warm water and a stiff brush.

The facial surface has its special enemies—atmospheric dust that may clog the pores, strong sunlight that causes the texture to become coarse and leathery, harsh winds that flay it. It must be lubricated often and freely. That fragrant cream on your dressing table is your complexion's best friend.

Mother's Helper

COLORFUL fruit-flavored candies with a hole in the middle are fun to use as holders for birthday cake candles. Marshmallows, too, will do the double job of decorating the cake and holding the candles.

Copyright, 1955, R. T. Herald Tribune Inc.

Dingy skin and premature wrinkles are often the penalties a woman pays for neglect.

Slouchy posture will destroy a youthful figure. The overweight has only herself to blame when pounds continue to mount up. If, at the first sign of these extra inches in the mid-section, she had started a battle against adipose tissue she would have won out.

It is unnecessary in this day and age to tote bumps and billows about when the family physician is ready and willing to show the plump woman how to restore normal weight and proportions.

Mr. Drew said that after the session ends the government should appoint a commission to study Senate reform or call a conference at which the Commons, Senate and provinces would be represented.

The study should range over all proposals, including those to abolish the Senate and to have all or part of its members elected. Senators now are appointed for life by the prime minister. The present upper chamber has 73 Liberal members, seven Conservatives and 22 vacancies.

Yours ago, Mr. Drew said, a Liberal cabinet minister had called the Senate a blot on Canada's parliamentary system. If that were true then, even stronger words could be used today.

Joseph W. Noseworthy (CCF—York South) said the Senate still exists on the original presumption that the Commons could not be trusted to govern the country and needed a check. Today, if the Senate were to reject any important government measure it would be signing its own death warrant.

Little Benny's
Notebook

Ma started to shake her head to herself, saying to pop, Really, William. I mean oh dear, how could I be so stupid?

It's the easiest thing in the world, my dear, pop said. Nothing personel, of course, we're all human under the skin, he said, and ma said, Well I'm not, I mean it was absolutely inexcusable. I knew that Lorra Diggers and Blanche Hipple were incurable mortal enemies, yet I deliberately invited Lorra to sit in as a substitute at the bridge game today. I thought they would be sensible enough to patch up their differences like grown up adults. And both be grateful to me. But as the bitter truth turned out, they sat there without exchanging a word, civil or otherwise, while they poisoned the atmosphere by darting invisible daggers from their eyes. I just can't forgive myself, and I feel worse every time I think of it, which is constantly, ma said.

I know just how you feel, because I did something just as inexcusable, pop said. I haven't had the courage to tell you, but I've berned a hole in the new sleeveless sweater you just nited for me, he said, and ma said, Now William, after the innumerable times I've warned you about your flying ashes and loose match heads, that is absolutely and utterly provoking. You never listen to a thing I say, she said.

I don't believe I do, my dear, that's what makes it so unforgivable, pop said. But you can't be angry with me and remorseful about yourself at the same time, and I'm only telling you about it to ease the load on your conscience, he said, and ma said, Oh, such a man.

Mc-nink him, and she made him bring her the sweater so she could fix the hole before it got worse.

Milk Production Falling Off, Pastures Dry Up

TORONTO (CP)—While continued dry weather, especially in eastern Ontario has resulted in the drying up of pastures and a falling off of milk production, the agricultural picture in Ontario is generally satisfactory, Agriculture Minister Thomas said today.

Drying up of pastures had made it necessary for many dairy farmers to supplement pasturage with grain and ensilage in some sections of the province.

Reports from western Ontario indicate that corn, sugar beet and tobacco crops are in good shape despite the lack of normal rainfall.

With the exception of peaches all fruit crops are reported to be in good supply and of better than average quality. The peach crop has suffered from leaf curl in some areas in addition to a heavy loss of trees due to the wet fall and the after-effect of hurricane Hazel.

MANY TREES DIE

Department officials report that between 80,000 and 100,000 peach trees in the age group of one to six years died as a result of the wet fall last year.

Eastern Ontario reports that oats have headed out short and that unless rain soon comes the grain crop may be light in that section of the province.

Northern Ontario has been more fortunate in that rainfall has been normal. In Timiskaming a heavy rainfall a week ago has greatly improved the prospects for spring crops. Thunder Bay, however, is in need of more moisture with pastures reported poor.

Crowd Weeps, Laughs, Prays As Blonde Mother Is Hanged For Easter Murder of Lover

By JIM KING
LONDON (AP) — Ruth Ellis, beautiful blonde mother of two children, died on the gallows in London's Holloway prison for women today for the Easter Sunday murder of the lover who jilted her.

The 28-year-old divorcee, a former model and night club hostess, was the 14th woman to be hanged in Britain this century and the third since the Second World War. Her sentencing revived a country-wide controversy over capital punishment which continued unabated today.

A crowd of 1,000 persons—some weeping, others laughing—stood in the grimy North London street outside the ivy-covered, red-brick prison as hangman Albert Pierrepoint pulled the death trap.

Its slam resounded through the building, touching off hysterical cries from the inmates.

Reports from inside the prison said the icy calm Mrs. Ellis had maintained during her trial in June and ever since finally broke Tuesday night. Prison sources said she sobbed herself to sleep, screaming, "I don't want to die."

The matrons let her sleep until the last minute, foregoing the usual 6:30 waking hour.

Earlier in the night she had said goodbye to her mother and father, who reported she was resigned to her fate. The woman had refused to appeal for mercy. Home Secretary Gwilym Lloyd-George, the only man who can recommend royal clemency, earlier this week turned down petitions signed by more than 25,000 persons.

Mrs. Ellis at her trial admitted "kicking her lover, 25-year-old David Blakely, to a London bar and pumping four bullets into him. Claiming her jealousy had disturbed her emotions, she tried to get the murder charge reduced to manslaughter. The court threw out that defence and a jury of 10 men and two women found her guilty June 21 after 24 minutes of deliberation.

TWO WERE WOMEN
Only government and prison officials witnessed the execution today. Two of them were women: Dr. Charity Taylor, the 39-year-old governor of the prison, and the prison matron.

More than 30 policemen, standing shoulder to shoulder, kept the crowd outside away from the massive oak gates into the prison yard. Just before the execution, Mrs. Ellis' brother, Julian Arthur Neilson, strode up to the gates, beat them, and handed a bunch of white carnations to a guard.

Returning to the crowd, his face ashen and his lips trembling, he said: "I just told him to tell Ruth I would never forget her and God bless her."

TACKLED UP NOTICE
The crowd waited until a guard stepped through the gates and tucked the black-framed death notice and the death certificate on the wall.

A line began moving slowly past the terse obituaries, then broke through the cordon of mounted and foot police to fill the road. Urging them on was black-garbed, elderly Mrs. Violet Van Der Elst, who has demonstrated against executions since 1935. The police finally shoved the mob back on the sidewalk and reformed the moving line.

One man sank to his knees, putting over and over: "She could have been freed." The police hauled him up and hurried him away.

Frail, grey-haired John Oakes knelt with his hands clasped in prayer, shouting, "For the souls of Mrs. Ellis, of the public executioner and of all of us." A group of men standing behind him laughed.

A violinist stood back from the crowd, sawing on his fiddle. "I have permission to play," he said, "and I'm playing Bach's 'Be Thou With Me.' I'm sure she (Mrs. Ellis) heard it."

A sign around his neck said "No silms please."

Naval Officer Proposes New Canadian Anthem

GRIMSBY, England (CP) — A deaf Canadian naval officer living in this Lincolnshire town says it's time for a new Canadian anthem—and he has just the number.

Montreal-born Lt. Cdr. Philip Netten, retired minesweeper captain, says the lyrics of "O Canada" are poor—from a literary view—and the music "a bad translation of a French-Canadian song."

So he has written his own anthem, called "Canada My Land," to be published soon.

"I'm not egotistical enough to think that my lone effort will lead to the Canadian anthem being changed," he said, "but people outside Quebec might find my song more acceptable."

Netten, who has had several pieces of church music published, has written both music and lyrics. Here are the words:

God guide you, guard you, bless you, great land of destiny,
Abode of peace with plenty and law with liberty.

From sweet Acadia's fruited vales to fair Columbia's strand
A heritage beyond compare is Canada, my land.

Where azure skies and sunshine in brilliant splendor reign
O'er winter's silver spaces and summer's golden grain;

Where harvest, ever bountiful, awaits with open hand,
The thrifty toiler to repay—"tis Canada, my land.

Dear land of rolling prairie, dear land of maple tree,
Of mighty mound and river and peerless inland sea.

I thank my God, who fashioned you so fair, so strong, so grand,
I live for you, I'd die for you, dear Canada, my land.

Korean Cuties Being Cut Out

SEOUL (AP)—U. S. 8th Army officers' clubs are quietly shutting their doors to Korean cuties after getting the word from Lt. Gen. John H. Collier, acting army commander.

Collier gave the verbal order last week. He was a leader in cracking down on U. S. soldiers fraternizing with German women when he commanded at Stuttgart several years ago.

REDS SHELL QUEMOY
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Red Chinese guns near Amoy fired 21 shells in a 10-minute barrage at the Chinese Nationalists' Quemoy island today. The Nationalist defence ministry said the shelling caused no damage or casualties.

Defence Dept. Does Not Regard Crashes as High

OTTAWA (CP)—The rate of jet crashes in the RCAF is a little lower than in the United Kingdom and a shade higher than in the United States, Defence Minister Campney said Tuesday night.

He was commenting in the Commons on a statement by Walter Dinsdale (PC — Brandon-Souris) that the jet crash record of the air force has adversely affected recruiting.

Mr. Dinsdale said that since the RCAF began using the T-33 jet trainer there have been 39 crashes, 30 in training commands. A return tabled in the Commons said the main reason for the crashes was pilot error, indicating there might be something wrong in the training program.

Mr. Campney said the defence department does not regard the number of T-33 crashes as high.

RAIL CARS EXPLODE
VINCENT, Ala. (AP)—Two tank cars filled with liquefied petroleum exploded and derailed 29 cars of a freight train in the heart of this small central Alabama town.

Twenty-eight of the 29 cars, loaded with fuel, meat, cotton and other products and valued at between $8,000 and $10,000 each, were damaged or destroyed. No one was injured.

TYPHOON SPOTTED
TOKYO (AP)—U. S. air force weather spotters said today the Pacific's biggest typhoon of the year would miss Okinawa, big U.S. military base. Typhoon Clara was located 160 miles due west of Okinawa, slowly churning north at a speed of five knots. Weathermen said the typhoon had 120-knot winds at its centre and 90-knot winds within a radius of 50 miles.

ARMY HEADQUARTERS STUDYING Plans to Make Unit Airborne

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—Army headquarters is studying plans to make part of the 7,000-man Army Service Corps airborne.

The object is an airborne supply line for the 1st Canadian Infantry Division and is part of the overall policy of increased mobility for troops in the event of atomic war. The plan at the moment involves provision of aircraft — planes or helicopters — to move supplies, chiefly ammunition and rations, from the main supply points to the front line.

An airborne supply line would do away with the need for trucks. They have to stick to roads, which are particularly vulnerable to both air and artillery attack.

Moving supplies by air would not only eliminate the necessity of stacking supplies at intervals along a road for use as they were needed and building supply dumps in forward exposed positions.

What the army is trying to do, officers say, was expressed for them in the Commons last month by Lt.-Col. Gordon Churchill, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Winnipeg South Centre and commander of the 1st Canadian Armoured Carrier Regiment in northwest Europe in the Second World War. He said:

"Wheeled vehicles tied to the road extend for such an immense distance, are so easily blocked and pile up so easily behind one another that it is very hard to keep an army supplied."

"Modern thinking on forces such as we have in Europe is that supplying should be done by way of helicopter or some type of plane that can leap over and drop those supplies, or land them in the area where they are most needed, rather than get them only from the wheeled vehicle in the supply column."

The army has been studying this problem for months. One difficulty, of course, is the cost. Even the 16 artillery spotter planes the army has now cost $16,000 apiece and transport aircraft or helicopters would be more expensive.

There is also the problem of who would fly the planes—the army or RCAF. The air force is inclined to be jealous of what it regards as its sky. Army officers don't appear concerned. "It doesn't matter to me who flies the planes as long as we get the supplies," one said.

The Army Service Corps comprises one-seventh of the entire 49,000-man Canadian Army. The 7,000 officers and men in the corps are divided among 30 units, including those overseas. The corps operates more than 2,000 vehicles of all types, mainly trucks.

Papers Still Best Medium For Advertising

MONTREAL (CP)—George M. Hobart, president of Consolidated Paper Corporation, said Tuesday that newspapers are still the best medium for advertising.

Addressing a Montreal Kiwanis Club, Mr. Hobart said other media are supplementary to newspaper advertising, and cannot be expected to replace it.

Reviewing the newspaper industry, he said its position is stronger than ever before, and the potential for expansion is very large.

Mr. Hobart said he does not think there is danger of over-expansion in the industry. World newspaper demand was increasing each year and Canadian companies could look forward to increasing their capacities in the near future.

ALL-PARTY REPORT
Aimed at Saving
Time Adopted

OTTAWA (CP) — After 15 speeches and four hours of talk the Commons Tuesday adopted a unanimous all-party report aimed at saving time and expediting work at future sessions.

The changes in rules of procedure, scheduled to go into effect next session, were worked out by a special committee which started its study last session. It was able to agree on a method to streamline the business of the House only after all parties made compromises.

The committee's unanimous report was tabled in the House June 14. Major changes are limitation of speeches to 30 minutes instead of 40 in some House sittings and a time restriction of 10 days on the throne speech debate and eight on the budget debate. This session they lasted 16 and 13 days, respectively.

The debate was reopened Tuesday by Jean-Francois Pouliot (L-Temiscouata) who took 25 minutes to say that every member can say what he has to say within 20 minutes or so if he isn't interrupted.

COMMISSION HEARS DIVERGENT Views on Coastal Shipping

OTTAWA (CP) — Sharply diverging views on whether Canada's own ships should have all of the country's coastwise shipping business were placed today before the royal commission on the coasting trade.

The Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association, representing Canada's major shipyards, said they should.

A flat "no" came from the Canadian Shipowners' Association, speaking for owners of 110 ocean-going vessels, and the Canadian Industrial Traffic League, made up of 850 traffic managers in Canadian industries.

The three organizations' suggestions were submitted to the commission on the third day of hearings in its inquiry into the coasting trade. One of the questions the commission has been instructed to investigate is whether the coasting trade—hauling between ports on Canada's seaboard and in inland waters—should be restricted to Canadian ships.

Tuesday, the three Canadian labor congresses told the royal commission there should be such a limitation. They are the Trades and Labor Congress, the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, with an aggregate membership of 1,100,000.

The congresses also suggested varying types of subsidies for shipping and shipbuilding to expand the twin marine industries.

Today the Shipbuilding Association, which has been pressing for restriction of the coasting trade for several years as an indirect means of creating business for Canadian shipyards, proposed these measures as a minimum:

1. Restriction of the coasting trade now to ships of Canadian registry.
2. A requirement that all ships added to the coasting fleet in future must be built in Canada.

Canada needs efficient shipyards for national defence, the association said, and this would be the "surest and least expensive method of maintaining at all times in Canada shipyards capable of swift expansion."

House to Start Sittings All Day Saturday

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons will start Saturday sittings this week in a final drive to wind up the work of Parliament within two weeks.

A notice of motion extending daily sittings to six days a week was placed on the order paper Tuesday by Prime Minister St. Laurent. Approval of the motion today will mean that house will sit 45 hours a week Monday through Saturday.

Daily sitting hours now are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., 2:30 to 6 p.m. and 8 to 10 p.m. The House started sittings mornings June 9 and Wednesday nights June 22.

Soviet Journalist Steals Show From Shakespeare

By WILLIAM GLOVER

STRAITFORD, Conn. (AP)—With fancy pomp and splendour, show business dedicated a new shrine Tuesday night to playwright William Shakespeare, but the main centre of excitement was a somewhat baffled, bothered journalist named Eugene Litoshko.

Litoshko, a correspondent of Moscow's newspaper Pravda, got special permission from the state department to travel here for the Shakespeare Festival and Academy in a Sunday Herald suggested the visit as a symbol of cultural exchange between the U.S. and Russia.

The slim, greying 40-year-old writer, doggedly smiling at suddenly being "a celebrity," said the opening play, "Julius Caesar," was "good, very good."

Then he hastily added: "But no more festivals—not this year any more."

TOO KIND

For many of the 1,500 spectators the visitor's verdict was generously kind. For truth to tell, this gala debut of the American Shakespeare Festival and Academy in a lush air-conditioned theatre had everything but a continuously entertaining, stand-out production on stage.

Such things as a tumble to the stage by Toronto-born star Raymond Massey from a suddenly collapsing chair, and certain lacks of timing could be charged off to the opening night jitters. The gathering out front was impressive, including most of the names of the theatre and such guests as British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins and Lord Mayor Dudley Ernest Wood.

Shakespeare's hometown Stratford-on-Avon, a drama of character, was mostly a series of diverse impressions by the players. Massey, as Brutus, Jack Palance as Cassius and Hurd Hatfield as Caesar gave old-fashioned portrayals amid the Renaissance setting devised for this production.

NEXT TO BISHOP

The show was witnessed by visitor Litoshko and his wife from an upper box—next to Bishop Walter Grey, leader of the Episcopal Church in Connecticut. Between the acts the Russian journalist kept up the hurried pace set for him from the moment he arrived in Stratford in mid-afternoon. Questions, questions and pictures.

On his arrival at the huge theatre, a modernized replica of London's ancient Globe theatre, several townsfolk stepped out of the crowd to shake his hand.

"Thank you very much," said Litoshko with a little bow.

Amid the flurry, the Russian journalist said this was his first viewing of a Shakespeare play in English, although he had seen the Bard's works many times in Russian.

"We must remember to keep things in proportion," he said. "To me the most important thing right now is the Geneva conference."

Board Rules Out Plebiscites For Natural Gas

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Northern Ontario came a step nearer getting natural gas Tuesday when the Ontario fuel board ruled out plebiscites as a necessary preliminary.

Its ruling gives the Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company the green light to negotiate franchises with 16 northern municipalities. All 16 area councils have given second readings to by-laws preparing for natural gas but three municipalities, Timmins, North Bay and Cobalt, had asked that plebiscites be held to gain public consent to a course of action which would bind councils for at least 10 years.

However, the dissenting municipalities waived demands for a plebiscite after board chairman W. D. Crozier, of Toronto said the councils could change gas companies anytime before a third and final reading of the by-laws.

CANVASS COULD SHOW

He added that citizens could indicate whether they were prepared to take natural gas when canvassed by the company. Councils "would not be going out on a limb" by waiving costly plebiscites.

"We will bend over backwards to see the municipalities get a fair deal," Mr. Crozier said. "But we must also recognize that the company is trying to act fairly and that it has gone to considerable expense."

"If you go back to the people and they turn down the franchise, then they might as well take over the whole thing. It would amount to telling us that we have no business here."

Earlier, following long discussion of the wording of the by-laws, Mayor Wilf Spooner of Timmins proposed that the federal and Ontario governments accept joint responsibility for the trans-Canada natural gas pipeline.

HAVING DIFFICULTY

The pipeline, he said, would cost around $200,000,000 and Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., was having difficulty raising the money.

"The Ontario Hydro spent $250,000,000 for two tunnels at Niagara," the mayor said. "There's no reason why the two governments should not get together and provide less than that sum to give the North the cheaper economical

Grandma Kreitzer Takes Cue From Bible, Pockets $32,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Catherine Kreitzer took a cue from the Bible and Tuesday night declined to risk her $32,000 TV quiz show winnings on the chance of doubling her money.

Her knowledge of the Bible had given the 54-year-old grandmother from Camp Hill, Pa., answers to questions that enabled her to acquire the $32,000 in three previous appearances on the CBS show "The $64,000 Question."

Tuesday night she had the choice of taking her winnings thus far or trying another question, which, it answered correctly, would have won her the top prize of $64,000. If she had missed the question, she would have lost the $32,000 automobile as a consolation prize.

THOUGHT SHE'D DO IT

For a moment it appeared that she would take the chance. She told Hal March, the master of ceremonies, that she felt pretty confident she could answer the final question. The studio audience burst into applause.

When the applause died down, however, she added that she would heed the biblical quotation—"let your moderation be known to all men"—and would be satisfied with the $32,000.

After the show, reporters asked her to repeat the source of the quotation. She pulled a card from her purse and exclaimed: "On dear, I said it wrong, it's from the Philippians, Chapter four, fifth verse."

On the air she had named the source as Ephesians.

KEPT IT SECRET

Mrs. Kreitzer, who works as a typist at a naval supply depot near her home, told reporters she had made up her mind several days ago not to shoot for the $64,000. She kept the decision a secret, however, until broadcast time.

When asked what she would do with her winnings, she said she didn't know but would put it in the bank "for the time being—until things calm down a little."

She told reporters she had checked on the income tax she would have to pay on her winnings and figured she would be able to keep about $20,000 of the $32,000. In the studio audience were her husband, James, a carpenter, and three of her six sons and their wives.

According to the policy of the TV show, the question she would have drawn was not revealed.

Total Higher Than Last Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's militia should be provided with more complete training and better equipment, Opposition Leader Drew said Tuesday. He was speaking during Commons consideration of defence department estimates.

Defence Minister Campbell said the militia totalled 45,828 officers and men as of last April and that 19,082 will be taking summer camp training this year, a higher total than last year.

The area councils agreed to forward resolutions to both governments urging that they consider the mayor's proposal.

Ralph K. Farris of Vancouver, chairman of the gas company, said later in an interview he understood the federal cabinet had decided the pipeline should follow the original route planned for it along No. 11 highway. He said the cabinet had decided against a proposal to bring in gas from the United States along a southern route.

to attract industry."

BOATS, CREWS RETURN

Swimmers Will Be Contributing To Science

LONDON (CP)—Eighteen swimmers tackling the chilly, choppy English channel in August will be contributing to science.

Six doctors following by launch will look for evidence that may benefit shipwrecked sailors.

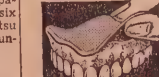

They hope to learn more about the effects on the body of prolonged exertion in cold water. Biochemical changes within the body will be observed, and in particular attention will be given to distribution of body fat in relation to lengthy immersion in cold waters.

The guinea pig swimmers are entered in the international channel swim scheduled between Aug. 10 and Aug. 16.

Research is sponsored by the survival at sea committee of the Royal Naval Personnel Research committee, with a helping hand from the admiralty and the British Medical Research Council.

A series of launches with radio-telephone will keep the doctors in touch with those swimmers who are giving up—and can be studied on the spot.

France Proposes Big Four Power Development Fund

PARIS (AP)—France today proposed a Big Four power development fund to be financed by savings on reduced munitions.

Premier Edgar Faure told a news conference that his delegation will propose such a fund in top-level talks at Geneva with British, American and Soviet leaders.

Clinging disarmament as the key to general security Faure said: "Why not begin immediately by taking a certain percentage of the military expenses of each of the four great powers setting an example—and put the equivalent amount into a four-power fund?"

The premier said the fund should be open to all who would use it for "generous, social, and positive enterprises" instead of "destructive, sterile and negative purposes."

THREE PRINCIPLES

Faure said he and his Geneva partners should forget the past and work together for a solution to world problems.

The premier laid down three principles as improving the chance of agreement among the Big Four heads of government:

To look to the future, instead of the past; to look at problems from the widest point of view; to attempt to understand the position of other countries.

The premier said German reunification is necessary but would be much easier if European security could be assured.

General disarmament—simultaneous, real, and supervised—would form a real basis for such security, he told reporters.

CABINET INFORMED

A government spokesman had given a hint of the "disarmament plus development" plan earlier, following a cabinet meeting. He reported Faure and Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay had drafted it.

He said the plan envisaged an international supervision of the means of production in these areas, but gave no details. Presumably, the international agency would be an East-West affair.

Faure's plan, as reported in the Paris press, would take vast sums now being spent on munitions and use these for the improvement of the standard of living in less fortunate areas. Whether this would be a worldwide program or one limited to Europe was not immediately spelled out.

First Witness Will Testify

VANCOUVER (CP)—First of a long list of witnesses expected to give evidence before the royal commission investigating Vancouver's police force was scheduled to take the stand today.

Formally opened last Wednesday by commissioner R. H. Tupper, the hearing was adjourned until today to give witnesses time to prepare evidence.

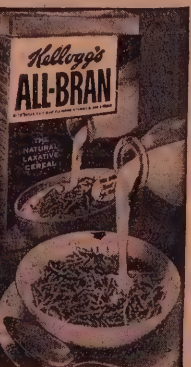

Appointment of the commission by Attorney-General Robert Bonner at request of the police commission followed charges of corruption in the police department and a laxity of its administration.

Chief witnesses are expected to be Chief Constable Walter Mulligan, reporter Ray Munro and Det. Sgt. Len Cubbert.

During the furor that was heightened by a critical Senate committee report on the narcotics problem in Vancouver, Cubbert, former head of the police, gambling detail, shot himself through the chest in a suicide attempt.

Eleven Killed As Tanker Plane Crashes, Burns

MERCED, Calif. (AP)—A four-engine tanker plane crashed just after taking off from Castle Air Force base today, killing all aboard—11 men.

Fire broke out on the plane at an altitude of about 1,500 feet. It crashed within a moment or two, exploded as it hit the ground, and was demolished.

The flames fired the grain field into which the plane fell.

The tanker, a military version of the Stratocruiser, was on a routine refueling mission.

The crash occurred about 15 miles northwest of Merced, near the community of Cressey.

The refueler was to have intercepted a flight of bombers on a fueling test.

First report on the crash was a telephone call to the sheriff's office from the rancher on whose property the plane fell.

"Bodies were strewn all over the field," he said.

The tankers are used to refuel jet bombers and interceptors, and can carry more than 6,000 gallons of jet fuel.

They are 117 feet long, with a wingspread of 141 feet.

MARKS OF HISTORY

The Historic Landmarks Association of Canada was established in 1907 to mark historic sites.

Can Build Own Bomb Shelter

TORONTO (CP)—Val Peterson, United States civil defence co-ordinator, says no one in Toronto has to wait for the government to build a bomb shelter.

The shelters could be built by citizens. All that is necessary, he said, is a hole in the ground, reinforced on all sides with four to five inches of concrete and a concrete roof of identical thickness.

Place three feet of earth on top and take to filter the air. A radio should be stored along with five days supply of food and water.

A shelter can be constructed for $500 to $1,000, Mr. Peterson said.

U.S. Welfare Secretary Quits

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby today resigned as secretary of welfare effective Aug. 1. President Eisenhower picked Marion B. Folsom, under-secretary of the treasury, to succeed her in the cabinet post.

The president called a special press conference to make the announcement. He paid warm tribute to Mrs. Hobby as she sat by his side in the conference room.

The White House made public an exchange of correspondence between Eisenhower and Mrs. Hobby.

"Personal reasons of a high order compel me to take leave of my post as secretary of health, education and welfare," Mrs. Hobby wrote.

WIDELY FORECAST

While she did not specify those reasons, friends said Mrs. Hobby is leaving because of the illness of her husband, former governor William P. Hobby of Texas.

"Only such reasons could persuade me to leave your administration, and if agreeable, I would like to make Aug. 1 the effective date of my resignation," she wrote the president.

Folsom's selection as Mrs. Hobby's successor had been widely forecast. The shift was agreed on weeks ago, and the only real question was of timing.

Ottawa Visitor Builds Nailless House in 2 Days

OTTAWA (CP)—A visitor to Ottawa has built a nailless house in two days. It will go on display at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto Aug. 26 but officials don't expect much demand for similar models.

The house is an igloo nine feet in diameter built here for the northern affairs department by a 38-year-old Eskimo, Pitulak, who came here from hospital in Quebec City.

Pitulak, head man of the 50-man colony of Keakook near Cape Dorset on the southwest coast of Baffin island, built the dwelling of 44 plastic blocks almost identical in size and appearance to the snow blocks his people use every winter.

SKEWERS USED
He had to vary his technique somewhat. Each block of a snow igloo is so well shaped that all are held together by gravity. Pitulak had to bind his plastic blocks with wooden meat skewers. He shaped them with a saw instead of the usual snow knife.

Once the house was finished the blocks were numbered on the inside so they could be dismantled and re-assembled by less experienced hands at Toronto.

Pitulak won't be on hand to assemble them. He now is aboard the supply ship C. D. Howe on his way to Keakook where he lives in a wooden frame house.

St. Laurent Makes Statement On Gas Line Policy

OTTAWA (CP)—An undertaking to complete the proposed all-Canadian pipeline after markets for natural gas have been developed to a certain level in eastern Canada likely will be the condition for a federal go-ahead on the project. Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated Tuesday.

He was replying in the Commons to questions by Progressive Conservative members on suggestions that government approval would be contingent on the 2,200-mile line from Alberta to Montreal being completed within a specific time limit.

He reiterated there has been no change in the government's general pipeline policy, enunciated in 1953, whereby Canadian markets would be served before gas was exported.

Mr. St. Laurent drew a parallel with the proposed Westcoast Transpacific Co. to tap the Peace river fields of Alberta and Saskatchewan to serve Vancouver and the U.S. Pacific northwest.

SURPLUS EXPORTED
He noted the Westcoast line must have a capacity greater than Vancouver's needs to make the line economical. Therefore, the surplus gas was being exported.

"Similar conditions may apply to a pipeline that would bring gas eastward," he said. "It may be that at this time it would have to have a greater capacity than the Canadian market in eastern Canada would now absorb."

"The question that is being discussed, and about which negotiations are proceeding, is to find out what could be done with that surplus over and above eastern requirements at this time without making commitments that would not leave the gas available when the eastern Canadian market will have further developed."

Then he said: "... It is probable that instead of it being an undertaking with a limit fixed in months or years it would be an undertaking that would mature when (eastern Canadian) markets had developed to a certain percentage."

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

ONE GOOD TURN...

Recently the Belleville City Council by a vote of 7-5 decided to discontinue the sponsorship of a senior "B" hockey club here. Later at the special meeting, it decided to sell Memorial Arena with free-skating-for-children strings attached.

The inference in the strings-attached clause is that the city fathers would not sell the structure to those who will not operate it as a skating and hockey arena. But what is to prevent them from disposing of the building to a large chain or departmental store for storage purposes, if the price was right?

The published report of council's decision not to sponsor a senior "B" club and to offer Memorial Arena for sale has brought varying reactions from the hockey public. This department received letters and telephone calls protesting the action in no uncertain terms.

One irate dyed-in-the-wool hockey fan and a taxpayer for years wanted to know why seven people sitting on the city council should have the say with regard to disposing of city property owned by the taxpayers. "And of all things," he shouted, "to sell a Memorial. Let's put this question to the taxpayers as a whole and not allow seven people who apparently know little or nothing about sport and what it has done for Belleville in the past to have the final say."

Yet another was of the opinion the council had not been presented with a true picture. He suggested the Arena Commission prepare a brief containing all the facts, past and present, and present it to council in an informative manner. "Perhaps then," he said, "council might reconsider its decision."

Now let's take a look at what hockey has done for Belleville, outside of providing good conditions for some 400-500 youngsters of the city.

When the city purchased the arena in 1946, it represented an investment of $40,000. The investment today is worth $125,634, to be exact.

According to city hall figures, seventy-five per cent of this increase in investment came from the revenue from hockey. Hockey has been the main factor in providing a new floor, new refrigeration, a new plant, an additional canteen, new dressing rooms, a new roof and many other improvements.

With Friday night games starting at nine o'clock, merchants of the city have benefited by additional business. The same goes for theatres with the head of the house going to the hockey game and the family to a show. In addition the annual debenture of $7,000 has been paid.

True, the arena lost money last season. Operational costs of the hockey club reached a new high. Part of this stemmed from the locale of teams, such as Clinton, N.Y., which called for high transportation costs. Clinton, by the way, has not been included in the district group set-up next season.

There is a move afoot across the province to cut the high cost of operations, the chief factor of which is players' salaries. Many clubs are thinking seriously of cutting out high-priced imports and relying on local players. The day of the high-priced "amateur" hockey player is nearing its close.

Hockey has done a lot for Belleville. It is about time the old adage "one good turn deserves another" came into force here. We believe that with the proper people at the helm of the hockey ship, with careful management under a competent head, that hockey will again reach the status it has enjoyed here since the turn of the century.

Plenty of business firms lose money for a year or more. But they do not go into bankruptcy "at half-cock."

The Arena Commission, its hands tied by the council edict, will not sponsor the club this coming season. However, to get the feeling of the taxpayer at large, and to receive suggestions, it has called a public meeting at the city hall this Thursday night starting at 8 o'clock.

Arena Commission Chairman Alderman Claude Tice said today the meeting has not been called to discuss personalities, nor to re-track the "water that has gone under the bridge." There will be no propositions made by the commission. The meeting has been called to get the ideas and feelings of interested taxpayers and other members of the hockey-loving public. He urges that all interested turn out and express an opinion. The city's interest in senior "B" hockey will be determined by the attendance.

WHO'S WHO?

What a merry old melange of muscle, mugs and mayhem will be this battle royal set for Memorial Arena Friday night. Six of 'em—count 'em—six big huskies all in the ring at one time. The Kaimkoff buddies, Karol and Ivan, will need wear white or red bunting on their heads for identification purposes. Lord Layton and Prince Malava should not have any trouble, but what of the two men-in-white? We do not know who they will be, but suffice it to say the going will be tough if the four pachyderms declare open season on anything in the ring wearing white trousers and T-shirts. A newcomer, Dr. Gallagher, meets Sandy Scott in the semi, while Sammy Berg tangles with tough Jan Gotch in the opener.

HOW ABOUT IT?

It beats all glout what a little moral support will do. The past years Tommy Pedder has, like the Arabs, silently stole away, in search of national honors. He had little press or radio publicity. Folks here did not know much about his activities. Now that public interest in Tommy's Atlantic City swim is increasing there is a reaction in Tommy. He grows more confident each day. The fact that the city and its people are showing more than a passing interest in his efforts is having a fine effect. "I'll go out there and swim like I never swam before," the stocky Tommy told this corner. "The folks here are sure being good to me, and I'll do my best to bring the honors back to Belleville."

You can help Tommy by sending your donation, no matter how large or small, to Jack Devine, CJBQ, or this department—and we'll see that Tommy tucks it away with your best wishes. Do it now. And your names will be published.

Mighty Homer Breaks Up Game After Thrilling Uphill Fight; Braves Play Important Part

By JOE REICHLER

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Stan (The Man) Musial, toast of the National League for the past 14 years, is the new darling of baseball-mad Milwaukee today even if he doesn't wear a Braves uniform.

The majority of the capacity crowd of 45,314 paying customers, not to mention the countless television viewers who saw the great St. Louis Cardinal star smash a 12th-inning home run Tuesday to give the National League an uphill 6-5 victory over the American in the 22nd annual all-star spectacle, were convinced Musial is the greatest.

The story-book finish marked a fitting climax to a wonderful day for Milwaukee as a city, who were treated to perfect weather for their first all-star home game in their third year in the National League. Not only did they see their heroes overcome what at one time seemed an insurmountable 10 deficit, but a trio of their own Braves had key roles in the thrilling comeback drive.

SINGLED IN FIRST RUN

It was Johnny Logan, Milwaukee shortstop, who singled in the first National League run in the seventh. It was Henry Aaron, Milwaukee right fielder, who singled in the run that made it 5-4 in the eighth and set the stage for Al Rosen's error that permitted the tying run to cross the plate. And it was Milwaukee pitcher Gene Conley's spectacular feat in striking out Al Kaline, Mickey Vernon and Al Rosen in the top of the 12th that preceded Musial's game-winning blow.

There were other National League heroes, too. Willie Mays of the New York Giants contributed greatly with two rally-igniting singles and a leaping back-to-the-fence catch of a towering drive by Ted Williams that had the home run label torn off it at the last instant.

There was St. Louis' Harvey Haddix, who pitched a fine three-inning effort for the American League slugging batters into an 8-4 lead at the expense of Robin Roberts, Philadelphia's great right-hander. There was Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati's slugging first baseman who had a double and single and contributed a fielding gem as a sizzler by Yogi Berra that resulted in a rally-killing double play.

CLUTCH PITCHING

Last but not least was the gritty clutch pitching of young Joe Nuxhall, the Redleg southpaw, who fanned five in three and a third innings of ruthless relief pitching after relieving Chicago's Sam Jones to strike out Whitey Ford with two out and the bases full in the eighth.

There were heroes on the losing side, too. Billy Pierce was brilliant in his opening three-inning effort. The little Chicago White Sox left-hander faced only nine as he struck out three, did not give up a run and allowed only a leadoff single to Red Schoendienst.

Mickey Mantle struck the game's longest blow, a tremendous 425-foot home run over the centerfield fence into the distant trees with two men on base in the first inning.

Early Wynn, Cleveland right-hander, picked up where Pierce left off, holding the Nationals scoreless with two harmless hits in the middle three innings. Sullivan, the tall, Boston right-hander, also did well, hurling three and a third scoreless relief innings until that fatal blow by Musial.

GOT BIGGEST OVATION

But it was the 34-year-old Musial, the oldest National League player in the game, who received the biggest ovation and who was nearly hugged to death by his joyous teammates when he lit into Frank Sullivan's first pitch to break up the second extra inning game in all-star history. The first occurred in 1950 when Red Schoendienst, another Cardinal star, homered in the 14th to give the Nationals a 4-3 triumph.

"I knew I'd get hold of one before the day was over," Musial said grinningly while relaxing in the clubhouse. "Those pitchers were giving me a pretty bad time of it up to then."

Musial had struck out, bounced into a double play, rolled out meekly and walked in four previous trips to the plate. The homer was his first in Milwaukee this year.

STUDY REACTIONS

LONDON (AP)—Twenty long distance swimmers from 16 countries will act as "guinea pigs" during the mass English channel race Aug. 11.

A group of doctors, led by Everest climbers Dr. O. G. Edholm and Dr. Griffiths Pugh, will study the reactions of the swimmers during the race.

They will travel in a navy launch and keep in constant touch with the swimmers.

Red Wings Beat Leafs Again; Royals Drop Two

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

But for Rochester Red Wings and Columbus Jets, Toronto Maple Leafs would be making a runaway of the International League race. Maple Leafs have lost 12 games this season, 15 of them to Red Wings and Jets. In contrast, Leafs have taken eight of 11 from Montreal Royals and five of eight from Havana Sugar Kings, their two top contenders.

Red Wings defeated the league leaders for the eighth time in 15 meetings Tuesday night, winning 7-5.

In other games, Syracuse Chiefs edged Columbus 3-2, and Havana swept a doubleheader from Montreal, 2-1 and 4-3. Buffalo Bisons led Richmond Virginians 4-0 after three innings of the first game when the scheduled twin bill was postponed by rain.

A grand-slam homer by Vern Babson, Red Wings third baseman, in the fifth inning ended a scoreless duel between Mel Helm and Toronto's Bill Miller. A walk, a hit batsman and Joe Cunningham's single set the stage for Benson's two-out blast.

Red Wings chased Miller in the sixth when they opened a 7-0 lead. Leafs cut Rochester's lead to 7-3 in the seventh on pinch swinger Eddie Blake's three-run homer. Helm needed help from Tony Jacobs in the eighth when Leafs cut the deficit to two runs.

Sugar Kings' double victory over Royals kept them within one game of second place. Asdrubal Baro led the Havana attack in the nightcap with two home runs and a single and batted in four runs. Jose Bracho went all the way for the Cubans to gain his fourth victory against two defeats.

Baro sent Sugar Kings out in front in the fourth 1-0 with his first home run. Royals took a 2-1 lead in the sixth but Baro smacked his second homer in the home half to give the Cubans a 3-2 advantage. Royals tied it again in the seventh on Jim Williams' single, two infield outs and a balk.

The Cubans scored the winning run on reliever Joe Stanek in the eighth. Sugar Kings bunched two singles, two walks and a ground out for a two-run rally in the final frame of the seven-inning opener.

London Thumps Oshawa 6-1

LONDON (CP)—London Majors licked their oldest rival of the season when they defeated Oshawa 6-1 Tuesday night in a Senior Inter-county Baseball League game.

It was the first time in four years the Londoners had beaten the leading Merchants.

Bill Best, making his first home start of the season held the Merchants to seven scattered hits in a fine pitching performance. London sewed up the game with a three-run rally in the sixth inning but they were never behind.

Gord MacMackon was the hitting star for London but the big blow was Bill Best's two-run double in the sixth.

Wilmer Fields, Oshawa hitting star, was tossed out of the game in the seventh after an argument with the umpire over a third strike.

Ottawa Grid Coach Says Canadians Will Be Used Primarily on Offence

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Coach Chan Caldwell should make a big hit with Big Four fans of the pre-war days. Caldwell's remarks, made Tuesday, brought nostalgic memories to old-timers once accustomed to watching Canadians carry the ball. However, in the last 10 years or so Canadians have made the roles while the Americans grabbed the headlines.

"At the present time we plan to use Canadians primarily on offence and secondarily on defence," said Caldwell, who was brought up by Ottawa from the University of Tennessee. "Imports will be used on defence first and offence second."

A BIG SWITCH

That's a big switch from the policy of American coaches. But Caldwell didn't say it was a sure thing. "It may change some after we've had a closer look at the boys. That's our play for the present," Caldwell mentioned at his strategy press conference, five days before the Rough Riders are scheduled to open their training camp. Montreal Alouettes, Big Four champions last season, is the only other team in the east which has not yet started drills. Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Toronto Argonauts began their sessions Monday.

HAS A FEW

Caldwell didn't say what Canadians he had in mind for heavy offensive work. But he has a few impressive players to work with. One is end Bob Simpson, as good a pass catcher as any U.S. import; Bruno Bitkowski, a big centre who may be sent back to his old end position and backs Don Pinney and Bill Sowalski. He also heard a lot about Geoff Crain, formerly with Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union. Crain hasn't signed yet.

Meanwhile, Argonauts were hit with their first injuries of the year. Quarterback Don Klosterman and fullback Bill Kriemeyer suffered pulled leg muscles in practice. The injuries were not considered to be serious.

Canadians Score Big Success At Bisley

BISLEY, England (Reuters)—Canadians registered their biggest success of the Bisley rifle shoot when the claim cards for the Stock Exchange aggregate were checked Tuesday.

Capt. L. H. Douglas of Port Credit, Ont., had a total of 146 out of 150 for the "Times," "Daily Mail" and "Wimbledon" events Monday, which won him the Challenge Cup and 110.

Lt.-Col. Neill Dowd of Windsor, one point behind him, won runner-up prize of £6 with 145 pounds.

In the Donegal shoot-off, Cadet Cpl. R. S. Potter of Hamilton placed third among the 12 competitors who had perfect scores of 50 Saturday.

Potter was awarded £3 and a Donegal badge, making him eligible to compete for the Challenge Cup at future Bisley meets.

Canadians who won a prize of £1 in the Challenge competition included Lt.-Cmdr. E. Ryan, Kingston, Ont., 142; A-SQMS J. A. Draper, South Porcupine, Ont., 141; Potter, 139; Cadet Sgt. R. W. Wilson, Ingersoll, Ont., 140.

Canadians winning 10 prizes Tuesday included Ryan, 137.

Standing Too Near Creates Slices If you stand too close to the ball you tend to slice. Today's drawing shows why.

The most common cause of a slice is hitting the ball with a swing which cuts across the desired lines of flight from the outside in.

If you stand too close to the ball there is much greater danger of doing just that—of coming across the ball from the outside in. But if you have to reach for the ball just a little, the clubface at impact takes the ball squarely—just a tiny bit of inside-out motion.

But this isn't the whole answer on slicing. Factors other than stance can create an outside-in downswing. One is taking the clubhead back outside line of flight you want on the backswing. It should be taken away along, or slightly inside, the line of flight. Another is "throwing the club from the top", or uncocking the wrists too early on the downswing.

A third is allowing the hip turn to get too far ahead of the hands and clubhead on the downswing. But my point is that standing too close to the ball tends to aggravate all of these other mistakes. (Copyright 1955, by John F. Dille Co.)

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates signed a Canadian player Tuesday to a one-year contract in its minor league system. Outfielder Gary J. Weir, 19, of Windsor, Ont., was signed to the Birmingham (Ga.) Pirates in the Georgia-Florida League. Weir will report next week, the Pirates said.

Seeded Players Move Into Fourth Round

By MEL MORRIS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—Lorne Main of Toronto, the nation's top-ranked player, sets out to catch up to the field today in the Canadian tennis championships.

Main, top-seeded in the tournament, was scheduled to play two matches Tuesday but was defeated in the first by a second-seeded Don Platt of Toronto to move into the quarter-finals.

All other seeded players advanced into the fourth round Tuesday, headed by Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., the second-ranked entry, who disposed of two opponents with only a 10-minute break in between.

Bedard never exerted himself as he whipped Gaston Blais of Quebec 6-2, 6-0 and Jean-Yves Laurin, another local player, 6-0, 6-3. Henri Rochon of Montreal, who along with Main and Bedard, was named to the Davis Cup team Monday, dumped Mario Lauron of Montreal 6-4, 6-4 in the third round.

The four players who hope to grab the last place in the Senior Paul Wiley, John Swan and Larry Barclay, all of Vancouver, and Don Fontana of Toronto—all advanced, although Swan was extended to three sets by Raymond Page of Montreal before winning 6-3, 2-6, 7-5.

The only upset of the day came in the women's section, where sixth seeded Miriam Rainboth of Ottawa was eliminated 6-2, 6-4 by unranked Eleanor Dodge of Montreal.

Favored Hanna Sladek of Montreal moved along easily into the quarter-finals by trouncing Seiglinde Baack of Toronto 6-1, 6-0.

'Bluebird' Beats World Record In Trial Run

LAKE ULLSWATER, Eng. (AP)

Donald Campbell of Britain made an unofficial run Tuesday night with his turbo-jet speedboat Bluebird in speed faster than the world water record.

He drove the Bluebird at 185 miles an hour but it was not in a record attempt. He said afterward that slight modifications might be made before he makes an official try at the world mark.

"I have to return to London for consultations before any date can be given for the record try," he said.

The 34-year-old son of the late Sir Malcolm Campbell said the boat's power is "simply terrific."

ONE FAST RUN
Campbell made only one fast run. His return run was in the 150 miles an hour class.

The listed motor boat record for miles an hour set by Stanley Sayres at Seattle, Washington, in 1952.

John Cobb in his Crusader jet speed boat was timed in 206.88 m.p.h. over a measured mile before his craft disintegrated on Loch Ness, Scotland, killing him on Sept. 29, 1952. The performance did not constitute a world record because the required second run was not made.

Dutchies Sign Backfield Stars

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, defending champions in the Ontario Rugby Football Union, said Tuesday backfielders Blake Taylor and Billy Tonegusso have signed 1955 contracts.

Coach Harvey Johnson said official workouts will start July 18. Unofficial drills for local players will start Wednesday night with equipment ready for running, kicking and passing.

Taylor is rated by Johnson as a top Canadian fullback in the game and the best pass protector in the league. He was an ORFU all-star last season.

Tonegusso, who lives in Guelph, was a good halfback for the club in his first senior year last season. Johnson expects to have about 30 holdovers from last year's team and has invited many new players to camp.

Charles Favored Over Andrews

CHICAGO (AP)—Ezzard Charles 34-year-old former heavyweight champion who has hopes of another title match, was a 3-to-1 favorite over young Paul Andrews in their scheduled 10-round bout at Chicago Stadium tonight.

It'll be a MUST bout for both the fading Charles and the 25-year-old Andrews.

Charles cannot afford to lose if he expects to continue as a drawing card and maintain or improve his No. 8 ranking among the heavies. Andrews, winner of 30 of his 35 bouts, needs a victory to establish himself among the heavyweights.

Hull's Homers Spark Pointers To 3-1 Victory

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Bob Hull's two tremendous home runs were the margin of victory last night as the Pointe Anne Cementmen racked up their seventh straight triumph, a 3-1 decision over the Frankford Merchants at the Point in a B. and D. softball fixture.

Hull crushed his first four-bagger in the fourth frame to knot the score at 1-1 and followed up with a blast approximately 255 ft. to deep left field in the sixth frame for a 2-1 lead.

Meanwhile, Pat Maracle stopped the Merchants on three hits for his seventh victory of the season. He surrendered a pair of pop singles just over the infield in the initial frame when the visitors tallied their lone run and was touched for a double in the seventh. Pat nipped seven of the strike-out method while walking only two.

Doug Radner took his fifth loss against as many wins, while last night the route for Frankford. The Ox Pointers got to him for nine safe blows as he set three down on strikes and was charged with four bases on balls. With the exception of Hull's homers, the winners were only able to hit singles off Radner's slants.

Maracle retired the first two men he faced before running into trouble in the first frame, Ross Dafeo and Bill Rankin dropping singles over the infield. Hull came in fast from centre on the latter's hit and fired to third in an attempt to cut off Dafeo but Gilmour let the throw get away, playing the Merchants only run. The veteran hurler then settled down to retire 17 men in order before Rankin doubled down the left field line in the seventh.

Lott's crew failed to score in the third on a hit and two walks when Maracle was cut down at the plate on a fielder's choice. Hull, leading off in the next stanza, tore the cover off a fast ball, lining the ball, which was never more than 12 feet off the ground, between the centre and left fielders.

It was in the lead-off position that Hull rapped his game-deciding blow. Bennett singled and Maracle drove in his own insurance marker with a line single to right centre.

The Merchants threatened in the ninth when Cooke led off with a walk and took second on a passed ball. Cosgrove and Dafeo popped up but Rankin drew another walk and both advanced on a passed ball before Maracle fanned coach Austin to end the game.

Phil Bennett starring Hull and Maracle in forward roles with three singles and his team's third run. Pat Gilmour had a brace of singles with one each for Bert Whalen and Maracle. Bill Rankin's double and single, plus a walk made him the top Merchant hitter.

The line-up: Frankford — Cooke, Cosgrove, Dafeo, Rankin, Austin, Wickson, Gilmour, Leavitt, Radner. Pointe Anne — Elliott, P. Gilmour, Wade, Goyer, Hull, Whalen, Bennett, Horwood, Maracle. Line score: R. H. E. Frankford - 100 000 000-1 3 1 Pt. Anne - 000 102 000-3 9 1

Orfuns Score 6-3 Victory Over Madoc

After getting off to a shaky start with four walks and three runs charged to him in the initial frame Bobby Green settled down to fire a three-hit 6-3 victory for the Orfuns over Madoc in a Belleville and District softball game in the northern village last night.

The city nine took a short-lived 2-0 lead in the top of the first but Madoc's trio put them in front. The league leaders tied the score in the third and added single markers in the fifth, eighth and ninth for the win, enabling them to stay ahead of Point Anne in the league standing.

Green's triumph was his sixth without a setback. He whiffed 12 last night while walking seven. Madoc had one-base blows in the first and third frames and a triple in the sixth but otherwise, Green handled them with little trouble, striking out the side in the fifth. Wayne Shaw teed the rubber

40 Homes, Church and Hall Being Shifted to New Sites

By ROBERT JOYCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

THETFORD MINES, Que. (CP)—The houses of Thetford Mines are being shifted to new sites to make way for the asbestos industry more town room.

In one of the biggest moves ever in this province, some 140 homes, an Anglican church, the Masonic hall, and the head office of one of the big mining companies are being shifted to new sites.

But there are a few tears as part of the city disappears. Even old-timers figure that Thetford gains an extra year's life with each passing house.

Two years ago the outlook for his community of 17,000 looked greyer than the big waste dumps from the mines that hem it in on three sides and which in one section threaten almost to strangle busy rue Notre Dame.

HOUSES IN THE WAY

More than 70 years of constant mining had forced back the sides of the three big pits—the Bell mine, the Johnson mine and the King mine—until no company could push forward without toppling the walls between them. They could not go further afield without threatening to undermine houses in the south end of the city.

Faced with a shut-down of mining—the big job-maker—the companies agreed to split the ore in the dividing walls and convert the pits into one big hole. The homeowners were paid to move elsewhere.

The big move was on. Last summer the first house rolled and 14 more went the same way by the end of 1954. This year the target is 27, but Leigh Bladon, former McGill University professor who bosses the day-to-day operations of Relocations Limited, a co-operative company set up by the mines to push the project through, says it will be 13 to 20 years before some homes get their marching orders.

"We're only doing it as mining progresses," Bladon says. "The big rush is in the first few years. After that it will slow up."

MADE JOINT OFFER

Most of the houses were either owned by the mining firms, stood on mine company land, or could be expropriated under provincial laws to make way for mining. But to prevent confusion and ill will in the town, the three companies—the Asbestos Corporation, Johnson's Company and Bell Asbestos Mines Limited, a British-owned subsidiary—made a joint offer to all owners. They offered to pay twice the municipal valuation—or roughly the market price in 1954—plus 10 per cent. In addition, householders could keep their homes if they met the bill for shifting them out of their own pocket. So far no one has kicked although one or two thought they deserved more for pulling up stakes.

But the $5,500,000 project involves not only houses. New mining operations will slice across the main Quebec-Sherbrooke highway and destroy several miles of streets.

Already the relocation firm has built by-passes north and south of the town, a new provincial highway has been completed and a townsite called Johnson's Park has been laid out to receive the wandering houses.

SECRET NEGOTIATIONS

The railroad project was top secret. For months the companies cautiously bought tracts of land for the right of way for the line which had to be put in without cost to the QCR. Farms were snapped up sometimes under the names of third parties, so that local landowners would not know what was afoot and boost prices.

All the while there was a continuing round of secret talks with railway officials, telephone and power company engineers, and city officials all of whom had to be in on the plan before it went through.

The wraps were not lifted until near the end. Even when the story finally broke in a local newspaper it hardly put a crimp in the project—the bulk of the preparatory work had been completed.

A similar move was made at Asbestos in 1929 and further relocations are in prospect including shifting of a Roman Catholic church and several blocks of the town "sometime within the next 20 years" but it is not on the same scale as the Thetford Mines project.

In spite of these periodic upheavals the towns of the asbestos country are flourishing communities. Both Thetford Mines and Asbestos claim they have more cars per capita than any other city in Canada.

TRADE THRIVING

Basic wage is $1.53 an hour, but a top man can earn over $2. Hourly earnings average $1.77 and trade is thriving.

Gone are the pioneer days when a band of tough miners at nearby Black Lake hitched the ramshackle railway station to the caboose of a Quebec Central train to register their discontent and laughed uproariously when the unsuspecting engineer pulled it out of town. Wages then were $1 a day.

Even the more recent depressed 30s are seldom talked about and the bitterness of the 4½-month strike of 1949 is becoming a memory. Thetford, Asbestos and Black Lake are riding the boom.

In the fight for a bigger share of the world market, one American-backed company—Lake Asbestos, an offshoot of the giant American Smelting and Refining Company—is drawing a mile-long lake and plans to strip 30,000 yards of lake bottom in the next 2½ years to reach asbestos rock.

CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

Stephen Orgyzo of Kirkland Lake, Ont., manager of the Black Lake project says: "We wouldn't spend $20,000,000 if we didn't think the ore was there."

By old standards Thetford and the other mining towns are clean, modern communities. New arrivals say the towering dumps are depressing, but the big menace—dust from the mills—is being cut. The companies have spent millions to check the fine grey particles that once hovered in leaden clouds above the mining towns. Today the air is clean.

The program, plus stepped up medical checkups, is paying dividends. Asbestosis, once a threat hanging over every miner's life, has been brought under control and last year the industry announced that not a single case of the lung-scarring disease has been reported in five years.

The unknown author who wrote of Thetford in a QCR railway guide in the 1870s that "it is a marvel that any human being should locate in such a forbidding spot" should maybe come back and take a second look.

30 Dumped Among Crocodiles As Prison Launch Capsizes

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—At least 30 persons were feared drowned when a launch capsized on crocodile-infested Lake Victoria today.

The boat was carrying prisoners and guards to a British "devils island" penal colony for Mau Mau terrorists in the lake.

First reports indicated one of those aboard was Steve Martin, of Perth, Australia, commandant of the prison island.

Most of the other passengers were African, including two women, two children, and a road gang of convicts.

Lake Victoria, about 200 miles long and 150 across, borders on Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika.

The launch capsized only 50 to 60 yards from Kenya's Maget Island, which houses many fanatical Mau Mau terrorists sentenced to life imprisonment. But all in the boat were carried away by the rapid current which sweeps past the island.

P.M. May Name Conservative To Senate

OTTAWA (CP)—There is increasing speculation in this capital that Prime Minister St. Laurent may appoint John T. Hackett, former Conservative member of Parliament, to the Senate.

Mr. St. Laurent is known to be preparing a list of new appointees to be announced in a week or two.

There are to fill a portion of the 22 vacancies in the upper chamber.

A number of the new senators are expected to be picked from outside the Liberal ranks.

HELD STANSTEAD

He captured and held the Quebec riding of Stanstead for the Conservatives in 1930-35 and 1945-49. He was defeated by a Liberal in the 1949 general election and did not campaign in the 1953 fight.

Persons close to Mr. St. Laurent could not confirm definitely that Mr. Hackett will be appointed, though they hinted that he is being considered.

One deterrent is that some Quebec Liberals are reported to be critical of placing a Conservative in the upper chamber and this may influence Mr. St. Laurent's final decision.

However, the 102-seat Senate has steadily declining number of Conservatives with the Liberals now holding 73 seats and the Tories seven.

GUIDED MISSILE DEVELOPMENTS STILL TOP SECRET

Defence Minister Tells Of Work Already Done

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has moved another step forward in the development of guided missiles but is proceeding cautiously in designing costly supersonic aircraft.

Defence Minister Campbell told the Commons Wednesday night during debate of his department's estimates that an order has been placed for a prototype of a guided missile, presumably the type fired from planes. However, he said development work on the supersonic CF-105 at the A. V. Roe Co. plant at Malton, Ont., still is in the research stage and will be for some time.

OTHER BUSINESS

The House will try today to complete consideration of the defence estimates. It then is scheduled to discuss the estimates of Trade Minister Howe which likely will open extended debate on Canada's foreign trade policies, including the sale of wheat to Iran.

Mr. Campbell said he was not in a position to give the House any details on the development of guided missiles, one of Canada's most secret defence projects.

"As far as guided missiles are concerned, we are placing a pre-production order in respect to one," he said.

It is believed Mr. Campbell was referring to an order for a prototype of an air-to-air guided missile. Preliminary development work on such a missile was conducted at the defence department's research establishment and a model already has been tested at the RCAF's weapons range at Cold Lake, Alta.

NEXT STAGE

Officials said the order for the prototype is the next stage in the development of an air-to-air guided missile which would be used by Canadian-based CF-100 interceptors against potential enemy planes.

John B. Hamilton (PC—York West) criticized the government-ordered slowdown in production of these two engine jets by the A. V. Roe plant. He said the government has "failed" in the job of getting squadrons in the air for the defence of Canada.

Mr. Campbell said nine Canadian-based CF-100 interceptor squadrons will be equipped by the end of this year. By the end of 1956 four squadrons of the air division in Europe would be provided with the planes.

A decision would be made soon by the government on whether to equip RCAF auxiliary squadrons with the CF-100. The squadrons would not be equipped with the aircraft if it is felt the step would be to equip later models.

Mr. Campbell said recruiting is just about up to expectations of 900 a year despite rigid aircrew standards. The RCAF last year recruited 885 aircrew and was not short of such manpower.

Mr. Hamilton asked whether difficulties in obtaining competent aircrew are responsible for the "failure" to man defence squadrons. Replying to a similar question by Walter Dinsdale (PC—Brandon) Mr. Campbell said recruiting is just about up to expectations of 900 a year despite rigid aircrew standards. The RCAF last year recruited 885 aircrew and was not short of such manpower.

Chief of Police at Vancouver Ally of Crooks Says Witness

VANCOUVER (CP)—Accusations that police chief Walter Mulligan allied himself with bookmakers and bootleggers for a slice of the payoff echoed today as a royal commission investigation into the Vancouver police department went back into session.

The charges were made Wednesday by men who headed the gambling and liquor squads of the police force of Canada's third largest city.

The police chief, on leave of absence pending the outcome of the investigation under commissioner R. H. Tupper, has offered to open his personal financial accounts, and those of his wife, to the scrutiny of a chartered accountant.

Mr. Tupper, appointed by the attorney-general's department to investigate charges of corruption and laxity in the 735-man force, was told that the chief constable is "allied with the criminal element of this city."

Det.-Sgt. Archie Plummer, liaison officer between the city drug-morality squad and the RCMP, said he believed the chief constable was "a convicted criminal." He said he believed the chief constable was "a convicted criminal."

'Great Hopes Are in Air' For Geneva Parley--Dulles

PARIS (AP)—U. S. State Secretary Dulles flew into Paris today to help put the finishing touches on western strategy for the Big Four summit conference.

Dulles told reporters at the airport that "great hopes are in the air" for the talks at Geneva.

The secretary was to confer today and tomorrow with French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan to complete co-ordination of western policy for the summit talks.

They will meet Saturday with the North Atlantic Council to outline the western policy for their NATO partners' foreign ministers.

Informal that Soviet Communist leader Nikita Khrushchev and London Minister George Bullock were accompanying Premier Bulganin to Geneva, Dulles commented "that's normal."

Dulles said "great hopes are in the air" for the talks at Geneva. He said he believed the chief constable was "a convicted criminal."

Dulles was accompanied by Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament chief.

The secretary's first call was on Pinay.

Dulles' guest for dinner tonight was Macmillan, shortly after the British minister's arrival from London.

Macmillan will confer tomorrow with Pinay over lunch and then both will team up with Dulles to hear a report from the preparatory working group of experts who have been busy here during the last week.

This meeting of the Big Three tomorrow will be followed in the evening by a session of the Western European Union council at NATO headquarters here.

Saturday morning, before the three foreign ministers will attend the NATO council meeting.

French Premier Edgar Faure, meanwhile, will be departing for Geneva Saturday morning, and is scheduled to meet Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden on Sunday morning.

Before his departure for Paris today, Macmillan attended a London cabinet meeting called by Eden, at which the final British plans for the summit meetings were talked over.

The initial session Monday morning will be presided over by Eisenhower, and the four powers have tacitly agreed to avoid long propaganda speeches, planning to get down quickly to solid discussion of world problems.

STRANGE AILMENT HITS CREE TRIBE IN MANITOBA

At Least 18 Suffer Headaches and Spasms

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—A mysterious ailment which causes headaches, spasms and convulsions has hit the Shamatwa Indian reserve in northeastern Manitoba.

At least 17 young Indian women and one man are known to have been afflicted and health officials in Winnipeg said there were reports of other cases among the 250 Cree Indians on the reserve.

Shamatwa is an isolated settlement at the junction of the Hayes and Gods rivers, 100 miles south of the Hudson Bay town of York Factory and about 50 miles from the Ontario boundary.

DISCOVERED IN JUNE

The ailment was first discovered when federal officials made treaty-money payments, on the reserve in June.

The 17 women, between the ages of 13 and 23, were flown out to hospitals in Churchill, Man., and The Pas June 21.

After treatment the Indians were allowed to return to the reserve. However, the women all had relapses and were taken back to hospital. Twelve are at The Pas, two were transferred to St. Boniface, Man., and two are resting in rooming houses at The Pas.

Dr. R. F. Yule, who returned Sunday from Shamatwa, said Wednesday the ailment has continued to baffled doctors. Dr. Yule is the medical superintendent for northern Manitoba Indians.

Marilyn Bell's Throat Infection Getting Better

FOLKESTONE, Kent, England (CP)—Toronto swimmer Marilyn Bell today was reported "progressing well" in her recovery from a throat infection.

A spokesman said Miss Bell was in bed at a late hour this morning, but declined to comment on whether she might still attend a presentation ceremony later today at Buckingham Palace.

Her doctor, Bruce Findlay, visited her today in her Folkestone hotel and was "completely satisfied" with her condition, the spokesman said. The malady was diagnosed as a peri-tonillar infection.

Though Folkestone is only an hour or so from London, it appeared certain that Miss Bell would miss the chance of being presented to the Queen. Some 40 other Canadian debutantes were going to the palace.

Trick Fails

BRAMPTON (CP)—A trick police say Emerson Underhill, 25, failed to elude them ended in his being charged with careless driving.

During a 13-mile chase he drove behind a barn. But the police found him anyway and today he was fined $75. He pleaded guilty, ter.

New Parachute Drops Case of Eggs To Firefighters Without Breakage

MARTIN, Ont. (CP)—A water bomb that can be dropped from 500 feet on a square-foot target and a newly-designed parachute that can land a crate of eggs without damage are being used by Ontario firefighters.

The new aerial techniques were described Wednesday by J. C. Dillon, Toronto, supervisor of forest fire control for the department of lands and forests, at a town fire instruction school in Port William.

The school is sponsored jointly by the department and the Northwestern Ontario Timber Operators' Association.

Mr. Dillon said the new techniques have proved invaluable and have brought surprising results. He said the department's 43 aircraft have done outstanding work.

Hunt 33 Persons After Ship Sinks Off Mexican Coast

Hope Fades for 19 Missing From Earlier Sea Disaster

VERACRUZ, Mexico (AP)—Fishing vessels searched the storm-whipped waters of the Gulf of Campeche today for 33 persons missing following the sinking of a crowded mass passenger boat.

The 145-ton La Flecha sank Tuesday night 40 minutes after sailing from Veracruz, but the disaster did not become known until Wednesday morning when fishing boats picked up 31 survivors. They also recovered the bodies of two children.

All those aboard the vessel were believed to be Mexicans.

The La Flecha sinking was the second marine disaster of the day in the Caribbean area. Early Wednesday a Liberian ore carrier, the Sun Princess, rammed and sank the 6,155-ton British freighter Geologist off Trinidad. Nineteen seamen of the Geologist are missing. The body of another was recovered.

The La Flecha went down about four miles off Veracruz. She was bound across the gulf for the Port of Progreso, on the Yucatan peninsula. Coast guard vessels and fishing boats searched throughout the night for survivors.

A rescued sailor said the La Flecha was carrying at least 66 persons. Her sailing list showed 32 passengers and a crew of 14 aboard, but many of those rescued were not on the list.

The cause of the sinking was not immediately determined. Heavy storms had swept the gulf area and survivors told of struggling against towering waves before being rescued. They said the ship went down so rapidly there was little time for launching lifeboats.

Hope for finding additional survivors from the sinking off Trinidad faded after a day-long air and sea search. Twenty-two survivors from the Geologist were picked up by the Sun Princess.

Fourteen of the missing seamen and the man whose body was recovered were West Indians signed on at Barbados Tuesday. The other five missing were Britons.

The Geologist was en route to Maracaibo, Venezuela, with a general cargo, including more than 1,200 cases of whisky and nearly 100 British automobiles.

Gordon Watkin,
Wife Joan, Win
Hyde Trophy

It was one of the largest and most successful tournaments staged at the local greens in many years. The occasion was the mixed doubles tournament on Wednesday sponsored by the committee of the Bowling Club, the trophy and some of the prizes being donated by Charles L. Hyde and Son. A considerable amount of time was given to this project by the chairman, Percy Graham, the sponsor, Gerald B. Hyde, and his father, and Austin Watkin, who conducted the draw.

Mr. J. B. Hyde, senior member of the firm, was on hand to present to Gordon Watkin and his wife, Joan, the beautiful trophy and also the first prize, consisting of a man's and woman's travelling case, which they won during the afternoon and evening play. Fifty-four rinks hopelessly tied off early in the afternoon, which was to lead to fame or being an also ran. The greens were at their lightning best, due to excellent care by the greenskeeper, Jack Smith, and the bowling matched the keenness of the greens. Due to the large number of rinks in competition drawn from all over the district, which included Belleville, Trenton, Madoc, Kingston, Stirling, Campbellford, Deseronto, Brighton and Alliston, the draw was split and bowling did not cease until after the midnight hour.

Belleville had a field day at the tourney with the three top prizes going to local pairs. Jerry Hyde, who distributed the prizes and thanked all for their attendance to make the tournament a success, gave the first prize to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Watkin with a score of 57 plus one. Other 3-game high winners were Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Price 56 plus 2; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wonnacott, 55 plus one. These three scores show how close the competition was all the day. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thorne of Brighton, were next with 50 and tied by Mr. and Mrs. William Fuller of Trenton. Jim Hanna and Mrs. H. A. Thompson with 43 and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elliott with 35.

The two-game winners were Austin Watkin and his mother, Mrs. George Watkin with 50, followed by J. W. "Davey" Davis and Mrs. C. A. Mott with 49 plus two and Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong of Kingston, with 49 plus two.

The one-win high was scored by Mr. and Mrs. Ballantyne of Campbellford, with 48 plus two, followed by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fox of Stirling, with 43 plus three. In the no-win high category, two rinks tied with 39 points. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parker of the local club and Mr. and Mrs. M. Caverley of Madoc, shared the prizes.

The two rinks competing in the Governor-General's competition took another step towards their goal on Monday evening when they defeated Trenton by a total of thirteen shots. The rinks going to Trenton, skipped by Gordon Watkin won 20-16 while the rink staying at home won by a 20-11 count. On Monday evening, Campbellford will be the opponent. Kingston also played on the local greens against two rinks from Stirling and won by a substantial margin. Madoc will continue in the competition due to other commitments. The Bowling Club was not responsible for their non-appearance, when they were scheduled to play Kingston. Madoc club have stated that the association officials had been notified the club would not be participating this year.

Gordon Watkin and Bruce Miller will represent the club in the district playoffs at Trenton on Friday. They are expected to be defeating Jerry Hyde and Gordon Edwards on Tuesday evening in one of the best games played at the greens this year.

The tournament committee of Jerry Hyde, Fred Harper, Jim Hanna and Gordon Edwards, while the singles representative will be Ernie Jones.

The tournament on Saturday will be played at Campbellford by the Cavalier trophy. This is a district competition, the funds derived being placed in the district account to cover expenses. All clubs are asked to send entries to Fred Rutherford as quickly as possible.

FISH BITING BETTER

The fish bites are few and far between in the west end of the Bay of Quinte these days. American anglers fishing Weller's Bay off Lake Ontario told a different story, however. Yesterday a two-some from Buffalo caught their limit of northern pike.

In Pleasant Bay, south of Concession, tourists from the U.S. say a big mouth bass are hitting with unusual gusto. There have been some good catches from Concession Lake east of the railroad tracks according to residents in the vicinity.

The Trent River below No. 1 dam still provides thrills of pickering fishing when old timers who know every hidden hole and rock go after the big ones.

Neil Hallam

Again President

TB Association

Neil Hallam again has been re-elected as president of the Hastings County TB Association.

Mr. Hallam was given another lease of office at the annual meeting of the association at the Shrine Club last night.

Last year he conducted the association through one of its busiest terms. During the year a mass X-ray survey was carried out in Hastings County and a report tabled to the meeting last night showed 18,296 persons submitted themselves to examination. This compared with 15,521 in a previous survey.

Organization of the large scale preventive measure was the responsibility of E. Bernstein, who last night gave the report. It also showed 8,479 were X-rayed in the Belleville district, compared with 6,314 previously. Overall increase in the county was 18 1/2 per cent.

Christmas seals sales also were up considerably at $7,949, compared with $4,602 the previous year. However, the per capita contribution of Hastings County to the campaign was still below the provincial average, it was pointed out.

Trevor Pearce, representing the Ontario TB Association, told members the county per capita average was 10 cents against the provincial average of 20 cents.

A resident of Hastings County cannot return a higher average," he said, while congratulating the association on this year's increase in returns. However, he warned, it will take a number of years before returns will climb near the provincial average.

The secretary's report, tendered by Mrs. William Gault, showed the association had handled 28 admissions during the year, some of them re-admissions.

"Until we can educate the people to have a chest X-ray once a year, TB will never be wiped out," she said.

"We feel the results of the year are very gratifying, but also feel there is still room for improvement in the war against TB," she said.

Report of the treasurer, read by Ben Yanover, showed donations to the mass survey at $5,000, while case findings during the year had called for an expenditure of $1,555; rehabilitation and patients' welfare had cost $929. Bank balance at financial year's end was $4,622.

Following is this year's executive:

President, Neil Hallam; honoraries, D. L. Storey, Norm Garbutt; vice-presidents, Orville Lloyd, Cole Colling and Ed Bernstein; treasurer, Ben Yanover; executive secretary, Mrs. Nina Gault; social service, Jim Gill and Art Bridge; secretary, George Hunter, Orville Lloyd, Harry Rollins, Charlie Bussard, Mrs. Glen-dinning, J. Fisher, publicity, George Carver and Harry Mulhall.

TB Prevention Responsibility Of Individual Says Speaker

Responsibility for the prevention of tuberculosis rests heavily upon the shoulders of the individual, Hastings County TB Association was told last night.

Despite the strides taken by medical science in erasing the disease, the social contributions of both government and voluntary organizations, it is the conscientiousness of the individual in submitting himself to regular check-ups and X-rays that yields a heavy axe in the battle to beat the disease.

Trevor Pearce, representative of the Ontario TB Association, emphasized this point, while speaking to the county association's annual meeting in the Shrine Club. Commenting on the efforts of medical science to combat the disease, he said: "There is no doubt about it, tremendous advances are being made."

"But tuberculosis is the kind of disease, that is peculiar inasmuch as the cause of tuberculosis has been known for a very long time . . . and yet today, although medical science has made great advances in the past few years, we cannot prevent it completely."

Public awareness of the disease also appears to take a back seat to cancer and heart condition, he showed.

A Canadian Gallup poll taken recently in Halton County, revealed the public considered TB less alarming as a disease than cancer and heart condition. But tuberculosis still is responsible for more deaths than all the other communicable diseases together, he said.

Despite contributions of government and voluntary associations toward the battle there still remains the need for "social discipline," said Mr. Pearce.

"And that means every individual takes it upon himself to get a regular checkup and chest X-ray."

There is no doubt that there is a work to be done by voluntary associations to help the province, he told the meeting.

The K.C.'s splurged for seven runs in the initial frame and were never in trouble as Bob Fullwell and Larry Soden teamed up to throw four-hit ball at the Pointers. Between them, fanning 10 and walking 11.

Point Anne used four pitchers, Whitehead Lucas Hull and Maracle. They allowed 16 hits fanning but one while walking no less than 18.

Fullwell had a double and two singles for the winners, Soden, a triple and single while Moore, E. Keller and Nolan had two singles each. Scrimshaw tripled. Lucas, D. Hull, R. Hull and Gagnon hit safely for Point Anne.

A postponed midget game was played at Prince Charles school with Stewart-Warner whipping

Weddings

FARRAR-STONEBURG

On Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, June 25, a very pretty wedding was solemnized in Fellowship Street United Church, which was adorned with baskets of blue delphinium, yellow gladioli and fern. The pastor, the Rev. Sidney E. Lorman, officiated at the double-ring ceremony, when Shirley Emeline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stoneburg, was united in marriage to Lawrence Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Farrar, all of Belleville. Mr. C. Temple, organist, accompanied the soloist, Mr. Don Butcher, who sang before the ceremony, "O Promise Me," during the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer" and at the signing of the register, "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a princess model full length gown of white crystalline over taffeta, with long sleeves pointed over the wrists. Her fingertip veil of embroidered nylon was caught to a crown headress encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible crested with a mauve orchid and stephanotis.

Miss Lois Stoneburg, of Belleville, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a full length dress on princess lines, of turquoise crystalline over taffeta. She wore a matching headress, dress and mitts and carried a nosegay of daisies, blue delphinium buds, peach gladioli and admantium fern.

Miss Vivian Stoneburg, also of Belleville, sister of the bride, and Miss Marian Mulville, of Belleville, were bridesmaids, wearing similar full length gowns of pale turquoise crystalline over taffeta, with matching headresses, dress and mitts, and carried nosegays of daisies, blue delphinium buds, peach gladioli and admantium fern.

Little Darlene Stoneburg, youngest sister of the bride, was a dainty flower girl, frocked in a full length dress of pale turquoise crystalline over taffeta; matching headress and mitts. She carried a little basket of blue corn flowers, daphniphyllum, blossoms, daisies and steamers of yellow ribbon.

Mr. Albert Farrar of Belleville, acted as his brother's groomsman, and the ushers were, Messrs. Robert Smith, son of the bridegroom; and Pete Buchanan of Belleville.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for 120 guests at St. Thomas parish house, where the bride's table was tastefully decorated with pink and

Urges Women Seek Airline Pilot Jobs

VANCOUVER (CP) — Helen Dixon, who for 25 years has made her living as an airplane pilot, advises women to qualify as commercial pilots.

"There is a prejudice against women but we've just got to break it," said the slight woman, who is five feet four inches tall. "There are not enough women going after flying jobs now."

The Vancouver-born flier learned to handle a plane in England in 1933. She was the first woman to fly commercially and instruct in South Africa and the only woman there permitted to pilot military aircraft.

From there she went to Richmond, Virginia, obtained her United States commercial license, then came to Canada. In Hamilton, she was instructor and test pilot for Cub aircraft.

FERRIED PLANES
In the Second World War she joined Jacques Cochran, leader of the United States commercial license, then came to Canada. In Hamilton, she was instructor and test pilot for Cub aircraft.

Helen now is in charge of float training at the Aero Club of British Columbia and the only woman flying commercial full time in the province. She has 6,000 flying hours to her credit, 4,000 of them in teaching.

"It is interesting work and I'm in love with it," she said. "But flying is really routine."

white streamers, candles and centred with a three-tier wedding cake.

The bride's mother received, wearing rosewood color, crepe and lace with navy accessories and corsage of cream roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in pale blue nylon crystalline over taffeta with navy and white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

For their wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls, Rochester, Watertown, Adirondack Mts. and Montreal, the bride chose a beige linen suit with avocado green accessories and brownish beige orchid corsage.

Out-of-town guests were from Trenton, Oshawa, Toronto, Rochester, Franklin and Stirling.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was fete with two showers. One in Belleville with Mrs. L. B. Smith, and Mrs. Robert Smith, as hostesses and one in Trenton, with Mrs. Fred McCrory as hostess.

Miss Stoneburg, an employee of Woolworth's, Belleville, was presented with a Kenwood blanket, from the manager and employees.

MCCRORY-ROSE

White peonies and lily-of-the-valley adorned the altar and chancel of Christ church, Belleville, on Saturday, June 11, at 2:30 p.m., when the Rev. Everett Smith, assistant rector of the church, united in marriage, Barbara Jean Rose, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. Clinton J. Rose, and the late Mrs. Rose, to John Wesley McCrory of Canfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McCrory.

The traditional wedding music was rendered by the church organist, Mr. John Crovden Withers, who accompanied the soloist, Miss Frances Thompson, in her rendition of "O Perfect Love," before the ceremony, and "The Wedding Prayer," during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Clinton J. Rose, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of white, embroidered nylon in floor length, fashioned with fitted bodice and gracefully full skirt. The bodice featured three-quarter sleeves, and a round collar high at the throat. Her waist-length veil fell from a seed pearl encrusted coronet, and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and roses mingled with lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Eleanor McCrory, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor; Miss Betty Rose, sister of the bride, as senior bridesmaid; and Miss Heather Mills, niece of the bride, as junior bridesmaid, were gowned alike in blue, embroidered nylon, fashioned on lines similar to that of the bride's, but in floor length. They wore matching headresses and carried bouquets of summer flowers.

Mr. Donald Rose, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Arnold Duffy and Mr. James Mott, both of Belleville, acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the parish hall. The bride's oldest sister, Mrs. J. E. Clarke, received, wearing a pink embroidered gown, with navy accessories. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in blue embroidered nylon with white accessories.

For travelling to Ottawa, Renfrew and Toronto, the bride chose a turquoise printed silk dress, with full-length linen duster, white accessories, and corsage of white mums. Mr. and Mrs. McCrory will reside in Port Hope.

Vocational School Displays Art At McCarthy Theatre

An interesting and versatile display of art by the Vocational School students night class is on exhibition for several weeks at the McCarthy Theatre, and includes winter scenes; mountain landscapes, landscapes, buildings, flowers and an autumn scene with a turbulent waterfall.

An early winter scene, which was most attractive, showed a snow-bound creek backgrounded by richly colored evergreens, highlighted with birch trees, whose leafless branches were reflected by the still water. A contrasting work by the same young artist, H. W. Hollomb, depicted a waterfall, beautifully colored, touched by scarlet and golden touches of autumn with glowing greens under a sky of verdure.

Both show keen appreciation of nature in her different garbs, and a talent which should be cultivated.

McFarlane's well-depicted drive shed has strength and body achieved by splashes of verdure, and the rose-tinted hay door. The "Logging Scene" was also well done, with movement of the fast-running river. The scarlet shirt of the logger was a pleasing touch.

Among the flowers was R. Allan's "Sunset Geranium," a delicately executed piece of work, showing careful detail, and faithful in coloring, and Moul's "Red Tulips," which was both colorful and most attractive with their background of golden-green ferns.

A graceful and pretty piece of work, Miss Moul's showed another type of her rich versatility in the rock-bound lake end, its tall, strong trees, and the peacefulness of its conception.

F. Vaughan's depiction of distant woods, faintly showing the signs of autumn, its well-raised zig-zag rail, and the enclosing zig-zag field fence took one at once to the quiet countryside. This gave one the sense of garnering done, and a feeling of "restful ease."

The "Tulips" also were well done, making a nice picture with their soft pastel tints, and solid vase.

The "Winter Solitude," by Dovy, as well carried out, though a little more strength might have been shown without doing any damage to the theme, which portrayed the snow-covered evergreens with their ghostly, drooping branches, the ice-bound mill wheel and the snow-capped mountains. The silence is so intense that it speaks.

Two nameless pictures of mountains in winter, and in summer were well done, colorful and massive, with interesting color appreciation.

Helen Goven's "Lonely Pine," backgrounded by hills, shows an intensity of thought, and each stroke of the brush is sweepingly used to good effect. This work is bordering on the newer school of art, but withal, quite attractive in its execution, and vivid coloring.

These young artists, each in his or her own way, show talent, good composition, and a fine interpretation of nature.

Unfortunately another piece of art had been removed to be framed, but mention was made of its appeal and nice conception.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A SPOILED, SELFISH DAUGHTER IS A MOTHER'S PROBLEM

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I have a daughter, Mary, 19 who has a job at which she makes good money. At one time, she left home, and I must say her carrying-on was not respectable. After some talk and persuasion, she came back. The trouble is that I want her to pay me ten dollars a week and she refuses to pay me anything. Yet I have to take her and her girl friend wherever they want to go and pick them up. She wears some of my clothes, uses my personal belongings and I do her washing and most of her ironing when I am not employed outside. If she occasionally does the dishes or some housecleaning, she feels that's payment enough.

As I said, I demanded that she pay me ten dollars a week, so this week she has gone to a restaurant and eaten before she comes home, and she doesn't eat breakfast. She puts up her own lunch and doesn't speak to us unless it's to ask for something. If she were not living home, I'm sure it would cost her more than ten dollars a week.

We are people of modest means and have four children younger than Mary. — Mrs. S.

Dear Mrs. S.:
Could there be any possibility that your attitude toward this daughter of yours has not been as wise, as sympathetic and understanding as it could have been through the years, and so she has turned out a wholly selfish, disrespectful and arrogant young woman?

Why do you permit her to wear your clothes, to use your personal belongings and to leave her washing and ironing for you to do? And why do you "have to" chauffeur her and her girl friend? And of course she's working, she should pay her way at home.

What I think is that you have probably spoiled her so long that you're afraid to stop, now, lest she defy you and go running off in all directions. Already she has left home once and, you say, "her carrying-on was not respectable."

You don't want that to happen again, so you're giving in to her all along the line so that she'll at least stay home where you'll have her more or less under your eye, even though you can't control her. Am I right?

I suggest that you change your tactics entirely. Stop "demanding" anything at all from this girl, but watch for an opportunity to talk with her when she is in a good mood. Then tell her you feel that you and she aren't better friends, and that you want very much to make a new start. Say that you think she, as your eldest child, could do a lot to help make the kind of home in which the younger children would grow up to be the sort of people both of you want them to be. Be honest enough to admit that you have probably made many mistakes, and as a mother, and ask her what she would do if she were in your place. This sort of approach might astonish her so much that she would actually, for the first time in her life, realize that you have problems, and begin to take an interest in them. It might also give her a wholly new respect for you that would result in her taking a hand around the home, even, perhaps, giving you some money of her own accord; ceasing to make demands upon you, and leaving your belongings alone.

I am not giving any guarantee that this will happen. Whether or not these suggestions work, will depend almost entirely upon how hardened and indifferent you as a daughter has actually grown.

But since the methods you have been using with her have failed miserably, it is certainly worth while to try some brand-new ones. You have nothing to lose by trying them, and you may gain much.

BEAUTY

HOUSECLEANING VS. BEAUTY

Middle-aged women think back to those wonderful days before household help became non-existent. When house cleaning time came, it was no ordeal. The homemaker enjoyed rearranging closet shelves, going through dresser drawers, changing the furniture about. But the heavy work was done by others.

And what a righteous feeling one had afterward! Clean windows; fresh curtains, kitchen cabinets shining, furniture polished, rugs cleaned. One celebrated by rushing to the beauty parlor for a facial, shampoo and new hairdo, after which one bought a cute, goody hat and became her radiant self again.

But what now, woman? You can't get help for love or money. Whatever has to be done, you must do. And the usual duties go on just the same—cooking, marketing, dish washing, bed-making, chauffeuring the kids. The job is all yours. Nobody is going to take it away from you. Nobody is going to say "Now, dearie, you mustn't work so hard."

Here, however, are a few hints which will help to protect you from the beauty menaces in housework. Cover your head to protect it from dust.

Take one room at a time, so the whole house isn't upset. Do the living room last. Don't let yourself get fussed.

Wear rubber gloves when using strong cleansing agents. Wear cotton ones when polishing furniture or silver.

Late in the afternoon have a warm, luxurious bath. It will take the ache out of your bones. If you feet hurt, massage them with mineral oil. And don't skip the nightly face creaming and hair brushing.

Dateline California

(As Written to Mary Moore)

Dear Mary: We are loving it here in Sunny California (sometimes I must admit it would seem more correct to say "funny California") and I especially wanted to tell you about a trip we took in the new Buick (it rides like a dream!) to Riverside. We visited some beautiful orange groves on the trip, and I picked up an idea or two that I think you might want to pass along to your readers. (Oh, the perfume of those orange blossoms! I wish I might tuck some right into this envelope!)

The first item is a real California specialty — Orange Sponge Cake. (Do you remember seven or eight years ago when I was here before I sent you the recipe for a chiffon cake which was just starting out in its career at that time?) This is really unusual and delicious — I can just imagine my Canadian friends adopting it as a dessert special.

ORANGE SPONGE CAKE

Six egg whites, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup sugar, 6 egg yolks, 3-4 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1-2 cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon grated rind, 1-2 cups cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder. Beat the egg whites, with salt added, to form moist peaks. Gradually beat in the half cup of sugar. Beat egg yolks and add the 3-4 cup sugar, beating until thick. Add to this mixture the lemon and orange juices and the grated rind and beat until sugar dissolves. Sift flour with baking powder and fold into the mix.

Then fold in the beaten egg whites. Turn into three ungreased 8-inch cake pans and bake at 325 deg. for about 20 minutes. Remove from pans and cool. When cool, replace the cakes in the pans and cover with the following mixture: Two egg whites, beaten stiff. Add gradually 3-4 cup sugar and then add gradually 3-4 cup orange juice. Divide into three portions and pour slowly over layers. Place in refrigerator overnight or for a few hours. (Not less than 3 or 4 hours.) Before serving, put layers together and cover with slightly sweetened whipped cream (1-2 pint is enough). Sprinkle freshly grated orange rind over top of cake.

Of course they used oranges in all sorts of ways here. Did I ever tell you about the salad they make with large slices of orange "wheels" alternated with thinly sliced mild onions? This is served with cottage cheese on a bed of greens and is often accompanied by a fruit salad dressing. It may not sound very interesting but I can assure you it is really something when well made.

When I tossed off that "Serve it with a fruit salad dressing" to one young friend of mine, she said: "What's a fruit salad dressing?" Now I am not suggesting that you're uninitiated to that extent, Mary, "hatch," but just in case your audience might welcome my version (and I do admit it's an exceptionally fine one!) here it is:

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING

Two egg yolks, 2 tablespoons sugar, juice of two lemons, 1 tablespoon flour, 1-2 cup strained honey or syrup, 1-2 cup whipping cream or 1-3 cup evaporated milk. Mix honey or syrup with flour and sugar and cook in a double boiler for ten minutes. Add some of the strained mixture to the lemon juice and beaten egg yolks, return to the double boiler and cook altogether for five minutes, stirring constantly. Cool. This will keep in the refrigerator indefinitely. Add the whipped cream or evaporated milk to the dressing just before serving.

Lids

P.S. from Mary: The cake is a cock-eyed knockout!

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BECKMAN

CONCERNING SIGNING THANK YOU NOTES

Dear Mrs. Beckman:
To settle several differences of opinion please answer the following questions:

1. When a bride-to-be writes her thank you notes for shower presents, (other than a personal shower), does she sign her name only or does she include in the signature the name of the groom-to-be?

2. When a mother-to-be writes her thank you notes for baby shower presents does she include her husband's name in the signature? Even if there is a definite etiquette rule about this, would it be proper for her to include her husband's name in the signature in the circumstance when most of the guests at the shower were the husband's home town neighbors?

3. If invited to a shower, does one sign her name alone, or does she include her husband's name?

— Curious
1. The bride-to-be should sign only her name when she writes her thank you notes for shower presents. But when the shower present is something for the home-to-be, it is gracious and appropriate for her to include in the body of the note the enthusiasm and appreciation of her groom-to-be. "Bill has asked me to say his thanks too, and to be sure to tell you that, with those bright and dainty-striped kitchen towels you brought to the shower, he'll have a really merry time wiping the dishes. (I will report to you later about this, Betty.)"

2. Customarily, too, a mother-to-be signs only her name when she writes the thank you notes for the presents she received at a baby shower. And it's a fine idea for her to include her husband's thanks: "Jim and I are both delighted with the enchanting bonnet you sent to 'Miss or Master X.' It's a beauty, and of course the baby will wear it happily and proudly!" In the case you mention, when the majority of the guests at the shower were the husband's home town neighbors, the notes might begin somewhat like this: "Bob and I thank you most heartily for the lovely present you brought to the shower, for our baby-to-come. The beautiful little white dress is charming, and we appreciate deeply your goodness and generosity. I'm so proud to be the wife of Bob, who has such wonderful friends as you and your husband! It was so friendly and hospitable for Beatrice to plan this shower!"

3. You sign only your name to your note of acceptance or regret.

PRESENTS TO ENGAGEMENT PARTY?

Dear Mrs. Beckman:
Please advise me if it is the custom to give a present when you attend an engagement party to which about a hundred people have been invited. When the wedding takes place in the late fall, I will of course give a wedding present, but I am in doubt about giving an engagement present. — M.G.

All I can say is that it isn't considered necessary to give an engagement present, and that customarily the only ones who give engagement presents are members of the family and sometimes some close relatives and perhaps some intimate friends. However, in some communities a large party like this one is given to celebrate the engagement, and very often to this party some of the guests do bring gifts. Perhaps you could do a bit of subtle questioning to see what the plans are of some of your friends who are going to the engagement party.

Office Workers Again Entering Hosiery Plant

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Office workers re-entered the Holeproof Hosiery plant Wed. and company officials indicated an overdue $15,000 payroll would be completed and distributed to 170 strikers before the end of the week.

About 15 girls and five foremen entered the plant without incident while pickets paraded up and down singing union songs.

Later, smiling officials of the company also walked around the chanting pickets and moved inside. There was no attempt to stop them.

The strike began eight days ago when 170 workers walked out to protest a company plan to cut wages. Union officials said the cuts would amount to about 30 cents an hour. No basic wage was announced.

The company has threatened to close the plant and move away if the workers do not accept a 10-per cent wage cut recommended by a conciliation board.

Bitten Twice By Rattlesnake, Returns to Sleep

PARRY SOUND (CP) — Robert Fisher, 45, of Mason, Ohio, just went back to sleep Tuesday night after being bitten twice by a rattlesnake.

He said a two-foot rattlesnake slithered into the tent where he and his wife were sleeping and struck his foot. Mrs. Fisher was unharmed.

Mr. Fisher said he heard hissing and felt the bites but went back to sleep. When he awoke, the snake was coiled at the foot of his cot.

Dr. Edward M. Lakin, who attended him, said the bite of the northern rattlesnake is not fatal to an adult, but might kill a child if not treated promptly.

Forester Wendell Gimby said there are plenty of rattlesnakes in the area, but he knew of no one ever dying from a bite.

This stake is Tough!

The stakes surveyors use to mark land boundaries have a way of disappearing—and that can mean a whole survey has to be done over again. But now there's a new all-aluminum stake that is tough for time and weather and playful animals to handle. It won't rust, rot or weaken. And two bars open out at right angles, underground, to prevent its being rooted out by even the most muscular bear. It's a Canadian invention, made of Canadian aluminum, by a Canadian company, to meet a typically Canadian problem.

Two Airmen Held for Assault On U.S. Tourist

TORONTO (CP)—Two uniformed RCAF men were arrested and charged with assault of a United States visitor and a Toronto man in the downtown area Wednesday. Police quoted the airmen as saying they mistook the men they attacked for others who made insulting remarks earlier in a tavern about air force uniforms.

Cpl. James Alma Vensel, 22, and Cpl. Ray Charles Griffith, 19, both of Toronto, told police "we were only defending our country's uniforms."

CHIEF OF POLICE

money was to be split between the chief and the liquor squad, Leathbridge said.

PROMOTER TESTIFIES

Another main witness, Jack Whelan, former detective, said while he was promoting wrestling in Vancouver in 1949 he was connected in a deal for a $5,000-a-month payoff to police by a bookmaker.

Whelan, who said he quit the force "under pressure," testified that the bookie agreed to pay Cuthbert $5,000 a month to "cut the city in two."

The bookie, identified as Pete Wallace, was to have exclusive rights to the east side, leaving two other gamblers free to operate the west section.

Whelan said Wallace came out of the chief's office at one time and said: "It's all fixed."

Whelan also accused Mulligan of stealing a child's piggy-bank in 1945, when the chief was a senior detective.

Whelan said he and Mulligan, then his partner, answered a call to a west-end apartment house in which a suite had been looted.

While they were returning to the police station, Whelan said Mulligan told him to stop.

"He took the bank from under his coat, emptied the coins on the seat and divided them in two piles. I was amazed. . . . I took half of them and put them in my pocket."

Plummer said that in 1951, Gordon Scott, a magistrate now but city prosecutor at the time, considered having Mulligan charged in connection with a bookmaking conspiracy case in which more than a dozen persons stood trial.

All, including a number of self-confessed bookies, were acquitted when the crown was unable to prove conspiracy.

At one point, in answer to objection that witnesses were giving contradictory evidence, Mr. Tupper said such evidence is permissible in inquiries of this kind and he would allow it in order to get all the facts.

Russian Trade Delegation Seeks Facts About Asbestos

By ROBERT JOYCE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

THEFTON MINES, Que. (CP) — Russia is nosing around Canada's fast-growing asbestos industry, apparently bent on finding out what's going on in the green-grey mineral belt of Quebec's eastern townships.

In recent weeks the big Canadian mining firms which supply 65 per cent of the world's asbestos have had requests for production data and market information from Ottawa.

The queries are not from the federal government but from the office of Alexander T. Lobachev, who heads the Soviet trade delegation in Canada.

So far the firms have referred the matter to the industry's trade association, the Quebec Asbestos Mining Association. The QAMA is still mulling it over.

URGENT CAUTION

Ordinarily, Canadian industry is not secretive about its achievements but in this case industry leaders are urging caution. Asbestos, a fire-resistant mineral used in housing and automobile construction is also a key defence material used in such things as jet aircraft. In addition, Russia has emerged as a tough competitor in the post-war markets of Europe.

"It's not a question of politics but of business," says one executive. "You don't give the other fellow all your secrets."

The mining men were bitten once before.

It was in the summer of 1933 that the Russians came to Thefton Mines.

Thefton, the hub of the industry, was in the midst of the great depression. Business was slack, the outlook poor and competition on world markets cut-throat.

RUTHLESS COMPETITORS

"The Russians were giving us the works," the sales chief of one of the mining companies recalled. "They were going to any lengths to get business and were undercutting us even in the American market. Final lythings go so bad we had to tell some of our clients we'd close up if they threw any more business their way."

But the two Russians with their American guide didn't let that bother them. They came, they said, as visitors to see some of the Canadian plants and to compare notes. When they left they had hired a former top engineer at the big asbestos corporation mine and signed him to a long-term contract to help put their industry on its feet.

Charles Smith, out of work at the time, went to Russia. He wasn't impressed with what he saw. Production methods were backward and in his efforts to help them build their first modern mill he ran into all sorts of red tape. After two years he quit and came home.

No Canadian asbestos man has been there since, and no one knows today how much Russia has accomplished. The Russians who like to boast about their successes in other fields have kept mum. The companies say there hasn't been an official figure on Soviet asbestos production since 1938.

RUSSIAN OUTPUT UNKNOWN

Everyone agrees Russia's output is big. The question they are almost afraid to ask here is—is it bigger than Canada's?

One estimate in a United States trade magazine last year put it on a par with Canadian output for 1952, but many feel that is excessive. The fibre that is coming out of Russia indicates that they are still behind in know-how. It hasn't got the consistency of the Canadian product and even dollar-hungry Europeans hesitate to buy in bulk. One guess is that the Russians are running at about 40 per cent of Canadian output.

But the strange thing is not that Russia is back in the world market after the wartime break, but the Soviet sales program.

There are nine basic grades of asbestos distinguished by the length of the fibres, and while the average price is about $90 a ton, it varies from around $30 for short fibres to $1,200 a ton for the top grade. Normally mining will produce a fairly full range of grades.

But the stuff coming into western Europe from the big mines at Bajonova in the Ural mountains and from the newer Russian mines in the Caucasus and the Sayansk mountains of central Asia is all of one general type.

HELD FOR DEFENCE?

The Soviets are exporting medium fibres—the sort used in asbestos cement products in the building industry. The long stuff which is significant for defence hasn't been sighted.

Whether this is a measure of Russia's armament buildup or an indication that Moscow is stockpiling strategic raw materials, the industry does not know. But mining men recall that during the Second World War when asbestos for defence had priority the industry found itself with excess supplies of many types of fibres—including the grades the Russians now are so eager to sell.

Whatever the reason, the big sales drive has the Canadians on their toes.

"The Russians may have sold only 30,000 tons in Europe against our 195,000 tons last year," one official said, "but in a market where we are already meeting competition from Rhodesia and South Africa, the Soviets spell a big difference."

"Our shipments of comparable grades to western Europe last year were 92,000 tons. They might have been higher if the Russians had stayed at home."

ISLAND HOME BURNS

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP) — Thirty-five volunteer firemen used boats to reach one of the Canadian Thousand Islands Tuesday night in a futile effort to save a burning house. A defective oil heater apparently caused the fire in the house owned by Samuel E. Cantor of New York City.

Large Shipping Body Asks Commission for Restrictions In Handling Water Haulage

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's largest shipping body today proposed that this country and the United States join in excluding other nations' shipping from much of the water haulage business on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence river.

The Dominion Marine Association, representing 22 companies with 216 vessels plying the lake-river waterway, recommended to the royal commission on the coastal trade:

1. Negotiation of a Canada-U.S. treaty which would bar ships of other countries from trading between Canadian and American inland ports. The line would be at the mouth of the St. Lawrence.
2. Traffic between Canadian ports in the same area should be confined to Canadian-registered ships.
3. That a similar restriction apply to the eastern Canadian seaboard so far as it is sought by individual members of the association.

TALLY WITH OTHERS

The Marine Association's recommendations for restrictions called in part by submissions to the commission Wednesday by the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association. This group wants all of the Canadian coastal trade reserved for Canadian-built, Canadian-registered vessels on both coasts and the inland waterway.

The shipbuilders said this would provide orders for shipyards, and that it is essential to keep yards on a sound basis for defence purposes.

An opposing stand was taken Wednesday by the Canadian Shipowners' Association, speaking for the operators of 80 ocean-going vessels. It said British ships should be allowed to continue their present access to the all-Canadian traffic on the seaboard and in the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes area.

The Dominion Marine Association whose brief was expected to be the last presented to the royal commission here before it sets out on a cross-country tour, said British and foreign interests could build ships specifically to compete with Canadian vessels after completion of the St. Lawrence deep waterway.

"CANADIAN ENTERPRISE" — "It is essential that Canadians be assured that the deep waterway expenditure will not destroy existing and profitable Canadian enterprise essential to the prosperity and economy of the nation," the association said.

It declared the British Commonwealth merchant shipping agreement of 1931—under which British-built and British-registered vessels have the same access to the coasting trade as Canadian ships—now is outmoded.

Dealing with its proposal for a Canada-U.S. treaty restricting vessels in inland international trade, the association said that, in line with the views of the Lake Erie and St. Lawrence Association, U.S. counterparts of the Marine Association, the association also noted that a resolution to the effect was introduced in the U.S. Congress last year and referred to the Senate foreign relations committee.

MARINE SPOKESMEN — Varying views came from T. R. Hagen of Montreal, president of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association; W. J. Fisher of Ottawa, general manager of the Canadian Shipowners' Association, and A. H. Mann of Toronto, general secretary of the Canadian Industrial Traffic League.

Commission counsel D. W. Munnell asked Mr. McLaughlin whether the competitive position of the Canadian shipyards—which cannot match low-wage construction costs in Britain and other countries—could not be remedied by a subsidy.

"I have to come to Ottawa every week or so," Mr. McLaughlin replied, "and I have found that the word 'subsidy' isn't one that gets you entry into a minister's office." Mr. Munnell tried out the subsidy idea later on Richard Lowery, president of Collingwood Shipyard, at Collingwood, Ont., and on Art Arthur Shipbuilding Co. at Port Arthur.

Even if there were a construction subsidy, Mr. Lowery said, the yards might not be able to sell vessels unless the shipowners got an operating subsidy to help them meet their competition.

Federal Inquiry Into Prison Riot Will Be Held

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—An investigation by a federal government official was expected to get under way today into the two-hour riot at Prince Albert penitentiary Tuesday.

Meanwhile warden Carmen C. Courts who said the men gave poor food and medical attention as the reason for the disturbance announced he will deal with the men "as severely as I can."

R. E. March of Ottawa, the federal deputy penitentiaries commissioner, was due in Prince Albert today for an inquiry into the riot in which 100 of the institution's 625 prisoners wrecked equipment and started fires. The blaze destroyed three buildings and badly damaged others.

The prisoners held eight guards as hostages but only briefly as they guarded their tear gas at the rioters. One prisoner and one guard were injured slightly.

WAS WORST SCENE — Capt. George Slater of the Prince Albert fire department, called to douse the flames, said that in his eight years of firefighting he never saw anything like the prison scene.

"I've attended some bad fires but have not had to fight so many fires at once," he said. "There have been six buildings ablaze while we got inside with a fire truck."

A vocational instructor at the institution showed a reporter wrecked machines and smashed athletic trophies.

"It's hard to understand," he said, "their own trophies."

FOOD DAMAGED — In the food storeroom, dozens of large bags of sugar and dried vegetables had been ripped and the flour spilled out onto the floor. Holes had been punched in large cans of fruit juices.

Warden Courts said the prisoners' complaints about poor food and lack of recreation were not justified. All privileges have been withdrawn, he added, such as hobby crafts, daily newspapers, radio, sports programs and the canteen.

The warden said the penitentiary will be back to normal for two or three days. Several parts of the institution, including the kitchen, were wrecked.

Guards have recovered four long butcher knives taken from the kitchen, a 16-pound sledgehammer, several crowbars and a rope which could have been used in escaping.

Guilty of Tossing Boiling Water On Two Children — A Cowansville housewife has been ordered to pay $90 in damages after being found guilty of throwing boiling water on two quarrelling children.

"I understand you did not realize at the moment the consequences of your action," Judge Patrick Delaney told Mrs. Rosalie Bombardier Tuesday, "but that does not excuse you."

Mrs. Bombardier was ordered to pay $50 for scalds suffered by young Allan Thompson and $40 for scalds to his sister, Helena.

Canada's Imports Showing Consumers Harder to Please — Ottawa (CP)—Canadian consumers may be growing harder to please.

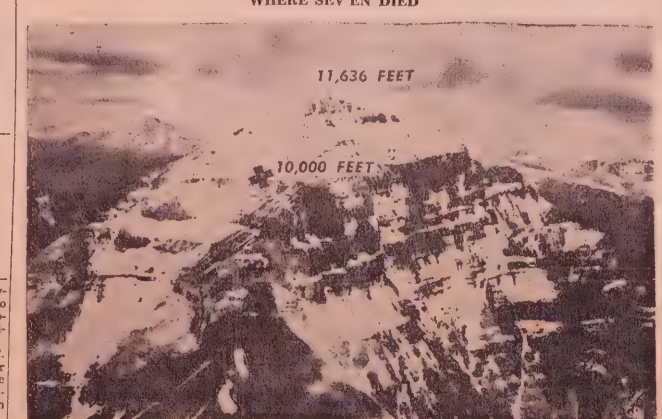

Canada's imports have lately shown an over-all increase. Her exports to Britain have risen to a 10-year high. Yet Britain's share of the Canadian market has declined.

Asked why, trade officials here Wednesday had more than one suggestion. But some British officials said simply: "It is hard to meet the requirements of the Canadian market, which demands more and more variety."

Most affected by the import decline, British officials said, are English-made cars and textiles, which account for 45 per cent of United Kingdom trade with Canada and machinery.

"The widening disparity in Anglo-Canadian trade has caused some distance among U.K. trade officials here."

"We are watching it," one said Wednesday, "for if prolonged and

East Delegates Will Travel By Special Train

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—"Team-work for progress" will be the theme of the annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Winnipeg Oct. 3-6. G. S. Thorvaldson of Winnipeg, president of the chamber, said today.

"The theme of the meeting," said Mr. Thorvaldson, "is based on the belief that if the Canadian economy is to progress and develop, it must ensure the prosperity of all citizens. There must be a mutual understanding of the policies and aims of the various segments of the economy."

Three panel sessions will be held during the four-day meeting at which special speakers and delegates will discuss interdependence of capital, labor and management in resource development, trade and agriculture.

Delegates from the East will travel by special train through southwestern Ontario with stops at London, Windsor and Sarnia, and make a good-will visit to the United States, with stops at Chicago, Minneapolis and other points.

On the return trip from Winnipeg the eastern delegates will stop at Fort William and Port Arthur where they will be welcomed by the chambers of the two cities and taken on a tour of Lakehead developments.

Given Contract To Build Sewers — Toronto (CP)—A contract to build sewers for the new village of Iroquois has been awarded to the Beaver Construction Company of Montreal, Ontario Hydro announced Wednesday.

Beaver, which bid $332,424 for the contract, will start installing watermain and house services at the new village site immediately. Completion date is set for Oct. 31.

Hydro officials said sewer installation will speed up moving homes from the present village site, to be flooded by the St. Lawrence power project.

expanded, it will not make for a happy situation."

One Canadian official suggested Britain's rail and dock strikes may have had some effect on the export decline. But a U.K. official said the strikes had little to do with it.

British exporters, he felt, may be partly to blame. There might also be a "better realization in Canada" of the goods we have to offer.

Canada's over-all imports increased in the first five months of 1955 to $1,808,300,000, up $174,300,000 from $1,634,000,000 last year.

Her purchases from the United States in that period rose to $1,350,700,000, a gain of $144,300,000 from $1,206,400,000 a year ago.

Britain's exports to Canada in that period, however, dropped by $500,000 to $157,000,000 from $159,000,000 in the similar period last year, while Canada's exports to Britain rose by $21,300,000 to $387,500,000 from $366,200,000 last year.

Suspicion and Cold Hatred No Longer Ride With Delegates

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—International diplomacy takes the road back to Geneva this week, having shed a little excess baggage for the trip. Suspicion and cold hatred no longer ride with the delegates—or at least the labels on the cold-war luggage are less conspicuous than on the last journey to Geneva some 14 months ago.

The change is striking. The 1954 Geneva conference took place as the French Indochina fortress of Dien Bien Phu whittled in its last hours of anguish, the culminating battle in a slow, sad wasting war.

Now, the mood is more hopeful. There is wide agreement among commentators that both Russia and the United States will approach the summit talks with a genuine desire to reach at least a preliminary plateau of understanding, a camping stage on the way to the Everest peak of lasting peace.

With the change in atmosphere, direct negotiations among the big powers replace what External Affairs Minister Pearson of Canada called the "crisis diplomacy" of last year.

Here is what the independent weekly London newspaper, The Observer, says of the Russian new look:

"Russia is changing. We have asked it to do precisely this for a long time. If in fear of being caught again we refuse to recognize what is happening now, we shall be very much to blame. We should welcome these changes... never forgetting the final aims of communism, but seizing the chance, if clearly offered, to enter into active co-operation."

Similarly, British and western European opinion has taken note of a corresponding change in the American approach. As viewed from here, the almost neurotic American fear of communism has given way to a healthier, more empirical viewpoint.

"What a change has come over the United States in the past 12 months," marvels the Manchester Guardian, an independent Liberal newspaper. Other observers, hostile from the beginning to Wisconsin Senator Joe McCarthy, happily pass along a quip—that McCarthyism has become McCarthy-wasm—as symbolic of a more relaxed United States.

What is the reason for the change? Possibly a majority here would agree with The Economist, an independent weekly magazine, that the easier feeling results from the realization that major wars have "become equated with catastrophe... and fear has cast out fury."

Canada will not be represented at the summit meetings, starting Monday in the Palais des Nations where statesmen vainly chased the dream of peace between two wars.

Reports will be made to Ottawa by Hector Allard, Canadian permanent representative at the United Nations European office in Geneva.

The view of one influential Canadian official, expressed recently to a reporter, is that the four-power talks mark the hopeful beginning of a long, slow process which may last years, with no spectacular results to be anticipated immediately.

Calgary Stampede Work Delayed By Five Farmers — WINDSOR (CP)—A department of highways official said Wednesday construction work on the new superhighway No. 401 has been delayed by five farmers, who have refused to allow construction workers to move onto their land, about seven miles south of here.

The farmers, who own land required for the 300-foot wide right of way for the province-wide highway, have demanded arbitration before a county court judge to set compensation for their land. They have protested to the department that they have not been offered enough money for the land.

The department has retained Harry J. Holland, who said he has filed a notice requiring the farmers to be issued to the county sheriff to be removed from the highway machinery onto the land.

The five are Joseph P. Hayes, Joseph Roy Hayes, George Bazdan, Fordon O'Neil and Frank Jobin.

Senate Approves Amendments To Production Act

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate took just 15 minutes Wednesday to give approval in principle to amendments to the Defence Production Act which produced 10 days of debate and 106 speeches in the Commons.

Only two senators spoke on the measure giving permanency to the defence production department but putting a three-year time limit—July 31, 1959—on some wide powers given Defence Production Minister Howe under the act.

Solicitor-General Ross Macdonald, government leader, examining the measure, praised Mr. Howe in a short speech and said though international tension has eased there still are danger clouds. Canada must still be on guard.

ALSO SUPPORTS — Senator Arthur Roebuck (L.-Ont.) also supported the bill. He said though he had voted for it originally during the Korean War in 1951 he had viewed its powers with alarm and thought at that time they should be invoked only for two years instead of five.

Mentioning the Progressive Conservatives' filibustering opposition in the Commons to the government's original proposal to extend defence production powers indefinitely, Senator Roebuck said it was never the government's intention to make permanent the powers to force producers to enter government contracts, to requisition supplies and appoint controllers to operate defence industries.

HAD DONE SO — These same powers had been in the War Measures Act. But the government, true to its promise to repeal it when it was no longer necessary, had done so.

He hoped that in three years, when the act again comes up for review, the world situation would be such that it would no longer be needed.

Senator Walter Aestline, acting Progressive Conservative leader, took no part in the discussion.

No move was made to send the bill to a committee for further study, a common Senate practice. Indications are that the measure will get final Senate approval today.

In the West, observers underlined the presence of a bulletheaded Khrushchev on the Soviet team.

Diplomatic quarters believe his inclusion in the delegation suggests Russia is ready for serious negotiations.

Khrushchev had not generally been expected by western diplomats to join the talks.

His presence in Geneva is seen as guaranteeing maximum flexibility to the Soviet team since there now will be no need for reference back to Moscow to maintain contact between party and government.

Member Claims Rent Being Paid Is Excessive — OTTAWA (CP)—Howard Green charged in the Commons Wednesday night that a loophole exists through which supporters of the Liberal party can make real estate deals with the government "profitable to themselves and to the detriment of the country."

The Progressive Conservative member for Vancouver-Quadra was referring to rental of a building at 1361 Howe street in Vancouver at the air force. He said the monthly rental is $750 and that private evaluators have termed it excessive.

His charge was immediately denied by both Works Minister Winters and Defence Minister Campbell, who estimates the House was considering, Mr. Winters promised to look into the matter.

Mr. Green said the structure was built by R. Rowe Holland and William Couper, "two leading Liberals." It was valued at $57,296. At a $750-a-month rental the owners would obtain the full value within seven years.

DEMANDS EXPLANATION — This isn't the first such case in Vancouver, he said as he demanded a full explanation from the government as to "why these Liberals should be able to rent buildings to the government at exorbitant rent."

When Mr. Green used the word "loophole," Mr. Winters rose on a question of privilege to say this was neither here nor fair.

All the facts should be examined before Mr. Green was permitted to make such charges.

Mr. Campbell said Mr. Green was "going too far." He should make sure the owners are Liberals. There was no "collusion or attempt to extract money from the federal treasury."

"NO QUESTION" — Mr. Green said there is no question that Mr. Holland and Mr. Couper are prominent Liberals. Mr. Holland once had run for Parliament as a Liberal. The works department should investigate and if $750 was found an exorbitant rental, then it should be reduced.

Mr. Winters said he would be glad to take the matter over and would answer any questions about it when his estimates came before the house.

The same matter was aired in the Commons Tuesday night by George Hahn (S.C.-New Westminster) who said it is a mistake for the government to pay enough rent over seven years to build the quarters it is leasing. He also pressed for an investigation.

Khrushchev, Marshal Zhukov Will Accompany N. Bulganin To Summit Parley at Geneva

MOSCOW (AP)—Communist party chieftain Nikita Khrushchev and Defence Minister Georgi Zhukov will accompany Soviet Premier Nikita Bulganin to the summit conference in Geneva.

The Soviet government announced today that Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov and first deputy foreign minister Andrei Gromyko would lead the five-man Russian delegation.

The meeting will provide the occasion for the much-talked-of reunion of President Eisenhower and Marshal Zhukov, who were on good terms while both were military administrators in Germany after the second World War. Eisenhower visited Moscow during that period and the two "old military friends," as Zhukov described them recently, exchanged personal letters some months ago.

Zhukov will be making his first trip beyond the Iron Curtain as a member of a top-level diplomatic delegation. Observers viewed his inclusion in the group as evidence of the increased importance of the Red army in the present Russian regime.

POWERFUL LEADER — Khrushchev is not a member of the Soviet council of ministers but the dominant role he has played as secretary of the Soviet Communist party has made clear he is one of Russia's most powerful leaders.

Today's announcement also listed five advisers to the delegation: Moscow ambassador to Great Britain Big Three and East Germany, and V. S. Semenyov, former high commissioner in East Germany, and now a deputy foreign minister.

The ambassadors are G. N. Zarin (United States), Jacob Malik (Britain), S. A. Vinogradov (France) and T. M. Puschkin (East Germany).

In the West, observers underlined the presence of a bulletheaded Khrushchev on the Soviet team.

Indians Conquer Major Bush Fire On Simcoe Island — GEORGINA ISLAND, Ont. (CP)—A major bush fire was under control today on this Ojibway Indian reservation in Lake Simcoe 55 miles northeast of Toronto.

More than 400 men, including the 125 male Indians on the island, beat the blaze after a 10-hour fight Wednesday.

From noon to dusk they fought the fire in a shokier-shoulder chain as a dense blanket of smoke hung over the island.

Firefighters from the town of Beaverton, with a portable pump and 5,000 feet of hose, and more than 200 mainland volunteers, packed up and went home after helping control flames which cut a swath across the island.

More than 100 acres of dense poplar, cedar and elm were burned. It is not known how the bush fire began.

THREATENED FARMS — Firefighters had prepared for an all-night battle as the flames threatened the island's 1,000-acre scattered either side of the one road which traverses the 5,000-acre island. The island has no village.

For hours, until the arrival of the Beaverton brigade, the firefighters were hampered by lack of hose. Portable pumps were of little use because the flames were too low from the water.

As the firefighters labored, a ferry boat service was formed to shuttle men and equipment across the two-mile strait from Virginia Beach to Georgina.

Mainland men from Sutton, Newmarket, Aurora and other communities went to Virginia Beach when the first police and fire units arrived. More than 200 men were brought soon after the blaze began at noon.

Hotel and tavern owners issued an ultimatum to customers that be gone by noon Tuesday night if many even ignored the call for help.

EXPANDING INDUSTRY — In the last few years Turkey has imported more than 40,000 farm tractors.

Some of these tractors were reported as a major political victory for the Conservatives at the expense of Mr. Howe.

Mr. St. Laurent, who said Monday he had consulted with Mr. Howe on the compromise, told the minister last Thursday, pounded his desk Wednesday as enthusiastically as any other Liberal.

Adventurers To Wait for Raft On Islands

GRINDSTONE, Que. (CP)—Two adventurers who hope to cross the Atlantic on a raft showed up here on the Magdalen Islands Wednesday aboard a plane.

Paul Lapointe ND Bernard Sauriel were given a free flight from the Gaspé peninsula and plan to wait here until the raft carrying their two companions — skipper Henri Beaudout and Gaston Vanackere—makes the crossing from the mainland.

The four men left Cap-des-Rosiers on the Gaspé peninsula late last week but instead of coming directly here, decided to enter the Bay of Gaspé. It was at Gaspé that Lapointe and Sauriel boarded the plane.

Lapointe said the raft ran into a storm last week before reaching Cap-des-Rosiers but was never in any danger.

"We saw four fishing boats sink," he said. "The wind was so strong that we covered 60 miles in five hours, which must be a record for a raft."

Two Windsor Youths Held For Fighting

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The arrest of two Windsor youths for fighting Wednesday morning may be a lead in the investigation of a minor riot near Pike Creek.

Held are Mike Stash, 19, and Russell Wood, 22.

Police said the two men began fighting. When the fight was broken up it was noticed a car parked at the curb was one sought by provincial police in connection with the Pike Creek affair.

Stash tried to escape but stopped when a warning shot was fired. He and Wood submitted meekly to arrest.

Earlier, provincial constable Howard Kerr, Belle River detachment, arrived to investigate a fight at Pike Creek just as the six men involved jumped into a car and fled.

Constable Kerr gave chase but couldn't catch the fleeing car. Tecumseh police had no more success and the licence number was turned over a Windsor police with a request that the car be held if found.

"THE BEST-LAID PLANS..."

We understand that the powers-that-be of the district senior "B" group aided and abetted by president Frank Buckland and vice-president Lorne Cook of the Ontario Hockey Association are holding a meeting in Kingston on Sunday, July 24.

The meeting is being called, we further understand, to from out the wrinkles and set the stage for the forthcoming season for "B" season.

There was a distinct air of optimism pervading the atmosphere when the group representatives convened a few weeks ago in Peterborough. All was hunky-dory. Peterborough, Kingston, Whitby, Cornwall, Brockville, Belleville, all were back in the fold. Clinton had been refused entry because of the long-distance hauls, so subsequent newspaper and radio reports stated. They added that there was a possibility of admitting the Orillia Pontiacs in the best senior "B" loop in Ontario.

It seemed all out, dried and in the well-known container. The boys even went so far as to delegate a couple of representatives to get the group a publicity agent. Thus far for the only publicity this department has seen is a squib from Whitby written by the ebullient Wren Blair announcing the appointment of Bus Gagnon as playing coach of the Whitby Dunlops next season. Nor have we heard of any progress being made regarding the appointment of a group public relations official.

And before leaving that subject, we might add that the appointment of a public relations man within the group might prove to be something of a problem. None of the sports editors within the circuit will be killed in a mad rush for the job. In fact they might be run down while galloping in the opposite direction.

Blair of Whitby, and Miron of the Cornwall Colts, were the representatives delegated to seek the public relations bloke.

The appointment is easy to understand. And it is easy to understand why Whitby's Blair wants a publicity man.

Cornwall's Miron should have no kick coming regarding the publicity the Colts got from the home-town and circuit newspapers and radio stations. Nor should any of the rest of the clubs, except Whitby.

Both Blair and Miron complained to this department in its capacity as official scorer last year, regarding the lack of publicity in the metropolitan press and The Canadian Press. We know for a fact that reports of games played in Belleville, Kingston and Peterborough went to the Toronto morning daily religiously. The evening papers, too, carried brief squibs. The Canadian Press, in answer to a letter from this department, stated that it was not its sports policy to carry anything in story form below the hockey classifications of professional, senior "A" and junior "A". It carried the scores.

If Messrs. Miron and Blair succeed in getting a publicity man that can crash the sports sanctums of the metropolitan dailies with a half column of pre-game publicity—they're better men than we are, Ghunga Din.

However, to get back to the hockey picture.

The senior "B" meeting on July 24 may receive a severe jolt. Its well-laid plans of the last meeting have "gang azley." It is practically definite that the Belleville Memos will not enter—unless the age of miracles is not past, or something like lightning strikes out of the blue. And there is anything but harmony among the ranks of the Kingston Goodyears, according to last reports. The "management and labor" may have settled their differences by this time, but the last story we heard was that the executive was "split up the middle" with regard to exercising the franchise next season.

A story out of Cornwall states that the group may seek an entry from Ottawa and/or Hull should Kingston and Belleville not enter. That, methinks, will meet with strenuous opposition from the Petes and Whitby.

And while speaking of hockey, the Arena Commission has called an open meeting tonight in the city hall starting at eight. It is a wide-open affair and all and sundry who are interested in senior "B" hockey are requested to put in an appearance. The commission, it appears is not accepting the onus of non-sponsorship nor the offering for sale of Memorial Arena as was carried by a 7-5 vote at a recent special meeting of council as a whole.

A TASTY MEAL:

Take a half-ton of pachyderm beef on the hoof and a quarter ton of official lard, treat with judo chops and surfboard sauce and the main bout at Memorial Arena tomorrow night should take on quite a Hamburg touch. Or, put it this way, English roast beef a la Layton, Malava broiled barbaque garnished with furnished Russian rarbets should go well with fidesced referee (two portions). Beat well, toss all ingredients in the rassin' pot, simmer for an hour then let come to a boil. Remove whiskers and T-shirts, strain through four rows of spectators, garnish with a couple of limbs of the law and put 'em in the dressing room to cool off before shipping back to Toronto. If there are any leftovers, put 'em on ice until next Friday when likely they'll be back for more cooking.

The Layton-Prince Malava, Kalmikoff Brothers feud should reach a new high tomorrow night, even if two officials are tossed in the ring to keep the peace—or pieces. It should look like a Notre Dame-Army fourth-down with a yard to go. Then there's Don Gallagher and Sandy Scott, Jan Gotch and Sammy Berg as appetizers.

RETIRE SUMMER TAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. John W. Calhoun's three-year-old old colt Summer Tan was retired for the season Wednesday and will be shipped to Kentucky to be rested until next year. The bay son of Hallsford developed some nicks after finishing third behind Swaps and Nashua in the May 7 Kentucky Derby, and has been on the sidelines since.

PALMER TO QUIT

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The Charlotte News said Wednesday that Johnny Palmer of Charlotte has accepted his first pro club job, at the Tulsa, Okla., country club and soon will quit the golf tournament trail except for a few appearances. Palmer is the 10th leading money winner this season.

Must Stave Off Red Sox In Fight to Catch Yankees; Dodgers Lose 10 in Last 19

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The major league pennant races get back to action tonight with two big questions to be answered. Can Cleveland and Chicago survive the one-two invasion punch of New York and Boston in the American? And, just how secure is Brooklyn's 11½-game lead in the National?

New York's Yankees top the AL by five games as the all-star game break comes to an end, while only one game separates each of the other first division teams—Cleveland, Chicago and Boston. That means the runnerup Indians, who had a half-game lead on the Yanks at this point in '54, and the third-place White Sox have to worry about kicking off the Red Sox as well as catching the New Yorkers.

Manager Al Lopez, naming Bob Lemon (12-6) to face Tommy Byrne (7-2) and the Yanks tonight, claims his pitching staff is back in shape. It better be. After facing the Yanks for two, the Tribe must then take on the bustlin' Boston, who have lost only six of their last 34, for three games Saturday and Sunday.

DIFFERENT PICTURE

The National presents a different picture. It hardly seems possible, but the Brooklyn, a league and a half ahead of the pack, are hurtin'. The only thing that's kept them away out front is, oddly enough, the even-stephen make up of the circuit.

There's no panic yet, but a team that loses 10 of its last 19 games can't be sleeping too well—even with that 11½-game buffer.

Roy Campanella insists he's ready to go back to work behind the plate tonight when the Dodgers take on the St. Louis Cardinals at Ebbets Field, but manager Walter Alton indicates he has other plans. That disturbing 9-10 record followed Campanella's knee injury, and Alton doesn't want to start his guy before the leg is healed completely.

Cubans Nick Royals Twice; Move to Second

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It seems as if the Havana Sugar Kings need only to get home to start another rumormongering in the International League.

Since returning to their home park last Friday the Cubans have taken 9 of 10 games. The most impressive of these victories was the sweep of two doubleheaders from the Montreal Royals. The Sugar Kings made it four straight over the Royals Wednesday night when they picked them by identical 1-0 scores to move into second place ahead of Montreal.

In other games the Rochester Red Wings made it three straight over Toronto Maple Leafs 6-4, the Columbus Jets scored their first victory of the season at Syracuse by beating the Chiefs 9-3, and the Buffalo Bisons and Richmond Virginians split a doubleheader. Buffalo took the seven inning opener 6-1, and the Virginians came back to stop the Bisons on two hits in the ninth 5-2.

PERFECT NIGHT

Three pitchers combined to make it a perfect night at Havana. Paul Sanchez hurled a four-hitter as the Cubans scored the lone run, in the eighth inning of the opener. Connie Marrero also blanked the Royals on seven hits in the nightcap, and it took a pinch hit single by pitcher Emilio Cueche to break up the contest in the ninth. Havana's victories moved the Cubans to within 3½ games of the Maple Leafs and a half game ahead of the Royals.

The Red Wings boosted their current winning streak to five straight and the Toronto lost extended their losing streak to four games, their longest of the season. The Leafs handed lefty Ken Johnson a 4-0 lead in the fourth inning as they chased starter Herb Moford. The Red Wings came back with five in their half of the fourth to dispose of Johnson. Rookies Bob Rand and Jackie Brandt sparked the Wings' rally. Rand slammed a three-run homer and Brandt drilled a two-run blast. Ellis (Col) Deal, the second of three Rochester pitchers was credited with the victory.

SPARKED ATTACK

Russ Sullivan sparked the 12-hit Columbus attack against four Syracuse pitchers with two singles and a fielder's choice to knock in four runs.

Dick Starr, who needed help from reliever Bill Sells in the eighth, limited the Bisons to two hits in the nightcap. Starr contributed to his own cause with a two-out two-run double in the Virginians' three-run uprising in the sixth.

The Bisons banged out 11 hits in the opener, including a tremendous home run by J. W. Porter.

Big Field

Ready For

Milwaukee Open

MILWAUKEE AP)—A field of 132 of the top professionals and amateurs in golf opened fire in the $35,000 Milwaukee Open today over the Blue Mound Country Club par 70 layout which was taken over in practice rounds Wednesday.

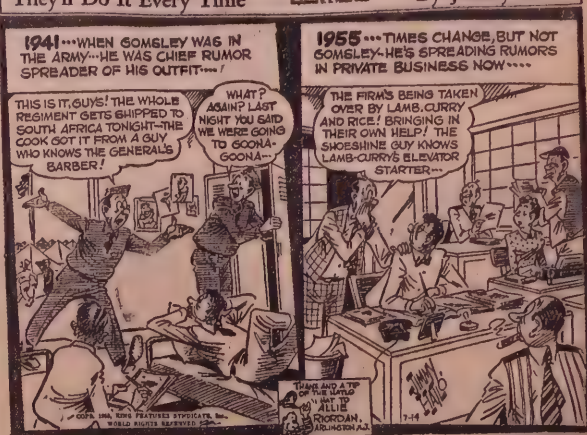

Best reported fire in the warmup were six-under par 64's turned in by Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga, Tenn., and Bill Casper, San Diego, Calif.

Casper tuned up for the 72 holes of medal play by blasting six birdies and an even dozen pars. Sam Snead missed a short putt on the final hole that kept him out of a tie with the dry-run leaders. His 65, on nines of 31-34, was one of four.

How the Downsizing Starts

Experts differ as to just how the downsizing should begin—whether it starts with a hip turn which "leads" the shoulders and arms, or with a shoulder-and-arm action which the hips follow.

This confusion is understandable, since there are no separate movements at any stage of a smooth-flowing swing.

The correct swing is one continuous motion with all parts working together simultaneously. The only essential difference between good players, I think, is in their mental picture of the swing—not their actual making of it.

Thus one expert is conscious of a hip turn at the start of his downsizing, while another is thinking about a left arm pull. But both are actually doing the same thing at the same time.

At any rate, you'll note in today's drawing that the player already has his hips turned back square to the ball (or parallel with the line of flight, if you prefer), while his shoulders still have quite a bit of unwind left in them.

This certainly indicates that the hip rotation proceeds faster than the shoulder rotation, even if it doesn't precede it.

Note also that the wrists are still fully cocked and there is an impression of a straight left arm pulling the end of the shaft down toward the ground—at this point.

Alouettes' Array of Talent Launches Practices Friday

By HENDERSON WARD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Approximately 35 hopefuls are expected to take the field Friday when the Big Four Montreal Alouettes launch their pre-season football practices.

Despite the array of talent in the lineup, coach Doug (Peahead) Walker is non-committal about the prospects of his team, losers of the Grey Cup by a whisker in 1954. "I can't say," southern Walker drawled in an interview as he drafted plans for the pre-season workouts. "We'll just have to wait and see."

SIGNS COLLEGE STARS

But coach Walker travelled south through the spring and winter months and returned with a satchelful of contracts signed by U.S. college stars he hopes will fill the holes.

Word also is that Dewitt (Tex) Coulter, earlier reported to be quitting football to run his own cement business in Texas, will be back as the team's punter, a role he capably filled last season.

Walker, however, refused to single out any of his prospects.

Of the 35 coming out for the initial workout, 20—more or less—will be U.S. imports. The "more or less" is Gordon Malloy, speedy halfback last year with the University of Miami.

CONFLICTING INTENTIONS

Malloy signed a contract last winter to play with Alouettes but later said he intended to spend the season with Detroit Lions of the National Football League. An Alouettes spokesman said Malloy, while legally under contract with the Montreal club, is only on the Detroit draft list and has not signed a contract with them.

"If Malloy shows up for practice tomorrow," he said, "we'll know he's coming with the Alouettes. Otherwise..."

One import sure to return is Sam Etcheverry, the passing quarterback who completed two contracts for two attempts in the winter's U.S.-Canadian football wars.

Etcheverry, travelling through Chicago at the end of last season, signed a contract with Chicago Cardinals. When Montreal fans and club officials sent up howls of dismay, the Alouettes brass pursued him to New York and signed him up to play here again.

Pennsylvania Boxing Brass Approves New Tougher Code

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania hoped today to salvage its boxing prestige with a new, tougher boxing code aimed at giving the state athletic commission control over outside promoters operating in the state.

Goed by a series of controversial fights climaxed by Harold Johnson's mysterious collapse in a bout May 6 with Julio Mederos, the commission Wednesday culminated weeks of investigation with the presentation of the new code.

Now it hopes for quick legislative approval and, eventually, adoption across the U.S. of the Pennsylvania model.

Outstanding features of the proposed code are a five-per-cent gross receipts tax on all admissions to closed television bouts seen in the state, as well as on money paid to promoters for television, radio and motion picture rights to fights, and a requirement that an out-of-town applicant for a co-promoter's licence must furnish what information the commission requests.

SUMMARY SUSPENSION

It would also provide for summary suspension of licences pending hearings. At present the commission must hold the hearings first.

For the first time, the state also would have a five-to-nine-member medical advisory board to recommend assignments of physicians to fights.

"We hope to have named to this board specialists in every field of general medicine," said commission chairman James H. Crowley.

"This way we will have the best advice available for all circumstances."

CODE PROVISIONS

Other provisions of the code would:

1. Set up new and more rigid physical standards for fighters.
2. Make liability insurance compulsory for all contestants.
3. Make fingerprinting of all licensees (except physicians) compulsory.
4. Ban all female wrestling in Pennsylvania.
5. Provide that one commissioner may conduct a hearing on a suspension instead of the full board now required.

"PUT ASIDE POLITICS"

Crowley urged Pennsylvania lawmakers to "put aside politics" when they consider the code, which will be presented in the General Assembly Monday.

Governor George M. Leader said he will send the chairman to Detroit for the National Boxing Association annual meeting opening Aug. 15 to urge that regulatory body to adopt the Pennsylvania code.

In the Johnson-Mederos fight, Johnson, a Philadelphia fighter, ranked as No. 1 contender in the light-heavyweight ranks, was unable to answer the bell for the third round against the Cuban heavy eight. The commission charged he had been drugged.

Johnson's licence subsequently was suspended for six months. The matchmaker and promoter licences of Pete Moran were revoked. The licences of others involved also were suspended.

Cancel Tourney, Charge Racial Discrimination

WINDSOR (CP)—The United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) said Wednesday it has cancelled plans for its annual golf tournament because the semi-private course where the tournament was to be held excludes Negroes from year-round play.

The union said the course, the Leamington Golf Club, had refused to allow a foursome of Negroes from Detroit, one of whom was enrolled in the union tournament, to play a practice round of golf on Monday.

Club officials said the Negroes had been refused permission to play their practice round, but this was general policy for semi-private clubs in this area.

The club had relaxed its rule to allow Negroes to play the day of the tournament, they said.

John Moffatt, club professional, said the union had held its tournament at the course in previous years, and that Negroes were allowed to play. No Negro had tried to play a practice round on a day before the tournament, however, he said.

Gilchrist Not Free Agent Says Coach

TORONTO (CP)—Chief coach Bob Friedman of Sarnia Imperials football club said Wednesday that "Cookie" Gilchrist, 1944 international backfield star reported negotiating with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen is "not a free agent."

He said Gilchrist can deal only with the Sarnia team.

Gilchrist, line-smashing halfback imported from Brakenridge, Pa., was due in Kitchener Wednesday. He was reported seeking a berth with the Dutchmen, defending Ontario Rugby Football Union champions, after telling officials by phone he has been released from a contract with Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

OARSMEN TO COMPETE

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—More than 100 oarsmen from five area rowing clubs will gather here Saturday for the closing Central Ontario Rowing Association regatta.

Toronto Argos, Hamilton Loathers, London, Toronto Dons and St. Catharines will row in 12 afternoon events. All races are over the mile and 550-yard course as a tie-up to the Royal Canadian Henley regatta July 27-30.

Clubs of Ontario Wednesday.

Sacrifice Fly Big Factor In Batting Marks

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Campanella and Gil Hodges of Brooklyn Dodgers, Jackie Jensen of Boston Red Sox and Al Rosen of Cleveland Indians paced the majors in sacrifice flies Wednesday, but three other players owed their 300 batting averages to the batters' "bonus."

Rip Repulski of St. Louis Cardinals, Wally Pate of Cincinnati Reds and Dale Long of Pittsburgh Pirates each would be under .300 if the sacrifice fly rule were not in effect. As it stands now, there are only 20 major leaguers in the .300 group.

Repulski is batting .302 with five sacrifice flies, counting the sacrifice flies as times at bat, he would be at .297. Pate, also at .302, has three "bonus" at bats and would be at .299 while Long, at an even .300, would be hitting .298 if three sacrifice flies were not working to his advantage.

The rule, revived last year, stipulates that a batter is to be given a sacrifice when, with less than two out, he hits a fair fly ball which is caught and a runner scores after the catch.

Seven Qualify At Bisley

BISLEY, England (Reuters)—Seven members of the Canadian rifle team, including the adjutant, qualified to shoot in the second stage of the Queen's prize competition today after scoring 77 and above in the first stage Wednesday.

They are: Capt. W. J. Newell, Winnipeg, (no score listed); Sgt. J. H. Blain, Montreal, 98; Col. J. E. Forster, Calgary, 98; Lt. Cmdr. E. Ryan, Kingston, Ont., 98; Capt. L. H. Douglas, Port Credit, Ont., 97; Pte. C. Rasmussen, Ottawa, 97; Sgt. T. A. Richardson, Montreal, 97.

Cpl. A. H. Blanchette, Calgary, and Insp. J. A. Young, Toronto, N.S., both scored 96 and are among 11 competitors who will fire in a tie-shoot today for 58 places in the second stage.

Other members of the Canadian team who did not qualify included COMS J. A. Draper, South Porcupine, Ont., 93.

Haggis Juniors Nip Wellington By 6-3 Score

Scoring two runs in the bottom of the fourth, the Belleville Haggis Juniors broke up a 3-3 deadlock and went on to outscore Johnny Mowatt's Wellington Legionnaires 6-3 in a Belleville and District Baseball League game at Exhibition Park last evening. The win gave Belleville a clean three-game sweep of their battles with Wellington.

Leo St. Denis of the Juniors, and O'Halloran of Wellington hooked up in a rather close hurling duel in the seven-inning contest. The city nines opened the scoring with a single tally in the second, each team plating a pair in the third and the visitors tying it at 3-3 in the top of the fourth. Kelleher's beardless boys wrapped it up with two in the half of the frame and added one insurance marker in the sixth.

St. Denis surrendered only four safe hits, all singles, while gaining the victory. He nailed five on three strikes while walking four and made one wild pitch. O'Halloran was touched for seven hits, including three doubles, on the other end of the decision. He threw three strikes by two, passed six and hit Batchelor, lead-off batter, twice.

Wayne Fox drew a base-on-balls, setting the stage for the initial Haggis tally, Kingston advancing him with a sacrifice and Cam Buskard driving the run home with a single to right center field. Wellington took advantage of two errors to bring home their first runs while Gruben and Johnston aided with singles.

Belleville unlimbered the lumber in the third after Hull walked, Goyer and Fox singled, while Kingston cleaned up with a double down the right field line. Wellington knotted the score without the aid of a hit, VanDusen hit by a pitch, two walks sending him to third and a passed ball plating the run.

O'Halloran hit Batchelor after St. Denis was safe on an error in the fourth, but appeared to pull out of trouble by retiring the next two. Gerry Goyer then drove in the winning runs with a double to right. Hull singled and rode home on Harvey Stoliker's double in the sixth after stealing second.

Gerry Goyer sparked the winner's attack with a two-bagger and single while Charles Kingston and Harvey Stoliker doubled. Bob Hull, Wayne Fox and Cameron Buskard collected one single each. Gruben, O'Halloran, Easton and Johnston were the Wellington hitters.

Line-ups:

Howie Turner Hangs Up Gear

OTTAWA (CP)—Howie Turner, 31-year-old American backfielder who spent eight years with Ottawa Rough Riders in the Big Four football wars, is putting the game behind him.

Turner, who won the Walker Cup as the Riders' most valuable player in 1948, made his decision known to reporters Wednesday night following a chat with Ottawa coach Channing Caldwell.

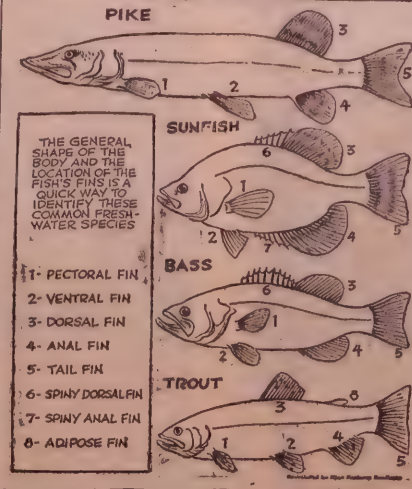

"The coach intimated that he doesn't need me," Howie said, "so there's no sense turning out."

Turner, who joined Riders in 1947 was named to the Canadian all-star teams in 1948 and 1950 and made the Big Four all-stars five times.

Bell Tolls Different Chimes In Canada-US Grid Disputes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The manoeuvres of Bert Bell must have some Canadian football fans puzzled.

Bell, commissioner of the National Football League who has been in the middle of Canada-U.S. player disputes for the last couple of years, dealt with two across-the-border incidents Wednesday.

He appeared to take two different stands.

Bell told the club, Winnipeg Blue Bombers, their player squabble with Cleveland Browns is none of the NFL's business; that it was up to the individual clubs to settle their own differences.

REVIEWS TICAT CASE

Later, Bell turned around and told Hamilton Tiger-Cats he was holding up confirmation of a contract involving an American import until he reviewed the case between Ticats and the Browns.

In Philadelphia, Bell said the Browns and the Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union would have to come to some agreement on their own. Both clubs claim quarterback Bobby Freeman and centre Jack Locklear, graduates of Auburn University. The Bombers signed them last January. The Browns drafted them last spring.

There have been recent reports that the two players plan to join the Browns although Winnipeg coach Al Sherman says he expects them to report to the Bombers Friday.

The Blue Bombers have an agreement with all NFL clubs except the Browns and San Francisco 49ers to respect contracts and options. Bell said such agreements are strictly a matter between individual teams and "if they want to fight it out they can."

WILL BE HELD UP

In Hamilton, Cooper said he was told by Bell that confirmation of a contract signed by fullback Tex

Robinson of Temple University with the Browns would be held up pending a review of the case.

Tiger-Cats say they signed the 22-year-old triple-threat ace after months ago and expect him to join them in training any day. The word out of Cleveland is that he also put his signature on a Brown contract.

Reports say Robinson was warned that he would be drafted into the army if he travelled north to play his football. If he remains in Cleveland he can stay in the reserve and work on his commission.

If Bell rules that Robinson is Hamilton property, he could end up not playing for either team. If his reserve army status is jeopardized by going to Hamilton, he probably will return to Temple University for a year.

THEY WANT HIM

Says Hamilton president Jake Gaudaur:

"We feel we have every right to Robinson. We expect the same cooperation from the NFL as they expect from us."

Toronto Argonauts announced the signing of halfback Len Meltzer, with British Columbia Lions last season. Meltzer, a 24-year-old 165-pounder, went to Lions in the WFL after leaving the Blue Bombers in 1953.

Sherman Hood, an outstanding guard in intercollegiate football in 1954, also was signed by Argos. Hood, six feet, 2½ inches and 220 pounds, said he also has been offered contracts by Ottawa Rough Riders and Edmonton Eskimos. A native of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Hood played for Queen's Golden Gaels in 1954.

Another Canadian player, Gerry McTaggart, with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in the Ontario Rugby Football Union last season, has been given a release by Kitchener to try out with Argos. He was born in Orillia.

Charles Plods To Victory Over Andrews

CHICAGO (AP)—A slowed-down Elmer Charles plodded to a split 10-round decision over young Paul Andrews Wednesday night to keep grinding away on the comeback treadmill.

Decked by a short right for the eighth count in the second round, Charles weathered Andrews' savage left hooks and right uppercuts to fight back and earn the decision.

Referee Frank Sikora voted 94-91 for Charles and Judge Frank McAdams saw it 98-95 for the same fighter. Judge James McManus gave it to Andrews, 23-year-old former paratrooper from Buffalo, 95-90.

The televised Chicago Stadium scrap drew only 2,123 fans and a net of $5,072.

Charles, outwielding Andrews 193 to 188, opened a gap when his opponent's right eye in the fourth round and it kept bleeding most of the way.

Bobcats Choke Madoc Rally To Win 11-7

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

After spotting the visiting Madoc club three runs, the Bobcats rallied for 11 and then staved off a last frame uprising to whip the northern crew 11-7 in an error-filled game at the C.N.R. last night. The Bobcat win broke the tie for last place in the Belleville and District softball league standing, leaving Madoc in undisputed position of the bottom rung.

Jack Holmes lashed 8 2-3 innings for the Temple gang, allowing but five hits. He was working on a three hitter until the ninth after errors had put him behind early in the game. Of the seven Madoc runs only one was earned as Belleville bobbled six times and the losers five. Holmes fanned 10 and passed eight. Al Adams threw to the final man of the game retiring him on strikes.

The losers walked three pitchers. Ken Pigen, Wayne Shaw and Aylesworth in that order with the middle man taking the loss. Among them they allowed 11 safe hits. Pigen striking out three. The Bobcats drew four base-on-balls.

Madoc platted one run in the first, Hagerman walking and going around on a passed ball and two wild pitches. They increased their lead to 3-0 in the second when Doug Bone ran into Holmes and knocked a pop fly from his glove paving the way for the tallies. A throwing error, a single by Frances and Ernie Carswell's triple told the story.

Meanwhile Pigen held the city boys hitless until the fourth when Dave Lockyer tripled and came home on Temple's infield out starting the team on the comeback trail. They sent Pigen to the showers in the fifth on a walk, Woods single, and another walk. One man went down on a fielder's choice as Shaw came on but Lockyer singled home two runs and Nickle's error made it 4-3.

An error, Empey's double and an infield out scored the first tally in the sixth while Carl Woods blasted a home run over Nickle's head in left field for two more. The Cats completed their scoring in the seventh on five singles, Woods again driving in two runs, and two errors.

The visitors' battered around in the ninth with three errors, Nickle's double followed by Devo-

Don Fontana, Barclay Tennis Clash May Decide Davis Cup Team Member

By MEL MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—Don Fontana of Toronto and Larry Barclay of Vancouver clash today in the quarter-finals of the Canadian tennis championships in a match that may go a long way toward deciding the fourth member of Canada's Davis Cup team.

Both Fontana and Barclay, along with John Swan and Paul Wilton of Vancouver, have been mentioned as possibilities for the last spot on the team. Three players already have been chosen—Lorne Main of Toronto, Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., and Henri Rochon of Montreal.

Fontana entered the quarter-finals Wednesday by crushing Jacques Giguere of Quebec 6-2, 6-2, while Barclay eased by veteran Jean Marois of Quebec 6-1, 6-3. Barclay is seeded fourth in the

BEDARD MATCH

Today's other quarter-final pits second-seeded Bedard against seventh-ranked Val Harit of Montreal. Bedard thumped Paul-Andre Pichette of Quebec 6-0, 6-0 Wednesday. Harit and his attractive wife, Shirley, provided the day's top drama by eliminating two tough opponents. Harit disposed of the last foreign entry, lanky Paul Cranis of Brooklyn, N.Y., 6-3, 6-4 and his wife followed up with a Louise Brown of Toronto. Harit's wife assured a Canadian champion for the first time since 1950 when Brendan Macken of Montreal won the crown.

Main quickly eliminated his two first opponents. He downed Guy Michaud of Quebec 6-0, 6-1 and the George Czuzka of Toronto 6-0, 6-3.

Ted Kluszewski Equals Babe's Home Run Pace

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ted Kluszewski is right on the pace Babe Ruth was setting at this time in 1927, when he established the home run record of 60.

With 80 games in the record book the big first baseman is leading the majors with 29 round trippers. The Babe hit No. 29 in his 79th game. Later he put on that famous and fantastic spurt of 17 in September.

Klu is bettering his own pace of 1954 when he led the majors with four. He didn't slug No. 29 last year until the 104th game.

Kluszewski's home runs were deciding markers in five games.

lin's single, sending four runs across.

Carl Woods and Dave Lockyer shared batting honors for the winners Woods driving in four runs with a homer and two singles while Lockyer blasted a triple, double and single. Ross Empey had a double and single while Gord Donovan and Holmes also had base hits. Carswell tripled, Nickle doubled and singles went to Hatch, Frances and Devolin for Match's five hits.

Juvenile Delinquency Problem Gets Dramatic Treatment in MGM's "Blackboard Jungle" with Glenn Ford.

The problem of juvenile delinquency crowding today's newspaper headlines forms the subject of MGM's powerful film, "Blackboard Jungle," at the Belle Theatre.

Based on the sensational best-seller novel by Evan Hunter, with its pivotal characters enacted by Glenn Ford, Anne Francis, Margaret Hayes and Louis Calhern, the picture tells a realistic and gripping story of a young teacher whose career, marriage and very life are threatened by the teen-age gangsters who make a mockery of his classroom in a metropolitan vocational school.

Glenn Ford plays Richard Daddier, who finds the enthusiasm with which he begins his first teaching job turning to ashes in the face of the hostility, contempt and brutality he encounters from his students.

When taunts, insolence and disobedience fail to break their teacher, the classroom hoodlums, led by two ringleaders, Artie West and the husky negro, Gregory Miller, try stronger methods, but Daddier does not resign even when he comes close to being killed in an alley gang-up. But when his wife, Anne, expecting a child, is sent poison-pen letters accusing him of infidelity with a woman teacher, Daddier is ready to throw in the sponge.

In the end he is able to reach across the barrier separating him from Gregory Miller, and it is this student who in the story's electric climax defends Daddier when he is attacked by Artie West with a knife, and who gives him the incentive to go on with his teaching career.

Director Howard Brooks, who also wrote the screenplay of "Blackboard Jungle," has wrought exciting performances from his players. Glenn Ford's portrayal of the tormented teacher, fighting against overwhelming odds to gain the respect of his students is honest and incisive. Anne Francis is emotionally taut in the role of the wife who struggles to overcome her jealous suspicions, the well-known television actress, making her first major film appearance as Lois Hammond, the woman teacher who makes a play for Daddier.

"Blackboard Jungle" is a disturbing, hard-hitting dramatization of one of the social controversies of our day, and it makes for an absorbing motion picture.

RAWDON

Mrs. B. Morton Hostess At Bands' Meeting

RAWDON — On Tuesday the Wellman ladies and members of the Wellman's Daisy Mission Band and Wellman's Baby Band gathered at the home of Mrs. Burton Morton for their July meeting.

Mrs. Burton Morton presided and based the worship period on the theme, "Trees, God's Good Gift to Man." She read two poems on "Trees," and conducted a quiz on "What Lessons Can Be Learned from Trees?"

The children sang "Little Drops of Water," from the Mission Band hymn book.

The Scripture lesson was all verses in the Bible that mentioned trees, and ten various trees are specifically mentioned: apple tree, willow, pine, oak, chestnut, ash, sycamore, cedar, olive and fig.

Piano solos were given by Yvonne King and Mildred Morton. Anne Watson sang with her mother as accompanist, and Lois Morton sang with her sister, as accompanist.

Mrs. Morton synthesized two chapters which gave interesting "Firestorm Stories" from "Chand of India." This gave a vivid picture of how Indian families had become Christians.

The program closed with the rendition of "We Are a Missionary Band." The convener staged an interesting game in picture style on the theme "How Does Your Garden Grow?"

On behalf of the mothers, Mrs. J. Pollock voiced thanks for hospitality and program.

Mildred Morton and Yvonne King assisted the hostess in serving refreshments and all enjoyed a social half hour.

Bus Hits Truck Near Newcastle, 23 Are Injured

Woman and Son Trapped Until Vehicles Pried Apart

Pair Convicted Of Assaulting Pickering Chief

NEWCASTLE, Ont. (CP) — Twenty-three of 30 passengers aboard a Montreal-to-Toronto bus were injured, one seriously, when the vehicle crashed into the rear of a transport truck near here early today.

Mrs. Preston Diamond, 51, of Charlottetown and her 16-year-old son were trapped in the front seat of the bus until a wrecking truck crew pried the two vehicles apart. Mrs. Diamond suffered a fractured right knee cap, shock and lacerations to the right arm, leg and face.

Most of the other passengers who were injured in the crash were taken to hospital in Oshawa, 15 miles west of here, and others were treated at hospital in nearby Bowmanville.

The accident occurred when the Colonial Coach Lines bus struck the rear of the truck as the two were approaching narrow underpass on Highway 2.

DIDN'T SEE TRUCK

Bus driver Arthur Perry, 36, of Kingston, said he saw the transport for the first time when a car coming towards him flicked its lights. He said he threw the bus into third gear and applied the emergency and foot brakes.

Force of the impact pushed the ramp of the truck back about six feet. The right front of the bus was badly damaged and Perry had to crawl out through a broken window. He suffered only a bruised leg.

John Bishop of Gananogue, driver of the transport owned by McCallum Transport Co. of Oshawa, escaped injury.

A hospital besides Mrs. Diamond were:

Roy Diamond, 16, her son, possible fractured hip; Garnet Davey, Peterborough, dislocated hip; Mrs. Mary Schrepper, Toronto, broken arm; Mrs. Susan Goodwin, Bridgeport, N. S., fractured shoulder; Albez Gooden, St. Eustache, Man., undetermined injuries; Simon Gernick, Toronto, broken leg. All are in hospital in nearby Bowmanville.

The rest of the injured passengers were treated and released.

Called Vicious

Magistrate Woodliffe described the attitude of the constables towards their chief as "very vicious."

In his story of the assault, Thompson, 28, said the chief had told him to shut up.

"Seeing he was mad I grabbed the front of his tunic and told him to cool off. He brought his knee up into my abdomen. I was lying on my back and he was on top of me. He was not in the building at all when the incident took place."

New Gadget

DETROIT (AP) — A new push button gadget for motorists is announced by Cadillac Motors: A device that permits a motorist to lock and unlock the car trunk without leaving his seat.

The control button is located in the glove compartment which may be locked for security; a small red light on the instrument panel indicates when the trunk is unlocked. It will cost about $35 extra.

10 Dead, 44 Hurt in Morocco, French Riot After Bombing

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) — Angry mobs of French colonists rioted through Casablanca until early this morning, protesting a terror bombing which killed six Europeans and injured 35 others.

Before peace was restored in the modern port city of 650,000 people the toll stood at 10 dead and at least 44 wounded.

The trouble was sparked by a bomb which exploded on one of the main streets and killed six Europeans including a 10-year-old child. Witnesses said the bomb was loaded onto a cart and pushed by two Moroccans into a cafe section which was crowded with Europeans celebrating French Bastille Day. The Moroccans then walked away.

Two European youths saw smoke rising from the cart and raised the canisters to investigate. At this instant the bomb exploded with a roar heard throughout the city.

It pulled six dead and 33 wounded from the chaos of splintered tables, chairs, and glassware of the cafe.

Almost immediately thousands of men swarmed into the streets.

Today's Chuckle

A small girl was entertaining the visitors until her mother came downstairs. Said one woman to the other with an appraising look: "Not very p-r-e-t-y."

"No," answered the child, "but awfully s-m-a-r-t."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopses: Southwesterly winds brought high temperatures and humidity to southern Ontario Thursday with maximum temperatures rising into the low 80s. Cloudy skies and scattered showers which moved into the southern regions during the night will continue today and end Saturday morning as less humid and mid air pushes in from the northwest.

HOWE CRITICIZES OPPOSITION TALK ON WHEAT DEAL

Says Part of Purchase Could Be Lost

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe says opposition "hullabaloo" over the wheat deal with Communist Poland could lead to four-fifths of the $20,000,000 purchase being lost.

He referred to the transaction in the Commons Thursday after painting a bright picture of Canada's economy. It is "booming as never before," he said.

Opposition Leader Drew has said the government is playing Santa Claus in the arrangement under which Poland will finance 85-per-cent of a $20,000,000 purchase of a one-year Canadian bank loan insured by the government.

Mr. Howe said opposition criticism is unfortunate because it invites competitors into Canadian markets.

"HEAR NO MORE"

"I don't see why we have to have all this hullabaloo," he said. "I hope to hear no more about the Polish transaction."

He said he wouldn't be surprised if Poland took only the 50,000 tons of wheat it has bought already in 1955. It was merely a question of making a good deal.

Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto) said his party is not opposed to sales to Communist countries as such. It was merely a question of making a good deal.

He mentioned the Polish arrangement and also the recent sale of 300,000 pounds of butter to Czechoslovakia at the subsidized price of 25 cents a pound. If exports are to be subsidized, he said, they should be offered to friendly countries.

NO OTHERS IN WEST

Mr. Howe said there is no country outside the Iron Curtain where Canada could sell subsidized exports without protests from other exporting countries. Britain, like Canada, refused to accept subsidized goods. The discussion developed under a Commons review of Mr. Howe's departmental estimates which continues today.

Introducing the estimates, Mr. Howe said exports are at record levels—more than 10 per cent above last year. There were prospects of a near-record western grain crop and certainty of a record capital investment.

Wheat exports, hampered for a while by the British rail and dock strikes, were slightly above last year and wheat sales at July 1 were substantially above the 1954 level. General exports to the United Kingdom were up 37 per cent, sales to the U.S. were slightly above 1953 record levels and those to commonwealth countries had increased.

SEES DANGERS

Mr. Fleming said there are dangers in over-concentration of trade with the United States. U.S. pressures against Canada would have to be met. Canada would have to regain its right to freedom of action.

This year's renewal of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade had given the U.S. loopholes and if those destroyed GATT's effectiveness Canada would have to regain its right to freedom of action.

He said Canada has lost to Germany its place as the world's third-largest trader. The government should cut taxes to reduce production costs, keep trade channels free of restrictions and help Canadian producers find markets.

Mr. Fleming said he was not in support of trade with Communist countries. Canada should do all possible to trade with other nations, regardless of their politics.

He said Canada must realize trade with the sterling area has to be a two-way affair if Canadian goods are to be sold abroad and if sterling currency restrictions are to end.

Expects to Ditch in Pacific Ocean, Flies 87 Men to Safety in 4 Hours

HAMILTON AIR FORCE BASE, Ont. (AP)—For four tense, long hours Thursday night Capt. Theodore Roosevelt held his mind and nerves ready to ditch a huge C-124 Globemaster and 87 men in the fog-covered Pacific.

But the ordeal ended in a safe landing here with the big military transport's two starboard engines dead.

When it was all over, Roosevelt, a seventh cousin of both Teddy and Franklin D. Roosevelt, quietly told reporters:

"I was pretty sure we'd have ditched those paratroopers first, I guess they could cope with whatever came up."

The Globemaster carried 79 men of the 187th Regimental Combat Team (Airborne) and its crew of 40, including a Hickman field, Hawaii, to California flight instructor "Operation Gyroscopic" transfer of the 187th from Japan to Fort Bragg, N.C.

Twelve planes, Grumman Albatross amphibians, escorted the crippled Globemaster for the last 300 miles. They were ready to attempt landings in the sea if the transport ditched. Another plane was ready to drop rafts.

NO TAX ON THIS KIND OF REWARD!

A just reward is planted on the cheeks of Constables James Hull and Jacques Ennod by Frances and Joyce Lamb, of Hull, Que. The two girls and Brenda Sage, centre, were paddling a rented boat in the Ottawa River, near Hull, when they were drawn into a fast current. They jumped out of the boat and clung to a rock. After half an hour they were spotted by passers-by and the two police officers, who had to anchor their own boat and wade to their rescue, brought them safely ashore. (Central Press Canadian).

Plan Challenge to Diesels By Coal-Turbine Locomotive

By JOE MACSWEN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—A last-phase move to put Canada's experimental coal-turbine locomotive on the rails may begin soon.

With its promise of regained markets for Maritime coal and more efficient railway operation, the turbine had its inception six years ago and has been extensively tested.

Lionel A. Forsyth, president of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, said in an interview Thursday night:

"I believe the only way to find out whether it is the real answer to the motive power problem is to build it, and try it on the rails."

Prof. D. L. Mordell, the McGill University engineer who invented and developed the engine, told The Canadian Press in a separate interview he is confident the trail-breaking engine will surpass diesels on Canadian railways.

"A coal-burning turbine would save $40,000 a year on passenger trains and $30,000 a year on freight trains," he declared.

Policeman Who Shot Self Seen Key Witness in Probe

By AL MARKLE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Accounts of pay-offs, secret meetings and plans of known racketeers to "split the take" with high police officials came out of the two-day session of the royal commission investigating the Vancouver police force.

The R. H. Tupper commission stood adjourned today, awaiting the mental and physical recovery of Det.-Sgt. Len Cuthbert, who attempted suicide in a police station June 24.

Mr. Tupper said it would be at least 10 days before the commission meets again.

During the two days of testimony, Cuthbert emerged as the key figure in the investigation. Every witness called to the stand mentioned his name.

Accused was chief Walter Mulligan, 50-year-old department head who advanced to the post following a shakeup seven years ago.

The accusers were some of his top lieutenants, Det.-Sgt. Archie Plummer, Det.-Sgt. Bob Leatherdale, and former detective Jack Whelan, wrestling promoter, tavern waiter and one of the most outspoken witnesses.

Mr. Tupper was appointed June 11 by the attorney-general's department to investigate charges of corruption and laxity.

The commission was sparked by a series of articles in the Toronto weekly tabloid Flash. The stories were written by Ray Munro, a veteran Vancouver crime reporter.

Among highlights of Thursday's session were charges by counsel that police officials had noted of an interview between Cuthbert and Supt. Whelan, taken by Whelan, were signed under duress.

Exact text of the notes was not read in court, but Whelan said Cuthbert told him he was paying Supt. Jack Horton and deputy chief Gordon Ambrose $100 a month—part of protection money presumably collected by Cuthbert in his position as head of the gambling squad.

T. G. Norris and Lyle Jaseley representing Mulligan and Horton, charged the notes were signed by Cuthbert only after "intimidation, threats and promises."

By this token, they said, a copy of the notes produced in court Thursday was inadmissible as evidence.

Similar experiments are being conducted in the United States and Britain but no one yet has proposed a prototype locomotive. The U.S. and U.K. experiments also are approaching their climax.

Money is the thing now needed for the last phase of the Canadian experiment, conducted at Macdonald College, affiliate of McGill in nearby St. Anne de Bellevue. It is known the six-year tests already have cost $600,000 and $1,000,000 more will be needed to put an engine on the rails.

The federal railway department has been the biggest contributor so far and it is considered likely that private enterprise—standing to gain by success—may show financial interest.

EISENHOWER TUTELLATION OF HIS HOPES

Will Leave for Geneva One Hour After Talk

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower takes off tonight for Geneva after telling the country about his cautious hopes that the Big Four conference may eventually lead to enduring peace.

The president plans a 15-minute informal address (8:15 p.m. EDT) dealing with world problems to be discussed at the summit meeting opening Monday.

All four television networks will carry the talk from the White House at the time of delivery, as will ABC and CBS radio.

One hour after Eisenhower concludes his address, he will take off from National airport aboard his plane, Columbine III. His party will include Mrs. Eisenhower and their son, Maj. John Eisenhower, who will serve as an aide to his father.

Eisenhower was reported giving a great deal of time to his radio-TV talk tonight. Advance indications were that the theme of it would be much the same as one he made to a group of foreign students at the White House Tuesday.

SEEK REASONS WHY

He said then that at Geneva: "We will try to explore the reasons why this world does not seem to get closer to peace, and to try to find out what, if the world follows, all of you may live a little more tranquilly than the people of my generation."

People generally, the president said, do not want war and conflict, and he added:

"It is a long way from the prototype to the real thing," Mr. Forsyth said.

Winds Threaten To Prolong Fight Against 142 Fires

Heavy Storm Quells Blaze On Island in Lake Simcoe

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hundreds of men fought with new urgency today as winds threatened to prolong their battle against the 142 fires devouring acres of Ontario bushland.

Fifteen of the fires were burning out of control in the tinder-dry north late Thursday night as the smoke-begrimed firefighters were warned that fires were surging forward.

A heavy rainstorm this morning quickly extinguished remaining flames of a forest fire that overnight had been checked and concentrated in a small area on Georgian Island in Lake Simcoe.

Chief Lorenzo Bill Canoe said the flames, which for a time Thursday night threatened homes on the island, were quelled by the rain.

Some firefighters complained of a lack of centralized direction in fighting the blaze.

As smoke clouds darkened the Ontario woodlands, Land Minister Mapledorson declared the fire situation a "real emergency" and appealed to all non-bush workers to stay out of forest areas.

Eight townships in the Sudbury district were also barred to unauthorized visitors. All forest travel permits in the Kirkland Lake area were cancelled. A 400-acre fire is burning out of control one mile from King Kirkland, three miles west of Kirkland Lake.

VILLAGE EVACUATED

At Mississauga, 115 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, evacuees from Renbess Mines were pondering the fate of their village, which earlier believed out of immediate danger.

The villagers were evacuated in the face of a fast-moving fire which raged over their escape route an hour after they left.

Seven other fires were out of control in the Sault Ste. Marie district, ranging in size from 50 acres to 14,000 acres.

Near Gowanda, west of Haileybury, 60 men were battling a 400-acre blaze. The fire will not be under control for at least two days, officials said.

The fires were raging in the Sault Ste. Marie area which have to be closed to all visitors.

The most spectacular flash of lightning was at the Ascot race course Thursday where 100 spectators were knocked to the ground by a bolt which struck near the royal enclosure.

A woman died within a few minutes, a man died within a few hours and another woman was in critical condition. Nineteen persons felled by the flash were in hospital. Lightning killed four persons in other parts of England.

It was considerably warmer today at various places on the Continent, but a general tendency was downward. Paris, which sweltered in 95 degrees Thursday, reported thermometer readings in the low 70s.

The heat, humidity and patches of cold caused fog in many regions. Shipping was hindered along the coast of Britain.

Guided Missile Work Delayed By Plant Strike

TORONTO (CP)—The development of guided missiles is being slowed by the strike of 1,700 production workers at the Havilland Aircraft's plant here, company officials said Thursday.

Officials of the suburban Downsview plant said engineers employed on the government-sponsored missile project are among 1,300 office employees who laid off as a result of the strike.

Aside from the research project, the strike has interrupted service facilities and supply of spare parts to the United States Army and Air Force, the RCAF and air lines in many parts of the world, company officials said.

'Will Exert All Efforts' at Geneva To Find Common Tongue--Bulgarian

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Bulganin told a press conference today the Soviet Union "will exert all efforts" to find a "common language" with the West at next week's Geneva big-four conference.

Bulgarian said the four powers should "discuss the reality and logical international problems."

Bulgarian was addressing a gathering of foreign correspondents called to the Kremlin for the first time since the Soviet Union "will exert all efforts" to find a "common language" with the West at next week's Geneva big-four conference.

QUEBEC (CP) — Heavy clouds were reported lying low today over the north shore of the St. Lawrence river where three of the worst forest fires in the province are blazing, but no rain has yet fallen.

Showers were forecast for Baie Comeau where flames have destroyed 100 square miles of black spruce. The rain also would help firefighters who are trying to control flames in spruce forests around Labrieville, centre of a hydro-electric power project on the Bersimis river, northeast of Quebec City.

Near Sept-Isles, more than 200 square miles of spruce and balsam forest were destroyed by the fire that last week destroyed five homes and the church in the village of Ste. Marguerite.

Henri Kieffer, chief of the provincial forest protection service, said 15 to 20 fires, most of them small ones, are burning in the province.

More than 49,000 acres of timberland were destroyed in the province during May and June, Mr. Kieffer said. He estimated the total for July would be even greater.

Weather officials said visibility was limited to a mile near Sept-Isles preventing pilots from surveying the exact extent of the damage.

Eight-Day Hot Spell in Britain Ended by Storms

LONDON (AP)—Thunderstorms striking scattered communities with sudden fierceness were bringing the heat wave in Europe today.

The death toll in the eight-day spell of hot weather was estimated at 100 persons.

In Britain, where temperatures hovered in the 70s, there was apprehension that the violent storms of chain lightning, which killed six persons Thursday, might bring more casualties.

The most spectacular flash of lightning was at the Ascot race course Thursday where 100 spectators were knocked to the ground by a bolt which struck near the royal enclosure.

A woman died within a few minutes, a man died within a few hours and another woman was in critical condition. Nineteen persons felled by the flash were in hospital. Lightning killed four persons in other parts of England.

The girls, representing universities across Canada, are taking summer RCAF training under the university reserve training plan.

Among the graduates were C. M. M. Samson of Quebec, a student at Laval University and a granddaughter of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

The girls will be posted to RCAF units across Canada for advanced training.

Humidity High With No Relief In Sight Today

Oh! But there's bad news tonight. This morning, if when you woke up, climbed heavy-eyed out of bed, drooped downstairs and the distant side ylling, heavy-lidded and gasping over a half-prepared breakfast, you probably just started at each other, too exhausted even to juggle your tongues.

The look would have been sufficient. What it meant was: "It ain't the heat. It's the humidity!"

And sure thing — it is. Today the humidity in the Quinte area was as high as a mosquito on a barfly's nose. It showed 88 percent in a temperature of 72 degrees.

And is there any slim possibility of a let-up? Not this evening there isn't. Buster — and don't let that morning "thunderstorm" and rain fool you.

The met. men at Trenton RCAF station are of the opinion the relative humidity will continue relatively high until midnight at least. Which, relatively speaking, is high enough.

'The Little Canadian' Has Received Favorable Reviews from Critics

With such plaudits as "A Canadian film triumph" "The photograph is as excellent as one would see in Hollywood's best," "as refreshing as the waters of the St. Lawrence, as honey as a fire-place, as colorful as a rainbow and so heart-warming it makes you feel good all over," and "a movie well worth seeing," ringing in their ears, the cast of "The Little Canadian" will face another audience next Monday evening at the McCarty Theatre in Belleville, when they are presented from the stage during a personal appearance tour. The comments mentioned above were actually those made by well-known Canadian newspapermen after seeing "The Little Canadian." The film begins a three-day run at the McCarty on Monday, July 18, at 2:00 p.m. when a special matinee will be held at which Dore, a star of the film, and Canada's wonder dog, will be in attendance in the lobby to meet anyone and everyone.

Photographed and filmed in color, "The Little Canadian" runs a full hour and a quarter and has a large cast, headed by Wallace Havelock Robb, the famous "nature" lover of Abbey Dawn, Kingston, who plays what Alex Barris of the Globe and Mail describes as "a lovable old windbag." Following close behind Mr. Robb is Robert Agar (Bruce Lawrence) of Gananque, who plays a young man in love with Diane MacMillan (Joan Todd, the deacon's daughter). Others include Gary Evan (who plays as Billy Fowler), Ronald Grant as the villain, Les Fowler, Edythe Millman, as Agatha Higgins, the widow secretly in love with the deacon, Joe Robb, as well as Mel Turner.

World's Top Wheat Exporter Still Is U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—The United States continued to increase her lead over Canada as the world's top wheat exporter in the first 10 months of the current crop year. Expanding markets absorbed increased shipments from all major exporters except Canada.

In the first 10 months of August 1954-May 1955—the U.S. led the world with a gain of 22,200,000 bushels exported, a gain of 56,500,000 bushels from the similar period a year ago, the bureau of statistics reported today.

Canada's shipments, which a year ago were the world's highest, dropped in the 10 months of the current year to 208,700,000 bushels, down 400,000 from last year.

Argentina's exports increased to 112,000,000 from 94,100,000 and Australia's to 81,700,000 from 52,200,000.

Canadian officials have conceded that the U.S. will end the year as the world's top shipper, though they emphasize that a lot of what is going out of the U.S. with no cash coming back.

The U.S., in a multi-plan surplus-disposal program, is selling some of her wheat for local currencies which cannot be exchanged for dollars; some wheat is being given away. The Canadian wheat board sells wheat only for dollars.

Inch of Rain Falls in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—A month of clear skies and strong sunshine ended when clouds closed over Toronto today, turning down into dusk, and the heavens opened.

More than an inch of rain fell during the first hour of a fierce electrical storm which flooded subway underpasses and caused a rash of accidents on rush-hour streets.

In one accident two street cars loaded with office-bound workers collided, but no one was injured. Police said at least one home in the metropolitan area was struck by lightning.

The storm set hydro wires burning in several sections of the city.

Remanded on Bail

TORONTO (CP)—Conrad Morisset, 35, of Montreal, Thursday was remanded to July 21 on $5,000 bail, charged with theft and receiving. Police said he is believed involved in shipments of stolen goods from ships in Montreal harbor.

Police testified in court they found in the basement of a Toronto house "enough German-made clothing to fill the back seat of a police car." They said they believe an organized gang working between Toronto and Montreal is responsible for a series of cloth thefts from foreign ships before they pass through customs.

Rumor Marilyn Will Abandon Her Swim Plans

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says Marilyn Bell, the only swimmer to have won the English Channel, will give up plans for a swim across the English Channel this summer.

The Star, however, says an announcement that the 16-year-old Toronto girl will give up plans for a swim may be expected "hourly."

The Star also says "dissension among her advisers has added to the strain of illness."

Both items are from reports in Fleetstone, England, where Miss Bell has been confined to bed because of a throat infection. She has been in training there.

A story signed by Gus Ryder, her coach, says he denies ever having hinted Marilyn may not try the Channel swim at all this year.

And a front page dispatch from James Y. Nicol in The Star says she may have to return to Canada as quickly as possible for "a complete rest."

Mad RCAF Dane Presented With Flying Cross

By RUSSELL ELMAN Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—"The Mad Dane of the RCAF" was presented Thursday with the Distinguished Flying Cross he won 11 years ago as a Second World War bomber pilot.

Christian Marius Nielsen, a 34-year-old American sales engineer who joined the RCAF three months before the United States entered the war, received the medal from Ray Lawson, Canadian consul-general in New York, in a small ceremony at Lawson's Park Avenue residence.

Although the official citation for the completion of "many successful operations against the enemy in the course of which he has invariably displayed high fortitude and devotion to duty" was given March 29, 1944, Nielsen only learned about it recently.

RECORD BECAME LOST

He was shot down over Nuernberg two days after the award and the administrative tangle the record of his award somehow got lost.

It took 10 years for the defence department at Ottawa to track Nielsen down to his suburban Flushing, N.Y., home, where he lives with his wife Norma, and daughters Kathleen, 12, and Diane, 24.

Nielsen, a good-looking, clean-shaven man, piloted a Halifax bomber commonly known as "Nielsen's Nuthouse" in No. 433 (Portuguese) Squadron during the war. He flew 26 missions over France, Belgium and Germany.

He got his nickname as a result of a pleasure jaunt after a bombing run to Leipzig in the heart of Germany. Since he was way ahead of schedule he decided to have a look at Berlin.

So off he went to see Germany's capital and was still back in good time when his appointed rendezvous with the rest of his squadron.

He leaves his wife, former Lucy Livingston; five sons, Archie, Brighton; Jack, Maynooth; Wesley and Douglas, Trenton; Martin, Peterborough; two daughters, Margaret and Mary.

Gravel Operators Under Fire

TORONTO (CP) — The construction industry's insatiable appetite for sand and gravel calls for special legislation, the Conservation Council of Ontario believes.
The council says: "Unless gravel operators are required by law to recondition pits at the conclusion of operations . . . and are compelled to cease polluting rivers with washings and silt in accordance with existing legislation, the few remaining areas in southern Ontario suitable for public parkland may be irreparably ruined."
A resolution to this effect has been sent to the Ontario government. Areas particularly hard hit by the expanding gravel industry are the Forks of Credit, the Credit River valley and the Grand River valley.
The Conservation Council maintains legislation is vital if the needs of industrial development are not to clash with "the equally essential need of preserving the amenities of the countryside, especially in areas suitable for public recreation."

21 Members Off to Paris For Meeting

OTTAWA (CP) — A group of 21 parliamentarians take off by RCAF aircraft today for Paris and a conference of NATO parliamentary associations which hopes to draft closer economic ties within the 15-country defensive alliance.
The six-day meeting July 18-23 will be the first of its kind attended by parliamentary representatives of all NATO countries. In addition to discussing greater emphasis on Article 2 of the NATO treaty—the economic section—the conference will attempt to set up a loose-knit but permanent NATO parliamentary organization which will hold annual meetings.
The idea is to have a setup in the economic sphere to counterbalance the military organization of NATO.

SENATORIAL HEAD

Head of the Canadian group is Senate Speaker Wishart Robertson who was instrumental last year in the founding of the Canadian NATO Parliamentary Association of which he is president.
Since then similar groups have been formed in other NATO countries, including the United States.

Member countries have not yet formed such associations will be urged to do so at the Paris meeting.

Senator Robertson left late in June to attend a preliminary agenda meeting in London. Informants here said it is likely he will be appointed chairman of the general meeting in Paris.

MEET IN PARIS

The group leaving today includes 17 members of Parliament and four senators. Three other members of the Commons and two senators, including Senator Robertson, already are in Europe and will join their colleagues in Paris.
They are Senator W. Rupert Davies of Kingston, who will travel to Paris from Wales, and commoners Maurice Boisvert, Nicolet-Yamaska, Francis T. Fairley, Victoria, B.C., and Elmer Philpott, Vancouver South, all Liberals.

The Canadian delegation includes three women—Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Hamilton West, and Mrs. Ann Shipley, Temiskaming. Both Commons members, and Senator Muriel Fergusson, Fredericton N.B. Fairclough is the Labor spokesman for the Progressive Conservative party, the other two Liberals.

DETROIT (AP) — A statement by the American Motors Corporation that it has rejected a union contract proposal patterned after the General Motors and Ford layoff-agreements set off a fight Thursday.

The CIO United Auto Workers denied a proposal on that basis had been made to the company and charged American Motors with having "dishonorably" taken union negotiation remarks "out of context."

The union also accused the firm of a "doublecross" in lifting a new "blackout" on negotiations.
The American Motors-UAW contract talks are the first in the industry's smaller manufacturer field since the GM and Ford contracts were negotiated.
The union also challenged American Motors claims that its workers were paid more than Ford and General Motors employees as a result of what American Motors called "pattern-plus" bargaining the union's part.
American Motors demanded an end to a bargaining tactic which, it said, has "penalized" it in competition in the industry.

ATOMIC DELEGATION
OTTAWA (CP) — A delegation of 26 Canadians will attend an international conference on the peaceful uses of atomic energy in Geneva from Aug. 8 to 20.

MONTREAL (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines will inaugurate propeller-turbine Viscount service between Montreal and New York Aug. 8, cutting down flying time on the route by 20 minutes from one hour and 55 minutes.

Howe's Feelings Ruffled Over Action of Government

OTTAWA (CP) — Speed of the government in yielding to Progressive Conservative demands for a limitation on the wide powers of the Defence Production Act is reported to have ruffled the feelings of Defence Production Minister Howe.

Mr. Howe was gruffer than usual in replying to questions in the Commons Thursday during discussion of the estimates of the trade department, which he also administers. He snapped at several members but was jovial and traded jokes with others.

A large number of Liberals were reported to be unhappy over the government's compromise which ended the 10-day filibustering Conservative debate against extending the powers of Mr. Howe indefinitely. The government's decision to put a three-year time limit on the more contentious powers was described in some quarters as a surrender and a major Opposition victory.

However, Liberals close to the 68-year-old veteran politician said they disagree with parliamentary rumors that his annoyance may lead to his resignation as a member of the government. Mr. Howe marks his 20th year as a minister next October.

The government's compromise was offered to the Commons during Mr. Howe's absence from Ottawa. He returned Wednesday from a four-day fishing trip with U.S. Defence Secretary Wilson in the Maritimes.

Before leaving Ottawa last Thursday, Mr. Howe agreed to consider a time limit on some of the powers of the act after the House had approved the legislation in principle. In presenting the compromise to the House Monday Mr. St. Laurent said he had conferred about the step with Mr. Howe before he left the city. However, he did not say whether the minister agreed or disagreed with the action.

After Mr. Howe went fishing Mr. St. Laurent negotiated with Opposition Leader Drew on the terms which ended the filibuster. Thirty minutes after the prime minister proposed the compromise the bill was approved by the House.

Liberals held a caucus Tuesday at which Mr. St. Laurent explained his decision. One Liberal said rank-and-file party members were not informed before the step was announced.

Mr. St. Laurent's explanation was received coolly by a majority of the caucus, an informant said. The Ottawa Citizen described the caucus as a symptom "of the cool atmosphere between government and private members that has been seen in Liberal ranks for more than 10 years." It said some Liberals believe Mr. St. Laurent took advantage of Mr. Howe's absence "to make a deal which went further than he (Mr. Howe) had agreed to."

Talk of Mr. Howe's resignation stemmed from a news report in the Ottawa Journal. The paper said Mr. Howe returned in such a rage that it rekindled fear he might resign.

COTE'S CONDITION Is Unchanged

OTTAWA (CP) — The condition of Postmaster General Cote is unchanged, St. Louis de Montfort Hospital authorities said today.
The 52-year-old minister is confined in the suburban Eastview Hospital with a heart ailment. He was admitted 10 days ago.
Rev. Angelo Porrier, hospital chaplain, said he gave him last rites of the Roman Catholic church last Sunday because Mr. Cote was "getting discouraged."

HAMILTON (CP) — Brading Brewery Employees in Hamilton, members of Local 312 United Brewery Workers (CIO - CCL), Thursday night rejected a company offer for settlement of the 1955 contract.

Ray Corbett, president of the local, said employees are holding out for a 40-hour week. The decision of the Hamilton local was the same as Toronto and Windsor unions.

Two other locals, Waterloo and Ottawa, still have to vote on the offer.

SEATTLE (AP) — South Korea's military chiefs of staff threatened today to take "prompt action" to upset the Communist schedule for world conquest by marching into Communist North Korea rather than "sit idly waiting for death."

In a statement issued on the eve of the Geneva meeting of leaders of the Big Four powers, the chiefs of staff "regretted" President Eisenhower's reported statement that the conference would not discuss the Far East, and expressed fear of delay in Korea's reunification.

The statement, issued after a top-secret meeting, listed five conditions for not declaring the Korean armistice void. They included dissolution of the neutral supervisory commission and strengthening of South Korea.

TAIPEI (AP) — The Chinese Nationalist defence ministry Thursday charged the Chinese Communists were floating food cans loaded with high explosives in the Formosa strait. The ministry said a fisherman who picked up a can was blown to bits.

Hasty Pees Leave for Camp On Saturday

The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment leave tomorrow for Niagara-on-the-Lake where they will undergo one week's summer camp training in accordance with the new Canadian militia regulations.

Nearly 300 men of all ranks will be in Belleville, Trenton and Port Hope at 10.30 tomorrow morning on the first leg of their journey to camp. Lt.-Col. Everett Fairman, commanding officer of the regiment announced today.

This morning an advance party of 10 left for camp, under the command of Major J. Bird.

Training syllabus this year will emphasize company attack and field exercise, under the direction of Col. Lyle Carr, commanding officer of the 13th militia group.

Veteran Gives Money Back

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP) — A sightless United States Army veteran, who sells newspapers on Main street here, Thursday gave back the $10,000 that residents of the community gave to him almost 10 years ago—plus interest.

Ten years ago, a collection of $10,368 was taken up for Charles R. Bishop, now 31. A sniper's bullet had blinded him at the war's end as he was serving in the Pacific.

The money was to be used to establish himself in business.

Thursday, Bishop gave the city a cheque for $12,000—the collection plus the interest gathered from investments. The money is to be used for a community swimming pool.

Talbot Will Be Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate investigations sub-committee has voted to investigate the relationships between Air Force Secretary Harold Talbot and the New York firm of Paul B. Mulligan, it was learned Thursday.

Sub-committee members of both political parties, declining to be quoted by name, told a reporter Talbot will appear before the group, probably soon, for questioning about his financial interest in the company. One informant termed it "a company that deals with companies which deal with the government."

A sub-committee member said Talbot has advised the sub-committee staff that he takes no profit from any company that "has a major part of its business with the government."

"On the surface," the senator said, "it appears we will find nothing to the discredit of Mr. Talbot. But it was felt that the inquiry should go ahead since questions were raised."

Green Suggests Field Be Thrown Open for Pipeline

OTTAWA (CP)—Howard Green, Progressive Conservative front-bencher, said Thursday night that Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. seems to be hesitant about building an all-Canadian natural gas pipeline.

He suggested that the field be thrown open to any other Canadian company interested in carrying out an all-Canadian project.

"Why must they (Trans-Canada) be continued as the chosen instrument for building the pipeline?" the member for Vancouver Quadra asked during Commons study of trade department estimates.

His speech was punctuated by remarks from Trade Minister Howe, who reports to Parliament on pipeline matters.

Mr. Howe, obviously annoyed, interrupted Mr. Green's speech after the first few sentences with a flat refusal to answer any questions about natural gas.

Later he termed Mr. Green's speech mischievous and "quite out of whole cloth." He said there has been no government statement to warrant the member's speculation about changes in pipeline planning.

Mr. Howe added there has been no change in government policy that future Canadian supplies of natural gas will be ensured before any permit for export to the United States is permitted.

THREE PROPOSALS

Mr. Green said there seems now to be three alternative proposals for the Trans-Canada firm.

One would be the original plan for an all-Canadian route from Alberta to Ontario and Quebec, with a branch line from Manitoba to Minneapolis.

The second would be an all-Canadian line of larger diameter, with gas being exported to the United States at Niagara. This, Mr. Green said, would keep the gas in Canadian hands all the way to the East and the larger flow would reduce the price of gas.

EXPORTING GAS

The third proposal seemed to be one of exporting gas from Manitoba to the central states and importing U.S. gas at Niagara to serve Ontario and Quebec.

He said that would mean northern Ontario and the Lakehead would not get western gas for five or seven years "and probably for all time."

Mr. Howe, who represents Port Arthur constituency, said he was "What about looking after Vancouver?"

"I'm here as a Canadian member," Mr. Green replied.

"You're here as a Canadian troublemaker," Mr. Howe shot back.

Mr. Green asked that the expression be withdrawn and Mr. Howe complied.

'Fabricated' Story Told by Youth

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said Thursday an Eastern Townships youth had "fabricated" a story that he was doused with gasoline and set afire by four men attempting to syphon gas from his car.

Hilaire Beauregard, director of Quebec Provincial Police, said the youth, Royce Miner, 20, gave details of the incident to police from his hospital bed in Sweetsburg where he is recovering.

Mr. Beauregard said Miner told how on July 2 he had offered to take some friends swimming but found he had no gas. He decided to syphon some from his sister's car. When he had syphoned a certain amount he flicked his cigarette lighter to see how much was left.

The fumes from the tank caught fire and the tank subsequently exploded setting fire to Miner's clothes.

Mr. Beauregard said the question of action against Miner is being studied.

Coastal Shipping Probe Moves To Maritimes

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's royal commission on coastal shipping heads for the Maritimes next week after receiving a variety of proposals for helping the country's shipping and shipbuilding industries.

After four days of opening sessions here, the commission under Mr. Justice W. F. Spence of the Ontario Supreme Court flies late next week to St. John's, Nfld., where regional hearings are due to start July 25.

In the island province, it will hear representations from the provincial government against the idea of restricting the coastal trade to one point and another—exclusively to Canadian ships.

Newfoundland, completely dependent on water transport for all its exports and imported necessities, takes the view that competition afforded by British vessels in the island-mainland service helps hold down water freight rates and thereby the province's cost of living.

At its Ottawa hearings, the board heard representations directly for and against this stand from different organizations. Some have taken in-between attitudes.

Major advocates of outright restriction of the coastal trade to Canadian ships have been the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association and the three big labor congresses.

Opponents included the two transcontinental railways—though they advocated some curbs on non-Canadian shipping—the Canadian Shipowners' Association representing deep-sea operators and the Canadian Industrial Traffic League that speaks for business concerns' traffic managers.

Canada's largest shipping body—the Dominion Marine Association, representing the $200,000,000 Great Lakes vessel trade—called for specialized restrictions against non-Canadian vessels.

In its brief delivered Thursday, the association asked:

1. Reservation of the coastal trade to Canadian vessels between the Lakehead and the mouth of the St. Lawrence river.

2. A Canada-United States treaty whereby all but Canadian and American vessels would be excluded from the growing traffic between Canadian and U.S. points in the lake-river region.

Initially, the association had told the commission it would support some of its member companies' submissions for exclusion of non-Canadian shipping from the coasting trade on the Atlantic seaboard. But it withdrew this Thursday.

Capt. Scott Misener, president of Colonial Steamships Ltd., an association member, said Canadian vessels will not be able to meet competition from cheaply-built, low wage British and other non-Canadian ships when the St. Lawrence seaway opens the inland waterway to big ocean vessels.

Capt. Misener said he estimates that once the seaway is opened Colonial will have to scrap about 80 per cent of its 28 small ships used to navigate the existing shallow-draught river canals.

He said he has been informed that a foreign country is trying to get the plans for a 20,000-ton ship built by his company last year, with a view to duplicating it abroad and competing for work on the lakes under British registry.

Mr. Justice Spence said he wondered whether fears of low British wages were not just a bogey.

"How long would seamen work in Canadian waters while getting only around 40 per cent of Canadian wages?" he asked. He suggested a British owner would not get away with this for more than a few months.

Capt. Misener said he knew of one British ship that traded on the lakes for the full season of 1952 without crew trouble, though he conceded it has not returned to the trade since then.

I. C. McEwen, traffic manager of Paterson Steamships, said he believes the carriage of iron ore from Labrador to the U.S. interior eventually will fall into European hands "unless we do something to stop it."

Not Held Longer Than Necessary Says Official

TORONTO (CP)—Milton Montag of Toronto, in jail for 38 days in Kitchener while awaiting trial on a breaking and entering charge, was not held prisoner for an unreasonable time, W. B. Common, Ontario director of public prosecutions said Thursday.

Montag, unable to raise $1,000 bail, remained in jail until the charge was dismissed Wednesday.

Mr. Common said he had talked to the Kitchener crown attorney and was satisfied the delay "could not be termed too unreasonable."

An important witness could not be located, he said.

Montag, who said he could not afford legal counsel, was freed when defended by a Kitchener lawyer, A. W. Boos, who appeared in court on another case and talked with Montag during a 10-minute adjournment.

Kitchener police chief John Patrick said Montag's relatives discussed bail with the court. He said he expected them to return with bail but they did not.

On their return they will live in Marmora.

Screen Writer Falls in Love With North

TORONTO (CP)—Hollywood screen writer Lois Loring has fallen in love with the Canadian North—ever though she got stuck in a park, for three days in the Yellowknife country.

Most of her adventures occurred when she accompanied her husband, geologist Charles McLeod of Stratford, Ont., on his field trips.

Now 45, plump and grey-haired, the writer travels in the North for six months of the year with her husband and then returns to Hollywood to write scenarios and plays.

PLANS A NOVEL

Her trips to the North have produced many play plots and she is busy now drafting a novel on the Canadian northland.

Explaining the parka incident she said her husband went on a prospecting trip leaving her alone in a cabin. The zipper of her parka rusted from snow and she alternately sweltered and froze until he came back to cut it off.

She was afraid to cut herself free for fear the fire might go out and she would freeze.

At a wide-eyed 16 she left her native New York for Los Angeles where she got a bit part in a movie with Joan Crawford.

"I never liked acting," she said, "but before I knew what was happening, I was doing several small movie parts and then went on the stage in Chicago."

GOT WANDERING BUG

"Mother wasn't keen on this nonsense and sent a detective out to bring me home once," she recalled, "but I bolted again after a few months—the wandering bug had bitten me."

At 18 she landed a job in the dialogue department of Paramount Studios paying $75 a week. Later it increased to $400 right in the middle of the depression.

She has worked on more than 200 screen plays and written many radio plays and poems. She won the United States national poetry award in 1948.

Writing screen plays is easy, she said. They are actually just a synopsis of a story running from one to 40 pages. Studio scenario writers fill in the scenery, atmosphere, background and the dialogue department writes actors' lines.

Ladies Play "Money" Golf

Sixteen members of the Bay of Quinte golfing distaff side enjoyed a links innovation yesterday.

They played "monkey" golf. This game calls for the drawing of a club from the bag with which you make your shot. Sometimes you put with an iron and so forth.

Anyway the ladies had a lot of fun playing in threesomes. The "monkey" winners were Mrs. F. Carscallen, Mrs. M. Bulgar and Mrs. E. S. Fairman.

An enjoyable luncheon followed the play.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU'D BETTER JUST LET THINGS TAKE THEIR COURSE

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am 20, and have been going with a young man 23. Our parents have known each other since they were children. My boy friend is in service, and before he went back last Christmas he asked me to wait for him and, later, be his wife. But just recently he came home on leave, never once came down to see me, or even telephoned. He went out with other girls. He went back last night, but never said goodbye.

I never went up to his home or called him, either, while he was home, and while my girl friends say I should have done so, and also say I should write to him, I think I should let him be the first one to write.

Do you think I should go back with him or not, and would it be wrong for me to go out with another man? I have never gone out with anyone since he has been in service. If I did go back with him, do you think he would get the idea that he could go out with other girls whenever he liked, and I would always take him back?

A-Z:

Of course you are right to think this young man should write you a first, especially after they way he behaved while home on leave. Why would you have anything more to do with a chap who completely ignored you the entire time he was home and went out with other girls instead?

And what sense does it make to ask if you should "go back" with this fellow when he has given you no chance whatever to do so? Or to ask what kind of ideas he might have about going out with girls even if you did "go back"?

If he wants you back, let him tell you so and give you some reason to believe that he really means it. Unless he does, you'd better ignore him as completely as he has ignored you. And even if he should come after you again and want to make up, it would be a big mistake to discuss the matter of his going out with other girls, or your relationship became close enough so that it was justified. In fact, indeed, if your relationship ever did become close, the matter would never need to be discussed at all, for neither of you would want to go out with anyone else.

Why don't you just let things take their course, and, in the meantime, put your mind on other things and other people and have yourself some fun? That's what any sensible girl would do. As for your going out for other young men now—for heaven's sake, why not? You'd be an absolute ninny if you didn't.

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

QUESTION:

For several years I have been interested in your column. It is the main thing I look for in the paper. Both Mom and I have enjoyed trying out the various recipes we've come across in 1944 and a friends of Mom's has been sending her paper regularly every week she had just had her 83rd birthday when she passed away. There is just my boy 11 years and myself now. I have had a lot of expense. My friend sent me three papers yesterday and in one you were answering someone who wanted to make extra money selling home cooking. I wondered if you would mind giving me the same ideas. I also have some ideas on meal planning and time savers. My boy prefers to come home for lunch. We always liked to hear about your family in the column. I think that is why it is so popular. —E. R.

ANSWER: I hope I can help you. I am mailing you direct some releases which appeared recently on meat stretching and giving economical meat dishes. Also a series of three releases entitled "Striving for the Impossible" which I wrote to help a reader who was trying to make a very low income stretch for nutritious meals. I told the girl who wanted to sell her home baking to have orders for her baking before she made anything up. That is important, that way you do not have leftovers. I will mail you the recipe for six-in-one cookies, and some girls in Brandon are making and selling. The following recipe for a date-nut bread is a good seller too. One girl I know bakes this in cleaned out 10-oz. soup tins. They are sent out I think she charges 18 cents for them.

DATE-NUT BREAD

Two cups boiling water, 4 cups cut-up dates, 4 cups cake flour, sifted before measuring, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup shortening, 1-2 cups brown sugar firmly packed, 2 eggs, 2 teaspoons soda, 2 cups broken nut meats. Pour boiling water over dates. Sift flour into bowl.

To 1 6-oz. can Italian tomato paste add 1 can water, 1 chopped celery, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 teaspoon each oregano and baking soda, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 cup chopped parsley, 1-4 cup grated Parmesan cheese, mushrooms are optional. Simmer covered turning over three times. Cook gently 20 minutes in boiling water. Add cold water to kettle to cool it a little then ladle out ravioli. Serve with TOMATO SAUCE (quick):

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Geen attended the funeral service for the late George Snarr, which took place in the home near Hoard's Station with interment in Wellman's cemetery. Mrs. Geen is a daughter of the deceased. Sympathy to the bereaved family is extended.

Mr. W. H. Elliott and the Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Chapman motored to Napanee, on Tuesday. Mrs. Elliott, who had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Taverner, returned with them. Several from here attended the July 12th celebration at Madoc on Tuesday.

STILL MAKING THEIR OWN

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. SHOWER BEFORE OR AFTER BABY'S ARRIVAL?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman: 1. Is it considered better form to give a Baby Shower before or after the "wee one" arrives? 2. Is it incorrect for a close relative to give the Baby Shower? 3. At a surprise shower... for either a bride-to-be or a mother-to-be... is it customary for the guests all to say "Surprise!" or what should we say when the guest of honor enters the room where the guests are assembled? —E. J.

ANSWER:

1. Please give ravioli paste and the sauce—Mrs. O. S.

RAVIOLI PASTE

One and one-half teaspoons melted shortening 1-2 teaspoon salt, yolk of 1 egg beaten, 1-2 cup lukewarm water about 2 cups sifted bread flour (enough to form a medium dough that does not stick). Melt shortening and add salt, yolk and water. Beat in about 2 cups sifted flour—to form a medium dough. Knead until smooth, cover and let stand 30 minutes. Roll out into oblong 16 by 18 inches. Brush half dough with beaten egg white. Arrange about 1 teaspoon of filling over dough at 1-inch intervals. Cover dough starting at centre and around each section to press out air. Cut into squares with pastry wheel. Pinch edges to make sure of seal. Let stand 1 hour covered turning over three times. Cook gently 20 minutes in boiling water. Add cold water to kettle to cool it a little then ladle out ravioli. Serve with TOMATO SAUCE (quick):

HOW TO ADDRESS A LETTER TO A DIVORCEE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman: What is the correct way to address a letter to a woman who is divorced? Should it be addressed "Jane Smith" or "Mrs. Jane Smith"? Some say to use the "Mrs. before her name, and some say not to. —C. C.

We should always write a title before a woman's name on an envelope. Never should we address a letter to "Jane Smith." If "Jane Smith" is a divorcee, her correct name is Mrs. Clark Smith (the combination of her maiden surname and her ex-husband's surname). If for any reason she wishes to indicate her first name, she may, correctly, use the initials "Mrs. J. Clark Smith." It is not correct for her to use "Mrs. Jane Smith" in her social contacts. . . . but she may consider it convenient to use this form of name if she is in business or in a profession.

If you are positive that the divorcee to whom you are addressing the envelope uses the name "Mrs. Jane Smith" in all her contacts, social as well as business, you will have to use on the envelope the form of name she prefers, "Mrs. Jane Smith," even though it is incorrect.

CORRECT WEAR FOR SEMI-FORMAL DANCE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman: When a dance is to be Semi-Formal what should the man wear and what should the woman wear? If the man were to wear a white dinner jacket, would that be considered too formal? —T. T.

To a semi-formal dance in the summer it would be most appropriate for the man to wear a white dinner jacket, tuxedo trousers, white shirt, black bow tie. The woman would wear a summery dance dress, of today's short length, or a ballerina-length or waltz-length . . . not floor-length.

BEAUTY

WHAT DO YOUR EYES SAY?

In Victorian novels the beautiful heroine always had eyes that were "deep pools of mystery." They had a dreamy, calf-like expression that was supposed to be devastating and filled the hero with romantic sentiments.

These days, men wouldn't be trapped by any such tricks. They admire eyes that are frank, intelligent and bright. They are wise to flirtatious monkeyshines. This is an era of naturalness of manner, good sportsmanship and good fellowship. When a girl is endowed with these qualities she's never left sitting on the sidelines. She has dates galore.

Eyes of any color or shape can be beautiful. It is what one puts into them that creates glamour. They have a language that can be understood by any observing person. The sense of expressive of friendliness and interest in the other fellow. If they wander off into the distance during conversation they are not behaving as well-mannered eyes should behave.

Take good care of them. They are wonderfully delicate mechanisms. They have their own washing and oiling systems, so that, except for bathing them twice a day with first warm water, then with cold—they will get along fairly well. It is abuse that brings trouble.

Every moment you are awake they are working. If they become strained, they require the attention of a specialist who probably will suggest that glasses be worn. Without such aid to faulty vision tissues surrounding the eyes may be seamed with fine lines.

Sunday School Lesson:

Can't Break Moral Law

By ROY L. SMITH

Dr. E. Stanley Jones once said, "No man ever breaks the law of God; he only breaks himself on that law." No one ever breaks the law of gravity. We may develop a force which will enable us to overcome it for a time, but eventually it reasserts itself. In the jungles of Cambodia there are to be seen the ruins of an ancient civilization which the builders said would stand for all time and outlast the sun. Indeed, at the time the places were erected it appeared that they might. But the law of gravity has done, and is doing, its work and the ancient palaces are now only sights for tourists.

MORAL LAWS ARE NATURAL LAWS

We are accustomed to speaking of the laws of nature as though they were impersonal, the result of blind force—rules that have been set up for the government of the physical world quite apart from any moral significance.

The scientists know, however, that our entire universe is governed by one unified body of law. There are no spheres of influence among the laws which separate them from other laws. If the laws of chemistry are exact and inescapable, so also are the laws of mathematics and the moral laws.

It is a basic law of physics, for example, that two solid bodies cannot occupy the same space at the same time. And no intelligent person ever attempts to circumvent or defy that simple proposition. But it is a law of the spirit, equally unalterable, that the sense of guilt and the sense of peace cannot occupy the same consciousness at the same time. And no intelligent person will attempt to circumvent that law either.

WARNING VOICE OF PROPHECY

It has always been true, however, that in the midst of every dangerous situation God has prompted some prophet to speak out, warning the people.

Among the exiles who suddenly found themselves living in refugee camps in Babylon, there appeared a lonely voice—the prophet Ezekiel—who sounded one consistent theme. "Repent and turn from all your transgressions, lest iniquity be your ruin."

In today's world the voice is

DID NOT GET AWAY WITH IT

The pages of history are replete with illustrations of the cases of nations which have tried to defy the moral order of the universe and have destroyed themselves in the process. The little Hebrew kingdom of Judah, misled and misgoverned, watched the terror while the whole superstructure of its government came crashing to earth, the king was taken captive, and thousands of the best citizens were led off to captivity.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for July 17: "Ezekiel and the Earlier Captivity." 2 Kings 24:18-19; 25:27-30; Ezekiel 1:1-3; 2:1-4; 3:11-15; 11:14-20; 18:30-32.

It was no mysterious event without an explanation. It was, instead, an operation of one of the moral laws. The government had debauched the people, impoverished the farmers, exhausted the poor, and corrupted their faith. The end was inevitable. There had been periods when life was gay and the government was lavish, but in the end their sins caught up with them. The law had never been broken; it was only slow in getting into operation. Eventually the mills of the gods ground very fine and the agony of the exile was the result.

Fetes Grade 8
With Banquet

FOXBORO — On Tuesday evening the pupils of Grade 8 were given a banquet in the school auditorium by the Foxboro Home and School Association. The guests included the seven pupils: Donna Cooper, Cecile Gagne, Joan Harry, Marie Hollinger, Don Priest, Laura Purves and John Skinner with their parents, their teachers, Mrs. Hayton and Mrs. Chapman, the president of the Women's Institute, Mrs. Cecil Hubble; Mrs. Bill Rombough, representing the Home and School Association, and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Robson.

Mr. Bernard Hollinger proposed a toast to the Grade 8 class and Cecile Gagne responded on behalf of the class. Marie Hollinger proposed a toast to Mrs. Hayton and Don Priest proposed a toast to the Home and School Association to which Mrs. Rombough responded.

AWARDS PRESENTED

Mrs. Hubble asked Mrs. Robson, district past president of the East Hastings Women's Institute, to present the scholarship which is an annual award of $10 from the Foxboro Women's Institute, to Marie Hollinger.

On behalf of the Home and School Association Mrs. Rombough presented each of the other pupils with a silver dollar.

Mr. Roscoe Robson, as guest speaker, gave the class some timely advice on the use of their time in secondary school, saying that wasted time means not only a waste of their own time but a waste of the taxpayers' money and gave some amusing reminiscences of his early school days.

Laura Purves read an address of appreciation to Mrs. Hayton and Cecile Gagne, and on behalf of the class presented her with a beautiful towel set. In thanking the class Mrs. Hayton told them how much she had enjoyed teaching them, but said she was glad to see them advancing as she knew no one would want to remain another year.

Members of the Home and School catered for the banquet and set the beautifully arranged tables while the Grade 7 pupils served.

PRESENTATION MADE

On the last day of school following assembly in the auditorium Mrs. Chapman was called to the platform where Jean Gough read an address expressing appreciation for all she had meant to the school and regret that she was leaving. Cecile Gagne, Margaret Waller and Larry Scott, representing the three classrooms, presented her with a trillight floor lamp and a wrought iron magazine rack. Mrs. Chapman thanked them and expressed regret at leaving after five happy years during which she had taught all of the pupils except those of the upper grades who had moved to Foxboro recently.

Mrs. Chapman will be teaching next year in the primary room at Avondale. All wished her happiness in her new school, and hoped to see her often in Foxboro.

Carpet of Shrubs Proposed To Cut Down Toll

TORONTO (CP)—A new wrinkle in highway-fatality prevention was unveiled Wednesday—a carpet of shrubs.

The American Association of Nurserymen said enough shrubs, ribboned in millions along the continent's highways, could cushion ditch-side cars could topple in unharmed.

"There's nothing like a live bush for a soft landing," said Valérie C. Curtis, chairman of the association's highway planting committee, at its convention Wednesday.

Mr. Curtis says a thick belt of shrubs along highways and between highway lanes could save lives by:

1. Cutting down headlight glare;
2. Providing a cushion for cars forced off the road;
3. Shielding dangerous winds and gusts from light autos;
4. Preventing washouts and snow-drifts; and
5. Brightening the monotony of the super-highway.

Tests have proved the claims indisputable, Mr. Curtis says. During experiments in New Hampshire, cars travelling at 55 miles an hour were deliberately crashed into bushes. He said they were undamaged.

Smuggling Ring For Stolen Goods Said Operating

TORONTO (CP)—Police said yesterday they believe a smuggling ring is operating between Montreal and Toronto, specializing in clothing and materials stolen from foreign ships before they clear customs in Montreal.

Conrad Morisset, 35, of Montreal, has been charged here with theft and receiving. Police described him as a pedlar without a licence. They said 31 suit lengths, six sport jackets and six topcoats all stamped "made in Germany" were found in the basement of a Toronto house.

Morisset was said to have come to Toronto from Montreal two days ago. The clothing was never cleared through customs in either city.

Claims McCann Threatened To Beat Reporter

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram's time reporter alleged yesterday that Revenue Minister McCann threatened to beat him because of a story in the news magazine.

He quotes Dr. McCann as saying he called the Time report "dirty rotten and contemptible" but denying he threatened the reporter.

Serrell Hillman, 36, chief of Time's two-man Ottawa staff, said only the intervention of Dr. McCann's wife prevented the minister from "taking a poke at me."

The paper quotes Hillman as saying the incident occurred at a July 4 cocktail party at the home of United States Ambassador Douglas Stuart.

"He (Dr. McCann) threatened to knock my block off," the paper quotes Hillman as saying.

ANGERED BY ARTICLE
The Telegram account continues: "Hillman said Dr. McCann, apparently enraged by an article carried in the June 30 edition of Time, threatened to beat him, threatened to investigate his income-tax papers, to see to it that he didn't hold his job long, and to prevent his re-entry into Canada."

"In addition he advised him that he was in a position to make it difficult for Time to continue its Canadian operations."

The June 30 article dealt with the recent intervention between Dr. McCann and James S. Dempsey, independent Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Henfrew, over political campaign donations.

Capital Invested Will Rise To $5,954,000,000 in 1955

OTTAWA (CP)—The trade department, in its mid-year review, has forecast that capital investment in the Canadian economy will rise to a record $5,954,000,000 in 1955.

If fulfilled, this would be an increase of $146,000,000 from the original 1955 forecast of $5,808,000,000 last January and a rise of $113,000,000 from the previous high of $5,841,000,000 in 1953. Capital investment last year dropped to $5,507,000,000.

The capital investment program is a key economic indicator, showing what business men, consumers and governments intend to invest in providing new housing, buildings, bridges, plants machinery, schools, hospitals and other industrial and social projects.

The department's revised forecast is based on a survey of all governments and thousands of business men. It said the major rise from its previous estimate has occurred in manufacturing industries, reflecting a strong export market for Canadian products.

"Of the major manufacturing industries that cater to the export market, the paper products group plans to increase its capital outlays by 73 per cent and the non-ferrous metals industry by 53 per cent," the department said.

"Firms in the mining sector have also expanded their investment plans and now anticipate an expenditure 33 per cent greater than in 1954."

Housing also is estimated to rise over the previous forecast.

In fact, the only major decline is in the utilities sector because pipeline and seaway construction now is "not expected to proceed as rapidly as anticipated earlier."

Russia's Fifth Five-Year Plan 8 Months Ahead of Schedule

MOSCOW (AP)—The central committee of the Soviet Communist party told the Russian people yesterday they have reached the goals of Russia's fifth five-year plan eight months ahead of schedule.

The plan, covering the 1951-55 period, was fulfilled last May 1, the committee said in a statement published in all Moscow newspapers. As outlined before the last all-Soviet party congress in 1952, the plan called for an immense buildup of Soviet economic strength.

The committee statement accompanied a report by Premier Nikolai Bulganin that the Soviet Union had made great progress in heavy industry development.

The committee also announced that the 20th congress of the Soviet Communist party would meet Feb. 14, 1956, to hear the sixth five-year plan outlined.

Emphasis in the fifth five-year plan was on boosting the output of steel, coal and petroleum in line with the heavy industry buildup goals called for an increase in steel output of 62 per cent, 43 per cent for coal and 85 per cent for petroleum.

The statement said production of consumer goods, machine tools and agricultural equipment particularly had increased. It added, however, that rapid introduction of new techniques was being hampered by conceit and complacency among workers and "weak leadership of ministers."

Eight of the nine points in the report, which fill the first two pages of the main Soviet newspapers, consist of sharp criticism of many aspects of Soviet industry.

The report said the level of mechanization and automation in industry, transportation and building was not yet high enough. The main reason was inefficient direction from ministers, it said.

Ministers and other industrial leaders are told to end "smugness and self-satisfaction."

Following up recent criticism of people who hold a "deprecating attitude" toward foreign technical achievements, the central committee urges closer contact and more exchange of information with foreign countries.

Relax Controls On Exports To Red Countries

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has relaxed its export controls on a new batch of goods, allowing them to be shipped to any non-Communist country including Hong Kong without an export permit.

New items included in a list of products for which Canadian business men will no longer require trade department export permits on shipments to non-Communist points range from naval stores to various chemical compounds.

The new list was published yesterday in the official Canada Gazette. Included are these new items:

chemical specialty compounds, such as platinum plating solutions; motion picture cameras and projectors; hard rubber goods; naval stores; optical goods; pumps; photographic goods; and goods made of metal wares; iron and steel spikes, rivets and other fasteners.

Three Injured

OAKVILLE (CP)—Three Leamington residents were taken to hospital yesterday after their car crashed into the rear of a transport truck on Highway 8 near here.

Treated for multiple cuts were Fred Tekowich, 33, his wife Antonia, 29, and daughter, Margaret, 6.

Police said the transport, driven by Robert Marshall, 47, of Kitchener, was stopped near a bridge to allow oncoming traffic to cross. They said Tekowich told them he did not see him.

PICTON REGATTA

The roar of mighty 266 engines, the lesser staccatos of the powerful 225's, and the purring rattle of sleek 135's will echo and re-echo on Pictou's beautiful nautical raceway tomorrow afternoon.

Pictou's famous Gold Cup, elusive prize of famous speedboat drivers of the continent, is the award for which these wave-splitting hellions of the foamways will strive.

The beautiful course, down bay from the county town which ribbons its way between rising tree-greened slopes, should provide a picturesque panorama of nautical beauty. It is hoped that as in Pictou's glorious Gold Cup past, between 15,000 and 20,000 spectators will view the events.

Six classes will compete in the regatta. These include the Canadian One-Design; 48 cubic inch; 135, 135, 225 and 225. Well-known drivers, fresh from racing campaigns at Gananoque, Cornwall and other regatta centres will be in the running. Many of them are world-famous pilots. The first heat is scheduled to start at 1.30 with the final of the 266 class set for 4.15. All classes will race two heats.

The sheltered raceway, rated by drivers and American Power Boat Association officials as one of the best on the North American continent, is considered ideal for the shattering of world records. It has been the scene of many spine-tingling events and not a few world marks have been established on its gently-rippling surface.

Water and weather conditions permitting it is expected that some of the crack speedsters will exceed 100 miles per hour in non-competitive trials, while 80 mph is easily attained on the straightaway by the roaring craft.

The regatta is the 14th event of its kind in the Prince Edward Yacht Club's racing archives. Last year, due to circumstances, it was not run off. This year Commodore Jack Cole, regatta chairman Lawson (Hap) Hutchings and his committee have left no stone unturned to restore Pictou's former speedboat-racing glory.

It is likely a large number of speedboat enthusiasts from this city will take in the nautical spectacle. It is not a few years since Belleville staged such an event. This took place off Massasauga under the auspices of the Rotary Club.

Outstanding feature of this regatta was the sinking of the late "Pops" Cooper's "Pops III." The veteran, ageless driver missed a marker buoy on the back stretch, turned, rounded the buoy and was straightening away when suddenly "Pops III" nosedived and plunged thirty feet to the bottom of the bay. The silver-hatched driver was pulled from the water unharmed.

If memory is correct the "Pops III" was powered with a Rolls Royce engine worth in the neighborhood of some $8,000.

"Pops" stood in the boat and shook off water like a suddenly-dunked spaniel. He shrugged off suggestions that the sunken boat be salvaged. "Go on with your regatta," he smiled. "Don't let a little thing like this bother you."

"How about the engine?" somebody asked.

"Let it stay there," grinned the irrepressible Pops. "I've got eight more at home like it."

However a day or so later Lloyd Hicks and other members of the Rotary regatta committee made arrangements to have "Pops III" surfaced. Later an appreciative "Pops" Cooper sent the Rotary Club a substantial cheque for its crippled Children's Fund.

The next year "Pops" Cooper died from injuries received when his 135 speedster turned turtle while racing in the Pictou Regatta.

IT WORKED!

One of the best stories about Ty Cobb happened away back in 1904. At that time a young sports writer on the Atlanta Journal began receiving an endless stream of wires from an anonymous correspondent in Anniston, Alabama. They praised to the skies the baseball ability of a local player named Ty Cobb. It was Cobb this—Cobb that. Always it was Cobb and his brilliant feats.

The wires went into the waste paper basket, but the writer was so persistent that the reporter decided to see for himself. He hopped a train for Anniston and what he saw convinced him that Cobb was a wonder.

He broke the story and Cobb's fame spread through Dixie. Later in 1905 he moved up to Detroit and went on to establish himself as one of the mightiest players of all time.

The youthful sports writer always looked back with pride on his discovery of Cobb. He was the greatest writer of them all—the late Grantland Rice. As for Cobb he remembers those brief items sent to the young writer. He should—the anonymous correspondent who sent them in was Cobb himself.

Indians Scalp Leaders 5-4; Chisox Win Two Boston Splits; Campanella Back in Lineup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Larry Jackson, one of those "Who he?" guys the St. Louis Cardinals unveiled in the first game of the exhibition season last spring, is still a mystery man for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Only Jackson has stuck all the way with the Cards and he's picked the Dodgers, of all people, to prove he belongs. The 24-year-old right-hander had them playing dead again Thursday night, winning 6-1 after shutting out the National League leaders for 8 1/3 innings.

It was Jackie Robinson's double and Carl Furillo's single that spoiled a second shutout for Jackson against the Brooks. He and Milwaukee's Bob Buhl are the only two pitchers to blank the Dodgers this season.

The defeat, Brooklyn's third straight and 11th in the last 20 games, pared the Dodgers' lead over Milwaukee to 10 1/2 games. The second-place Braves brushed off Philadelphia 7-1. New York Giants edged up on the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and Cincinnati walloped Pittsburgh 19-1.

TRIBE BEATS YANKS

In the American, Cleveland pulled to within four games of New York by beating the Yanks 5-4 and third-place Chicago moved to within a half-game of the Indians by sweeping a two-nighter from Washington 13-4 and 5-2. Boston split with Detroit, losing 6-0, then winning 7-3. Baltimore swept its evening-night twinnish at Kansas City, 10-7 and 6-4.

Stanley Musial, the fellow who won the all-star game, hit his 20th homer and Wally Moon, struck his 12th as the Cards pounded four Brook pitchers for 11 hits in support of Jackson's fifth victory. The Brooks got just two hits off the youngster—both by Roy Campanella, back for the first time since June because of a knee injury—until the ninth.

Al Rosen and Larry Doby each hit homers for the Indians, with Rosen's blow touching off a two-run rally that won it in the eighth. Al Smith singled in the big run after Rosen's clutch hit tied it at 4-4. Jim Konstanty, the Yanks' ace fireman, suffered his first defeat.

STAY IN SCRAP

The White Sox stayed in the scrap by taking their 10th and 11th decision from the Senators in 12 games. A seven-run fourth inning which included triples by Jim Busby and Greider Munn, packed away the opener. And Dick Donovan won his 11th, his sixth straight, in the nightcap as the Sox slugged rookie Ted Abernathy to break a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning. Jim Rivera doubled, Walt Dropo singled and Sherm Lollar homered in the rally.

Successive seventh-inning home runs by Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen eased the Red Sox home in the second game at Detroit after rookie Frank Lary had six-hit Boston in the opener, retiring Williams four straight times. The Tigers gave Lary five runs in the first inning on doubles by Harvey Kuenn, Ray Boone and Jim Delving.

Milwaukee stayed on Brooklyn's trail as Buhl spaced five hits while fanning 12 Phils. Bobby Thomson and Hank Aaron homered and Andy Paikoff contributed a two-run single. Andy Seminick's homer in the ninth spoiled the shutout.

STOLEN BASES

The Giants drew to within a game of the third place Cubs, setting up their final two runs with four stolen bases. Don Mueller homered for the first New York run off loser Bob Rush, who had allowed just one run in three previous decisions over the Giants this season. Jim King's two-run homer in the sixth was winner Ruben Gomez' only.

Everybody got in the Cincinnati hitting act to pound the Pirates. Johnny Temple had 5-for-7, including a bases-loaded triple, and Wally Post hit two homers. Jackie Collins, meanwhile, six-hit the Bucs for No. 8.

SOME SHAKEUP!

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Podding Paul Richards Thursday spun the 33rd man through his revolving door in the American League cellar. He has bought, sold, traded, optioned or released that many players since Baltimore Orioles started training last spring.

No. 63 is veteran outfielder Hoot Evers, sent to Cleveland to hot in a waiver deal that brought relief pitcher Bill Wight to the Orioles from the Indians.

Only four men who played for Baltimore last year, the first season after transfer of St. Louis franchise to Maryland, are still with the club.

Limmer Belts Brace of Homers In Leafs' Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lou Limmer has discovered that the best weapon for clubbing the opposition is the bat rather than the fist. The big first-sacker from the Bronx belted two homers to take the International League lead Thursday night as the Maple Leafs dethroned Columbus 5-3.

A week ago tonight Limmer got involved in a fracas against the same Columbus outfit. He was floored three times and had to be removed to hospital with a split lip. Thursday night, however, his 15th homer with a man on in the fourth gave the Leafs a 3-2 lead and his 16th two innings later provided insurance for righty Eddie Blake to wrap up his 14th victory against six defeats.

Limmer, who spent part of the last two seasons with the Athletics of the American League, socked 23 circuit clouts with the old Itawana team in 1952, but he should surpass that total this season.

AHEAD BY TWO

Lou's closest competitors in the home run derby are Russ Sullivan of Columbus and Alie Clark of Rochester, both with 14.

Sullivan also clouted two homers Thursday night, the blows accounting for all the Jets runs. Clark's 14th four master with a mate aboard led Rochester to a 4-2 nightcap triumph at Syracuse against the Chiefs had annexed the opener 8-3.

Montreal edged Havana 3-1 and Buffalo split with Richmond, winning the first game 11-6 but dropping the second 6-4.

Montreal moved back into second place after a one day absence with the Detroit Sugar Kings dropping back a notch in the see-saw battle for the runner-up spot. Glenn Cox went all the way for the winners, scattering six hits, to gain his eighth victory in 12 decisions.

The first game at Richmond was never in doubt after the Bisons' seven-run first inning rally, although Richmond did muster a pair of three-run rallies in the fourth and sixth. Richmond finally won the nightcap in the last of the ninth on Ed Kaske's bases-loaded hit, Buffalo led 4-1 in the second only to have the Virginians tie it with three in the third and go ahead 4-1.

Sign Gilchrist, Break Rules

SARNIA (CP)—Bob Friedlund, coach of the Sarnia Imperials of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, said Thursday any ORFU club which signs Chester (Cookie) Gilchrist this year will be breaking Canadian Rugby Union rules.

Friedlund said Gilchrist has already signed a contract with the Imperials and any attempt by ORFU Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen to sign him will be illegal. Dutchies' coach Harvey Johnson announced Wednesday the 215-pound Pennsylvania fullback, who played for Imperials last year, will sign a contract with Kitchener as soon as he gets across the border.

Senior 'B' Hockey Club Assured; Don McNevin Takes Over Sponsorship

Arena Commission Accepts Business Man's Offer At Public Do-or-Die Meeting

By GEORGE H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Senior "B" hockey shook off the shackles of city operation and went back to its rightful place, private sponsorship here last night.

Don McNevin, well known city sportsman and business man, took up his old love and will sponsor the club this season. Three years ago Mr. McNevin sponsored the club and made a success of it. McNevin, at a well-attended, enthusiastic public meeting called by Arena Commission chairman Alderman Claude D. Tice, listened patiently to discussion, argument, suggestions and debate, then fired his proposition at the commission practically out of a blue sky.

"I may consider," he said, "taking over the club on a 70-30 per cent basis plus the canteen concessions. I will give the city ten per cent of the canteen profits."

The suggestion was greeted with thunderous applause from the 150 present. Later Mr. McNevin said he would delete the word "may."

Members of the arena commission, all of whom were present with the exception of Mayor Both, unanimously accepted McNevin's proposition. Their decision was final. McNevin's proposition does not have to go to council as a whole for ratification.

A cross-section of hockey fandom was represented. Some of the city council were present. The meeting was chaired by Alderman Tice, who in his opening remarks outlined the purpose of the assembly.

He went over facts and figures explaining what the arena had made and lost over the period of city ownership.

Some suggestions to keep senior hockey alive in the city were aired. One wanted 25 men with $100 each to lay the financial groundwork of a club.

The best suggestion came from Dick Beare, former secretary of the defunct Belleville Junior Hockey Association. Mr. Beare moved that the city council finance the hockey club along the same lines as the Parks Board and grant from a half-million to a mill for operating purposes. Later this motion was seconded by ex-Alderman Charles Hyde.

Alderman Ralph Graham suggested the formation of a booster club to be organized and operated by an experienced person.

The meeting unanimously supported the suggestion of one present that fandom as a whole give support to Mr. McNevin than it has done to the city.

Alderman Graham urged that the services of a paid promoter be obtained. He said that such a person could sell hockey to the public through the media of season tickets and other angles. Hockey, he maintained, had not been sold to the public in previous years.

Then came Mr. McNevin's "bombshell."

And this reporter is safe in saying that senior "B" hockey is in good, experienced hands. Mr. McNevin is no stranger to its quirks and quailms. He operated the club three years ago at a handsome profit. He is well-liked by players and fans alike. He is a good business man and one of the best sportsmen in the city.

And we feel sure that fandom will align itself solidly behind this popular business man who alone had the guts to reach out and save senior hockey from an ignominious death.

More power to him.

DON MCNEVIN

Every golfer knows that the stance varies slightly with each club. On irons the rule is that the more lofted the club (a) the nearer you stand to the ball; (b) the closer you keep your feet together; (c) the more open your stance becomes and (d) the further back you play the ball.

Thus on the long irons (Nos. 1, 2 and 3) the feet are fairly wide apart the stance square, and the ball slightly behind the position off your left heel where you play it for wood shots.

On the medium irons (Nos. 4, 5, and 6) you have your feet a little closer together with either a square or slightly open stance. You also stand a little closer to the ball and play it more in the middle of your stance.

On the short irons (Nos. 7, 8, and 9) your feet are much closer together and the stance more open than in the left foot drawn back from the line of play. You stand even closer to the ball and play it more on your right heel.

Orfuns Extend League Lead; Whip Cats 5-1

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Bill Spafford's Belleville Orfuns stretched their league lead over the idle Point Anne club last night by handing Temple's Bobcats a 5-1 defeat in a postponed Belleville and District softball league fixture at the CNR Park.

The Orfuns have one game left in the schedule and boast a 12-3 record, while the Cementmen hold down second with nine wins and three setbacks.

Bobby Hunter hurled excellent ball for the Orfuns, stopping the Cats on four hits, for his third win. He claimed five on strikes while issuing free passes to three and three hitless ball for seven of the nine innings pitched.

The Bobcats sent Vic Allan, a newcomer to the league from the Trenton Air Station, to the hill on their behalf. Allan made a good impression in his initial start, holding the Orfuns to eight hits, whiffing four and passing six.

Both clubs played good ball afiel, the losers erring twice while Hunter's mates gave him perfect support.

Neither team had a hit going into the third frame but the Cats rallied for their lone marker. Empty led off with a walk and with one out, Carl Woods rapped a single to centre, Empty taking third. Ken Duesbury picked up an RBI with a solid base hit to right centre and the runners advanced on a passed ball before Creegan and Lockyer went down.

Back-to-back singles by Allan, Creegan and Dave Lockyer were the only other hits allowed by Hunter, these coming in the sixth frame.

An error paved the way for the tying run in the fourth. Governor reaching first, taking second on a passed ball and riding home on Doug Soule's single. The winners took the lead in the sixth. Soule popping a double over first advancing on an infield out and crossing the plate on Jack Wardhaugh's single to left.

Hull opened the seventh with a beautiful punt single and when Allan was undecided where to throw Batchelor's grounder, he threw, picked up an infield hit, Jones walked to fill the sacks. Hull scoring on a passed ball and Batchelor making it 4-1 on Bromley's infield out. A hit batter and singles by Wardhaugh and Hull completed the scoring.

Doug Soule met Allan's slants for a double and single to spearhead the Orfun attack while Doug Hull and Wardhaugh each had a brace of singles. Vern Goyer and John Batchelor claimed a single each.

Two games are on tap tonight with the Orfuns playing host to Frankford while Madoc visits Pt. Anne.

The line-ups:

Orfuns—Woods, Duesbury, Creegan, Lockyer, Temple, Adams, Bone Day, Dracup, Hunter, Empty, Allan.

Bobcats—Woods, Duesbury, Creegan, Lockyer, Temple, Adams, Bone Day, Dracup, Hunter, Empty, Allan.

Wirkowski, Argonaut Castoff Wants Ticats Quarter Spot

HAMILTON (CP) — The fellow who wants most to make the Hamilton Ticats football team is a castoff. Coach Carl Voyles thinks he's the best passer in the Big Four.

The player is Nobby Wirkowski, a 28-year-old quarterback who for four years stood behind a weak line, got smeared and endured the hoots and howls of fans who thought he was a bum.

Wirkowski, cut loose from Toronto Argonauts last winter, is one of 61 players in pre-season training with Ticats. He wants the Hamilton quarterbacking job more than anything else.

"You can be sure I'll do everything I can to make the team," Nobby said in an interview. "I think they will have a fine club this year."

HOLDS NO GRUDGE

Wirkowski holds no apparent grudge against Argos, although they chopped him from the squad along with all the other imports in a sweeping rebuilding manoeuvre. He won't even say that one of his greatest kicks would be to return to Varsity Stadium as a Tiger-Cat and kick the jabbers out of Argonauts.

To such questions, Nobby merely replies:

"I'd like to beat every team in the league. However, beating Argos would be something a little extra."

Although Voyles rates Nobby as "the best passer in the league," he has signed at least two United States quarterbacks to give Wirkowski a run.

OTHER CANDIDATES

Voyles has high-class pivot candidates in Don Bailey, former star with Penn State College, and Don Watson from Austin College. There may be others before Voyles has to declare his 10 imports after the third game of the schedule, which starts Sept. 3.

The Ticats may have a sleeper in the backfield. One of their 28 imports is James (Blackie) Kincaid, former University of South Carolina halfback. Voyles hasn't said much about Kincaid but he has a good reputation.

Kincaid was signed by San Francisco 49ers in 1954 and later sold to Washington Redskins. During the 1953 season with the University of South Carolina, Kincaid, a five-foot-eleven, 190-pounder, gained 318 yards in the 63 times he carried the ball and caught nine passes for a total of 165 yards. He returned four punts for 87 yards.

Toronto Pros Favored In Millar Golf

TORONTO (CP)—Two Toronto district professionals stood out as favorites today as golfers entered the second day of play in the $2,500 Millar Trophy match play tournament at suburban Islington golf.

Bill Thompson, Toronto Downsview, and defending champion Al Balding of Credit Valley, set the pace in the qualifying medal-play round and the first match-play round Thursday as the original starting field of 63 was reduced to 16.

In the earlier qualifying round, Thompson led 32 qualifiers, who scored 15 or better, with a seven-under-par 65. Eighteen golfers bettered par on the 6,495-yard sun-scorched course. Balding has a 69.

FEATURE MATCH

Balding met veteran Bob Gray of Toronto Scarborough, four-time winner of the event, in the day's feature match. And it was a dandy before Balding won 2 and 1.

Balding won six of the first eight holes but steady picking by Gray reduced it to one up on the 16th as he won five holes on the back nine. The 27-year-old Balding took the 17th for his triumph.

Thompson's pace-setting qualifying round was featured by six birdsies and an eagle on the par-five second hole where he sank a 35-foot chip shot from a bunker off the green.

Several other comparative youngsters took the measure of their elders in the match-play round.

Clair Chinery, Hamilton Chedoke, pushed Willie Lamb to the 20th hole where Lamb's teeceEETOO.

Fergus Whips Hamilton 13-5

HAMILTON (CP) — Fergus Thistles defeated Hamilton Lincolns 13-5 Thursday night in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game. Thistles tallied eight goals in the first period, added one in the second and scored four times in the third without a reply from Hamilton.

D'Amico scored three for Fergus and Hill managed a pair as did Gerry Fitzgerald and Ron London. Peterson scored twice for Hamilton.

Toronto Miss Leads Eastern Lady Golfers

KINGSTON (CP)—Shirley Woodley of Toronto Ladies shot a nine-over-par 81 Thursday over the tough Cataraqui golf course to lead a field of 16 low gross qualifiers into the first round of the eastern provinces medal-play tournament.

Fifty-nine golfers from Ontario, Quebec and New York state took part in Thursday's seventh annual international match-play field day, run concurrently with the eastern provinces tournament. The first round scores in the eastern provinces play serves as the international tournament's qualifying round.

The 16 qualifiers will play two rounds Friday and two Saturday over the par-72 course to determine the champion.

Anne Sharp of Lookout Point is defending eastern provinces champion.

'Campy' Back Snider Out

BROOKLYN (AP) — Roy Campanella was behind the plate for Brooklyn for the first time since June 28 Thursday night, but the Dodgers added another name to their hospital list when center-fielder Duke Snider was hit by a virus and 102 fever.

Sandy Amoros replaced Snider in the lineup as the National League leaders opened a home stand against St. Louis Cardinals.

Campanella, wearing a protective pad inside his shin guard, had been out with a knee injury caused by a foul tip at St. Louis June 19.

Carl Erskine, early season pitching ace of the Dodgers who now has a 2-4 record, also was placed out of action. Bothered for some time by a sore elbow, Erskine was ordered to take a rest. The length of the rest is indefinite.

SEE FAST RACE

VERNON, N.Y. (AP) — Adios Harry, the fastest pacer in history, and 11 others met tonight in the $26,000 American Pacing Derby at Vernon Downs.

The field for the race, contested in two one-mile dashes, is one of the fastest ever assembled and includes Adios Boy, who defeated Bruton and others in the $35,000 National Pacing Derby at Roosevelt raceway June 30.

Stay-Out Threat Based On Wrong Meaning

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader says the International Boxing Club's threat to stay out of Pennsylvania was based on an "inaccurate" interpretation of the proposed state boxing code.

The governor sent an explanatory telegram to Truman Gibson, IBC secretary, Thursday night after the IBC would not schedule any further fights in Pennsylvania.

Such a move would all but kill the sport in the state.

Leader had told a news conference earlier that "if we can't clean up boxing" in Pennsylvania "we'd better be rid of it."

He would extend his 90-day ban on boxing indefinitely, if needed.

In his telegram to Gibson he said Pennsylvania "welcomes boxing within its borders" and the new boxing code would furnish "enlightened, sympathetic and productive supervision and regulation" of the sport.

Gibson's chief criticism apparently was based on a provision in the new code which permits summary suspension of a licence without first giving a hearing. But a hearing is provided in the code following the suspension.

Argo Import Out for Season

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

An American looking forward to his first season in Canadian football has been forced to the sidelines for 1955. Another, a seasoned campaigner in the Canadian game, may have ended his big-league days.

Both have the miseries.

Bill Kreitemeyer, one of the three import candidates for the fullback position with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four, was knocked out of the game when he suffered a neck injury in practice Wednesday night. The injury was similar to a dislocated neck.

At Hamilton, the Tiger-Cats put 28-year-old Vince Mazza on the waiver list. Vince, a Big Four all-star for three of the five years he was with Ticats, has back trouble.

The Kreitemeyer injury leaves Argonauts with two fullbacks—Dick Shatto from the University of Kentucky and Chuck Holmes from Los Angeles City College. Shatto, along with end Al Pfeifer, are the only imports back from last year's Argos.

Minor Baseball

Scoring three runs in the last two innings, Stewart Warner handed Elliott's their second defeat in two nights, 6-3, in a midweek league game at the Alameda field last night.

O'Neill started for the winners but wildness forced him to give way to Jack Elliott in the first. Foster also hurried for 3 1/3 frames but Elliott came back in and took the win, fanning two and throwing beautiful relief ball. Dave Coe did the receiving. Moe Huddleston worked the route for Elliott's, allowing five hits, whiffing one and walking six.

Jack Elliott crashed his second homer of the year in the fifth frame for Stewart Warner, their only extra-base hit. He added a single while one each went to O'Neill, Bly and Alexander. Billy Yospanko had the only hit for Elliott's, a triple. Each team committed three miscues.

Thus on the long irons (Nos. 1, 2 and 3) the feet are fairly wide apart the stance square, and the ball slightly behind the position off your left heel where you play it for wood shots.

On the medium irons (Nos. 4, 5, and 6) you have your feet a little closer together with either a square or slightly open stance. You also stand a little closer to the ball and play it more in the middle of your stance.

On the short irons (Nos. 7, 8, and 9) your feet are much closer together and the stance more open than in the left foot drawn back from the line of play. You stand even closer to the ball and play it more on your right heel.

Our Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for

SATURDAY, JULY 16, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Duties and obligations first; then outside interests or personal matters. To do the right thing at the right time is most important. Otherwise you may find situations a bit topsy-turvy.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — You will undoubtedly have to go in search of opportunity. Delve for the hidden advantages now. Don't sit back and wait for "better day" and "better chances."

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Go after new contracts, deals, fresh opportunities. They are there for the taking. Don't waste time on needless talk and don't fuss over non-essentials.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Business, career, professional and domestic affairs need more push, a little overtime help. Personal things could wait if need be. Make the wise moves now... not later.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — An all-around good day for those of you who pitch in and forget personal desires. Never mind who the "other fellow" has. Do big things yourself. But be careful not to overestimate or take on more than you can handle.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Do not fuss or worry now. A little systematic activity plus, of course, Virgo's good common sense and your day is won. Don't make snap decisions and do conserve your energy for another day.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Financial and business interests, professional activities can generally fare better now. Try to foster cordial relations among others and your rewards will be great.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — A day to check expenses, your budget. Spend wisely. Listen as well as give your own opinion.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — A fine period for sound investments, well planned changes, needed building, making plans for the future.

December 23 to January 31 (Capricorn) — Your overall attitude and intentions are important. Also, the will power that backs up good intentions is a vital factor in day's success. Be steady, cheerful.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Consistency and intelligence will gain you much today. Stars favor a steady course and a preview of work before acting.

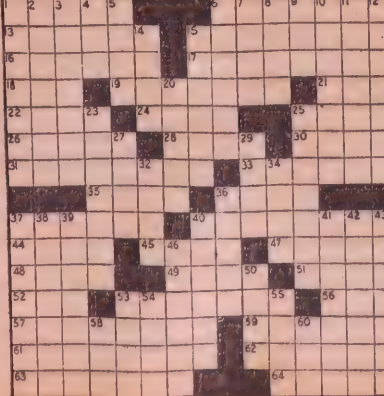

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — An excellent outlook for sound business and financial undertakings. Avoid those who would try to sway your better judgment. Romance, marriage, social and family affairs favored.

You Born Today are endowed with loyalty, a lively imagination and love of fun. You have the will power to resist things one should avoid and will speak out in defense of those in need, of loved ones; are sympathetic. You often have a hankering to travel, to try new ways, and can do so on a moment's notice. You also love home life and a family; can easily make friends; are entertaining company. Likely faults: Changeability, over-sensitiveness, and argumentativeness. You are artistic and have great talent for gardening, salesmanship.

Birthdate: of Sir Joshua Reynolds, noted painter. (Copyright, 1955, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

FERRY FIREFIGHTERS TO QUELL FOREST BLAZE

A wartime landing barge, used by a boys' camp on Lake Simcoe, Ont., is pressed into service to ferry firefighters to Georgian Island, where a raging forest fire threatened to destroy timber and homes of the Ojibway reservation. About 300 persons were ferried to the island and helped to quell the 1,200-acre blaze. (Central Press Canadian).

MR. TWEEEDY by Ned Riddle

"HONNK! Hey, Evelyn, HEY!"

voys in Saigon about the attitude of South Viet Nam to the country wide elections due next year.
South Viet Nam Premier Ngo
Dinh Diem has said he is not ready to begin the preparatory talks with the Communist north which under the armistice agreement are due to start by next Wednesday.

The ministers were also discussing the renewed outbreak of fighting between Laos government forces and the Communist Pao at Lao movement. It is thought here that Russia may argue in Geneva that this fighting, together with South Viet Nam's attitude to elections, necessitates a meeting of the nations which negotiated the Indochina settlement last year.

This would be a way of getting Communist China to the conference table again with the Western powers.

The Russians have not tipped their hand except for a statement by this week's news agency Tass from east delegation Thursday.
Subjects the West intends to bring up at Geneva were not disclosed but they were almost certain to include German reunification, European security, disarmament and French Premier Faure's new disarmament development plan to help backward areas.

The documents approved today will be submitted to the Western chiefs of government in Geneva
Saturday morning. Eisenhower,
Faure and Prime Minister Eden will meet there with their foreign ministers as a curtain raiser to the sessions with the Kremlin's bosses Monday.

Draft measures to increase trade and lift the "iron curtain" between the two world blocs also were under study.

The three statesmen, who are due to fly to Geneva Saturday to assist their chiefs at the summit meeting will explain their proposed strategy to their 12 foreign minister colleagues of the Atlantic alliance including Canada's L. B. Pearson here Saturday.

Diplomatic quarters "expected the 'big three' ministers to discuss possible implications of the inclusion in the Soviet delegation to Geneva of Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party chief, and Mashai Georgi Zhukov, defence minister.

The Indochina situation, now looming as a big issue for Geneva, also featured on the list of problems under discussion at the French foreign office today.

Official sources said the Western ministers were considering the latest reports from their en-

Peron Declares He Will Not Seek Presidency Again

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters).—Juan Peron is resigning his leadership of the Peronista party and has made it known he will not accept re-election as president of Argentina for a third time.

He also told Congress representatives who called on him at his government headquarters Friday that the country's state of internal war will soon be ended. This condition, which has been in operation since an abortive military coup in September, 1951, permits police to keep persons under arrest for any length of time at the government's pleasure.

The president said Argentina is about to enter a new phase of constitutional government with complete political freedom for all factions and freedom of the press.

The election in which Peron said he would not stand as president is constitutionally due in 1958, but observers here expect a call to the polls much earlier.

The president said that all public officials who are also leaders in the Peronista party will give up their government jobs.

Six Cases of Polio

MONTREAL (CP).—Dr. Adolphe Groulx, city health director, said Friday six cases of poliomyelitis with two deaths have been reported in the area so far this year, five less than during the same period last year.

Dr. Groulx said that although the figures show an improvement over last year, it was still too early to judge the effect of the Salk vaccine program carried out in the district this spring. About 54,000 children were inoculated with the vaccine.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING

NATIONAL HEALTH PLAN PROPOSED BY CCF LEADER

Coldwell Wants Care To Be Free to Patients

OTTAWA (CP).—An immediate national health insurance program, with provinces entering as they wish, is proposed by CCF leader Coldwell.

He said in the Commons Friday night that the plan should be introduced at Parliament's next session. It should be administered by the provinces and provide health care without individual payments by patients.

Mr. Coldwell spoke on the perennial topic of health insurance as the House opened study of Health Minister Martin's departmental estimates—a study which continues today in the session's first Saturday sitting.

Friday the House also discussed subjects ranging from atomic energy to aircraft production and next year's census as it completed review of estimates of the trade and defence production departments.

AT CONFERENCE

Mr. Martin did not speak of health insurance, which is one of the topics to be discussed at next October's federal-provincial conference.

However the minister denied a press report, referred to by Mr. Coldwell, which quoted him as saying at Toronto that the National plan must be founded on agreement by all provinces. Mr. Martin said he has twice denied making the statement and that he was quoted out of context.

Mr. Coldwell said health insurance should not wait until all provinces are ready. There were plenty of precedents in social security legislation for a federal act under which provinces could enter individual agreements with Ottawa.

Cost of a national health plan had been estimated at $600,000,000 a year. Yet Canadians were paying $80,000,000 for health care. Health care should be available regardless of an individual's ability to pay.

DEFENCE COSTS

Canada was paying upwards of $2,000,000,000 for defence.

"The best form of defence this country or any other country can have is a healthy and vigorous population."

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said his party favours another plan, under which governments would pay subsidies to reduce health costs within the ability of everyone to pay.

A voluntary plan on that basis, like the one developed by Alberta's social credit government, could be implemented across Canada without too great cost.

Man Is Charged

TORONTO (CP).—Peter Beretti, of Toronto, was charged Friday with receiving stolen property following a three-hour street fight.

U.S. Military Heads Hear Experts Warn Red Air Force Is Powerful

QUANTICO, Va. (AP).—U.S. military leaders heard from their own experts today some sobering words about the achievements and aims of the Russian air force.

Both civilian and military officials attending briefings at the annual defence secretaries' conference also were given assurance that the United States still holds qualitative superiority in the air.

Extracts from papers prepared by three senior military commanders for delivery to the conference were made available. Here is what the abbreviated summaries reported about the briefings:

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, air force chief of staff, assessing the capabilities of Russia's long-range bomber force as measured by the recent Moscow display of new, fast, heavy jet bombers, he said that "concrete evidence of accelerated Soviet progress clearly determined a Soviet intent to develop an effective long-range air arm."

Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, said: "Weapons are increasing in power, production capacity is kept superior."

Eighteen of 154 Forest Fires Out of Control in Ontario

By THE CANADIAN PRESS 42 miles south of Chapeau. Another 2,000 acres of Ontario forest spread over 1,000 acres in the Elkh Lake area and 10 small fires burned close to No. 11 highway. A dozen fires near Blind River had 15,000 acres aflame.

At Swastika, forest supervisor George Barna said Friday no sustained rains have fallen in the area since the end of May. Fifteen areas where the fire hazard was the highest in 19 years.

However, the men counted gains Friday which gave hope the wide front of flames may soon be contained. Rain fell intermittently Friday to give some help.

A fire which swept for two days across the Ojibway Indian reservation of Georgian Island in Lake Simcoe was brought under control. Mining village of Renable Mines, 115 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, was reported beaten. Muskoka area fires were largely stamped out.

The brief respite gave crew leaders a chance to reorganize. But a 3,000 acre fire still raged.

Big Three Conference Plans Are Given Backing by NATO

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PARIS (CP).—NATO today unanimously endorsed the plans of the Western big three for the impending meeting at the "summit" in Geneva.

Foreign Secretary Macmillan, U.S. State Secretary Dulles and French Foreign Minister Pinay reported to the ministerial council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and received its approval.

A spokesman said after the meeting there were "no points at issue."

Most of the 15 ministers spoke during the three-hour meeting, putting their nation's views on record, including a West German insistence that the unification of Germany is paramount to European security.

The West thus completed the Paris phase of its preparations for the historic meeting starting Monday at Geneva.

The special NATO meeting today was the result of Canadian initiative. It was called specifically to conform with Canadian insistence, expressed in April, 1954, by a council resolution, for greater political consultations among NATO team members as opposed to snap decisions by one or two powerful countries, acquiesced in by the majority.

In a sense, the Palais de Chaillot meeting was more or less a formality since Canada, for instance, has been kept well informed of Big Three "summit" plans. But it did provide the sort of plenary forum Canada has sought.

External Affairs Minister Pearson and Robert Ford, head of the European section of external affairs, represented Canada. Last night, the Canadian minister visited his son Geoffrey, stationed at the Canadian embassy in Paris, and interworked on his speech at the meeting.

His remarks will not be made public. He leaves Monday on his way back to Canada.

Pearson appears somewhat less optimistic about Geneva than other NATO foreign ministers whose expectations generally are pitched

EISENHOWER FLIES ATLANTIC FOR SUMMIT TALKS

Has Firm Hopes For Success at Geneva

By ED REAGH

WASHINGTON (AP).—President Eisenhower flew over the Atlantic toward the Big Four conference today after a declaration of hope that history's greatest step toward peace and prosperity may be taken in the next few fateful days.

The president took off Friday night with a party including his wife and son, Maj. John Eisenhower. The 18-hour trip to Geneva was to be broken only by a two-hour refueling stop at Keflavik, Iceland.

In a dramatic White House broadcast less than an hour before he left, Eisenhower all but pleaded with the Russians to make good on their recent tolerance-and-conciliation pledges.

CITES BULGANN'S WORDS

He spoke in moving terms of what he called a speech—a statement read Friday to a Moscow press conference—by Soviet Premier Bulganin:

"He talked of conciliation and tolerance and understanding. It is to you, I say to all the world, if the words that he expressed are truly reflective of the hearts and minds of the men in the Kremlin . . . then there will be no trouble between the Russian delegation and our own at this coming conference."

And, said the president, if the distrust which has poisoned relations between countries can be dissolved at this meeting with the Russian, British and French leaders starting Monday, then:

"We will have taken the greatest step toward peace, toward future prosperity and tranquility. It has ever been taken in all the history of mankind."

He spoke of the conference as attempting to "to prevent war . . . to keep from this terrible scourge. Go to church and pray for success of the Big Four conference."

"This would be a mighty force. None could then say that we must preserve armaments because we want to. We preserve them because we must."

Disarmament is a prime topic of the Geneva talks, along with such matters as unification of Germany.

But the president made it clear there are other problems to be settled and he referred to some of the Russian charges that the United States is a Communist subversion and interference with non-Communist governments, and "the problem of the captive states," the Soviet satellites.

Still, his general tone was conciliatory.

Past conferences, he said, have foundered because too much was attempted, too many details swamped them, they were used as propaganda sounding boards.

Cadets to Tour Ontario, Quebec

OTTAWA (CP).—A party of 33 overseas air cadets will arrive in Montreal July 28 to begin a three-week tour of Ontario and Quebec, cadet headquarters announced Friday.

The cadets, 25 from Britain and eight from Scandinavia, are on an eight-day tour of Canada. Last night, the Canadian minister visited his son Geoffrey, stationed at the Canadian embassy in Paris, and interworked on his speech at the meeting.

His remarks will not be made public. He leaves Monday on his way back to Canada.

Pearson appears somewhat less optimistic about Geneva than other NATO foreign ministers whose expectations generally are pitched high. The Canadian minister may possibly feel that enthusiasm for NATO may be more in the face of Russia's apparently more conciliatory attitude to the West.

The experts from the Big Three who drew up the proposals for the "summit" talks submitted their general plan to the NATO council several days ago. Council members in turn submitted the outline to their governments for study.

Macmillan, Dulles and Pinay put the final touches on the Western planning Friday.

Declare Martial Law in Casablanca After 21 Killed

Foreign Legion Parachutists On Way to Control Rioters

CASABLANCA, French Morocco (AP).—Martial law was declared today in Casablanca, where bloody rioting in the European quarter of the city has taken 21 lives in the last two days.

Two parachute battalions of the French Foreign Legion were due to reach this great Moroccan port this afternoon to bolster security forces coping with violent outbreaks by both European and Moroccan mobs.

Authorities Friday ordered a 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew in an effort to end the rioting.

The city was quiet but tense today. All stores in the European quarter were closed.

Reinforced police and army units patrolled the streets and a police plane flew low over the city to spot congregations of people.

FEAR FUNERAL RIOTS

Paratroops, Senegalese infantry and Algerian sharpshooters were standing by in battle order to attend the funeral of six European soldiers, killed when a bomb exploded they celebrated Bastille Day, France's national holiday, Thursday. The whole European population has been called out in mourning.

The glow of fires lit the sky over Casablanca Friday night after 24 hours of bloody street battles. During the day bands of French settlers, screaming abuse at the new resident-general, Gilbert Grandval, roamed the streets wrecking stores, overturning cars and beating Moroccans.

Settlers armed with sub-machine guns clashed with 300 Moroccans in the city centre, shooting two dead and lynching a third. Grandval declared the government curfew which was enforced by Senegalese and Arab troops.

Grandval's liberal policy is held responsible by the settlers for Thursday's Bastille Day explosion. Police used tear-gas on the European demonstrators, who retaliated by shooting, and hurling stones. A French policeman was killed and another wounded in this clash.

DISPERSE DEMONSTRATORS

Today several hundred demonstrators tried to assemble near the city centre where the government buildings are concentrated, but they were dispersed by police.

Police and firemen began trying to clear away smouldering and burning automobiles and telegraph poles littering the streets. Officials said at least 30 cars were destroyed.

Police carried tommy-guns. Some of the troops had bazookas. A tank squadron took positions in the city before the government offices.

RCMP Named To Investigate Police Department

VANCOUVER (CP).—A four-man RCMP team headed by Inspector M. J. Y. Dube of Regina will open an investigation Monday into "all criminal activities" suggested in testimony presented at the royal commission inquiry into Vancouver's police department.

Chief Hill, 37, handed his resignation Friday to a police commission headed by Judge John Pritchard. The chief said:

"There has been discussion in the force and in view of the recent eruption of it I am seeking employment elsewhere."

Earlier in court here, he heard two of his constables, Grant Thomson and Roy Morden, convicted of assault. They were remanded in custody for sentence July 21.

The other resignation came from constable Robert Watson, 32, who complained of despondency.

Judge Pritchard appointed constable Albert Allen as acting chief pending the appointment of a new chief constable. He has been with the force eight months. Hill had been chief of Pickingering police for two years.

Nobody Injured As Airliner Hits Pole on Landing

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP).—Fifteen persons including newscaster Edward R. Murrow and family walked away unharmed Friday when an airliner crashed into a pole and lost six feet of wing tip after a landing.

The Northwest Orient Airlines twin-engine DC-3 set down during a thunderstorm at 6:20 p.m. on a flight from Seattle. Two-thirds of the way down the runway, Capt. Jack Taylor, the pilot, found his brakes would not hold against a sudden 40-mile-an-hour gust of wind.

The big plane sailed right along for several hundred yards after the runway terminated, scraping across a fence post and finally striking the utility pole.

The impact sheared off the wing tip and broke a power line but the plane stopped and the 12 passengers and three crew members alighted without difficulty.

Pickering Chief And Assaults Resign Posts

WHITBY (CP).—Four officers of the eight-man Pickering township police force, including chief Lester Hill and two constables convicted of assaulting him, have resigned.

Chief Hill, 37, handed his resignation Friday to a police commission headed by Judge John Pritchard. The chief said:

"There has been discussion in the force and in view of the recent eruption of it I am seeking employment elsewhere."

Earlier in court here, he heard two of his constables, Grant Thomson and Roy Morden, convicted of assault. They were remanded in custody for sentence July 21.

Churchill Does Not Mind Missing Summit Parley He Set in Motion

LONDON (AP).—Sir Winston Churchill does not mind missing the "summit" conference at Geneva which he did so much to set in motion, says Governor W. Averell Harriman of New York.

Harriman said Churchill is deliberately trying to avoid any appearance of dictating British policy at next week's Geneva talks. The 80-year-old elder statesman gracefully "laid aside the mantle of authority," he said.

Harriman gained these impressions while lunching this week with Churchill at Chartwell, the former minister's country home. The governor, visiting here on his way to Israel, and Churchill have been friends for almost 25 years. At Chartwell they talked about

Quinte Players
Ready to Present
'Angel Street'

Next week the lights go up on Belleville's Summer Theatre's second production, "Angel Street". Presented by the Quinte Players, the play has been a favorite of both audiences and players alike since its first production. In its three acts playwright Patrick Hamilton has cleverly and smoothly injected the gamut of human emotions, providing a suspenseful thriller for the pleasure of theatregoers and a hefty challenge to his players.

In particular, it is this case with the female lead, here played by Vera Thompson. As Mrs. Manningham, a young wife tormented by fears that she is going mad, the actress shoulders a heavy responsibility in portraying the terror, despair, the hopeful anticipations of a woman trying to save herself by grasping at seemingly too-thin straws.

Syl Quinn acts the parts of her husband, a man of mysterious actions and background. Playing the sympathetic housekeeper will be Nicky Thomas while Doris Chippa returns to this year's season in the part of a cocky Cockney maid. Harry Mulhall appears as the old, retired detective who unexpectedly stumbles on a clue to a 15-year-old murder.

Hamilton sounds off the suspense ingredients of his thriller by setting it in a drab old house in Victorian London.

Bay of Quinte Squadron Ready For August Power Boat Regatta

Bay of Quinte Power Squadron now is steaming full ahead on organizing the coming power boat regatta scheduled here the first week of August.

Latest estimates show an active up to 70 craft from power squadrons here and in the U.S. taking part, with probably as many looking on. Also participating will be entrants from the Lake Yacht Racing Association.

The regatta last year from August 2 through to August 9 with the local yacht club the springboard for the water events and the site for social occasions.

Boating of the races which will make up the water events are at present giving three men from the local power squadron food for thought. They are Freeman Burrows, Ian Morch, past squadron commander, and Jack Tatham, present commander of the squadron. On them rests the responsibility for plotting of the races.

As for the events themselves, they are races with a difference. No time element governs the final results, the races being tests of skill, since the power squadrons themselves are organized crusades to further interest in safety measures on the water, thereby preventing dangerous and boating situations and tragedies. Probably the largest slice of

No Injuries
When Cars Crash

Damage estimated at $1,300 resulted Friday in an accident involving three vehicles on Highway No. 2 at Bayside. There were no injuries.

A car driven by James K. Wetters, 324 Dufferin Avenue, sustained damage estimated at $600. Damage to a car driven by Roy Glibbery, 28 5th Ave., Constition, was estimated at $700. A truck owned by Wilson Concrete Products and driven by John R. Morton of Rossmore, was not damaged but damage to its load of block was estimated at $25.

The accident took place about 11 a.m., Friday in a driving rain-storm.

Wethers was proceeding west on Highway No. 2 towards Bayside when he stopped on the highway to make a left turn. Wethers' car was being followed by the Wilson truck. Glibbery passed the truck but was forced back into the right hand lane. He was unable to stop his car in time and crashed into the side of the Wilson truck. The driver of the truck took to the shoulder of the road to avoid crashing into the two cars. This evasive action dislodged several concrete blocks from the truck's load.

A charge of careless driving was laid against Glibbery. OPP constable R. L. Jakes investigated.

Severe Burns

Jake Wade, well-known hockey and softball player of this city, is recovering in the Belleville General Hospital from first and second degree burns suffered in an accident at his home on Thursday afternoon.

Wade was badly burned on his arms, hands and chest Thursday when gasoline he was using to start his refuse burner ignited unexpectedly. Unknown to him, the disposal unit had been used earlier in the day and sparks remained. Wade had deposited scrap from his yard and poured gasoline from a small can into the burner.

Preparing to light it with a match he leaned over when the gasoline caught on the sparks and blew him back.

He threw up his arms and hands to protect his face and accidentally threw the remainder of the fuel on his shirt, which immediately turned him into a human torch. Wade tore at his clothes and finally managed to rip the burning shirt off and rolled on the ground to smother the flames.

His right arm received first degree burns, while his chest and other portions of his body were severely burned.

Bowling News

Belleville bowlers had a field day at the district finals played at Trenton on Friday with Cliff Argue of this city as supervisor, and Fred Rutherford of Campbellford, as umpire. The games in singles, doubles and rinks were halted on several occasions by heavy rain, but the bowlers persisted despite the elements.

A rink composed of Fred Harper, Jim Hanna, Gordon Edwards and Jerry Hyde defeated a rink of D. Bennett, F. Rutherford, J. Ballantyne and Webb, Kingston, in the first round, 27-19, and won the finals from a rink of S. Swaffield, E. Denison, W. D. Duncan and Dick Edey, of Kingston, 27-20.

In the doubles, Bruce Miller and Gordon Wain of the Belleville club, won over W. Brady and Bert Taylor of Campbellford, 22-12, while R. Hacker and H. Ormslow, of Trenton, defeated W. L. Duncan and Walter Cable, of Kingston, 28-11. In the final for this event Miller and Duncan defeated Hacker and Ormslow to enter the zone finals.

The singles contest had four entries with Doug McQuorodale winning from Archie Myer, of Campbellford. McQuorodale also defeated McAdam of Trenton, while Percy Locke, of Madoc, defeated Ernie Jones of Belleville.

Mr. Locke then went on to defeat McQuorodale in the final match. The junior doubles pair of Peter Locke and Robert Moon won by default when no other teams showed up.

Stories of Famous Hymns

By HORACE B. POWELL

COME, YE SINNERS, POOR AND NEEDY

Come, ye sinners, poor and needy,
Weak and wounded, sick and sore;
Jesus ready stands to save you,
Full of pity, love and power.
He is able, He is able,
He is willing; doubt no more.

Now, ye needy, come and welcome;
God's free bounty glorify;
True belief and true repentance,
Every grace that brings you nigh.

Without money, without money,
Come to Jesus Christ and buy.
Let not conscience make you linger,
Nor of fitness fondly dream;
All the fitness he requires
Is to feel your need of Him:

This He gives you, This He gives you:
'Tis the Spirit's glimmering beam.
Come, ye weary, heavy laden,
Bruised and mangled by the fall;
If you tarry 'till you're better,
You will never come at all:
Not the righteous, not the righteous,
Sinner Jesus came to all.

"COME, YE SINNERS, POOR AND NEEDY"

A few years before this popular hymn was written and published its author, Joseph Hart, was ridiculing religion. The story of his conversion and his transformation from a religious scoffer to a friend and follower of Christ is a fascinating one.

Hart was born in England in 1712. His father and mother were devout folk and his own boyhood reflected the training of his Christian home. But in early manhood he drifted far from religion and from the church. At one time he composed an article which he titled "The Unreasonableness of Religion". It was a discussion of one of John Wesley's sermons. Then, in his fortieth year, he turned back to the God he had ridiculed for so long. He began to pray and to read his Bible. His devotion became a part of his daily life and led to his public acceptance of Christ one Sunday in 1751, in a little Moravian Church in London.

After that, Joseph Hart worked zealously for the Christian cause and in the two years that followed he wrote some of his finest hymns. The one cited above was first published in 1759 in a volume entitled "Hymns Composed On Various Subjects". It always has been a favorite invitation hymn in evangelistic meetings and prayer services and for a good many years it stood second in the official hymnal of the Methodist Church.

A year after its publication, Hart entered the ministry and for eight years he had a remarkable preaching career. It is said that when he died, in 1768, more than 20,000 people attended his funeral.

Bulletins From Birdland

SUMMER SINGER

Much as we hate to think of it, the season of choral concerts is fast drawing to a close. Especially welcome, then, is the singing of the few birds that continue pretty nearly throughout the entire summer.

Among these enthusiasts is the indigo bunting. Indeed, he seems especially to enjoy himself when there is little competition. Although he has been home from his winter holiday resort in Central America since late May, he did not bother about exercising his voice until comparatively recently, when other songsters were gradually decreasing their volume, and beginning to moult.

A conspicuous dead branch where his silhouette will show up against the sky, the top of a rail fence, a telephone pole, or a reed make favorite singing perches. These may be along a roadside, or in an overgrown pasture. An audience does not affect his singing either way—he just keeps at it because he wants to. His voice is high, loud and clear, comparable with a canary's song starting off with a burst and dwindling away towards the end.

Being fond of prominent perches and such an inveterate singer, one would naturally suppose that he may easily be recognized.

BREATH TAKING
The truth is that his intense, brilliant blue is fairly breath-taking when he is seen with the sun shining on him; but the shade of blue varies greatly with the lighting, indigo, ultramarine, azure, and sometimes almost greyish. We are often perplexed by these changes. Seen against the sun or a bright sky he may appear almost black.

His little wife is really a puzzle to bird students. She is so like members of the sparrow family (in size about the same as the chipping sparrow) that she goes unnoticed unless the sun happens to catch the faint tint of blue in her wings and tail. Otherwise, she is just brownish, with no wing-bars or other markings. With a typical "finch bill", because, like the sparrow, she is a finch, she might pass for one of her less interesting relatives.

This bill is useful to the indigo bunting in autumn, when their chief food is weed seeds, with berries as an extra. But now they are living principally on insects, especially injurious kinds. This is a valuable economic ally.

sharply. How many grownups, he said, know the number of steps in the stairs we use every day. A boy counts them. A child sees so much more in a scene than we older ones whose mental eyesight has begun to fail through familiarity. Watch a little child absorbed in looking at something. The child has an eye single to the object before it.

MENTAL COUNTRY
Wherever we go on our vacation let's revisit the mental country of our childhood. Let's try to recapture the fresh wonder with which we viewed things that may now seem ordinary.

Wherever we go on our vacation or whether we stay on our job, God refreshes our minds by helping us to see the glory of the commonplace.

Recently I returned to my home city of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, which was celebrating its sesquicentennial. There I helped to unveil a plaque to Uncle Dan Emmett, the author of "Dixie". Not everyone knows that the Southland's most beloved song, "Dixie" was written by an Ohio boy.

Here is how it came to be done. In 1859 Dan Emmett was engaged by Bryant's minstrels in New York as a composer of comic songs and occasional performer. One Saturday night he was told to have a song ready for rehearsal on Monday. It seemed too short notice. But let him tell the story:

GLOOMY MOOD
"The next day, Sunday, was a very rainy day. I was in a gloomy mood. My wife saw that I was worried. She said, 'I'd help you if I could, but since I can't I'll leave you alone for a spell.' After she left, I threw myself across the bed. All I could think of was the good old circus days in the South. Finally I said right out loud, 'I wish I was in Dixie!'"

With that keynote Dan Emmett composed the song which caught the heart of the South and eventually of the whole country. On a cheerless room in a New York side street, the simple-hearted, Bible-reading minstrel let his mind wander and wrote an immortal song. God gives us the power to go places and see wonderful things without leaving our rooms.

Are you planning your vacation? Better consult God's guidebook for interesting places to visit.

For Parents Only Fear Affects A Child's Life

By NANCY CLEAVER

In the Institute of Experimental Medicine and Surgery, Montreal, Dr. Hans Selye's work has focused the attention of everyone interested in health, on the detrimental effect of stress in the lives of people today. Any student of children will testify that excessive fear puts a boy or girl under a tragic amount of strain.

How can fathers and mothers best help the too fearful child? It is true that some fear is necessary in the kind of world in which we live. The child who has no fear of being hit by a car or a truck is apt to run out on the road after a ball or hurry across to see a chum on the other side of the street, without first looking to left and to right to see if a car is coming.

The little girl who is not afraid of being burned by her mother's iron, may try to use it herself and receive a nasty burn. The small boy who has no fear of the neighbor's cat may tease the pussy once too often! For many years fear has been useful in preventing people from getting themselves into "danger" situations.

TOO MUCH FEAR

But many doctors and mental health experts are agreed that there is a great deal too much fear in the minds and hearts of countless children and grownups. This unnecessary fear lessens happiness and effectiveness in work. If a person becomes increasingly anxious and frightened, physical and mental well being may be in jeopardy.

Parents are warned to use fear of punishment very sparingly in disciplining their children. Never resort to threats about "the big policeman," or "the boogey man," or any other fictitious person who will deal out painful vengeance for misdeeds. Continually frightening a little child into good behaviour may seem to "work" in the present but an adult who has little or no initiative because he fears failure or disapproval or one who is in a perpetual state of vague nervous apprehension of some calamity befalling him, is distinctly handicapped.

Fears are very contagious, and sometimes it is not fear of punishment but a parent's own fear of lightning or something else which a child "catches." Mothers and fathers should be careful not to pass on to their children their own crippling fears.

SEEK REASSURANCE

It is natural for children to express their fears and look to their parents for re-assurance and safety. Many children display fear of various things—the dark, animals, loud noises such as thunder, falling from a high place, and of strangers.

Children should be allowed to speak of their fears. Their parents should tell them that they know that many little children are afraid at times, but as they grow older they will grow braver—and even laugh at the things which scared them! Children who are hero-worshippers are often assisted by the story of another child or a grown-up who was also afraid and in spite of his fear did his duty or completed the job he had to do.

The constantly fearful child is a "crippled" child and no parent wants his boy or girl to have an unnecessary handicap like this throughout life. Neither the too protective mother's attitude nor the impatient father's technique help a child face the problem of getting along with others. Parents need to help their children grow in self-confidence and thus decrease their inner feeling of strain.

STIRLING W.I.
The July meeting of the Stirling Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Blanche Reid, with eight members, three visitors and two children present.

Correspondence was read, and a letter by the secretary concerning the holiday at Kemptville Agricultural School, which will be held on August 16, 17 and 18. This is a holiday worth while attending. A card of thanks was also read.

Stirling W.I. is sponsoring the "Extension Service." The seven branches of West Hastings district are being invited to attend the date to be set by the department. $2 will be given towards buying spoons for the Girls' Club.

Mrs. Blanche Reid presided over the following program, a reading by Mrs. McMurray, "A Tribute to Miss Anne Lewis." The report of the district annual was given by the delegate, Mrs. E. Foote.

Mrs. Bessie Rodgers, the new district president, brought a message from the West Hastings District Annual. She also had a reading "The First Step to Heaven," and other short readings.

Mrs. Maggie Ward put on a contest. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Blanche Reid, Mrs. S. McMurray and Mrs. E. Foote.

Mrs. Bessie Rodgers moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for her hospitality, also to the lunch committee and to all those who helped with the program.

Bible Brifs Who Was This?

By A. A. M.

Who was the prophet who warned his hearers that the birds, following their migratory instinct, knew better than men what God wanted them to do, and the feathered creatures obeyed their maker better than humans? He said, "Even the stork in the heavens knows her times; and the turtle-dove, swallow and crane keep the time for their coming, but my people do not know the ordinance of the Lord."

This man of God was saddened to see men, from the least to the greatest, greedily for unjust gain and dealing falsely with each other. He accused them of sun and moon worship and predicted that the time would come when the bones of the kings and princess of Judah, of the prophets and the people should come out of their tombs and be spread as refuse on the ground. He refused to be false to his message and cry, "Peace, peace, when there was no peace." He comforted, "My grief is beyond healing and my heart is sick with in me."

The prophet asked, "Is the Lord not in Zion? Is her King not in her? Why have they provoked me to anger with their graven images and with their foreign idols?" He ended his appeal with these words, "Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no physician there? Why then has the health of the daughter of my people not been restored?" You will find this prophet's name and this message in Chapter 8 of Jeremiah.

BRITISH FRIGATE "RESCUES U.S. PLANE ABANDONED AT SEA"

An American amphibious rescue plane which had been abandoned following a rescue operation at sea, is shown being towed back to Malta by the H.M.S. Wakefield, a frigate of the Mediterranean fleet. In response to a radio call for medical assistance for a man critically ill in the merchant ship Las Piedras, the American plane dispatched from Wheelus Field, Tripoli, sustained damage in landing alongside the Las Piedras and her crew had to be taken aboard the ship and subsequently landed at Syracuse. The damaged plane was left behind. During the "rescue" which was carried out under hazardous conditions caused by strong winds, four of the Wakefield's officers and a telegraphist were aboard the plane as towing crew. Canada's Program To Produce Vaccine Praised OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's program to produce Salk polio vaccine was praised Friday night by Dr. William Blair, Progressive Conservative health spokesman. He urged a similar drive against cancer and heart disease.

Dr. Blair, member for Lanark, said in the Commons there has been care, co-operation and a combined effort among federal and provincial governments to produce the vaccine.

Canadian parents should be proud of Canadian scientists and thankful for the care taken in producing a safe vaccine against a disease which once had struck fear into the heart of every father and mother.

Having seen the success of Salk vaccine, he said, every incentive should be given to worthwhile projects of research against cancer and chronic heart disease.

Canadian scientists had shown their ability. They might well be the ones to discover a cure for the two diseases.

Dr. Blair also urged establishment of psychiatric wards in city hospitals for short-term treatment of mental illness.

Forest Fire Damage Lower Last Year

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada improved its forest fire record last year over the 10-year average but fire, still cost about $2,500,000 in burned timber and fire-fighting costs.

The resources department said Friday in a review of 1954 forest fires that last year's fire cost compared with the 10-year average of $4,214,229 for the 1944-53 period.

The forest toll was broken down into $1,667,685 worth of damaged timber and $931,231 for fighting the 3,022 fires last year. This compared with fire damage of $4,100,243 and cost of fighting of $2,133,988 in the 10-year period. Average number of forest fires in the period was 5,424.

Smokers caused 22 per cent of the fires during the 10-year period, lightning 18 per cent and camp fires 16 per cent.

CAMPBELLFORD
Ross Hart's Barn In Seymour East Burned to Ground

CAMPBELLFORD — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a 30 by 50 foot barn on the farm of Ross Hart in Seymour East on Wednesday afternoon.

The Campbellford Fire Department answered the call for help, but by the time they made the six-mile run to the farm, the building was beyond saving. The cause of the fire was unknown, and Mr. Hart reported that no one had been in the barn and it was not wired for electricity. The only valuable object in the barn was a quantity of metal roofing material.

Mr. Hart said that it was an old building and he had intended tearing it down and using the lumber to make an addition to a larger barn on his property. The loss was believed to be partly covered by insurance.

Firemen remained on the scene pumping water on the remains of the building to prevent the fire from spreading to other nearby buildings, including the farm home. Only the stone foundations of the old barn remained, despite the efforts of the Campbellford Fire Department and neighbors who formed a bucket brigade.

Critical Areas Not Helped By Rain

QUEBEC (CP) — Steady rain that extinguished nearly all the forest fires in the province west of the Saguenay river was reduced to a brief drizzle in critical areas on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river. It was reported today.

A light shower fell for only 30 minutes at Labrieville where fire was burning through a spruce forest near the giant hydro-electric power project on the Bersimis river, a weather office spokesman said.

No rain reached Baie Comeau where the fire extended over 500 square miles of spruce and balsam from Franklin to Ste. Marguerite, 350 miles northeast of Quebec City.

The lands and forests department re-opened parts of the province where rain extinguished all forest fires. The travel ban was lifted in the counties of Portneuf, Quebec, Montmorency and Charlevoix and parts of Chicoutimi, Rouville, Lake St. John, Lavolette, Abitibi East and Abitibi West and the Mistassini region.

Poses Serious Threat

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sweltering heat, welcomed by most British Columbia residents this week, has posed a serious fire threat to the province's forests.

As the belated summer weather sent thousands of persons to the beaches, the B.C. forest service asked its crews to stand by during the weekend in the face of the mounting fire hazard.

Eden Confers With Churchill Before Parley

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Eden had an hour's talk Thursday night with his old chief, Sir Winston Churchill, about the Big Four conference he will attend in Geneva Monday.

He told Churchill of the latest developments, then listened to the last-minute views and advice of the man who strove for years to bring about the "talks at the summit" (Churchill's phrase) with Russia.

The visit was more than just a mere tribute to the groundwork laid by the great old statesman. No living man has such experience of top level talks with Russia and other powers.

British Bomber Can Fly Higher Than Any Fighter

LONDON (Reuters) — A new RAF jet bomber which can fly much higher than any known fighter plane has completed its first test flights, the makers announced here Friday.

The bomber, an improved version of the English Electric Company's Mark 1 X Canberra, can probably fly higher than any other aircraft in the world but its precise operational height is not disclosed.

An earlier plane of the same type holds the present world altitude record of 63,668 feet—more than 12 miles.

BASE METALS SPARK NEW BRUNSWICK BUILDING SPREE

Development of New Brunswick's base metal properties, acknowledged to be among the world's richest, has led to the province undertaking a road-building program, which added to the vast hydro power development, is putting the province on the biggest construction spree in its history. The Rolph bridge under construction here will connect the Chaplin Island road with the first half of the new 15-mile standard gravel highway into the Little River mining territory. The province is underwriting half the cost of the highway and two bridges which will link Little River and the Bathurst-Newcastle areas. (Central Press Canadian).

Masquerade Party Highlights Girl Guides' Camp Activities

By G. A. BRADFORD

The Guide Division Camp at Glen-Allen Park on Crowe Lake, including Guides from Belleville, Marmora, Madoc and Stirling, ended on Thursday after two weeks of camp life.

The camp was situated on a cleared knoll on a reforestation area of the Park with a protective wall around the tented area.

Besides sleeping tents for the Guides and the staff in charge, there were two smaller tents for kitchen and stores with a large 20x30 ft. dining marquee near by. With Mrs. K. Moul, as quartermaster in charge of supplies and also in charge of camp food, the camp was well balanced and delicious meals which met with enthusiastic approval of everyone. Special meals included a silent meal, a square meal and a "lord and lady meal", complete with a butler to announce the "lords" and their "ladies".

56 GIRLS ATTENDED

Fifty-six girls attended the camp forming nine patrols and under the supervision of a junior officer each patrol took various duties necessary to camp life such as patrol cook, health, shiners, supplies, wood and water and rest.

There was a daily planned program and the girls were engaged in different activities from 7 a.m. until their day ended with prayer and Taps at 9:30 p.m., when hot chocolate was provided. Besides all the patrol "chores" there were swimming periods and handicraft and badge work. Guides worked for proficiency in 1st class badges such as pioneer, stalker, and tracker, swimmer and camper. There also were Guides working toward 2nd and 1st class badges. In the evening there was a camp fire with entertainment and skits provided by the rest patrol and lively sing-songs with the entire group participating.

Mitzi, The Patrician

By A. HENDERSON

Mitzi was the pet of the household. Her soft, grey coat was mingled with brown and tan little tufts of hairs extended from her ears in half question marks, and her plummy tail, which she carried with dignity, was marked by a tiny white spot on the tip.

Her greenish-hazel eyes, soft, liquid, sending forth little beams of kindly affection as she twined her lithe body around one of the ankles awaiting the gentle pat which was always forthcoming.

Often she would be seen sitting in a seemingly half-asleep mood in a pink tongue protruding from her mouth, watching through narrowed slits, her little, great, great, grandson, Dusty, as he gambolled nearby, and any upward, rough-house play of his brought forth a warning rebuke.

If unheeded, a grey paw would flash out and administer a stinging cuff.

BURNED OUT

Following the fire at her previous home, it seems that she wandered her way down the Rednersville Road to a big farm barn where a number of cats made their home. The owners, feeling that they already were well supplied with the feline tribe, decided that she would be better off in the bay in the home of a daughter. So Mitzi was brought over and put in the cow stable where it was warm.

However, her patrician blood rebelled at this come-down in her worldly affairs; so she decided to do something about it. Hence the Christmas guest, and the plaintive 'mew' at the door.

A few days later, her would-be mistress came over for a chat, and perceiving that the sleeping puss-in-boots was her cat, decided to take her home. As no logical objection could be made, though she was the bay in the home of a daughter, so Mitzi was brought over and put in the cow stable where it was warm.

ed Delegation ble to Make inding Decision

The writer of this dispatch is an AP reporter in Moscow. He on his way to Geneva to join AP's staff covering the summit meeting.

BY STANLEY JOHNSON

PARIS (AP) "I trust Bulgarians will have to sit at his elbow," that was Nikita Khrushchev's comment a few weeks ago when he was in Moscow asked him to plan to accompany Premier Bulganin to Geneva.

The fact that Khrushchev is now in Geneva with Bulganin and Marshal Zhukov, too—was a topic of lively discussion among diplomats here today.

Questions naturally came up: Isn't Khrushchev's trust in Bulganin more? Doesn't Defence Minister Zhukov distrust either one?

NO DOUBTS

But the prevailing view is that the Soviet Union has shown its determination to present a delegation at Geneva whose competence cannot be questioned.

If the five men making up Moscow's official delegation can't make responsible decisions, then the body in the Kremlin can't make them either.

The two most pressing issues on which the Russians may have something to say are the future of Germany and disarmament.

East and West positions are still far apart. The Soviet Union has refused "final" statement on both issues, but it has issued "final" statements before and thereafter.

THE LITTLE COUNTRY BY-WAYS

The little country by-ways that curve and dip and bend, And lead the laggard wanderer To roads that have no end— These have a lure enchanting That highways never impart. A touch of scenic beauty That ensnares the tourist's heart.

A sudden bend discloses A scene of beauty rare: A quiet home, a hamlet, A rustic garden fair, And from a sudden hill-top Is caught a vision bright Of soft and rippling waters Shrouded in mists of white.

Would you escape life's tumult And calm and peace regain, Oh! leave behind the highway, And seek the country by-ways The calm sequestered by-ways Where peace and beauty reign.

—Helen B. Anderson.

WELLINGTON—The irregular coastline of Prince Edward County may to some extent account for the little country by-ways in various parts of the county. Enjoying a motor drive Sunday evening with friends, we came across a little by-way leading from the main road and the driver being adventurous, turned to explore it. We entered a narrow roadway with bushes on either side and passed but two farm homes, each peacefully attractive. But darkness falling, the driver turned about, so our exploration ended. Perhaps at some future time we may find the end of this country by-way.

The pea harvest is ended and a heavy harvest it has been. Factory workers have been employed every day and often in the evening.

The tea and bazaar under the auspices of the Woman's Association of the United Church were a success both socially and financially in spite of the extremely warm weather. The sum of over $200 was realized.

Miss Gladys Pettengill and Miss Louise Pettengill, of Winnipeg, are spending holidays in their home in Wellington.

Mrs. Wood Thomas of Belleville is holidaying here and renewing old acquaintances.

The members of Melville Sunday school held their picnic in the park here on Tuesday.

EDWARD PARLIAMENT

The sudden passing of Mr. Edward Parliament came as a great shock to the community. While on his way to London, Ontario, to consult a heart specialist, he passed away. He was a son of the late Mr. John H. Parliament and his wife Myra Orser. Surviving are his wife and a son and daughter who have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

The funeral service was held on Sunday in the Ainsworth Funeral Home with Rev. A. Poultier in charge. Interment was made in Salem cemetery. Evidence of the high esteem in which he was held was seen in the large attendance at the funeral service and in the beautiful floral offerings.

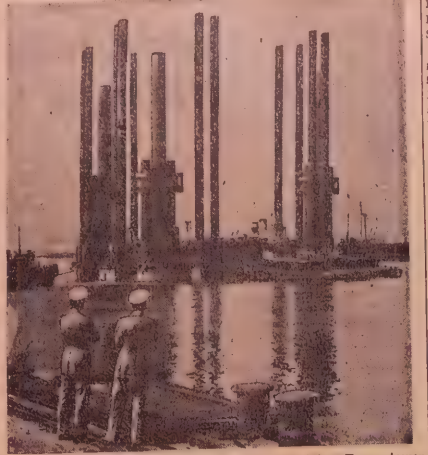

Mrs. Elmer Carley is a patient in Belleville hospital. Her friends are pleased to hear that she is recovering.

A YOUTHFUL POET

The following poem was written by Mary Jane McArthur, a ten-year-old student of Welland public school, the daily routine of which she so nicely describes. A former resident of Wellington, she visited her aunt, Mrs. Edna Platt, over the Dominion Day holiday and brought the poem. "Good morning teacher" each day starts, "God Save the Queen," we sing like larks. We read the Bible, have Current Events, English and Spelling provide suspense. Arithmetic time, then recess arrives. We rush from the school like bees from their hives. After English and Science the luncheon bell rings. And at 1:15 again the bell sings. The clock ticks on slowly as History brings pain. Then Reading attracts our attention again. Now recess arrives—some more time to rest. Baseball and skipping is what we do best. Music is next, our voices we blend "Good-bye Mr. Carignan," then the day ends.

Cut Work Week For Montreal's Street Car Men

MONTREAL (CP)—The city-owned, financially-harassed Montreal Transportation Commission—some of the last major bastions of the 48-hour work week—has been led to give its 5,000 employees a three-hour reduction in working hours.

The chairman and union representative on an arbitration board, appointed by the Quebec provincial government, joined in a report received Thursday night that recommended a 48-hour week without overtime pay for street car men.

In effect, it was like granting the employees a wage increase of up to 11 cents an hour, with increased opportunities for overtime time-and-a-half rates.

REAKS THE ICE

A union spokesman said the "breaks the ice" in a five-year fight for a 48-hour week. The union established a definite principle and we are going to continue now to fight for the same working hours as other industries."

Butcher Corbell, president of the Carriers' Association of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport Workers (CBRTW), said in an interview.

A company statement after publication of the arbitration award said that although the recommendation will cost $1,300,000 a year, the MTC "will see to it that it is not in effect."

Couple Rewed Atop Bridge At U.S. Border

DETROIT (AP)—An international kiss—from Canada to the United States—sealed a marriage atop the Ambassador bridge Thursday.

The bride stood on the American side, the groom on the Canadian side as common pleas judge David Vokes of Detroit read the ceremony.

The principals were Vera Lang, a lawyer from Washington, D. C., and Walter Lang of Toronto. The Langs had been married to each other once before, in Vienna. They were divorced in 1949.

Mrs. Lang is a U. S. citizen. She wanted an American marriage license to help in her efforts to get permission for her husband to enter the United States.

A technician in a research lab at Chalk River wears full protective clothing, including an air supply mask, while handling toxic plutonium alloy. The material is handled in a "drybox" (left) but protective clothing is worn to prevent inhalation of any particle which might escape. The plutonium is dangerous only if it enters the body. Chalk River's newest research tool, the NRU reactor, to be completed in 1956, will have advanced research facilities and will produce significant quantities of plutonium. NRU will supplement existing NRX and ZEEP reactors.

From Canadian Research Atomic Power For Industry

The tremendous forces imprisoned within the atom hold potential power for both destructive and beneficial action. Canada, possessor of one of the world's "hottest" nuclear reactors, is using her atomic know-how to open new horizons in the peacetime applications of nuclear energy and radioactive isotopes.

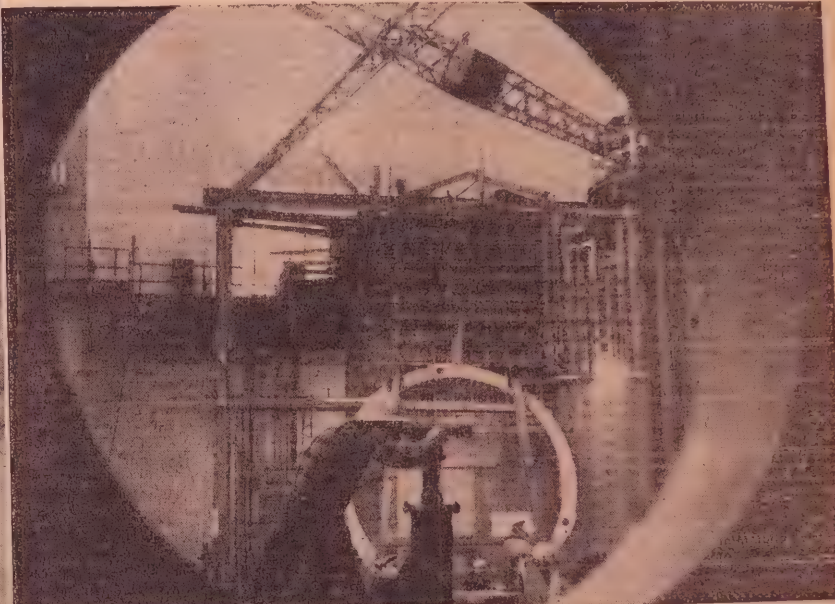

The tiny bullets of radioactivity produced by the reactors of Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, at Chalk River, Ontario, create new tools for industry, agriculture and medicine. When ordinary substances such as iodine, salt and cobalt are subjected to the intense bombardment of neutrons in the concrete shielded NRX reactor, they are converted to radioactive isotopes which have wide applications in studies of disease, plant growth, and in the detection of hidden flaws in machines, tanks and castings.

The most glamorous contribution of Canadian atomic energy to medicine has been the cobalt beam therapy unit, which has stolen the limelight from radium as a destroyer of cancer cells.

Canadian industry has learned to harness the invisible rays of isotopes to contribute to more efficient production. Isotopes now help to control quality in paper manufacturing and to search out minute impurities in chemicals. And the list of new uses for isotopes in industry and agriculture is growing almost daily.

Today, with an expanded research programme and the new NRU reactor scheduled to go into operation in 1956, Chalk River's atomic scientists in collaboration with Ontario Hydro and Canadian General Electric, are going ahead on a project to build the nation's first pilot atomic power plant at Deschambault. When completed in 1958, the prototype power reactor known as NPD - Nuclear Power Demonstration - will have a prospective power output of 10,000 to 20,000 kilowatts electric.

To power planners, already hard pressed to meet the needs of Canada's rapidly-expanding industry, atomic energy may be the key to supplying demands where new hydro sites or conventional fuels are not available.

NRU reactor, shown here under construction, is scheduled to go into operation next year. Major project at Chalk River is to utilize heat released in reactors. AECL, in co-operation with Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission and Canadian General Electric Company Limited, will build prototype atomic power station capable of producing 20,000 kilowatts. Though pilot plant will not produce electric power at competitive costs, it will give valuable information in the design, operation and cost of using atomic energy in power stations. Target is to produce power at cost of 5 to 6 mills per kilowatt.

Along Canadian Trails The Friendly Party Line

By LEONARD L. KNOTT
Illustrated by David Ranson

One of the most popular types of radio or television programs in Canada is the quiz program or the discussion. Every week, thousands of farmers listen in to the experts on Farm Forum talk, not only about agriculture but about many modern problems and events. And on Citizens' Forums, other groups of people listen in to hear the topic of the broadcast among themselves.

Long before there were radios or television, however, the people of the Canadian prairies had a system of their own for tuning in on interesting conversations. They called it the "party line".

Long before there were radios or television, however, the people of the Canadian prairies had a system of their own for tuning in on interesting conversations. They called it the "party line".

Sometimes, of course, this was inconvenient. But usually, it worked out very well. In Saskatchewan, for instance, the early homesteaders lived on isolated farms. Homes were miles apart. During the winter, it was difficult to drive, by horse and sleigh, to the village and sometimes for weeks the farmer's wife never saw even her closest neighbor.

Occasionally, too, the party line would serve an even more important function. One long ring would sound in every home on the line. This was a signal to all telephone subscribers to lift their telephone receivers and listen. A message of great importance was to be delivered. Perhaps it was news of a fire in a farm house and a request for help. It might be an announcement of an auction sale or a dance. A farmers' meeting might be called, or there could be an announcement of a death, or a funeral or a postponement of a meeting. Day or night, good weather or bad farmers had their own party line.

In some parts of rural Canada, there are still "party lines" today, but they do not serve the important purpose they served on the prairies in the early days. Radio and television bring the news and the gossip. Motor cars provide quick and easy transportation and the farmer's family is no longer isolated. But real pioneers still recall the days when the "party line" was a farmer's best friend. When every lonely farmhouse had its prized possession a friendly "phone in the kitchen."

Your Car Proper Care Prevents Car Fires

By EUGENE MILMOE

When you read about or see a car on fire, your first thought is probably—how did it start?

Many times car fires are started by cigarettes or matches carelessly dropped on the upholstery, but often they originate in the electrical system when worn, torn or chafed wire insulation causes a short. An electrical fire is also encouraged when the unwise car owner insists on using oversize fuses.

Just recently an unsuspected condition was responsible for starting a car fire on a jammed highway. Exhaust valve leakage had been causing after-burning or late combustion to occur in the muffler, and eventually muffler heat became so intense that it set the car on fire.

From W.J. "I read in your column about air leaks and sluggish engine performance and I seem to have this trouble around the manifold. I would like to know the best way to test for such leaks, and if any special equipment is necessary."

(A) All you need is an oil can. With your engine idling, squirt some oil along the gasket joints. Wherever there is an air leak, the oil will be pulled in by engine suction.

P.L. says "I had to replace the battery a short time after I bought my car. A few months later, another new battery was needed, and then new headlights, points and generator. Last year I bought the third battery replacement and had a new regulator installed. I've had no difficulty since. What do you think was the original trouble?"

Mulches Have Many Uses

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Mulches have many uses and are a valuable addition to the list of garden aids readily available. They conserve moisture, making a blanket between the soil and the sun to slow the process of evaporation. They discourage weeds, which use valuable moisture.

Keeping the roots cool is another valuable function mulches perform. They also prevent soil cracks. In time they improve the texture of the soil, since they become incorporated in it by decomposing.

At the time of your moisture conservation is of prime importance. Certain sections of the country tend to lack sufficient rainfall during the hot months when we would have our gorgeous bloom with flowers and our vegetable garden producing top quality food for the table.

Mulches can do a lot to counteract this tendency. If you plan to take a two-week vacation mulches can stay on and protect your precious plants. Soak the soil around the plants and apply a mulch four inches thick. Soak that too! chemical plant food for each half bushel of mulch, or a generous amount of pulverized sheep or cow manure obtainable at your local feed store.

(A) Evidently, the original regulator was defective or improperly adjusted, and was allowing too high a charging rate in the generator-battery circuit.

G.M. writes: "When I run my car up a hill or at a fairly high speed, a noticeable noise develops in the engine and it gradually loses power. If I stop, however, there is no difficulty in starting up again. This trouble continues despite replacement of the fuel pump and lines, the carburetor, distributor and spark plugs. The fuel tank was also examined and timing thoroughly checked. Can you shed some light on this?"

(A) Has any check been made on valve action? The symptoms you describe could be due to sticking valves or faulty valve springs.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

LOTS OF LUCK!

What made Don McNevin take over the sponsorship of the senior "B" hockey club? Ask him and he'll say, "I don't know."

The popular butter—and business man told us after the meeting the other night that he had no more ideas of taking over the club when he entered the city hall than did the bloke in the moon. "As a matter of fact," he said, "I came very near not going to the meeting."

There could be a psychological touch to this sponsorship business as far as Don is concerned. He has an inherent love for sport. Deep inside him is a yen to operate a sports organization. Not from a dictatorial point of view, but from sheer love of it.

Maybe he did not know it but this "second" Don McNevin led him to the city hall. He heard the discussions. The suggestions. The more or less debates. He heard some foolish heckling, too.

Perhaps a wave of nostalgia swept over him. Perhaps the fun and enjoyment of that season three years ago when he sponsored the Glen Roys flooded his memory.

DON McNEVIN

"I enjoyed every minute of that season," he told us. "I found out that team spirit and internal harmony in a club are two of the main ingredients for success. I had that three years ago and I am fully confident I will get it again. I liked the boys—and I believe they liked me. I treated them to the best of my ability and in return they gave me everything they had on the ice surface. That is the way it should be. And I intend to do it that way this season."

The thing that definitely made up Don's mind to take over the club was the enthusiasm of the meeting. He said: "When I saw that those people were sincere and really wanted hockey, especially apart from city jurisdiction, I made up my mind."

"I am not going into this thing to make money," he said. "I will be very happy and satisfied if I break even."

Naturally we quizzed Don about player and other arrangements.

"It is too early yet," he said, "but the wheels will be starting this afternoon. I know that we need four imports and a coach. These will be secured, but as of now, I am not quite recovered from the fact that I have a senior hockey on my hands."

"However," he added, "you can rest assured that I will obtain the best talent procurable. At the moment I have no ideas as to a coach. Golly," he grinned, "this thing has taken me off my feet."

Somebody made the statement at the meeting that the city and district fandom would be more solidly behind a private sponsor than it would a city organization. We will go 100 per cent for that. It was plainly evident at the meeting after McNevin made his announcement.

From a newspaper point of view and we feel quite safe in including Jack Devine of CJBQ, this department is solidly in support of Mr. McNevin. Both Devine and this department know from past experience that Don McNevin is of tonight character. We supported him and the Glen Roys three years ago and we had a happy association. And in case some wisecracker yells "You got paid for it," nothing is further from the truth. This department and Devine was never offered a nickel in return for any publicity, by Don McNevin. That is the way it should be. And that is the way it is going to be.

Personally I think the McNevin sponsorship is the best thing that could happen. Hockey is away from city jurisdiction. And I believe along with radio confere Devine, that the city and district fandom will align itself solidly behind Don McNevin.

McNevin won't let the fans down. Late last night the wheels were rolling along the player and coach trail. McNevin, like the rest of us, wants a winning team and he won't spare the horses to get it for Belleville.

Don came to Belleville in 1940. He operated the Glen Roys creamery. A busy man, yes, but that inside sports urge thundered at him. He did not know many sports enthusiasts. He was a member of Holloway Street United Church, and here he got his sports start. He organized what was called the "Energetic Club." He donned a uniform. He played. While he was not of major league calibre, Don did a good job.

Later that sports urge rapped him consistently. He looked around for other fields. He organized the Glen Roy Athletic Club with the help of Marty Halloran. The club entered a major softball club. It did a good job.

The next year Don decided that there were enough junior softball players in the city to represent it. He got them together. He tabbed them the Glen Roys—and the rest is sports history. McNevin's Glen Roys swept through to the first all-Ontario Junior "A" championship. He believes in doing everything at a high rate of speed. (Gad, will we ever forget that return trip from North Bay via Algonquin Park to Belleville.)

Later he sponsored the senior "B" hockey club. That, too, is history. Now he is back into the fold. And fandom of this city should go all out to support a guy that had the guts to retrieve Belleville senior hockey from what appeared to be a pauper's grave.

We cannot end this piece without a bit of tribute to city editor Claude Tice, chairman of the Arena Commission. Alderman Tice, one of the five who battled against odds to keep the arena alive, called what we tab a "desperation" meeting. If this had not been done, Don McNevin through reasons stated above, would not have assumed the sponsorship of the senior club.

However, "we are in" Belleville again will thank its colors in senior "B" hockey. Which is the way it should be.

Scatters Eight Card Clouts, Hits Homer, Double, 2 Singles; Yanks Drop Tribe to Third

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A year ago, Don Newcombe's failure was one of the reasons Brooklyn lost the pennant. Now, he may well be the most valuable figure in what looks like a Dodger runaway in the National League. Newk was 20-9 in 1954, before leaving for the army, and the big right-hander's return last season was to have clinched their straight flag for the Bronx. But on top of Roy Campanella's injuries, Newcombe was only a 9-8 pitcher and Brooklyn was only a runnerup.

Newcombe's making up for all that this season. He was one of the big guys in Brooklyn's fast get-away, and now that injuries have slowed the Dodgers a bit, Newcombe's become the stopper.

He halted a three-game Brooklyn slump Friday, both on the mound and at the bat. Newcombe scattered eight hits, hit a homer, a double, two singles, and a six-run rally with his sixth homer to win 12-3. Coupled with Milwaukee's 1-0 defeat at Philadelphia Tuesday night, that put Brooklyn 11½ games out front again.

HIS 15th WIN

Newk really had himself a day. It was his 15th victory, against one defeat, and he had two singles, a double in addition to the home record for pitchers. He drove in three runs in the Dodgers' 16-hit attack on five St. Louis hurlers. Two of the RBIs came in the eighth—inning outright when he chipped in his homer and a single.

With their lead back in shape, Brooklyn's main worry now may be the New York Giants, who continued their revival by grabbing third place from Chicago with a 5-3 victory over the Cubs. Cincinnati whipped Pittsburgh 9-1, in the other NL game, tying St. Louis for fifth place.

In the American, New York dunned Cleveland to third with a 4-3 decision in 10 innings. Chicago took over second, 4½ games behind the Yanks, by edging Washington 5-4. Baltimore whipped Kansas City 8-5, rain postponed Boston to Detroit.

The Giants moved up 14½ games behind Brooklyn by winning their eighth in the last nine. Jim Hearn took his ninth triumph after New York scored four runs in the first inning. Willie Mays, "til now a humpty-dumpty for Cub hurlers, got 3-for-3. Jim King homered for the Cubs, who had Randy Jackson, Dee Fondy and Hank Sauer on the bench in a lineup switch that didn't keep Chicago from losing its eighth in 11 games.

COOLED THEM OFF

Murry Dickson cooled off the Braves, who had won 19 of 26, giving just three hits. A walk and Marv Blaylock's triple produced the run in the eighth as Lefty Burdette lost a six-hitter.

The Yanks caught up with Cleveland's 3-0 lead in the ninth on Eddie Robinson's three-run homer off Early Wynn. Then Irv Noren smacked Mike Garcia for the home run that won in the 10th. Two earned runs in the first and Al Rosen's homer fell short for the Tribe, with Tom Morgan the winner in relief.

Bob Kennedy's two-run triple in the ninth won for the White Sox, who trimmed the Senators for the 11th straight time and knocked the Nats into a virtual tie with Baltimore for seventh place. Dixie Howell won in relief after Chuck Stobbs and loser Johnny Schmitz held the Sox hitless for six frames until Kennedy connected.

The Red Sox ran up a 28-run total against the Bucs in two games, with Joe Nuxhall, one of the all-star game heroes, hitting a three-run homer and scattering five hits before giving way in the seventh.

Qualify For Ladies' Semis

KINGSTON (CP)—Shirley Woodley of Toronto Ladies Friday qualified with three other golfers for the semi-finals of the eastern provinces medal-play tournament, which will be played here Saturday.

Miss Woodley defeated Mrs. C. McKenzie, Toronto Ladies, 6 and 5 in the third round Friday after defeating Miss B. Kimmerly, Napanee, 3 and 2 in the morning.

Others reaching the semi-finals were Mrs. N. J. Carlson, Toronto Ladies; Mrs. P. Thompson, Kingston; and Mrs. Pat Culahan, Smiths Falls.

MEWPORT, Wales (AP)—Mrs. Maria Weiss of Argentina, won the women's Welsh lawn tennis championship Friday by defeating Ann Haydon of Birmingham, England, 1-6, 6-1, 6-2. The 16-year-old Miss Haydon is the 1951 Wimbledon junior champion.

Dodgers Recall Royals Ace, Leafs Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal's ace, Roger Craig, is on his way to Brooklyn today, and him may go the Royals' chances of overhauling the pennant-bound Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League. The righty was the mainstay of manager Greg Mulvey's mound staff with a 10-2 record.

Two and a half weeks ago Toronto withstood a similar "disaster" when the Chicago White Sox called up pitcher Connie Johnson. Since that time, however, the Leafs have extended their lead over the Royals from 1½ to 4½ games behind the pitching of Ed Blake, Ken Johnson and Jack Crimian, who have garnered 34 victories among them.

GAME SUSPENDED

Trailing 7-5 at Havana Friday night, the Royals received a reprieve when the game was suspended in the seventh to allow the teams to catch a plane. For the second day in a row, Richmond and Buffalo split a doubleheader, Richmond winning the first game 3-0 and Buffalo the second 3-1. The 3-0 and Buffalo clobbered Columbus 11-3. Rochester and Syracuse were rained out.

Montreal blew a 5-0 lead gained in the first two frames on Rocky Nelson's three-run 13th homer and Charley Neal's 12th. Nino Escalera's circuit clout gave Havana its temporary edge.

The Toronto tide rolled over four hapless Jet pitchers while Crimian coasted to his 10th victory against four defeats. Archie Wilson led the attack with three hits, including a two-run homer. His five runs batted in upped his league-leading total to 81, 22 ahead of Montreal's Nelson. Lou Limmer continued his sensational slugging as he pounded his 17th home run—the third in two nights and fifth in his last 12 at bats.

Buffalo and Richmond are making a grudge fight out of the race for seventh place. Jimmy Stump twirled a six-hitter to give the Bisons the split in the second game after Ebba St. Claire's three-run homer won the first encounter for Richmond.

Letter To Sports Editor

APPRECIATION

Dear Mr. Sports Editor:—I was fortunate in being one of the many citizens who packed Council Chamber the other night to rehab the senior B hockey situation, and like the rest of them, received the very good news that Senior B Hockey will survive thanks to Don McNevin. You have printed the facts of the meeting, and now I would like to give credit where I honestly feel credit is due. Many thanks to Alderman Claude Tice for taking it upon himself to arrange for such a meeting and for conducting it the way he did.

It was nice to see Alderman Frank Gramma, Jerry Hyde, Ralph Graham, Arty Keegan, Mrs. Jane Forrester and Enos David and Bram Humphreys there—and much nicer to see the Arena Commission jump to their feet to accept Don McNevin's proposition. May I make one suggestion to the Claude Tice—and that is that the arena commission will never again allow unfair or unexplained criticism to be hurled at Don McNevin, as it was three years ago, when he successfully operated senior B. hockey. He has proved that he is good for senior B. hockey, and Bruce Smith left no doubts as to the work and expense involved in running the club, so let's get behind Don McNevin—he has a big job ahead of himself.

In the meantime, let's plan on attending all the hockey games. It is so much nicer paying the turnstiles to keep the arena open, than to pay an increased tax rate. See you at the first game.

British Profits Below Par After 500 Years of Golf

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP)—After 500 years, golf in Britain isn't shooting par on its profits.
Too many clubs have shut down. And the game isn't attracting enough youngsters to fill the spiked shoes of oldtimers.
That's the sad word from Capt. W. G. L. Folkard, secretary of the English Golf Union, the controlling body of amateur English golfers.
"During its long existence, it is certain that the game has known lean times," says Capt. Folkard. "It is perhaps not passing through a lean time now, but it has known better times."
HIGH COSTS
There are "far too many clubs" today not making enough money to pay the way. The high cost of joining a club—cutting into membership, and the higher cost of maintaining lush countryside courses is causing even greater hardship.
Capt. Folkard says the war knocked most golf clubs for a loop. Some courses were turned into farms, and today—10 years after the war—many are still growing golfing instead of a new crop of golfing enthusiasts.
"Other courses," he adds, "were closed owing to the lack of members and have never re-established themselves."

Even so, there are still 1,836 golf clubs in the United Kingdom, 394 of them in Scotland, birthplace of the game. More than 400 persons are active in the sport, but most of them are golfers of middle and older ages.
Many more potential dividend-givers might take up golf if the cost wasn't so high, says Capt. Folkard. Scots' passion for the game results in toddlers and golfers rounding the courses, where the game was born, less much lower than in England, where social prestige is almost as important as putting ability.
Example: Two guineas to join a club in Scotland and 18 guineas in better-known London area clubs.

PROFITS LOW
On top of this comes the cost of clubs, from £20 for five adequate clubs in a simple bag to at least £75 for 14 clubs and a lavish bag. Thrifty Scots, generally playing the game for the game's sake with close concentration, use far fewer clubs than their English counterparts.
If money is barring many potential players—especially younger ones—from golf, the same difficulty is hampering many golf courses, says the EGU secretary.
One club, he explains, makes more money on its catering services than on the course.

St. Kitts' Darkhorse Man to Watch In Final Rounds for Millar Trophy

By CLYDE BATTEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
TORONTO (CP)—A 33-year-old golfer with no big wins to his credit in Canadian competition was the man to watch today in the final rounds of the Millar Trophy tournament.
Bill Kozak, a pre-tournament darkhorse from St. Catharines, Friday blasted his way into the semifinal round with a 4 and 3 victory over veteran Gordon Brydson of Toronto Mississauga.

On the first hole in the quarter-finals, he fired a birdie three. Before Brydson could rally, seven holes had gone by and he was four down.
"I could have played him blind today," Kozak said after carding his decisive win over the par-72 Burlington course.

FOUR BIRDIES
"What can you do when he throws four birdies at you like that?" asked the weary Brydson.
The combination of that and the 36 holes were too much for the veteran. Strong contender is Murray Tucker, the Toronto Rosedale pro who registered a 3 and 1 win over Bill Thompson of Toronto Downsview, early pace-setter in the tournament.
Thompson, who led the field of 32 qualifiers in the medal-play round with a seven-under-par 65, ran into trouble Friday. He missed several four-footers on the front nine and never recovered.

Gord Delat of Weston turned back Bob Lamb, Toronto Summit in the quarter-finals with a 3 and 2 victory. Delat's win came after an uphill fight on the back nine when he was one hole down after the turn.
The other semi-finalist 21-year-old Frank Whibley, Toronto Mississauga, was pushed to the 20th hole before he scored a birdie to take the match from Clair Chinery of Hamilton Chedoke.

FINAL FOR TODAY
Kozak meets Delat and Tucker goes against Whibley in the semifinal today. The 18-hole final also scheduled for today.
In the race for a share of the $2,500 prize money, the original field of 63 starters now is reduced to four, one of whom will take the $700 first prize money at the end of today's play.
Friday's rounds were played over the 6,495-yard course soaked with rain from an early-morning downpour. Early starters and late finishers were caught in driving rains which were needed by the sun-parched greens and fairways but did nothing to improve the golf.

Major upset in Friday's early round was the victory of Bill Thompson over Al Balding, Credit Valley, the defending champion. Balding won the event in 1932 and '34 and couldn't match Thompson's driving power and lost 2 up after his chip shot on the 18th hole dropped far short of the green.

OTHER UPSETS
Two other minor upsets were scored when Whibley turned back Hugh Borthwick, an unattached pro, with an 8 and 6 victory, and Bill Kozak defeated veteran Lloyd Tucker, Kitchener Rockway, 2 and 1.
A consolation round was held Friday for golfers whose scores were higher than the qualifying mark of 75 in the medal-play qualifying round.

Veteran Lou Cumming, Toronto, picked up the winner's $400 prize, while Peter Finlayson, Toronto Cedar Brae, won $30 for second place and Norman Hunt, Toronto, won $30 for third spot.

Turnesa Leads Milwaukee Open

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Little Jim Turnesa, one of seven golfing brothers, fired a record 7 under par 63 Friday that carried him into first place at the halfway point of the $35,000 Milwaukee open golf tournament.
A 36-hole total of 130 moved the 1952 PGA title past the first day's play. Dr. Cary Middlecoff, of Klamath Lake, N.Y., Turnesa, of Briarcliff, N.Y., was in at 31 and broke in 32 over the par 70 Blue Mound Country Club. He claimed a 67 in the first round Thursday.

Middlecoff, who matched the course record with a 64 Thursday, added a 67 Friday and was one stroke off the pace at 131.
Par was beaten 44 times Friday and the surge of great games left one prominent victim, Jack Fleck, Davenport, Iowa, the 1955 U.S. Open champion, added a 73 to his opening 72 for a 145 and failed to qualify for the final 36 holes. It took a 142, only two strokes over regulation for 36, to get into the final rounds.
The tremendous shooting provided an early record Friday when Walter Innman Jr., Augusta, Ga., raced through the back nine in 28 shots, seven under par. Middlecoff set the old record Thursday at 28.
Inman was 37 on the first nine and 145-136 for the first two days. Among the others at 136 was Sam Snead, pre-tourney favorite from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., on rounds of 69-67.

Aussies Favored For Zone Title
CHICAGO (AP)—Australia's talent-loaded tennis crew, winning Friday's two open men's singles matches, today was heavily favored to deliver a clinching doubles punch to win the American zone Davis Cup showdown with Mexico. Two more singles matches are scheduled Sunday, but an expected victory by Lew Hoad and Rex Hartwig, winners of the recent Wimbledon title, over Mexico's Gustavo Guerrerro, over Mexico's Gustavo Guerrerro, will settle things for the Aussies.
In other Davis Cup matches around the world Friday, Chile broke even with Sweden in their European zone semi-final round, Italy advanced to the finals with a triumph over Britain and will meet the winner between Chile and Sweden in the final. The first two over Cuba in the North American zone competition.
Sunday's two-match singles in Chicago will reverse the lineup of Friday's competition in which Ken Rosewall thumped Panlafa, 6-3, 7-5, 6-2, and Hartwig conquered 18-year-old Esteban Reyes, 6-0, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Yesterday's Stars
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pitching—Murry Dickson, Phillies, shut out Milwaukee 4-0 on four singles and kept the Braves from scoring over the last three innings.
Hitting—Don Newcombe, Dodgers, batted 4-for-5, including two singles and his sixth either the Braves or the Dodgers.
League record for pitchers, which was set by Noodles Hays, 15-1, was broken by Noodles Hays, 15-1, who won 15-1 over St. Louis.

Ron Capra Wins Junior Golf Crown

TORONTO (CP)—Slender 17-year-old Ron Capra of Dundas Valley was the only one to beat St. George's elusive par Friday as he won the Ontario junior golf championship.
Capra shot a one-under-par 71 on the 6,845-yard layout to edge Gill Sweeney of Guelph Cullen Club by one stroke.
Spectators expected a two-way battle between Billy Bell, 18, of Aurora Highlands and 16-year-old Gary Cowan of Kitchener Rockway, who started earlier this year in the Ontario amateur tournament. Bell, junior champion, and Cowan both finished well back with 79s.

All age-groups played only 18 holes as a result of a violent storm which halted the morning proceedings and drenched the course.
Capra, whose round included four birdies, said he didn't mind the greens.
"My putter was working fine today," he said. He had to birdie the last hole to win.

Phil Sweeney, 14, of Toronto Cedar Brae took top honors in the juvenile division, 14 and 15 years. The diminutive golfer amazed spectators with his long drives, shooting a 70.
Bobby Panasuk, only 13, of Windsor Lakewood also shot a 79 to take the bantam championship. The top two performers in each of the 14, 15, 16, and 17 years age groups. Friday's victory to Washington early in September to vie for the Simpson Cup. In four years of competition, the District of Columbia eight-man team has won three times.

BIRDIE ON LAST
This year's team will consist of: 17 years, Ron Capra, Dundas Valley, who shot 71, and John Duda, Windsor Essex, 79; 16 years, Gary Cowan, Kitchener Rockway, 79, and Ernie Bell, Brantford, 80; 15 years, Son White, Brantford, 80; 14 years, Phil Brownlee, Toronto Cedar Brae, 79, and Bobby Panasuk, Windsor Lakewood, 79.

Elgins Blank Red Sox 8-0
BRANTFORD (CP)—Southpaw Bill Jamieson pitched a seven-hit shutout here Friday night as St. Thomas Elgins defeated Brantford Red Sox, 8-0, in an Intercity Senior Baseball League game.
The team was defeated 20th in 29 games, and left the cellar-dwelling Red Sox five games behind the 14th-place Elgins.
Jim Halkard with two doubles and a homer led the Elgins' 12-hit attack. Don Beyer and Ray Urban had two hits apiece. Stan Lipka had two hits for the Red Sox.

Harold Bishop, who gave up five runs and six hits in the first seven innings, was charged with the loss. Southern Earl Macdonald finished up at the expense of three runs and six hits.

British Cadets Beat Canadians
BISLEY, England (CP)—It has been confirmed that the Canadian Army cadets lost by two points to British cadets in the Great Bell Trophy competition, shot last Monday as part of the Bisley rifle tournament.
The Canadian Press carried this result at the time but later, on information from an army source, put out a corrective story saying the Canadians had won, 726 to 724.
Official results show that the Canadian team did, in fact, lose by two points. Confusion due to close scores of the score apparently led the army source to give a wrong result.

Fuca Claims Another Victim
S4 ldywyd v July 16
VICTORIA (CP)—Cramps in both legs stopped John Glisz's attempt to swim 18-mile Juan de Fuca strait after 11 minutes in the chilly water Friday night.
The well-muscled, 25-year-old German immigrant entered the water at Gonzales point here at 8:53 p.m. and covered about one mile, in his previous attempt, on April 14, he was taken from the water suffering from exposure and shock after only 40 minutes and half a mile.

FIGHT FOR OLSON
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The Portland boxing commission Friday night approved an Aug. 13 fight featuring Carl (Bobo) Olson, world welterweight champion.
Promoter Tommy Mowbray said an opponent has not been selected but that he has offered $15,000 to anyone who can beat Olson.
Olson, who is 26, is a native of Chicago and has fought in San Francisco, where he won a title in July 32.

Solunar Notes The Return of the Fly Rod

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT.
Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solunar Tables
Back in 1936 my good friend, Charles Ritz, of Paris, France, came to this country for a visit. With him he brought a Luxor spinning reel, made by the firm of Pizzone and Michele of Paris. It was the first one of these reels I had seen and, so far as I know, the first Luxor to come to this country.
When Charley went back to New York I took the reel and some of the French spinning lures he gave me over to Broadhead's Creek in the Poconos. Using an eight-foot fly rod as a spinning rod, I gave the reel a work-out.

Of course, in those productive waters, I caught trout. It took only a short time, however, for the novelty to wear off. Gradually I reached the point where I felt like apologizing to every trout I engaged with that miserable outfit. After two or three trials I relegated the thing to the museum. Now it reposes in the "museum" in my office.

I was not alone in this experience. One of my fishing friends imported a spinning reel from England and, some years before I came, used it in the streams of central Pennsylvania. His reaction was the same as mine. He used it three times, caught a few fish, and then retired it, chalking up his experience to experience, no doubt as an entry in the profit and loss column.

GRADUALLY
Gradually the spinning fad spread. Like any fad, it gained popularity rapidly and after a few years there were more spinning rods on the shelves than there were fly rods. Contrary to sales talk and general belief, the trout didn't suffer too much. The spinning boys caught fish, of course, but not as many as there were to believe they would catch.

Three seasons ago, I noticed a decline in the ranks of the spin-fishermen. It was not uncommon to see anglers on the stream carrying two rods—a spinning rod and an admitted fly rod. One would be in use while the other was shoved down into its back of the waders for future reference.

Seems Blue Bombers Chances Rest on Jack Jacobs' Arm
By THE CANADIAN PRESS
If quarterback Indian Jack Jacobs makes a successful comeback, Winnipeg Blue Bombers will have a good chance in the Western Interprovincial Football Union this season. If he doesn't, they may be up the creek with a gimpy passing arm.
Already the Bombers have quarterback troubles.
They ran into a snag Friday when it was learned that Impulse Freeman from Auburn University, a hot-shot quarter-back, was counting on for the 1955 football campaign, was jumping his contract to play for Cleveland Browns of the National Football League. The same reports had centre Jack Locklear, also from Auburn, making the same decision.
The loss of Freeman leaves Bombers with Indian Jack as the only logical signal-caller. And the state of his arm isn't known.

HAD POOR SEASON
Jacobs, with Winnipeg for the last five years, had the poorest season of his big-league career last year. He underwent an operation on the elbow of his passing arm during the winter. Nobody knows yet whether he can regain his old form.
If Jacobs doesn't make the grade, the Bombers are in a jam. The only other player able to take the job would be Buddy Lenke from the University of Oklahoma. Lenke, a first-year player, has been placed on waivers. Riders had 64 candidates out for their practice.

Cielsa Signs With Black Hawks
ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Hank Cielsa, centre and captain of St. Catharines Tigers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League, has signed a contract with the National Hockey League Chicago Black Hawks.
He was signed by Tommy Ivan, general manager of the Hawks, Thursday. Terms of the contract were not disclosed.
During the 1954-55 season, Cielsa won the Eddie Powers Memorial Cup as the most valuable player in the Junior A circuit. He also captured the Red Tilson Trophy for being the leading scorer—with 57 goals and 44 assists in 49 games.

Eddolls Will Coach Bisons
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Frank Eddolls, coach Chicago Black Hawks in the National Hockey League last season, was signed Friday to coach Buffalo Bisons in the American League.
Eddolls coached the Bisons two seasons before going up to the Hawks last fall. The Hawks now own the Bisons.
Tommy Ivan, general manager of the Hawks, said Eddolls, who coached the Bisons into the finals of the Calder Cup playoffs last season, will remain in the Black Hawks organization.
Dick Irvin, coach of Montreal Canadiens, was signed earlier to pilot the Black Hawks.

Only Weather Will Prevent Channel Swim

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail quotes Gus Ryder of Toronto, coach of swimmer Marilyn Bell, as saying today that only unsafe weather conditions will prevent Marilyn from attempting to cross the English channel this summer.
In a telephone interview with Ryder at Folkestone, England, the newspaper quotes Ryder as saying that Marilyn, the 17-year-old Toronto miss who conquered Lake Ontario last year, is suffering from a throat irritation but "I know she can swim the English channel just as I know she could swim Lake Ontario."

BAN AUTO RACING
open road auto racing has been banned for the rest of 1955 as an emergency safety measure.
The only exception to the ruling was for short-distance uphill races held in the Italian Alps and dolomites in which the roads usually are blocked off.
Previously open road motorcycle racing was banned as a result of three deaths within a few weeks.

Sandwich Spread Disastrous To Bearded Russian Brothers

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor
Muscle sandwiches featured the mat menu at Memorial Arena last night.
Garish with white referee sauce, they provided fast fare for the frying faithful.
It was fast, but brief, and before the city Big Men had passed the 10:30 mark, the peering faithful had trooped out of the humid atmosphere.
Joe Gollob (how's that, Joe?) and Bert Maxwell, the judge and jury, sweated off much of their age playing Ring-Around-Rose with four perspiring pachyderms. But the crowd didn't mind. The Kalmikoff brothers, tops on the local hate parade, got their come-uppance at the hands of Lord Athol Layton and his Samoan Highness Prince Malava.

The entire six of 'em mingled, mangled and mobbed around ring at once. It opened like a old-fashioned hood-down with Gollob and Maxwell dosy-doing as the Russkys and their foemen swung as they met.
Occasionally the white-shirted duo would stick their respective pusses in front of a Russian upper-cut or a Laytonian judo chop and repose peacefully on the mat. But it was all good clean fun.

The first fall was short and to the point. It lasted exactly nine minutes, ending in a four-tier sandwich with the referees' chins scraping the mat in an effort to discover who was on the bottom. In this case it was Karol, the Kuss.
Layton and the Prince, to the accompaniment of Coconut Willie's skin instrument, had merely seized the Russky freres by the neck napes, backed in opposite corners, then charged across the ring. Came a resounding thump as the Muscovite noggin collided and the freres willed like two-day-old lettuce.

Just to make sure the Prince plucked his bearded bucaroo prone on the mat then hopped aboard. Layton plunked his half of the whickered Willies as the third tier then spread its six-foot six frame over the squirming whole.
The second fall was shorter, lasting some six minutes. Then infuriated Kalmikoffs swung into it to attack war dance and gave our heroes a few unpleasant moments. Gads they had Layton and Prince reeling and rolling—and occasionally plunked a white shirt just for the helvut.

Came a big flurry and the hull shebang was on the floor in a maze of thrashing arm and legs. Then out of the octopus-like goings-on emerged a whiskered mug. Karol flopped on Layton, Ivanovich deposed the Prince neatly and firmly atop brother Karol then climbed about to complete the four-tier lay-out.
Came the third semester and Layton and the Prince made no bones about it. The Prince clobbered the Russkys with that coconut-like cranium then teaming with pal Athol, turned in an excellent facsimile of a sculling pair with the whiskered one helpless between them.
Layton, who was quarterbacking the team called for the sandwich play. Malava went around left end and plastered Karol in the mat. The pieces fell into position and while the faithful howled, the referees signalled victory for the Russians.

Doc Gallagher, a silver-thatched stranger who has some resemblance to Gorgeous George, made his debut of villainy here. He won over Sandy Scott in a swashbuckling bout that proved all the mat villains are not dead. Jan Gotch another "bad man" met his Waterloo at the hands and feet of Sammy Berg in the opener.

Pirie Beaten By Norris
LONDON Reuters—Ken Norris, 24-year-old sporting goods salesman, won the six-mile race at the British track and field championships Friday night after a grueling battle with Gordon Pirie, who staggered off the track exhausted when entering the last lap. Norris won in 29 minutes, 0.6 seconds.
Norris and Pirie, who is considered Britain's best prospect for the distance events at the 1956 Olympic Games, raced in humid, 78-degree heat.
Pirie led until Norris forged ahead just before the halfway mark. Norris, with Pirie close behind, lunged tenaciously to his slender lead for 10 more laps. Then Pirie battled to the front as they went into the last quarter-mile bell lap.
The effort proved too much, and Pirie's face ashen and his legs rubbery, reeled across the track and clung to the fence for support until officials ran to his aid. He had to receive medical attention before being helped to the dressing room. He blamed the heat for his loss.

ALL HAVE STARTED
All teams in the WIFU and the Big Ten have started the drills. Besides the Bombers, Montreal Alouettes and Ottawa Rough Riders began training Friday night.
There was a surprise development in the Edmonton Eskimos camp. The club said Frankie Morris, star guard with the 1954 Grey Cup champion Eskos, has retired. The 31-year-old Morris, one of the best native-born defensive linemen in the game, wants to devote full time to his family and job.
Fifty-one players turned out for the Alouettes workout. Eighteen of them were Americans.
Tex Coulter, 30-year-old tackle who signed a contract with Montreal earlier this year, signed a new agreement Friday as playing coach. Coulter, an all-American at the age of 19, played four years at West Point and six years with New York Giants of the NFL before going to Montreal.
The Rough Riders, meanwhile, announced that Gene Choo Choo Roberts, who won the league scoring title two years ago, has been placed on waivers. Riders had 64 candidates out for their practice.

Police Blotter

Boys on the East Hill are being blamed for the theft of money from milk bottles.

On Friday three householders reported theft of money left outdoors in milk bottles. The thieves took money from a home on Poster north of Victoria, on Albert Street south of Bridge Street and on Queen Alexandra Ave.

Yesterday's three thefts bring to five the number of milk bottles robbed in two days this week.

A Dundas Street resident reported that children have been uprooting plants in his vegetable garden.

The usual number of sleepy heads were transferred from Fireman's Park to the city jail for sobering rest. Noisy family quarrels were toned down.

Once was not enough for Gary Evan Shortliffe son of the well-known Kingston actress Margaret Shortliffe to topple from a cliff in the motion picture "The Little Canadian"; it had to be done eight times to satisfy director Mel Turner on location at Abby Dawn near Kingston.
And to make matters worse, the fall was not faked and it was a good 20 feet down from the top.
Of course in the movie it is supposed to be 50 feet and it certainly looks it, but a net catches the boy below the camera's eye. However he does fall 20 feet—which language. The first time he toppled from the cliff the net came loose at one corner and Gary avoided striking his head on a jagged rock by two inches.

Asked how he felt after so many tries at falling for the camera Gary said nonchalantly:
"Oh, it's part of the job. It's like getting licked. My foster-father, in the picture of course, licks me about every time he sees me, which is enough, believe me. I got to where I started walking around backwards. I was scared everyone I met was going to grab a switch and make for me.

Gary Evan Shortliffe, a newcomer to the screen but not the stage, is introduced to the public

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Monday, July 18th, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—You cannot be perfect all the time, no matter how hard you try. None of us can. But the harder and more consistently we do try, the stronger and better we become and are happier for it.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Words to Aries applicable to you, also. Today offers fresh incentive for those who seek advantages and aim to hold them. Good intentions must have sturdy backbone. Try without straining or worry.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—You may be going along at too fast a pace and thus overlooking important little things, or overlooking other necessities. This is a good time for checking on self for possible errors of habit, attitude, motives.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—What you do, do in good faith and with the anticipation that it will be successful. Always believe in what you do. Without trying yourself, achieve the highest possible under present fine rays.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—A little fun, some good work, healthy exercise, associating with loved ones, religion and wholehearted life. Fill in the missing quickly. Laugh often.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—You may not wish to do a certain thing the way someone is suggested, but we must accept others' methods and plans occasionally. A happy home or workshop makes for amicable co-operation, tolerance.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Be flexible. Tackle first things first. Don't anticipate difficulties and there will be fewer. Dispatch duties promptly, and give some thought to future security, savings.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Not a day for carelessness, disregarding health or overeating—as may be the case ation. Maintain a practical pace, eat sensibly, and don't worry or lose faith!

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Don't make it difficult for yourself by quarrelling needlessly. Let those little foibles of others go unnoticed.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Once a subject or issue is closed, don't bring it up again, wasting time, talents and taxing dispositions. Anticipate only the best, and the best will be your fare. No "nerves".

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—You may have to administer to others; some may look to you for assistance. Give what you can in your usual first-rate, quietly efficient way. Dismiss some hostilities promptly but not in hurried fashion.

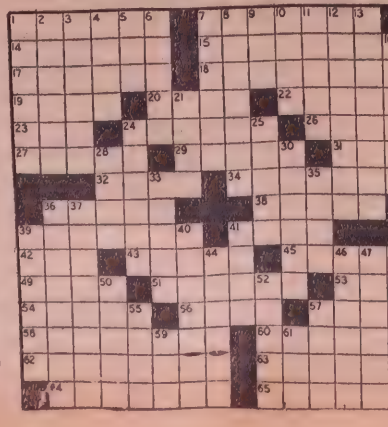

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—If you have much to do, begin promptly, but not in a feverish hurry. Hope, pray, and laugh often. If you have little on schedule now, do some things to free your hours later in the week.

You born today are a combination of the artistic and the practical. You can be very efficient, yet can also fall into moody, fretful spells, which you should try to control. Over-impulsiveness, imagining that you are being ridiculed, and hoarding old treasures may be faults. Your reserve, sympathy and love of family are outstanding. Birthdate of William Makepeace Thackeray, noted novelist. (Copyright, 1955, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Japs Tested
Germ Warfare,
Killing 2,000

TOKYO (AP) - A Japanese magazine Friday published what it said was an eyewitness account of Japanese germ warfare experiments during the Second World War.

Hirosaki Akiyama, writing in the current issue of Bungei Shunju, estimated that at least 1,500 to 2,000 persons were killed at a germ warfare centre 25 miles south of Hiroshima, Manchuria.

Akiyama, who claims he was assigned to the huge germ warfare unit as a drafted army civilian, said "human guinea pigs" were daily given germ injections.

When they died, he wrote, their bodies were burned in an incinerator.

TRIED OUT BOMBS

He also said Japanese army officers running the germ warfare centre experimented with germ-filled bombs. Human subjects were used to test the bombs, which were dropped from planes.

Later, he recounts, the germ warfare group experimented with a porcelain bomb packed with gelatin containing germs. When the bomb hit the ground, it splattered the germ-laden gelatin over the area.

MAP OF CANOE ROUTE

This map shows the route that a group of middle-aged canoeists will take in a 450-500 mile trip down the Churchill River from Ile-a-la-Crosse to Cumberland House on the Saskatchewan River. The group will fly to Ile-a-la-Crosse from Prince Albert, Sask., to start the long trip. They expect to make it in about three weeks canoeing time. From Ile-a-la-Crosse they will travel down the Churchill River to Frog Portage before going through a chain of lakes draining through Pelican Narrows and down the Sturgeon-Weir River into the Saskatchewan at Cumberland House. Depending on the time made the canoeists will end their trip at either Flin Flon or The Pas. (CP Photo).

Move on the Backswing

Notice in today's drawing that the club is taken away on the backswing with an "all-in-one-piece" rotation of hips, shoulders, arms and hands.

The left arm remains straight (but never stiff or tense). At this stage of the backswing the right arm and hand are almost completely relaxed and more or less riding as free passengers.

Note also that the wrists do not begin to cock until they get to about the height shown or even a little higher.

The picture further shows the correct foot and knee action on the backswing. Note that the weight has pretty much shifted to a straight (but not stiff) right leg, while the left heel is raised and the left knee is bent toward a point slightly behind the ball.

The clubhead should always be taken away from the ball low along the ground for eight or ten inches. It should also follow the line along or slightly inside, the line of flight—never outside of it.

Little Benny's
Note Book

Ma thinks pop ought to get his exercise by planting seeds and things instead of herting his bad back around at least 1,500 golf tees, and this morning at breakfast she said, William, have you given any more thought to the idea of cultivating a little garden in the back yard?

"Yes I have, and what's more, my dear, I followed the thought with action, pop said. You'll be pleased to hear that I stopped in at the gardening shop, he said, and he said, How wonderful, what kind of seeds did you buy?"

"Well, I didn't stop in long enough to actually buy seeds, pop said. I just stopped in long enough to inquire about the price of gardening tools, he said, and ma said, But William, we have a competent set of tools all ready and willing in the basement."

"I know, but I thought a set of brand new, shining, freshly painted tools would inspire me to bend my back back forward pop said, and ma said, Well, seems like you are a nervous wreck, but perhaps not."

"Still, 340 dollars for 4 items seems pretty stiff, pop said, and ma said, 340 dollars, for 4 tools, what are you talking about?"

"I'm talking about a spade, a rake, a trowel, and an automatic sprinkler system that turns itself on when you turn on the electric device, pop said, and ma said, for our tiny little plot of ground, what on earth were you thinking of?"

"I must have been thinking of a large garden, pop said. Anyway, my dear, I thought I better consult you first, he said, and ma said, William, you haven't the slightest intention of planting a single seed."

"You wrong me, my dear, I'm considering planting an acorn and waiting for results, pop said. And he kissed her goodbye and left for his office."

Canoe Party Will Continue
Covering Old Trade Routes

OTTAWA (CP) - A group of middle-aged canoeists will leave late this month to continue their long-range program of re-tracing the route of the old fur traders from Montreal to the Canadian Northwest.

A party of six, including A. H. J. Lovink, Netherlands ambassador and Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board, will start out from Ile a la Crosse, northwest of Prince Albert, Sask., and attempt to paddle down the Churchill river to Cumberland House on the Saskatchewan river—between 450 and 500 miles.

They expect to do it in about three weeks canoeing time. Last year they covered that part of the old fur-trading route from Lake Superior up the Pigeon river, over the height of land and down the Rainy river to Rainy lake.

WEEKEND TRIPS

Week-ends the party keeps in trim by doing sections of the route between Mattawa, Ont., and Montreal, down the Ottawa river. In another year or two they plan to have covered the whole route.

The canoeists organized in 1951 and began their project of covering the old trails. The present group of six includes a number of originals and the average age of this summer's adventurers is a little over 50 years.

In addition to Dr. Solandt and Ambassador Lovink they are Eric W. Morse, national director of Canadian clubs; Dennis M. Collican, president of the Canadian Bank Note Company, both of Ottawa; Maj.-Gen. Elliott Rodger, G.O.C. Frigate command, Winnipeg; and Sargent F. Olson, Ely, Minnesota, president of the National Parks Association of the U.S.

Mr. Collican is the newest to join the party, replacing Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's Magazine and an original who is unable to make the trip this year.

The voyaging is in no sense an official project but merely a summer holiday for the participants.

START JULY 23

This year they plan to put their canoes in the water about July 23 at Ile a la Crosse. Their route is down the Churchill river to Frog Portage, due north of Prince Albert. After the portage they go through a chain of lakes draining through Pelican narrows and down the Sturgeon weir river into the

Depending on the time made the canoeists will take out either at Flin Flon or The Pas in Manitoba.

They will buy canoes from a western supplier (Hudson's Bay Company) and sell them back at the end of the voyage. The party carries dehydrated food and depends largely on fish for fresh fare. There will be one re-provisioning at Stanley. They take no guides or helpers.

Copies from diaries kept by such old-time traders and travellers as La Verendrye, Alexander Mackenzie and Simon Fraser are carried for camp-fire reading at suitable spots along the historic waterway.

The canoeing group was formed in 1951 when three Canadians, Dr. Solandt, Mr. Morse and Mr. Fraser, invited three diplomats to visit some of Canada's inland water routes. The diplomats, in addition to Mr. Lovink, were A. D. van Nuyne, first secretary of the Netherlands embassy, and H. H. Woodward, deputy high commissioner of South Africa. Mr. van Nuyne and Mr. Woodward have since been transferred to other posts.

Fontana, Main, Bedard, Rochon,
Clash in Tennis Semi-Finals

By MEL MORRIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) - Lanky Don Fontana of Toronto appeared to have the inside track for the last berth on the Davis Cup team today as players moved into the semi-finals of the Canadian tennis championship.

Fontana, using his longer reach and superior height, eliminated fourth-seeded Larry Barclay 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 in a close two-hour match Friday. Peppery Barclay put up a game fight in the first two sets but Fontana gained strength as the match wore on and had it all his own way in the final set.

Fontana was joined in the semi-finals by three players already named to the Davis Cup team—Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., Lorne Main of Toronto and Henri Rochon of Montreal.

TOUGHEST TIME

Rochon had the toughest time in his quarter-final match, finally getting by Paul Willey of Vancouver 6-4, 9-7, 9-7. Willey dropped the first set and was trailing 5-1 in the second when he rallied to go ahead 6-5. Rochon, a 13-year-old veteran who will be playing on his ninth Davis Cup team, had enough left, however, to rally in return and pull out the 9-7 win.

Neither Main nor Bedard needed first and second respectively, had any trouble in their matches. Main ran off two matches, downing 10-seeded Don Platt of Toronto 6-2, 6-2, and eighth-ranked John Swan of Vancouver, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

Bedard, at the top of his game after a five-month tour of Europe, easily disposed of upset ace Val Harit of Montreal, 6-1, 6-4, 6-1. Harit, who beat Main in a tournament at Mont Gabriel earlier this year, had eliminated the last foreign entry, Paul Cranis of Brooklyn, N.Y., Wednesday, assuring a Canadian champion for the first time since 1950.

Fontana, who also made the European tour with Bedard, gained an edge over Willey, Swan and Barclay in the competition for the Davis Cup team by his win. All had been mentioned as possibilities for the squad before the tournament here.

ATTEND GENEVA CONFERENCE

Canada Still Ahead of U.S., U.K. in Building Reactors

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada still isously expected. ahead of the United Kingdom and the United States in construction of atomic energy reactors for a wide variety of experiments into the mysteries of the atom.

Trade Minister Howe made this clear Friday in the Commons in disclosing that the new $40,000,000 NRX reactor at Chalk River, Ont., is being remodelled to enable it to be used for experiments for the U.K. and the U.S.

Canadian ingenuity in the construction of atomic piles first was recognized in 1947 when the NRX reactor went into operation at the Chalk river plant operated by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., a crown company. Both the U.K. and U.S. have used NRX for experiments which cannot be duplicated in reactors in other western countries.

The NRX reactor was designed on the basis of operation and experience with NRX. It will be more powerful than NRX and permit specialized research into methods to use atomic energy for peaceful purposes, especially in the field of power.

Mr. Howe, who reports to Parliament for AECL, indicated the U.K. and the U.S. apparently have recognized the future value of NRX even while it still is under construction. The reactor is scheduled to go into operation in the fall of 1956 instead of the spring as previously planned.

The minister said Canada has been called on to do a "great deal of experiments" for the two countries on the new reactor. They were prepared to pay Canada to conduct some of their research.

"We have to somewhat remodel our last (NRX) reactor in order to make it possible to fill that role and we are paid for that (experimental) work," he said. "There again, that is a source of income that will grow from year to year."

Mr. Howe also said Canada will spend about $155,000,000 between now and the end of the 1960-61 fiscal year on atomic energy research. One of the current projects is development work on additional reactors.

Expenditures in the current 1955-56 fiscal year will be about $35,000,000. They would be $34,000,000 in 1956-57; $31,000,000 in 1957-58; $24,000,000 in 1958-59; $15,000,000 in 1959-60 and $16,000,000 in 1960-61.

They would be offset by revenues obtained through sales of cobalt-bomb therapy units, for treatment of cancer; isotopes, plutonium to the U.S. and experiments for other countries. He gave no estimate of anticipated revenues.

Replying to a question by Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra), Mr. Howe said "We are doing development work with other reactors." He did not elaborate but an official of his department said later this work has not reached a stage where any decision can be made on the advisability of building another experimental reactor.

Near-Monopoly Of Aircraft Industry Raised

OTTAWA (CP)—The spectre of a near-monopoly of the Canadian aircraft industry as a result of an offer by A. V. Roe Co. of Toronto to Canadian Car and Foundry Co. of Montreal was raised Friday in the Commons by the Progressive Conservative party's financial critic, J. M. Macdonnell, Toronto Greenwood, asked the government whether it has any views on the offer since it has invested a considerable amount of money in A. V. Roe. He suggested the government would become a partner in any merger of the two companies, which he said would constitute a near-monopoly.

Defence Production Minister Howe replied during study of his department's estimates that the offer made recently was a surprise to him. But if the merger were completed, it would involve less than 50 per cent of the aircraft industry's floor space.

(Mr. Macdonnell apparently referred to recent newspaper reports that Avro offered to buy the shares of Canadian Car shareholders.)

WANTS EFFICIENCY

Mr. Howe said he doesn't like large companies. But if a merger provided for efficient management, he did not think the interests of his department would be prejudiced.

As for the creation of a monopoly by the merger, he said there is not much competition in the aircraft industry anyway, except for a race to reduce production costs. John Pallett (PC—Peel) asked whether the government plans to help Avro convert to peacetime manufacture of aircraft to maintain full employment at the plant.

Mr. Howe replied the market for private planes is not very large. The government was not placing government contracts to help maintain high employment but to provide for the defence of Canada.

Tweed Tax Rate Is 65.7 Mills, 4½-Mill Boost

TWEED (Special)—Tax rate for this town has been boosted to 65.7 mills, an increase of 4.5 mills over last year's figure.

The higher rate is said to be due to a 2.3-mill increase in the country rate, a jump of two-tenths of a mill for the town's garbage collection and boost of 1.7 mills in the Centre Hastings High School rate.

The village rate, however, is reduced to 15.5 mills from the 1954 figure of 15.8 mills. The Consolidated School rate for the village also is lower at 14.4 mills from 14.8 mills last year. As yet, the separate school rate has not been determined but it is believed it will likely rise from the previous figure of 9.2 mills when the school board report is tabled in council shortly.

WEST OFFERS EUROPEAN SECURITY PLAN

Eisenhower Calls For End To Dreary Cold War Moves

Speech by President of U.S. Opens Geneva Summit Talks

GENEVA (AP)—President Eisenhower today called for an end of the "dreary exercises" of the cold war and urged East-West negotiations on a unified Germany, with special security safeguards for the Soviet Union.

The president addressed the Big Four "summit" meeting immediately after the leaders began their first meeting in the council chamber of the Palais des Nations, former home of the League of Nations and now European headquarters of the United Nations.

Speaking directly to Prime Minister Eden, Soviet Premier Bulganin and French Premier Faure, Eisenhower laid down a six-point program of action aimed at ending the dangers of atomic war, ushering in a period of atomic peace and eliminating iron curtains all over the world.

SIX-POINT PROGRAM

Here are the six points of Eisenhower's program:

1. German unification—disunity "creates a basic source of instability in Europe." Ways should be found to solve the problem "promptly and justly" and at the same time "take account of the legitimate security interests of the Soviet Union."

Eisenhower said Western treaties limiting West German armament provide some safeguard but made this offer:

"We are quite ready to consider for the West reciprocal safeguards which are reasonable and practical and compatible with the security of all concerned."

2. Satellite—the American people "feel strongly that certain areas of Eastern Europe, many with a long and proud record of national existence, have not yet been given the benefit of this pledge of our United Nations wartime declaration, reinforced by other wartime agreements." Presumably Eisenhower had in mind the Yalta agreements, which guaranteed free elections and democratic governments to Eastern Europe.

NO NATURAL BARRIERS

From curtains—the Americans people "want to be friends with the Soviet people" and there are no "natural" rivalries or conflicts between them, but "artificial barriers" block friendships. Eisenhower said "it is time that all curtains, whether of guns or laws or regulations, should begin to come down. But this can only be done in an atmosphere of mutual respect and confidence."

4. International communism—this has disturbed relations between Russia and other nations for 35 years. Eisenhower said "we cannot ignore the danger created by the support of such activities." He added, "In my nation and elsewhere it adds to distrust and therefore to international tension."

Disarmament—the president suggested a step-by-step approach concentrated primarily on "the challenging and central problem of effective mutual inspection." He declared that "armament reduction would and should ensure that part of the savings would flow into the less developed areas of the world to assist their economic development."

Eisenhower spoke not in terms of total disarmament but of limitation of armament. He said surprise attack in this atomic age has "a capacity for destruction far beyond anything known before. Therefore each power 'deems it

CIVIL DEFENCE BEING DEBATED IN PARLIAMENT

Montreal Member Hits Government's Program

OTTAWA (CP)—An opposition member of Parliament and the cabinet minister responsible for civil defence don't agree on the state of plans for mass evacuation of Canadian cities.

William Hamilton (PC—Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace) said he doesn't think the government's plans are much good. They should be more detailed, Health Minister Martin, responsible to Parliament for civil defence, is expected to appear today upon why he can't support Mr. Hamilton's view.

Their differing opinions appeared Saturday night, near the end of the Commons' first Saturday sitting since the present session began Jan. 7. The House, its attendance dwindling once to only one MP over the 20-member quorum required to transact business, also discussed—inconclusively—the perennial subject of national health insurance and treatment of narcotics addicts.

Mr. Hamilton brought civil defence into consideration of health department estimates with the claim that federal civil defence planners "have been pitifully... ineffective behind the United States."

Because of public apathy, civil defence in Canada was just a skeleton, although many in its organization were devoted people.

"It does not matter what a fine civil defence organization we have, what beautiful plans we have or how well trained our civil defence workers are, if the public... are not civil defence conscious and are not prepared to move and move in the right direction at the right time."

There should be detailed plans "so that an individual living on a specific street at a specific time will know what he has to do." The government should realize municipalities are unable to provide even limited funds for civil defence.

HAS PLANS READY

Mr. Martin, before his reply was interrupted by the Saturday adjournment, said the federal civil defence organization now can place plans for evacuation in the hands of any major community. On Sept. 22, he said, Calgary will carry out the largest evacuation of any city its size in North America.

Earlier Mr. Martin indicated the provinces still are far from agreement on the principle of national health insurance. He said only Saskatchewan has given a definite commitment in favor of such a program, jointly financed by federal and provincial governments.

Actual Talking at Geneva Will Be Limited to 8 Hours

By ALAN HARVEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA (CP)—History may be made in a matter of eight hours in this sweltering city of peace. That is to say, if momentous decisions are reached, they will be the result of only about eight hours of talking.

Time out for translations, one Canadian expert reckons, will probably limit the main Big Four spokesmen to about two hours apiece.

Most Western observers expect the six-day "summit" talks will be the prelude to a meeting of foreign ministers, probably in September. Geneva again is the obvious choice, but David Lawrence, in the New York Herald Tribune, says that Canada may "possibly" be chosen.

Canadian officials consider it extremely unlikely that such a meeting will be in North America, let alone Canada.

By a trick of history, the "summit" talks open exactly 10 years and one day after the ill-fated Potsdam conference which marked the beginning of East-West difficulties.

Four-Man RCMP Team Opens Probe Into Vancouver Police

VANCOUVER (CP)—A four-man RCMP team today begins investigating charges made last week before the Tupper royal commission inquiring into Vancouver's police force.

Inspector M. J. Y. Dube of Regina and a sergeant and two corporals from three municipalities surrounding this west coast city will make the investigation.

Attorney-general Robert Bonner announced Friday he had called in the RCMP after several witnesses at the Tupper commission told of pay-off deals involving high-ranking police officers and gamblers, bookmakers and bootleggers.

Assistant commissioner E. C. Rivitt-Carnac, head of the RCMP in this province, said he "assumes" criminal charges will be laid if the general investigators produce evidence of crime.

Walter Mulligan, suspended as police chief for the duration of Reginald H. Tupper's royal commission, has been named in statements about police protection pay-offs and Det.-Sgt. Archie Plummer said Mulligan and others are "allied with the criminal element in this city."

Through his lawyer, T. G. Norris, Mulligan stated during the weekend that in his testimony before the commission he will "deal with the men who have been making the accusations."

Mr. Tupper adjourned hearings Thursday for 10 days or two weeks. He is waiting for the recovery of Det.-Sgt. Len Cuthbert.

Churchill Dreams in Kent As Parley He Urged Meets

By JAMES F. KING

WESTERHAM, England (AP)—The old man put aside his easel and went to the window. He looked into the blue sky and then, still wearing slippers, walked outside into the wooded park in full bloom. Along the way he stopped to feed some goldfish in a pool.

He was in no great hurry, and a quiet summery day at Chartwell in the Kent countryside is a good day for reminiscing—a good day for dreaming, too.

For Sir Winston Churchill reminiscing and dreaming come easy when stirred by major events like the Big Four conference which opened today. His 80 years didn't hinder him to a place on the sidelines, but his thoughts are in Geneva.

More than two years ago, on May 11, 1953, he said in the House of Commons:

"I believe a conference on the highest level should take place between the leading powers without long delay."

"This conference should not be overhung by a ponderous or rigid agenda, or led into mazes or jungles of technical details, zealously contested by hordes of experts and officials drawn up in vast, cumbersome array."

"It might well be that no hard-fought agreements would be reached, but there might be a general feeling culled.

"Thus the Geneva meetings can be heralded as possible turning point, a definitive break in the cold war, a chance to unravel the onion-skin layer of mutual suspicion which surrounds East-West relations."

Saturday's NATO council meeting in Paris, which approved Big Three plans for Geneva, was something of a victory for Canada. A Canadian resolution of April 23, 1954, urged NATO member governments to bear "constantly in mind the desirability of bringing to the attention of the council information on international political developments wherever they are of consequence to other members of the council."

It is understood that External Affairs Minister Pearson, at Saturday's meeting, expressed appreciation for the consultation that had taken place in the NATO permanent council on Western plans for the "summit." He also expressed full agreement with other speakers that this consultation should be continued during and after the Geneva meeting through the same NATO channel.

By ARTHUR GAYSSON

GENEVA (AP)—Russia has passed the word to the West she intends calling for a world economic conference to chart a multi-billion-dollar trade and development program.

The Soviet move, which Premier Bulganin is expected to put forward during talks with British, American and French government chiefs here this week, was reported to have aroused lively Western interest.

British diplomats said the Western allies themselves had prepared for spurring East-West trade in non-strategic goods during the next few years.

Notice of Russia's intention was reported to have been passed informally to the United States and Britain last month through two different channels.

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov disclosed some features of the Soviet plans to Bernard Baruch when he lunched with him in New York after attending last month's United Nations birthday celebrations.

The Kremlin rulers also outlined their ideas to India's Prime Minister Nehru when he was in Moscow last month. Nehru passed the information to Prime Minister Eden a week ago.

Details of Russia's project appeared to be still obscure. The British sources said they understood the Soviets have in mind a 10-year plan to increase and widen the free flow of trade, and to join with the West in developing the world's backward areas.

Western officials believe the Russian plan is a first step toward the long-dead Havana charter. It was to have set up an international trade organization under the United Nations sponsorship. It long ago was replaced by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Under the reported Soviet plan, Red China would be asked to attend the world economic conference, but stated simply that the details of the development program.

Western trade with Communist nations now is confined to goods and raw materials with little or no war replaced by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Eden, Eisenhower, Faure Advance Separate Ideas

All Envision System Built Around a Unified Germany

By MAX HARELSON

GENEVA (AP)—The "summit" conference opened today with the big three Western powers laying before Russia a series of new proposals for European security built around a unified Germany.

In quick succession President Eisenhower, Premier Faure and Prime Minister Eden advanced separate ideas on how Russia could be safeguarded against a united and rearmaged Germany.

Eden also put forward a proposal that the Big Four seek agreement on arms ceilings for Germany and neighboring countries, with the four powers joined in a system of control to prevent violations.

U. S. CONCERNED

Despite the appearance of a coordinated program by the West, it was understood the leaders of the U. S. delegation were concerned about some of the proposals in Faure's speech. Informed quarters said the United States would not be bound by points it had not approved.

These included a proposal that arms reductions be controlled in the national budgets and Faure's call for inclusion of Germany in a general European security organization.

Eisenhower disclosed the West would agree to consider new guarantees for the Soviets if Russia would go along on German reunification.

Some now the country is producing its usual summer surplus of butter for storage and sale in the winter months.

Production has been increasing, but officials have noted that a period of hot dry weather has dried some pastures and reduced the milk flow in July. A continuation of such a trend could turn the butter surplus into valuable reserves. But it would be unusual for such a trend to continue long.

Some federal officials have suggested that perhaps more of the surplus could be sold on the Canadian market, if prices were drastically reduced for the general buyer.

But the federal treasury is generally against consumer subsidies, on the grounds that if they are used for one product, producers of other products might also demand such aid.

And this could cause federal costs to rise, boosting the forecast federal budget deficit of some $100,000,000 for the current fiscal year by many millions of dollars.

Federal officials are still seeking some way of getting rid of the butter without disturbing the Canadian price structure. They say that if they do not succeed some of the 1954 butter may spoil by next summer if still in storage by that time.

Some have suggested that a possible solution may be in reducing the butter support price of 38 cents a pound wholesale. It expires next May. But there is doubt that the government will reduce it, possibly fearing the reaction of dairy farmers at the polls. A federal election is likely to take place in 1957.

Near the end of June, the government still had about 40,000,000 pounds of 1954 butter on its hands. In addition to the 38 cents a pound the government has to pay to the producers, bringing the cost to about 61 cents.

Some of the butter has been sold to wholesalers at 61 cents; but in latter months the price has been dropped to 55 cents. The government also is selling butter to such public institutions as hospitals for 35 cents a pound, reduced from 40.

Through the 300,000-pound Canadian butter deal, a Canadian exporter will get government butter at about 61 cents. The government is searching for world buyers, and has been dropping the price to 40 cents, but without disturbing traditional markets for such major dairy exporters as New Zealand and Denmark.

RHINOCEROS JOINS WAR

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—A rhinoceros charged and killed an African sergeant of the British army today in Mau Mau territory in the Aberdare forest near Nyeri, an official communiqué said Sunday.

The 41-year-old non-smoker, who plazed the clothes-stripping trail for Canadian folk nudists and helped establish nudist hideouts in Canada, thought up the mother contest to publicize nudism as something "physically and mentally healthy."

Wearing only a bottle-green peak cap, Mr. Connitt got activities rolling with a little talk for members and some 20 non-nudists invited to attend in the insecticide-sprayed area.

We have got to show ourselves to the world so others will know we are decent law-abiding citizens ready to stand up and be named and not some sort of secret order, or cultists," he said.

For the mild-mannered, bespectacled Mr. Connitt the contest, judged on the basis of membership, was only another step toward the "caus" of nudism before the public eye.

Trim, Blue-Eyed Redhead Crowned As Canada's 'Nudist Mother of 1955'

WHITELLY, B.C. (CP)—Nudists from British Columbia and nearby Washington and Oregon states have picked a trim, blue-eyed young mother and named her "Nudist Mother of 1955." Tomorrow, 25-year-old Mrs. Phyllis Vancouver tree nursery owner, stood naked and alone on damp grass before 200 fellow nudists gathered Sunday in a sunny drenched clearing of 42-acre Sunnyside Trails Club after eight contestants were eliminated.

Her two children, Nancy, 6, and John, 5, then ran forward to join her and select three posed for pictures by camera-equipped fellow nudists and a fully-dressed newspaper photographer.

L. A. Thomson, tall husband of the nudist, walked over and said the family joined the nudist camp eight weeks ago after reading about nudism in the newspapers.

The contest was staged by Ray Connitt, Vancouver postal clerk who founded the 120-member club.

BECOME GRANDPARENTS
FOUR TIMES IN 2 DAYS

Twins in a family are not an everyday occurrence, but when a couple become grandparents to two sets within two days, that is a rarity.

The couple is Mr. and Mrs. George Ewald, of Moira. The wife of their son, the Rev. George Ewald of Tweed, presented them with twin granddaughters last Monday. The next day their daughter, Margaret, Mrs. Ray Green, of Niagara Falls, duplicated the feat.

The fact that twin births are not recorded in either parents' family trees, made the event not only a coincidence but also quite a surprise.

Unfortunately, one of the George Ewald twins died last Wednesday afternoon.

To date Albert College has reached one-third of the total objective of $300,000. As the campaign is continuing, and will continue until 1957, committees are gratified with the interest shown by so many in the future of Albert College.

The local committee has met with a generous response in Belleville. No doubt there are many who have not yet been canvassed. Some who have been canvassed may not have sent in their pledges. The assistant-treasurer, T. K. Franklin, will be pleased to receive pledges, or contributions, at any time.

Aylmer Man Drowns in Bay,
Youth Dives in, Saves Woman

Roger Fraser, 27, Aylmer Ont., was drowned in the Bay of Quinte, Saturday evening, when the boat in which he was cruising tipped over.

Fast action on the part of 17-year-old Allan Scrimshaw, 63 South George Street, saved the life of Mrs. Gladys Wheatley, West Street, Hillcrest, in the boat at the time. He dived into choppy waters to rescue her. The woman was later taken to hospital, suffering from shock.

Fraser's body so far has not been recovered, despite dragging by Belleville police and an aerial search by RCAF air search and rescue units from Trenton base. The search, over waters varied with changeable currents.

The tragedy occurred about 200 yards from the government dock when Fraser's boat, which was being towed to harbor by Scrimshaw, tipped over, hurling both its occupants into the water. Taken ashore by Scrimshaw after he had pulled her from rough waters.

Mrs. Wheatley was almost instantly taken to hospital by Scrimshaw, who was in a police cruiser. She later was removed to hospital. The 12-foot, fibre-glass boat which Fraser had hired from Jack Goyer, was towed back by Bill and John Lamb, its outboard motor still intact.

Scrimshaw said he was returning to his home with groceries in his boat when about 150 yards from shore, the boat tipped over. The couple tried to attract his attention.

"They beckoned to me to come and see if I could get their motor going," he said.

"The man was in the back of the boat. The woman was in the front. I pulled the man out first. I saw the woman get up and stand on the right-hand corner of the boat where the man was sitting," Scrimshaw recounted.

"Then the boat tipped up and I told them to sit still but the boat kept on sinking. Then it tipped up and went right on over. They both fell in the water. The man came up and started swimming around."

"I pulled their boat up and the woman came up from underneath it. Then she went down. That is when I went in after her."

Mrs. Wheatley was two or three feet under water when Scrimshaw pulled her, brought her to the surface and pushed her into his boat.

"Then I dived back for the man but I could not find him anywhere," he said.

Within minutes of their reaching shore, police and the city fire emergency unit were on the scene. A heavy swell and fast currents swiftly carried the light boat away from the scene of the accident.

Mrs. Jack Goyer, who rented the boat out to Fraser about 4:00 p.m. Saturday said after he climbed in the boat she went into the office to get the registration book for Fraser to sign his name. When she came out he was gone.

Fraser, a member of a surveying unit of the Department of Highways, had been staying at the City Hotel here.

Inspector Clair Hayes and P.C. J. Kent investigated.

Surviving are his wife, the former Aileen Wickens, one daughter, Judith, and son, William. His mother, Mrs. John Buchanan, one sister, Helen Vandusen and one brother, John Buchanan, of Picton, also survive.

Bearers were Vernon Westfall, Ernest Westlake, Frank Reid, Ted Foley, Ira Sharpe and Edmund Carter.

The charges were laid after a coroner's jury found that Mrs. Corinne Girard had been killed by an automobile about midnight April 9. The jury said a car driven by Dodds, on leave from the RCAF station at Uplands, Ont., had struck Mrs. Girard and may have caused her death.

(The Canadian Press reported erroneously April 20 that the coroner's jury attributed Mrs. Girard's death to Dodds and that the jury found the driver of the car which struck the woman and then left the scene.)

(The Canadian Press regrets its errors and apologizes for any embarrassment or inconvenience caused by the report.)

OTTAWA (CP)—A research project into the value of natural health materials—hot and cold mineral springs, hormone peats and saline clays—soon may be launched in Canada.

Health Minister Martin told the Commons Saturday during study of his department's estimates that the study may be conducted by the world-famous Charles Best Institute in Toronto. He also said in a report that the committee of his department has been instructed to investigate the possibilities of natural gas and naturopathy—the scientific terms for health treatment by mineral springs.

Mr. Martin made the announcement after Harold E. Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) said Canada could have a multi-million dollar industry if it developed its resources of natural health materials. He envisaged a health resort industry in Canada rivaling the spas of Europe.

Driver Not Hurt
When Car Hits
Freight Train

Ontario Provincial Police on Sunday afternoon were called to the CNR crossing on the county line road between Hastings and Lennox and Addington counties, south of the Old Belleville Road, where an automobile rammed the side of a freight train.

Driver of the automobile was James King, Selby, Ont. It is believed his brakes failed when nearing the crossing and he was unable to stop before the oncoming freight reached the intersection.

King was uninjured, but the entire front of his car was demolished.

The accident was investigated by OPP constable G. Oliver.

OPP yesterday also issued a warning to all district police forces to be on the lookout for Albert Argent, who escaped the Ontario Hospital at Kingston some time Sunday.

Familiarly breeds contempt. City police had an instance of the old adage reported to them Saturday afternoon.

The oldest safety device in the world and the most disregarded is probably the lock. Saturday a city resident lost $12 worth of groceries lying unlocked in his car, parked on a Pinnacle St. near the Belleville Lock Company premises.

When she returned the groceries were missing.

Elsewhere on the crime front police reported a quiet week-end, most of their activities being focussed on several minor accidents and quarrels.

Lone Surviving Entry Takes Gold Cup at Picton Regatta

PICTON. — Several thousand persons saw speedboats roar and bounce over choppy water at speeds of 80 and 90 miles an hour at Prince Edward Yacht Club regatta on Picton Bay, Saturday.

There was only one accident to mar the day's events. In the first heat of the Canadian One Design class, Paul Apperly of Trenton was spilled into the water when his craft overturned on the west turn. Apperly was not hurt. The water at the east and west ends of the turns was choppy and the fast boats gave fans many thrills.

WGN GOLD CUP

Bill Hodgson of Toronto, both won and lost the Prince Edward Gold Cup, given in the 266 cubic inch hydroplane class. He won the first heat with My Ruthie, covering five miles in 4.45 a 63 m.p.h. average. But his craft took such a beating that he suffered a hole in the hull and was unable to start in the second heat. His other craft My Betsy was third in the first heat 8 seconds behind Ruthie. But My Betsy carried off the trophy being the only one of the three entries to complete both heats. Hodgson and Art Asbury of Ox Tongue Lake, Muskoka, alternated in driving the two boats so shared the honor of winning the cup.

Joe Less and Don Less of North Tonawanda, N.Y., saw their Ma-ma's Mink finish a close second in the first heat with time of 4.49. But due to failure of an oil pump was forced to head for the pits while on the second lap.

Robert Schroeder who has won the 225 class, tried his luck in the final heat, but he too ran into trouble and had to quit.

Less displayed some great driving on the turns to beat Asbury in Betsy in the first heat. This big craft gave the crowd thrills as they threw up great clouds of spray and bounced over the choppy water.

WINS GOLD HELMET

The Schenly Gold Helmet was won in the 225 cubic inch hydroplane class by Robert Schroeder of Niagara Falls, N.Y. He drove "My Ambition."

Schroeder was given a keen battle by Henry Vogel of Webster, N.Y., driving "My Sin." In fact the drivers were tied with 700 points each, Schroeder taking the award on an elapsed time basis. It was four seconds faster.

Vogel won the first heat in 5.03 and came second in the next in

Casablanca Toll May Be 200 As Riots Flame Fourth Day

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—For the fourth straight day rioting spread through Casablanca Sunday, resulting in the death of 22 persons and wounding of 100 killed and more than 100 wounded.

Other estimates of the total killed ranged as high as 200, because the Arabs often conceal their dead from authorities.

Not until a 7 p.m. curfew was imposed on the Arab quarter did violence subside for the night. After 1 p.m. the usually lively European section also was shrouded in silence.

Official figures put the dead for the four days at 50 Moroccan and 13 Europeans. The wounded included 33 natives.

French tanks opened up Sunday on rioters in the old Medina native sector, killing seven Moroccans in a crowd in throwing stones at the security forces and setting fires to stores owned by pro-French natives. Four big fires raged in the section after the tank action.

In the new Medina, the other native sector, a grenade thrown by rioters killed 14 Moroccans. The only reported European casualty of the day was an 18-year-old Spaniard, yonish slain to death in the old Medina.

In other parts of the city Moroccans felled trees and telephone poles, set fire to stores, schools and factories and took pot shots at an estimated 16,000 police and soldiers on guard duty.

Eleven platoons of gendarmes were flown in from France Sunday to support security forces already in Casablanca.

Just Found Homes For Nice Babies Says Montrealeur

MONTREAL (CP)—A Montreal woman, named in connection with an international baby adoption racket, said Sunday night "All I ever did was help unfortunate girls" and find "nice babies for nice people."

Sarah Weiman, named several days ago by witnesses before a United States senate sub-committee in Chicago as the operator of a "filthy" home for unwed mothers in Montreal, made the statement in an interview.

Miss Weiman said she "looked after" only "maybe five or six babies a year" instead of the "75 to 100 at one time" mentioned by one witness.

"It was all nice and legal," she said. "There were always lawyers getting their cut and I always had a doctor for the girls."

"INTO GOOD HOMES"

"All my babies went into good homes—doctors and dentists and businessmen and people like that. I helped out lots of the girls who had no money and the people who wanted the babies liked me and trusted me."

Annoyed at the description of her premises as "filthy," Miss Weiman said:

"I guess it doesn't look like much now but I've been living here by myself for months. All this fuss was too much for me and I haven't been doing anything about babies or anything else. I have no money now and don't know what I'm going to do."

Her clients paid varying amounts for the babies, but the price averaged at about $600 plus any extra expenses connected with adoption papers and travelling. Miss Weiman said. One couple paid $1,200. She said she always asked Protestant and Roman Catholic girls if they objected to the children going into Jewish homes. She said they seldom objected.

Ontario Masons Meet at Toronto For Centennial

TORONTO (CP)—Members of one of the world's largest secret fraternal orders gathered here Sunday for a colorful service in which Ontario's Masons celebrated 100 years of Free Masonry.

More than 25,000 persons—many resident in Masonic regalia—gathered in the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand to mark the founding of the Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of Canada.

First formed in Hamilton in 1855, the organization now is called the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario in deference to provincial grand lodges created since then.

The service, attended by representatives of grand lodges throughout the world, was conducted by the Most Rev. W. L. Wright, Anglican Bishop of Algoma, deputy grand master of the lodge.

SPECTATORS PANIC AT ASCOT AS BOLT KILLS ONE

A policeman and an attendant aid two of the 40 persons injured when a bolt of lightning crashed into crowded public enclosure in the centre of Royal Ascot race course, killing one spectator, Britain's most elegant horse-race meet was turned into a bedlam of moaning, frightened people, when the lightning's impact, coming minutes after a sudden storm, knocked spectators flat and tossed others into the air as the shock sizzled along a wire fence on which scores of persons were leaning and jumped into packed crowds behind. The bolt was felt for 200 yards and left dozens of persons suffering burns and shock.—Central Press Canadian.

RCAF Community in Germany Has Own Mayor and Council

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ZWEIBRUECKEN, Germany (CP)—A pint-size model of Canadian democracy has residents of this West German town shaking their heads with wonder.

How, they ask, does a military community come to have its own government and how does a lowly sergeant get to be mayor?

The situation exists in the block of Permanent Married Quarters built for dependents of men serving with the RCAF 1st Air Division's No. 3 Fighter Wing.

Some 400 families, comfortably settled in the modern three-storey buildings, have drawn up a community constitution and elected their own civic authority of nine councillors and a mayor. First citizen of the four-month-old town is Sgt. Wilfred Heard, 35, of Calgary, now serving his first one-year term in office.

The PMQ community is set out on a triangular site, pointing at the nearby fighter station, with the home of the station commander, Group Capt. C. H. Hull of Vancouver, at the apex.

The community's new council has two functions, as set out in the constitution: To improve life in the married quarters settlement by promoting communal activities in the field of recreation and education; and to provide a facility to identify and study community problems and make recommendations to the station authorities on how these problems may be solved.

But Mayor Heard puts it more simply: "The aim of the council is the welfare of the citizens."

Development of this distinctly Canadian community on German soil has been rapid.

Ottawa approved the PMQ plan in January, 1954, and three months later the German contractors moved on to the site. By December most of the quarters were completed and by March, 1955, the families had moved in. Elections were held immediately, with each

Weddings

LA MORRE-WESE

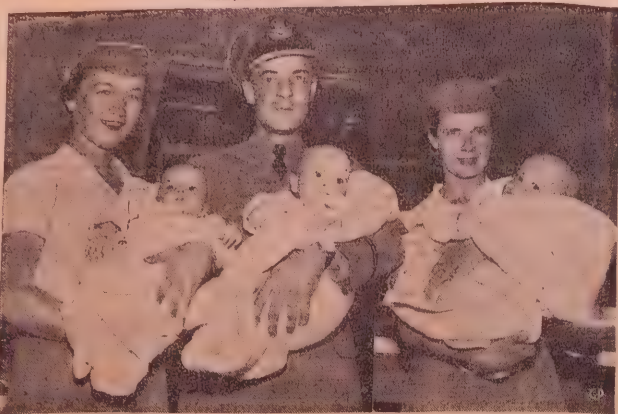

A very pretty wedding was solemnized quietly in St. Andrew's Anglican church, Wellington, Ontario, on Tuesday, July 12, when Ethel Mary, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Weese, of Trenton, was united in marriage to James Allan, only son of Mr. A. La Morre of Trenton, and the late Mrs. La Morre. The Rev. C. P. Heaven officiated.

The bride looked lovely in a street length dress of pink nylon organza with white accessories, while her bridesmaid Miss Nancy Ahear of Consueco, was charmingly attired in a street length gown of blue nylon taffeta. The groomsmen were Mr. Wallace Istead. The happy couple will reside on Henry Street in Trenton.

REDS HOLD HITLER NEPHEW

VIENNA (AP)—Vienna newspapers quote Austrian prisoners returned from Russia as reporting at least one of Hitler's vanished relatives still is alive in a Soviet camp. The ex-prisoners said Hans Schmidt, 30, a grandnephew of the Nazi leader, implored them to ask Austrian authorities to send him documents proving his Austrian citizenship. He said the Russians consider him German.

Your Hospital Last Month

EDITOR'S NOTE: Your Hospital, a column outlining the services of the Belleville General Hospital, and what they cost, as well as interesting items about the activities of its staff, will appear monthly.

Your hospital is a busy institution all year round and the holiday months are no exception.

In June the staff of 35 in the dietary department served 16,000 meals to patients.

Parking facilities at your hospital are being extended with the paving of an area 100 x 100 feet at the side of the main building.

A sidewalk will also be constructed at the front of the hospital.

Your hospital has a softball team, too. The Belleville General Hospital's nurses' team is campaigning in the six-team Belleville and District Women's Softball League.

How does your hospital serve you? What are the resources of laboratory, X-ray and emergency department that back up the clinical work of the medical staff?

The interesting inside story of your hospital will be told this fall in a 20-minute movie currently being filmed in the hospital. Sid Rose is directing. William Riley is doing the photography.

FILM AVAILABLE

The film will be available for showings to service clubs, church groups, PTA and interested organizations this fall.

Maxwell Tulk, of Sarnia, has been appointed manager of the hospital laundry. Mr. Tulk will head the staff of 12 that launders 500,000 pounds of hospital linen each year.

The School of Nursing, with 65 inquiries and 35 filed applications, is anticipating the largest class in history this September.

An automatic switchboard, scheduled to go into operation July 18th, will divert inter-hospital calls past the switchboard operator and greatly reduce the congestion caused by an ever-increasing number of calls both within and from without the hospital.

Many Children Enjoy Alliance Bible School

Friday evening brought to a close two happy weeks for boys and girls at the Alliance Tabernacle as they travelled with Christ through John 3:16. Each night dealt with a portion of this wonderful Bible verse depicting "The Creation," "The Good Samaritan," "Philip and the Ethiopian," "Birth of Christ," "Death of Christ," "Peter and Cornelius," "Paul and Silas," and "The Rich Man and Lazarus," culminating with an illustrated lesson on "Daniel," showing his faith in the same God to whom 18 children surrendered their young lives. Each lesson was preceded by an illustrated object talk.

During the school period, the children learned and sang many choruses; hid away a portion of the Scripture in their memories and hearts, as well as the love chapter of the New Testament I Cor. 13. Hand work was also taught—a lesson in co-operation, alertness, obedience and neatness.

Darke, wife of the pastor, presided over the meeting, the theme of which was "Beauty". An impressive service was conducted by the Mission Band, with Frederick Darke giving a reading in keeping with theme, and Toni Wahl, a reading on "Christopher Robin Saying His Prayers." A fuet was rendered by Toni and Jean Mann with Toni accompanying on the guitar. This was followed by Helen Tupper who also gave a reading "My Neighbor's Flowers."

This portion of the meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Darke.

Mrs. Johnson, leader of the Baby Band presided for the remainder of the program.

Need for More Nurses Great National Problem

The health of Canada is being endangered by a acute shortage of nurses for our homes, nursing homes, military, clinics, doctors' offices and institutions. Immediate provision must be made to relieve the emergency.

It has been determined that the best way to relieve such a shortage is to make competent practical nurses, such as are being trained by the Schools of Practical Nursing. These fine nurses are doing outstanding work by relieving the burden of the hospital and the home.

YOU CAN BECOME A PRACTICAL NURSE!

Successful Careers Await Schools of Practical Nursing. Graduates thousands of women who have graduated from Schools of Practical Nursing have found immediate employment in their new profession and are enjoying successful, well-paid careers. There is a constantly growing demand for women equipped with practical nursing skills, both in institutions and private practice.

Realizing that many women and girls are not able to meet the financial obligations that such a course in practical nursing makes necessary, the Schools of Practical Nursing has instituted an easy budget plan whereby the students can make small weekly payments while training.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

MAYBE YOU'RE NOT SURE YOU REALLY WANT TO MARRY HIM

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For nearly a year I have been engaged to a boy and we expect to be married this month.

Just a few days ago I found that my fiancé's best friend loves me and wants me to break my engagement. He is very jealous of me, and has said he will do anything to break us up and make me love him. My fiancé does not know of this. What can I say or do?

I am 21, my fiancé is 23 and his friend 27. — Amy C.

Dear Amy:

Any engaged young woman who would pay serious attention to such a character as you describe, either doesn't really know her own mind or is too cowardly to speak it. Do you, by any chance, have a yen for this "best friend" of your fiancé? And what kind of a sneaky thief is a man who would try to break up his best friend's romance anyway?

If this fellow's last-minute attempt to forestall your marriage has put you in such a tizzy that you haven't got the breath to tell him to be off about his business and that you want to hear nothing more from him, then I am very much inclined to think that he may have unsettled your feelings about the man you've been planning to marry. Better give him some thought, and make sure before that imminent wedding date.

On the other hand, if it's purely a lack of courage that keeps you from telling this chap off, then you'd better come clean with your fiancé and let him handle the matter in his own way.

For a girl truly in love and eager to marry a man, of course, the way would be plain. She wouldn't have to ask anyone what to do; she'd do it automatically and immediately. True love usually gives a person whatever courage is needed to dispose of anything that interferes with it at love. So, once again, I urge you to examine your feelings in regard to your contemplated marriage and get at it fast and honestly. It's hardly fair to your fiancé to do otherwise.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was taking a Sunday walk with pop on the Avenue to celebrate the swell weather, and pop said, "It's a beautiful site."

What is, pop? I said, and he said, "All the ladies, with their gay flaring skirts of many colors, and their flowering hats. Don't you think so?" he said.

Sure, G, no wonder everybody looks at them. I said, and pop said, "But nobody looks at the men. It's very discouraging. There was a time, in the romantic age 2 or 3 hundred years ago, when a man's clothes were even more beautiful than a lady's, with all the ruffles around his neck and satin knee britches around his legs. But the scientific age has ruined all. Nobody looks at us any more, he said."

I bet they'd look if you ordered your coat inside out, I said, and he said, "No doubt, but I won't let them to look with admiration. Even if I put a flower in my lapel, I doubt if I'd attract much attention," he said.

If you put flowers in all your buttonholes I bet they'd look at you all right, I said, and pop said, "Now we're getting somewhere. I've got four button holes altogether, that caught to do, he said."

And when we came to the florist store he went in, saying, "Can you let me have a large red rose?"

Yes indeed, I've got some beauties, the man said, and pop said, "That's the kind I want."

Me thinking, Heck, big red roses, everybody will think he's crazy, and they'll think I'm crazy for being with him. And I said, G, pop, maybe you better not.

I've ordered them now, I'll have to go through with it, pop said, and I said, "Well heck, can't you tell the man to wrap them up out of site, and take them home to ma?"

That's a fine unselfish idea, I'll do it, pop said.

Which he did, the man wrapping them up without even being told.

Elegance at Hand

It is sort of in between seasons for the couture but there is much emphasis on accessories. One accessory that is becoming increasingly important as a signature of elegance is the fine leather glove, beautifully cut and detailed. Especially is this so for late afternoon into evening costumes. Baccini offers an embroidered white kid glove that is both elegant and charming. The ten-button pull-on is worn slightly crushed at the wrist and highlights a heavy cut-out applied embroidered design done in champagne colored silk thread.

The Wanderer Returns

By Mary Moore

Still full of wanderlust, but more important, high-sounding resolves to change and improve the menus in the Moore household—my attempt will be to share with you, my column friends, the exotic food we have lived on for the past month or so.

While, of course, the French cooking was the most sensational, I take a firm stand in defense of English pastry. It was always better than just good, and usually excellent.

I've eaten strawberry and apricot flan and Melton Mowbray pie, eclairs and cream "buns" (puffs to you), and saffron cakes until they should come out of my ears (but only show on my hips).

Don't worry though, my pets, this isn't just talk. I have the recipes for you if you will be patient and be true to my reducing column-sisters, I'm weighing in every morning now, but with only an eight-ounce reward so far.

But to roughly begin at the beginning, one certain mother's heart was very glad to see Marianne's smiling face in the lobby of the Fleming Hotel when we arrived from the London airport. Herbie picked us up on Saturday and we had dinner in Scott's in fine style—everybody ordering such different dishes as shrimp bisque, lobster thermidor, grilled oysters on the half-shell, crab salad, crepes a la mode.

Afterwards when we stood out on Coventry Street I took a long look at the kids and could see by the light in their eyes that they were abundantly happy, and blessed their young and gay hearts.

Then we headed for The Crazy Gang who were giving their Ten Thousandth performance at (I think) the Drury Lane Theatre. It was almost as much fun to watch that British audience as it was to hear the Gang's nonsense.

We were off to a flying start for we saw the changing of the guard in true tourist fashion on Sunday morning.

After seeing Hampton Court on Monday and being drenched in a short rainstorm, came the test of our ability to adjust to strange customs.

We hired a car. Then came the fun—driving in a strange under-size car, on the left-hand side of the road, from the righthand side of the car in downtown London roadway traffic! Many an English bobby had more gray hair by night after our antics—about a week later we delivered the car back to Godfrey-Davis Co., with nary a scratch on its baby blue paint job.

By lovely coincidence Herbie's unit was going out on a three-day exercise, so near Salisbury we picked up Marianne and she was with us on our trip through Devon and Cornwall to Land's End.

I started ordering Devonshire cream at Honiton, and had its Cornwall version, Cornish cream, all the way to St. Ives—usually on English strawberries the size and flavor of which are heavenly.

At Mevagissey—a typical Cornish fishing port—we watched a fishing trawler unload conger (I'm not sure of the spelling but it's a long eel-like fish) and place and bought a warm saffron cake which we tore off in chunks to a wake. When I am leaving, and a member of the family says, "Thank you for coming" or "It was so kind of you to come," what is the proper reply?—Frances R.

The best and most significant reply is to offer your hand in a warm-hearted handshake that inevitably carries your sympathy and understanding. To your handshake you may add, "My prayers are with you, Katherine dear"; or "I

WEDDING INVITATION ON OFFICE BULLETIN BOARD

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I read with interest several months ago the letter in your column from a woman who was uncertain about the intended meaning of wedding invitations that were "posted" on the bulletin board of the company for which her husband worked. Now I have a similar problem and, please, I'd like your help. My husband and I have always received wedding invitations addressed to "Mr. and Mrs." and mailed to our home, and we expected this would be the case with the invitations to be sent to the wedding of one of his closest friends in his company. But not so—the invitation was posted on the company bulletin board! Naturally my husband very much wants to go to this wedding, and naturally I want to go with him, as we always go to weddings together.

He is positive that the invitation includes me as well as the "spouses" of the other married employees. I maintain that such a casual invitation would not include anyone not connected with the company (on whose bulletin board it was posted), and that it would be out-of-order for me to go. What is your advice about this, Mrs. Beeckman? Edith U.

It's indeed difficult to interpret whom these bulletin board invitations are "supposed" to include! These invitations shouldn't be, as you so well say, so "casual" . . . they are too important, and should be extended with a proper regard to their importance and dignity. Maybe this invitation is for "Mr. and Mrs."—maybe only for the employee. Your husband will have to find out, either from the office or from his good friend, the bride-groom-to-be.

WHAT TO SAY IN SYMPATHY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I always feel so awkward and self-conscious as to what I should reply when I go to pay my respects at a funeral parlor or go to the home to a wake. When I am leaving, and a member of the family says, "Thank you for coming" or "It was so kind of you to come," what is the proper reply?—Frances R.

The best and most significant reply is to offer your hand in a warm-hearted handshake that inevitably carries your sympathy and understanding. To your handshake you may add, "My prayers are with you, Katherine dear"; or "I know what this separation means to you, and I am so sorry," or "I am thinking of you these days with such deep understanding." Or, if the one who has gone before was a close friend of yours, naturally you would say something of your devotion: "We had been such close friends for so long, and I loved her very dearly."

WHOSE NAME FIRST IN LETTER-SALUTATION?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman: When my husband's brother and his wife write us a letter, they always begin their letter with my husband's name first, followed by my name. For example: "Dear Fred and Mary." Is this correct, and am I wrong in thinking they should put my name first, at least when the sister-in-law writes the letter? — Reader

"The lady first" is the customary idea when the salutation of a letter includes the names of a couple. But it's really not an important point, and you shouldn't make any point about it. Your in-laws may think that it is logical to follow the "Mr. and Mrs." sequence in the salutation, as in the "Mr. and Mrs." on the envelope. And perhaps if you just go on your way writing "Dear Anne and George" in the salutation of your letters to them, they will notice that this order is more gracious to the wife.

BEAUTY

CARE OF THE NECK

If the average woman tells the truth about her beauty shortcomings she will confess that she never gives her neck a thought. It gets a soapy scrubbing every day, maybe a fluff of powder, but not a smidge of cream to keep the skin smooth and white!

In time there may be evidence of this neglect. The neck may become dingy, coarsely lined or develop a stringy look. The far-sighted woman will visualize such beauty problems and take precautions against them.

The neck needs lubrication even more than the complexion, especially during the season of sunburn and tan. When starting your nightly creaming, start low down on the neck. Use up and down strokes, turning the head to the right when you treat the left side, to the left when you massage the right. Use the cream freely on the back of your neck and work fairly far down on the back, especially if you are a demon sun-bather.

Throwing the head back, sweep the fingers from the lower part of the throat to the chin, then along the jaw line from chin to ear lobes. If tissues have softened, press firmly into the flesh. Then tap and pat the entire area.

To tone the muscles, clasp the hands at the nape. Holding them there firmly, move the head from side to side.

If the skin is discolored, sponging with a lotion made by combining equal parts of strained lemon juice and peroxide will have a mild bleaching effect. Do that in the morning, after rinsing your face with cold water to bring out color. Cold water also acts as an astringent.

The woman who has started on a reducing campaign must be especially watchful of the effect on her neck. Creaming, massaging and ice frictions will keep it in condition.

Influence of Eva Peron Still Felt in Argentina

Editor's note: Almost three years ago, one of the most controversial female figures of modern times died in Argentina. She was Eva Peron, wife of President Juan Peron. Here is the story of this remarkable woman whose influence still makes itself felt.

By SAM SUMMERLIN

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The telephone buzzed impatiently in the dim newspaper office. Outside, a half moon glowed.

"Evita!" an excited voice blurted in a reporter's ear. "Evita! Her face!"

La Prensa, Argentina's once-great newspaper, listened to many similar calls that evening. All claimed the same vision—the likeness of the late Eva Peron etched on the moon.

The morning edition said the face was cast by a curious combination of shadows. Mused La Prensa:

GREAT RESPECT

"The people, who show in every detail their profound respect for the martyr and who keep indelible her memory, saw in these outlines the beloved image of Eva Peron."

That moon has faded, but Eva Peron, a one-time actress, still smiles down on Argentina's millions. The public sees at every turn the picture of this pale-skinned, dark-eyed beauty with straight blonde hair drawn back in a tight bun.

Alongside her handsome husband, Juan Peron, she adorns street and subway walls, government offices and vestibules, store windows and private homes.

Eva's name is never out of sight. La Prensa carries a daily "Eva Peron labor page" decorated with a profile drawing and her oft-quoted pledge: "Alive or dead, I will always be with the workers."

OUT OF POVERTY

Eva once declared: "Without fanaticism, one cannot accomplish anything." Imbued with this spirit, the vibrant, five-foot, two-inch figure stormed out of poverty to prominence on the screen and radio and on into the arms of a husky army colonel, Juan Peron. Ten years ago they wed and moved in to the "Pink House" to start a man-and-wife reign probably unmatched since Ferdinand and Isabella.

At the pinnacle, Eva seized all Argentina — richest country in South America — as her stage. She played the role to the hilt for seven years. And the ghost of Eva Peron carries on, keeping the curtain up on her strange drama.

Juan Peron, ending a vigil, snapped off the light beside her bed at 8:25 the evening of July 26, 1952. Eva Peron, at the age of 30, had been cut down by cancer, tasting defeat for the first time in her young life.

DAY OF MOURNING

July 26 became a day of national mourning. Torches by the thousands light yearly memorial processions through the capital. On the 26th of every month, her worshippers gather at the Eva Peron shrines. And every weekday night of the year, all radio stations switch to a government announcer at 8:25 and he gives the news "at the hour in which Eva Peron entered immortality."

An eternal torch burns above a bust of Eva in front of headquarters for the 6,000,000-strong General Confederation of Labor, the backbone of support for Peronism. Eva carved fame as a champion of the Desamparado, Argentina's shirtless working man.

It is a mystery where her body lies now. But the tallest funerary monument in the world is rising in the heart of Buenos Aires as a tomb for Eva Peron. The 460-foot memorial will tower higher than St. Peter's in Rome.

SET UP FOUNDATION

Eva never held an official government post, but her influence swept far and wide. The "Eva Peron foundation," a massive organization probably unrivaled in the world, was the cornerstone of her power and is the key to perpetuation of her memory.

Under the foundation's all-embracing wings have sprouted low-cost housing, hospitals, homes for women, unwed mothers and the aged, a large nursing school and even a chain of low-priced grocery stores.

The foundation claims sponsorship for a half million excursions for children in a recent year. And low-cost vacation spots rose for the working class at seashore and mountain sites which the foundation says once were only playgrounds for the privileged.

International Rotary Governor Visits Rotary Club

CAMPBELLFORD — The Governor of District 247 of Rotary International, Ross L. Dobbin, of Peterborough, was guest at the regular meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club this week.

Mr. Dobbin spoke following a conference with local Rotary officers and committee chairmen, and said that Rotary Clubs in 92 countries and regions throughout the world are united in an endeavor to promote international goodwill, understanding and peace.

GOODWILL AMBASSADORS

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 8,700 clubs within their own communities to promote this objective, Mr. Dobbin explained that Rotary International has spent more than $1,750,000 in recent years through its program of student fellowships, which enable outstanding college graduates to study for one year in countries other than their own, as ambassadors of good will.

Since 1947, when this program was established, 709 Rotary fellowships have been awarded to students in 87 countries. Bog Charette of Timmins, Ontario, has been spending a year in Lausanne, Switzerland. He will be back home early in September and will be at the disposal of clubs in the district for addresses on various occasions.

"Rotary provides a common ground for 414,000 business and professional men throughout the world, regardless of differing nationalities, or political or religious beliefs with fellowship and service as its keynote," said the speaker.

In addition to the promotion of international understanding, special emphasis is being placed by Rotary clubs this year on activities of their communities which will furnish leadership in youth programs; raise standards in business and professions; promote traffic safety; develop good citizenship; and build better rural-urban relationship.

Bronze Cross Awarded Posthumously

RAWDON — Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher, Mount Pleasant, Rawdon, have received word that their nephew, Ted Neil Thrasher, who was drowned last year at Winnipeg, Manitoba, has been posthumously awarded the Boy Scouts' Bronze Cross.

Canada's Chief Scout, Governor General Massey has just recently made his list public and Ted Neil Thrasher, 14-year-old son of Flying Officer Charles Thrasher, and Mrs. Thrasher, formerly of Winnipeg, Manitoba, and now of Trenton, Ontario, topped the list.

It will be remembered that a year ago on July 23rd, 1954, David Thrasher, aged seven, fell from a whaleboat which was tied to the bank of the fast-moving waters of the Assiniboine River. Ted immediately jumped in and tried to save his brother, but despite his gallant attempt both boys were drowned and some weeks later their bodies were recovered from the treacherous waters.

The children's grandmother is Mrs. Fred Thrasher of Burnbrae, and Mrs. Paul Sharp of Wellman's, is an aunt.

Billy Graham Urges Big Four Turn to God

GENEVA (AP) — Billy Graham stood on the shores of Lake Geneva Sunday night and urged that the Big Four forget their national greeds and turn to God.

"The next few days," said the American evangelist, "could well decide the fate of the world. The next six days could be the most important days in history. The hopes of millions all over the world are centered on Geneva."

Pointing to the Palace of Nations directly across the lake, Graham said:

"Never before in history have so many looked to so few for so much."

"Our leaders," Graham told the 20,000 to 25,000 persons who spilled out over the grassy hills before him, "have cautioned us time and again about this conference."

"They've cautioned us time and again not to expect too much."

"Well, the people do expect much."

"So I say to you, forget your national greeds and turn in humility to Almighty God."

CIVIL DEFENCE

The Alberta health department had recommended the same thing, but stipulated it had not the provincial government's sanction. British Columbia had favored a hospital insurance plan. No other province had indicated support.

Mr. Martin said these positions were outlined in reports on a health survey in every province begun some years ago. Nothing had happened since to change the positions.

NOT INCONSISTENT

Noting that Premier Frost of Ontario had asked during the April federal-provincial conference, held here in private, that health insurance be studied, Mr. Martin said "there was no proposal put forward that could be regarded in any way as inconsistent with what I have said."

Federal government policy was that it is willing to support a contributory health scheme administered by the provinces, but the provinces had to take the initiative in drafting locally adaptable plans.

Members called for immediate implementation of health insurance. A. M. Nicholson (CCF—Michigan) said he did not know what it would cost, "but I am sure we have the resources to see that all Canadians have the best available medical, hospital and dental care."

NEEDS WORKING OUT

Opposition Leader Drew said a plan should be worked out now with the provinces, who are constitutionally responsible for health matters.

"It must be our purpose that the health of no Canadian, regardless of his financial condition or where he lives, shall be imperilled for lack of proper diagnosis and treatment."

People should remain free to choose their own doctors and doctors also should be free—not conscripted under a rigid plan of state medicine. A national insurance program should take care of those unable to provide for themselves.

Owen C. Trainor (PC—Winnipeg), a founder of Manitoba's Blue Cross hospital plan, said private insurance plans can beat any system of socialized medicine. All that was needed was government aid for those who could not afford health insurance.

NOW! Try PUSS'n BOOTS

The cat food made from FRESH, WHOLE FISH!

These fresh-caught fish are rushed from Canadian coastal waters into sanitary canneries, where the whole fish is processed into Puss'n Boots Cat Food.

Now...Science Confirms

CATS GROW AND THRIVE ON NATURE'S LIFE BALANCE IN WHOLE FISH

CATS are delightful pets. Their changing moods from dignity to playfulness, their bright-eyed vigilance, their contented purring, their sleek-coated beauty... these lovable qualities have endeared felines to their owners for centuries.

But have you noticed that some cats show these traits much better than others? There's reason for that—and it explains how your cat can be livelier and lovelier, more active and contented... and more fun for you.

The secret of a cat's health and disposition is in its feeding. According to biologists, the best single food you can give your cat is whole fish. Not just any part or scrap of fish. There's an important scientific reason for that word "whole". It's really an exciting story for any cat owner who wants a healthy, contented and good-looking pet.

Only Whole Fish has Life Balance

In a living fish there's a balance of those mysterious elements which nature uses to sustain a healthy, thriving organism. When whole fish is prepared for cat food, those elements are retained intact, just as they were in the living fish. The fillets supply rich proteins. The liver and glands yield precious vitamins. The bone structure provides calcium and phosphorus. From various parts of the fish come iron, vitamins, calcium, manganese and all those vital food elements which nature uses to sustain full vitality. That's why cat food made from parts or scraps of fish is not enough! While almost any part supplies something valuable, your cat needs all those nutrients, in nature's own life balance. Only the whole fish supplies them all.

Puss'n Boots is made from Whole Fish

Our business is cat food. Puss'n Boots is not made from parts of fish or scraps. We process whole fish, with nature's balance of nutritive elements intact as they were in the living fish. Valuable cereals are added for flavor and all-round nutrition. You couldn't duplicate the food value in Puss'n Boots whole fish even if you went to endless trouble buying and cooking complicated meals for your cat. But all you have to do is open a can of pressure-cooked, ready-to-serve Puss'n Boots.

You can give yourself a pleasant surprise by feeding Puss'n Boots regularly to your cat. In three weeks or less you'll see a more frisky pet, with a livelier step, a sleeker look, a more contented purr... more of all those lovable qualities you want in your pet. Try it!

BONE STRUCTURE. For calcium and phosphorus... vital for sound, healthy frame. Made crumbly and digestible by special processing... but retained in Puss'n Boots.

LIVER, GLANDS for Vitamin A, D, B, including riboflavin, thiamin, niacin... essential for healthy nerves and tissue, general well being. Frequently extracted for medicinal uses... but retained in Puss'n Boots.

Puss'n Boots

CAT FOOD

Whenever, wherever you buy Puss'n Boots you are assured of whole fish with its natural life balance. At grocers, supermarkets and pet shops everywhere, in economical 15 oz. and convenient 8 oz. cans.

GOOD IDEA!

Track and field athletics which blossom spasmodically in the spring then lie dormant until spring rolls around again, may get a much-needed needle if present plans materialize.

As was mentioned in this column some time ago arrangements have been made to stage an open mill race as a feature of the afternoon of the opening day of Belleville Fair. The event has the blessing of the agricultural society directorate, the arrangements for the first annual mile are well under way.

The Mead-Johnson Company of Belleville have donated a handsome trophy for annual competition. The event will probably be tabbed "The Belleville Open Mile Race."

It will be what the name implies, open to anyone who can run the distance. Who knows, this district might in the not too distant future, produce a Landy or a Bannister.

However the committee in charge of the affair have other ideas. If the featured mile event proves a success, it might mushroom into a modified track and field event which would become an annual feature of the "first-day afternoon."

There are some fair milers in the district. Each year the COSSA Quinte schools produce their sprint and distance champions in the various schools. These would be eligible to compete as well as any unattached runners.

With the Canadian National Exhibition track and field events practically the only affairs run off between seasons, and due to the fact that runners from this district could scarcely qualify for competition against Ontario champions, the committee here feels that the proposed mile race and possibly subsequent modified meet would be a success.

However the idea is still in its infancy and efforts for the moment are being concentrated on the first annual mile race.

An invitation to Lloyd Percival, famous track coach trainer and track and field authority to act as official starter for the first mile race which will be staged on August 15. Mr. Percival's advice will be sought with regards to methods of operation and race—later the meet. The well-known Sports College head has a cottage on Stoco Lake near Tweed where he usually spends the greater part of the summer, so the committee feels that he will accept the invitation to act in an official capacity.

'TIS A CROOL WORLD!

Ah, human nature, 'tis a cruel thing at times. Beware those with honeyed blandishments, sworn loyalty to co-operation but with a shillalah in a behind-the-back hand.

Take the case of the second softball game between the Ridderville Rippers of the Kingston Whig Standard, and the Moira Dodgers of the Ontario Intelligencer.

'Tis a sad story of misplaced faith, drastic defeat and such destruction of the belief in human nature that the Dodgers are considering cancellation of their life insurance.

Factually, the Rippers handed the Dodgers a 23-7 defeat on the former's diamond on Saturday evening. Previously, the Dodgers had ripped the Rippers 13-11. The finest spirit of sportsmanship prevailed. . . . The players shook hands after the game, quaffed soft drinks together. All was hunky-dory. What the Dodgers failed to notice in the out-thrust jaws of the Rippers was a determination to square the series come hell or high water.

They did just that. The Dodgers, anxious to maintain the best of relations between the squads left two of their star players at home. After grabbing a first-inning six-run lead, their coach and mentor bobbled the ball six times to enable the Rippers to tie the score.

In fact they were so anxious to be good fellows, they all got in the error act, or nearly all, and the first thing they knew the Rippers had a 12-6 lead.

This was due in no small measure to the heavy slugging of the revitalized Rippers lineup. They smacked home runs to all quarters of the diamond, one or two with the bases loaded, and in general ran wild on the base paths.

Outstanding at bat and in the field, was a tall lanky youth carved in a yellow sweater with the word "coach" emblazoned on the back.

While he had that "lean, hungry" Cassius look usually associated with newspaper people, he lacked that intangible characteristic, a slight aroma of printers ink by which the fourth estate can usually be identified. In addition he could play softball.

He was quiet, efficient. He did not by word, or deed, show his disappointment with the plate umpire's decisions as batters are wont to do. Which probably was just as well. After all, the plate ump was his father.

As was said before, he was efficient; he whammed out a bases-loaded home run, a double and a single besides shagging flies afield in the best Willie Mays fashion. This exceptional diamond ability, never before exhibited by the lower minions of the fourth estate, sowed the seeds of suspicion in the minds of the Dodger members. They put some of their underground operators to work.

They elicited the information that broke the Dodgers Collective faith in human nature. Most of them innocent youths who believe in their fellow man, and have yet to suffer the more cruel buffets of a calloused world, they took the blow easily. They battled bravely in a lost cause, satisfied their conscience was unblemished, their honor unsullied.

Gad, what a softball team Queen's University could field if it had eight more players of the type of this suddenly-converted newspaperman.

However, all's well that ends well. The Dodgers came home a few-beaten crew, satisfied that by their showing in the first game, they had forced a desperate Rippers squad to resort to "import" tactics.

Incidentally for the Rippers' benefit, it is rumored around these parts, that Vern and Gerry Goyer, Bobby Hunter, Bobby Green, John Batchelor, Pat Maracle and others of softball fame may be given temporary jobs with this newspaper prior to the third game with the Rippers.

Score Twin Wins Over Birds As Yanks Drop Three in Row; Brooks' Rooks Win 1st Starts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With Chicago White Sox hitting a go-go pace of seven straight victories to move within 1 1/2 games of New York Yankees, it's time to tip the hat to Dick Donovan.

The 27-year-old "rookie," who flunked so many early tests, leads the American League pitchers in winning percentage with a dazzling 12-2 record.

They used to call Donovan a "spring training wonder." He was a hot shot in Florida but a bust in the north.

Times have changed for the big Irishman from Quincy, Mass. He hasn't lost since May 27 and owns four shutouts. His latest job Sunday was to nail down the second game decision over Baltimore in relief.

The combination of Chicago's double victory over Baltimore 3-2 and 5-4 and the Yanks' third straight defeat (9 out of 13) by Detroit 6-5 halved New York's lead. As the Sox and Yankees met Tuesday night at Comiskey Park in the opener of a three-game series, Chicago has a chance to take over first place by Thursday.

SPLIT A PAIR

Cleveland and Boston each picked up a half game on New York by splitting a pair. Tom Brewer's three-hitter gave the Red Sox the 6-0 opener and the Indians took the second 6-5 despite a three-run rally Boston built in the ninth. Cleveland is three games back and the Red Sox six.

Washington's Spec Shea, making his first start of the year, came up with a three-hitter to beat Kansas City's Vic Raschi 4-0 in a battle of veterans.

While the American League rejoiced (all but the Yanks) at the tightening of the race, the National could see little hope of a Brooklyn collapse.

The Dodgers, hurting for pitching with a flock of injuries, dipped into the minor league stockpile to come up with a pair of first-time winners. Cleveland's three games back and the Red Sox six.

Rain Forces Tennis Move To Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian tennis championships move here today from Quebec City, where rain washed out play on three days.

The event to be decided here is the men's doubles, with the semi-finals being held today and the finals Tuesday.

Rain again swamped the courts at Quebec City Sunday, forcing the semi-finals and finals in three main events to be postponed until some time in August.

The tournament committee decided on the postponement after a heavy morning downpour made play impossible for the second straight day and the third of the scheduled seven-day meet there. No definite date was set, but play was expected to resume in Quebec Aug. 6 or Aug. 13 in the ladies' singles and doubles and the men's singles.

The committee said the Davis Cup tie against the British West Indies, starting Friday, made it impossible to continue the matches this week. Three of the four players in the semi-finals—Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., Lorne Main of Toronto and Henri Rochon of Montreal—have been named to the cup team.

OBA Past Prexy Dies at Game

GALT (CP)—W. A. Smith, a past-president of the Intercountry Baseball Association, slumped dead in his seat at Saturday's Oshawa-Galt ball game.

Mr. Smith, resident here for 40 years, had been an executive of the Galt Baseball Club and also held office in the Ontario Amateur Baseball Association. He owned a leather-belting factory here.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, July 19, 1953

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Sailing may not be today. But clever management, adroitness and skill may win you and planning will net valuable gains, pave the way for future advancement. Try!

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — You can reap fine results from earnest efforts now. There's no need to rush or overwork but do keep usefully occupied. Confer with superiors, associates if necessary.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Keen thinking, originality and intuitiveness are highlighted today and can aid you in work, home interests, whatever your activity—as long as it is honorable. Be your pleasant self.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — With this day's fine influences your mind should be full of ideas and profitable schemes. But you will have to use common sense and maintain a sense of humor since some obstacles to their execution are possible.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Read Gemini since your day is similar today. Favors can be gained through if you put forth your best efforts. Heed the advice of elders, others interested in your welfare. We can all learn, fit by experience.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — An air of prevention! Don't strain health or mental processes by undertaking more than you can reasonably handle. Study, analyzing, bookkeeping, all mental work especially favored.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Advice to Taurus also pertains to you now. Following a prearranged program, you should do well. But do make it flexible enough so that you can take advantage of unforeseen opportunities.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — This day's influences may be too invigorating at certain hours so be on guard. Don't spend your energy on trivia, but do clear up unfinished business on time.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Select your most urgent duties for first consideration, then turn to the others. If things are handled sensibly, and in the order of their importance, you should have gratifying results.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Difficult and intricate affairs should be easily handled now but paradoxically, the "softer" jobs may be harder to manage. You don't quibble over this kind of day.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — There's a wise path to stay on today—the one that says "useful occupation pays dividends." Don't be influenced by time-wasters. Forward!

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — A stimulating day! And you can use this energizing influence to make it a really fruitful and satisfying one. Don't be indecisive when you know what you should do.

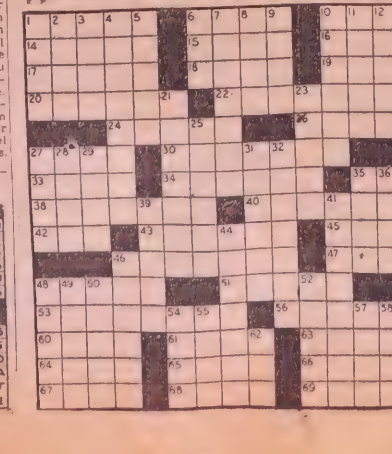

YOU BORN TODAY have many fine qualities and a winning personality; can attain a position of note in whatever endeavor you undertake IF you curb restlessness and overambition. Your faults you no doubt know, so aim to correct them daily—and with good humor. You are a loyal friend and lifeline, deeply love your family and heritage. You would make an excellent salesman, doctor, entertainer, nurse. Be careful of health without worrying about or suspecting illness. Aim high, live calmly and be your cheery self. Birthdate of: Samuel Colt, Amer. inventor of firearms.

Stealthy House Prowler Chokes Toronto Woman

TORONTO (CP) - Police are seeking a stealthy house prowler who is thought to have choked a woman into unconsciousness with a clothes line Sunday night when he entered a bedroom of her roominghouse home.
Mrs. Olga Brennan, 24, told detectives she thought she heard a noise in the bedroom, which adjoins her own room, and went to investigate. She said she felt a "burning sensation" at her throat as she switched on the light, then lost consciousness.
Charlie Butch of suburban Willowdale, said he found Mrs. Brennan lying on the bed with a clothesline tied around her neck and her hands trussed behind her back, when he went to the house with one of the other roomers.
Officers said there was nothing to suggest the attack was the work of the mysterious "strangler" who murdered two women last fall.

U.S. TRANSPORT LIMPS 700 MILES OVER PACIFIC

Lieut. Joseph F. Schultz of Albuquerque, N.M., examines hole in one of two tires which blew out when crippled C124 Globemaster transport made an emergency landing at Hamilton air force base, Cal. The Globemaster, which was disabled 700 miles over the Pacific with two of its four engines dead, was part of "Operation Gyroscop." It was carrying 79 troops and eight crewmen from overseas to Travis Air Force Base from Hickam Field in Honolulu. Air force rescue planes from Hickam Field and Coast Guard planes hovered over the stricken Globemaster after intercepting her many miles at sea. -Central Press Canadian.

KAPUSKASING (CP) - Cousins Yvon Dumais, 12, and Gerard Dumais, 9, were drowned Sunday night in Clear lake, five miles east of here.
The beach was crowded and the boys were not missed by their families until a swimmer stumbled on Yvon's body 100 feet from shore.
Yvon Larose of Kapuskasing found the first body in 10 feet of water and spread the alarm. Gerard's body was found a few minutes later after provincial police organized a search.

WALDRECHTSWEIER, GERMANY (AP) - One hundred per cent of the eligible voters cast their ballots in a referendum Sunday in the village of Waldrechtsweier. Four officials counted the ballots. Two Drowned Near Bracebridge

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) - Two women were drowned Saturday when their car missed a turn at Black Bridge, seven miles south-east of here and plunged into 35 feet of water in the Muskoka river. Dead are Mrs. Rocco Ugolini, 32, and her sister-in-law Mrs. Frank Depotito, 40, both of Toronto.
Two men who witnessed the accident called police, but it took rescuers four hours to haul the car free. As the automobile was dragged ashore, Rocco Ugolini, wondering why his wife had not returned to their cottage at Wood lake, drove into Bracebridge to look for her.
Police said the car was travelling slowly when it missed the turn.

Howe Annoys City Council At Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR (CP) - Trade Minister Howe came under fire when Port Arthur city council was told he would be unable to arrange an immediate meeting of the federal cabinet with a northwestern Ontario delegation on the trans-Canada gas pipeline issue.
One alderman said Friday night the "Howe" refusal to have a meeting was his way of telling city councilors "to mind their own business." Another alderman said the Howe telegram was "very uncomplimentary to this part of the country and as far as I am concerned, Mr. Howe does not represent us."
Mr. Howe is the member of Parliament for Port Arthur.
Mayor F. O. Robinson, who read the telegram to city council, said he was "puzzled" by the whole thing.

TEXT OF WIRE

The wire from the trade minister said:
"Impossible to arrange that delegation from northwestern Ontario meet government during period when we are closing Parliament, particularly on subject you mention."

"It is my understanding that you were elected to represent our citizens in Port Arthur and I was elected to represent them at Ottawa. Hope you are doing your job as I am trying to do."

On July 13, the joint natural gas committee of Port Arthur and Fort William sent a telegram to Mr. Howe asking him to arrange a meeting with Prime Minister St. Laurent and the members of the cabinet for July 21. The committee previously had sent resolutions to cabinet ministers urging them to adhere to the federal government's plan for an all-Canadian gas pipeline.

REPLY TO MAYOR

The reply from Mr. Howe was sent only to Mayor Robinson. Mr. Robinson said he was "puzzled" to get this wire addressed to me personally when the telegram we sent was drawn up by a Fort William and sent jointly by Mayor Hubert Badanal of Fort William and himself.

The special council meeting Friday night decided to send copies of Mr. Howe's telegram and the resolutions drafted by the two Lakehead cities to Prime Minister St. Laurent. They also agreed to send along a second request for a cabinet meeting with the gas committee delegation as soon as possible.

Ferry Strike Ends

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP) - The end of a strike by Straits of Mackinac ferry crew was announced at 2:45 p.m. Saturday by Capt. George W. Lloyd, state superintendent of ferries.
The men went on strike 16 hours earlier to support wage demands, trying up all traffic between Michigan's two peninsulas.
The state civil service commission agreed to meet with an eight-member committee representing the strikers next Thursday or Friday, provided they return to their jobs immediately.
The strikers previously told the commission they would go back if the commission would agree to a hearing.

U.S. REOPENS PROBE OF BLACK MARKET BABIES

Witnesses testifying before a U.S. federal committee in Chicago looking into infant adoption practices revealed that black markets in babies are still being conducted on a widespread scale in Montreal as well as in other Canadian cities. A government secret file taken recently in Chicago, showing a young mother (above) kissing her new baby good-bye before turning it over to "sale" lawyers, backed up their charges. Two years ago a so-called clean-up was made of the situation but, according to George Chenin of the office of investigation in New York, it failed to stamp out the racket. "Babies are flowing out of Montreal to U.S. parents at the rate of 25 a month," Mr. Chenin said, and added that the price of Montreal babies right now ranges up to $5,000. At Three Rivers, where the babies last year were being sold for $700 and $800 through the black market they are now being sold for $3,000. There is no black market in babies in Toronto, the investigation revealed. -Central Press Canadian.

ALL EYES LOOK TO GENEVA CONFERENCE FOR A BETTER WORLD

With the Big Four meeting now underway in Geneva, Switzerland, the eyes of the world are turned toward the Palace of Nations, where it is hoped there will be a lessening of the cold war.

Once the seat of the League of Nations, the palace is now the European headquarters for the United Nations.—Central Press Canadian.

Optimistic their historic summit talks will at least find methods and machinery to solve the major cold war problems, Prime Minister Eden of England, at left, President Eisenhower of U.S., French Premier Faure and Premier Bulganin of Russia, are expected to spend six days conferring in Geneva. Before leaving Moscow Bulganin said, "if the members of the delegations show a spirit of good-will then we can map a way to peace."—Central Press Canadian.

SMILES LIGHTEN SOLEMN OCCASION

A solemn occasion is lightened, above, in Washington, by smiles and well wishes of President Eisenhower following acceptance of Mrs. Culp Hobby's resignation as secretary of health, education and welfare. Mrs. Hobby has been under fire because of failure of the Salk polio vaccine program to proceed as fast as had been hoped. However, her official announcement said: "Personal reasons of a high order compel me to take leave of my post." Friends said that meant that she wanted to be with her husband, former governor William P. Hobby, of Texas, who is ill.

Marilyn to Tackle Channel Within the Next Few Weeks

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FOLKESTONE, Kent, Eng. (CP) In the next few weeks, a friendly young Toronto girl hopes to slip into the cold English channel, bound for France the hard way.

Why? "Well," says 17-year-old Marilyn Bell, who could retire famous after having conquered Lake Ontario last year, "the Channel has always been the big thing for long-distance swimmers. I've always wanted to try it."

"It's not just the channel you have to beat. There are the winds, the tides, fog and currents that must be in your favor."

Relaxed and in good spirits, the teen-ager sat looking from her hotel room at the deceptively placid water, mist-covered despite a strong sun and dotted with anglers' rowboats riding small waves.

NOW HEAVIER She's a year older and four pounds heavier—she weighs 122—than when she won her day-and-night fight across Lake Ontario last year. She looked confident and well, despite contracting a throat infection a week ago which has interrupted training plans and possibly postponed a channel attempt. She hopes to resume training Wednesday.

At the same time last week, American swimmer Florence Chadwick was fretting at Dover, held up by fog.

The next possible jumping off dates are around July 27-28 and Aug. 10-16 when the tides will be most suitable.

and work up to another longer spell—but we'll save up for the big effort."

COLD, CHOPPY WATER

She has covered an estimated 60 miles since starting training last month, much of it through cold, choppy water typical of what she may face.

"A choppy sea is a tough thing to swim in because it gets into your mouth, and slaps you," says Ryder. "A swell is no trouble because you can judge it."

"It is possible that we wouldn't have fished too much in the last 10 days any way because of the warm weather and the mist. Then there have been a lot of jelly fish brought in by the warmer water. I got a sting myself on my cheek."

HAS USED POOL

Sometimes, Marilyn has used the pool at Folkestone, chosen as a training ground because it is quiet, less busy with shipping than Dover and yet typical of channel conditions. Sometimes, she has passed Miss Chadwick on her training grounds.

"Marilyn eats a light breakfast—coffee and toast—and she's ready for the water by 9 a.m.," said Ryder. "Then we get the training over for the day. She lies down after that—to sleep or rest. She has her big meal at noon, reads a lot and goes for walks."

"We'll work slowly into it again," said Gus Ryder, her coach. "We'll give her corn syrup, jelly again," said Gus Ryder, her coach. "We'll give her corn syrup, jelly again," said Gus Ryder, her coach.

Pearson Thinks West Disarming Plans Outdated

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PARIS (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson of Canada suggested Saturday that Western assumptions about disarmament may be outdated.

Addressing the North Atlantic Treaty Association Council, Pearson said that perhaps neither East nor West now is prepared for 100 per cent inspection as a means of checking on whether countries are actually disarming.

He also wondered whether the United Nations remain the proper instrument for disarmament discussions when countries such as Germany and Italy are outside it.

NEARLY IMPOSSIBLE

On the question of inspection, Pearson is understood to have been thinking of the fact that in the atomic era it is well nigh impossible to make an airtight check on disarmament.

One Canadian official illustrated Pearson's point by saying it is possible to be within five yards of certain kinds of new explosive without knowing it is there.

It is not known whether Pearson made any specific proposals himself but it is believed his purpose was merely to stress the importance of having another look at disarmament.

Canada has been a member of the UN sub-committee studying disarmament. Other countries on it are Britain, the United States, France and the Soviet Union. While Russia has recently come closer to the Western position there are still important differences between East and West.

Check Identity Of Man Stabbed At London, Ont.

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Police early today still were checking the identity of a man found fatally stabbed Sunday afternoon in the kitchen of a two-room apartment in downtown London.

The man was identified only as Victor Spence, 32, from an unemployment insurance card found by police in the blood-stained kitchen. Charged with murder three hours after the discovery was 49-year-old Constance Flynn, who police said lived in the apartment.

She was arrested in hysterical condition and lodged in jail after being administered a sedative.

Police were tipped off shortly after 2 p.m. Sunday when Earl Lewis, a neighbor, phoned police to say a woman had come running from the apartment building screaming for somebody to "call the police."

KNIFE FOUND NEARBY

Police found Spence unconscious. He was pronounced dead on arrival at hospital.

He was dressed only in trousers, shirt and tie, detectives said. A blood-stained butter-knife and rolling-pin were found nearby. Dr. F. J. Sweeney, coroner, said he had died of severe internal and external bleeding from a stab wound in the chest.

Paul Scretas, a delicatessen operator who owns the apartment in which Miss Flynn lived, told police he had seen her with Spence earlier in the day when he had sold them a bottle of ginger ale.

Plane Should Not Have Attempted Landing—Coroner

CHICAGO (AP) — A twin-engine airplane, coming in low for an instrument landing, clipped a sign at the edge of Midway airport Sunday and flipped over into a flaming crash that killed 11 persons and injured 21.

"The plane should never have attempted the landing," said coroner Walter McCarron, who is conducting an inquest. The airliner, a Convair owned by Braniff Airlines, struck a gasoline station sign as it flew low in dense early morning fog.

At Dallas, Tex., Braniff headquarters said it will not comment on McCarron's statement at this time because "the investigation of the safety of this operation now is in the hands of investigators of the Civil Aeronautics Board."

A spokesman for the AFL Air Line Pilots' Association, which also is investigating the crash, said it may take several months to determine the exact cause of the disaster.

POSSIBLE COMBINATION

"It could have been a combination of things that may have started 500 miles away," he said.

The plane, en route from Dallas to Chicago, ticked against the 15-foot high electric sign, crashed and spun onto its back inside the airport, one wing ripped off and the other aflame.

The wreckage skidded nearly half a mile. Quivering crash crews put out the sea of gasoline flames within three minutes, saving many of the 43 persons aboard.

The plane carried 40 passengers and a crew of three. Several passengers died after reaching nearby hospitals. Of the remaining injured, only two were listed as in critical condition early today.

McCarron said he learned one of the engines of the plane caught fire during a refuelling stop at Wichita, Kan. He told reporters: "Reports of the engine fire at Wichita and the obvious fact that the plane should have been re-routed because of the field weather conditions . . . shows that the people concerned were far too much interested in timetables. The plane should never have attempted the landing."

The Braniff district manager at Wichita, Kan., said no fire had been called to his attention and "I've been here all day." He said it could have been a motor back-firing and spilling flames.

Passengers on the doomed plane included many college students on their way home after air force reserve training at bases in Texas. There also were six navy reservists on their way to Norfolk, Va., for summer training.

Union Maintains Stelco Should Match U.S. Wages

HAMILTON (CP) — Union spokesmen said today the Steel Company of Canada sets its prices in line with those charged by United States producers and should match wages paid U.S. steelworkers.

The company, however, denied its price policy has anything to do with U.S. steel prices.

The statement was one of 12 major points in a brief presented to a conciliation board hearing a contract dispute between United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) and the company.

The brief presented by W. F. C. Kidd, the union's Canadian research director, said steel prices are based on U.S. prices but wages — once on a par with those in the U.S. — have slipped.

The union made no specific wage demands but asked a "generous" increase. Stelco will present its brief later.

The gap between Canadian and U.S. wages was widest recently when U.S. workers won a 15-cent hourly increase. The lowest-paid Canadian steel workers, previously earning 8 1/2 cents less than their American counterparts, now get about 20 cents less. Among skilled workers, the wage difference now is about 72 cents.

Scottish Bandits Get $100,000 In Daring Theft

GLASGOW (AP) — Four well-dressed bandits seized a money delivery truck parked outside a bank today and made off with between $20,000 and $40,000 in cash.

Working with split-second timing, the quartet slugged a guard, tossed him into the rear of the truck and sped off in a wild rush through Glasgow traffic.

The truck driver and another messenger were delivering bags of money to the British Linen Bank's Paisley road west branch at the time.

The bandits evaded a police chase, drove the truck into a garden behind a deserted villa in a residential section, transferred as many money bags as they could to a waiting car and made their getaway.

Police found the slugged guard inside the truck.

In the bandits' escape through Glasgow bags of pound notes spilled from the rear of the truck and littered the streets.

Charlie Sprague Guest of Honor At Party Celebrating His Retirement

TRENTON (Special) — Yesterday W. A. Easton, assistant superintendent of the Belleville CNR division fulfilled a promise made to retiring telegraph operator, Charlie Sprague. Sprague has been night operator at Trenton Junction for seven years and in accepting years spent overseas in the army in World War I.

Charlie's boss laid the table for an evening meal on top of a desk in the upper railroad station here last night. A long time ago the two very good friends decided to eat together the evening Mr. Sprague finished his last shift.

Today Mr. Sprague is at home in Belleville with the highlights of last night's retirement party still fresh in his mind.

On behalf of fellow employees in Trenton, station agent D. C. McKorie presented the retiring operator with a smoking set and a gift of his own. Relief operator, John Dallaire, Tom Coon representing the local fire office, swing operator, Murray Poulson and relief agent Don Jones, crowded around the veteran operator, who shook hands with them all following the modest ceremony.

Canadian Waters Have Taken 481 Lives So Far This Year

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian waters so far this year have claimed 481 lives by accidental drowning.

A Canadian Press survey indicates the number exceeds that at the same time last year.

It is more than one-third of last year's 1,187 and the holiday season is less than half-way through.

Safety, Red Cross and police officials unite in attributing most drownings to carelessness, especially where inexperienced or non-swimmers participating in water sports are concerned. On many occasions, such as automobile mishaps, buckling ice, commercial-shipping misadventure, or sudden storms.

Ontario, by the end of last week, was leading in the sad succession of watery deaths, with 232 drownings. At the same time last year the figure was 221, and 431 for the year.

In Quebec deaths in the water have claimed 114 lives this year against a record total for the year of 314 in 1954. Montreal alone has had 21 so far, against last year's total 63.

Newfoundland's 17 drownings, to last weekend, compare with 18 a year ago and 31 for the whole of 1954.

Its record year was 1944, with 66.

Nova Scotia's 36 drownings are four lower than last year's at the same time, though almost one-half 1954's 75.

New Brunswick, at 24, has had one more drowning than at the same time last year. Prince Edward Island has had two drownings. Last year's total was 12.

Manitoba has had 24, seven more than the same period last year. Saskatchewan is within seven of last year's total 48. Its record year was 1953 with 63. Alberta, on the other hand, is doing better than in 1954, its blackest year, with 17 drownings to last weekend. This is seven less than last year at the same time.

British Columbia's figures, complete only to May 31, showed 24 by that time, against a total 95 for last year.

Underlying the hazard, the Red Cross said most drownings are in the 19-to-35 age group, not among children. It recommends:

1. Life jackets for all small children who can't swim.
2. Life jackets for all non-swimmers in boats, especially those aged 19 to 35.
3. Swimming confined to supervised areas where possible.
4. No drinking in boats.

Charlie Sprague Guest of Honor At Party Celebrating His Retirement

TRENTON (Special) — Yesterday W. A. Easton, assistant superintendent of the Belleville CNR division fulfilled a promise made to retiring telegraph operator, Charlie Sprague. Charlie's boss laid the table for an evening meal on top of a desk in the upper railroad station here last night. A long time ago the two very good friends decided to eat together the evening Mr. Sprague finished his last shift.

Today Mr. Sprague is at home in Belleville with the highlights of last night's retirement party still fresh in his mind.

On behalf of fellow employees in Trenton, station agent D. C. McKorie presented the retiring operator with a smoking set and a gift of his own. Relief operator, John Dallaire, Tom Coon representing the local fire office, swing operator, Murray Poulson and relief agent Don Jones, crowded around the veteran operator, who shook hands with them all following the modest ceremony.

Newly-Weds Fly To Europe With 53 Chaperons

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

TORONTO (CP) — A young couple left suburban Malton airport Monday for a honeymoon in Europe — with 53 chaperons.

The newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bibun, were accompanied by other members of the Kitchener-Waterloo Sales and Ad Club on a flight to Europe by four-engined KLM Skymaster A champagne and wedding-cake party was to be held over the Atlantic.

The couple advanced the wedding date to comply with a club rule that only members and their families could join the party.

Travel arrangements were handled by a young Brantford man with a handicap, but lots of courage. Travel agent Elgin McKay bade the party farewell at the airport from his wheelchair. Mr. McKay, who started his business five years ago, said he regarded the chartered flight as the crowning achievement of his career.

Among the group was Ken Archer, club chairman, who conceived the idea of the flight and made all arrangements between the club, and a young German mother and her Canadian husband, taking their nine-month-old son to Germany for a visit.

The group will visit London, then some will visit various countries independently, while the remainder will tour Europe together. Later, they will meet again in London for the flight home.

CIGARET CARDS

An article in a recent issue of "London Calling," overseas journal of the British Broadcasting Corporation, is guaranteed to promote nostalgia on both sides of the Atlantic.

"I recently attended a cigarette-card auction in London," says a writer. "When I arrived a gentleman had just made a purchase. And what the gentleman had bought for four pounds was a whole collection of cigarette cards. Some people under thirty may not know what these cards looked like, so let me explain that in the days when a packet of ten cigarettes cost sixpence, before the war, inside practically every packet there was a stiff printed card, just about the size of the packet."

The article is illustrated with several examples of British cigarette cards. There is one from a series on "Early Locomotives" issued in 1901 by Willis's double E there, please Mr. Compositor, though why we cannot say. There is even an earlier cigarette card, from the Coronation of King George V, there are "Recruiting Posters" for the First Great War; "British Birds," complete with pictures of eggs which must have been a very popular series in a land where birds-nesting is a national sport commenced when the toddler is first able to climb a little and only terminated when girls suddenly assume a greater importance than even the discovery of a cuckoo's egg; "Cricketers of 1930", which have a familiar look and must surely have been preceded by an earlier series; "Screen Stars" with the faces of Joan Crawford and Rosalind Russell shown but without a hint of cleavage; "Aircraft of the R.A.F."; and "Propelled Weapons", (surely this last series cannot have been of pre-war origin).

In the twenties it was possible to cross the Atlantic without losing touch with the cigarette card craze. If memory serves us right, one of the most popular series in Canada was of baseball players. Perhaps this series lacked the aesthetic appeal of the pictures of "British Birds" but the cards could still be used for competition. This consisted of flipping them; against a wall, with the card nearest to the wall earning its owner a bonus of the rival card; the longest distance; or for accuracy, with a card covering another making the covered card the property of the covering card's owner.

Cards could also be traded, but this was only done when the firm issuing the cards offered a prize or a premium for a complete set.

One of the major problems of the card collector's life arose when there was no member of the family who smoked—or no member who smoked the brand which brought a bonus of the desired type of card. Acquiring "capital" with which to engage in flipping enterprises then involved some ingenuity. This probably did the rising young businessman no real harm, although some of the practices in which he indulged might be questioned by the Better Business Bureau.

The writer in "London Calling" says that some cigarette cards "are still being used, although not by the tobacco firms in Britain. Probably the same situation is true on this side of the Atlantic. But the younger generation does not seem to take the same interest in collecting these cards and gambling for them. Possibly the knowledge that a collection may bring four pounds, the equivalent of $10 or so, along about 1980 may stimulate a renewed interest."

WEIRD ADVICE

Dr. David Gelfand may know a lot about hearts but it is not so certain that he knows much about bosses.

Dr. Gelfand says that an examination of 438 persons referred to the cardiac work evaluation unit at Philadelphia General Hospital revealed that 46 per cent of them have a psychological factor, "a basic insecurity."

His remedy—return to work and tell off your boss.

This may temporarily release the hypertension which causes heart attacks, but if Dr. Gelfand thinks that it is likely to prove a permanent remedy for a feeling of insecurity, his knowledge of bosses must be somewhat limited.

Unless, of course, his advice is followed very carefully. "Blow your stack," he says—but do it tactfully.

All those who know how to blow their top in a tactful manner please line up on the right. If there are enough for a bridge game, we shall be amazed.

BRITISH IMPORTS DECLINE

Britain's share of the Canadian market is falling. Blame for this situation is placed on a tendency for Canadian consumers to prove harder to please. The Canadian market, say British officials, is demanding more and more variety.

Most affected by the decline in imports from Britain are English-made cars and textiles. It is rather difficult to reconcile the decline in imports of these products with the explanation that variety is being demanded. English-made cars certainly provide the automobile purchaser with a different type of product from that produced by home industries or by the United States. Nor would the layman have expected British textile manufacturers to have been accused of failure to provide a variety of products.

One might also have expected that the substantial number of Britons who have emigrated to Canada in recent years would have shown a natural preference for British-made goods, with which they were familiar, thus tending to increase the over-all demand in Canada for the products of British factories and mills.

The figures, however, indicate that what might have been anticipated has failed to occur.

HOSPITAL VISITORS

This will every surgeon say:
"Visitors should stay away.
Don't stand whispering in the hall;
Just now that won't help at all.
Trust me! Soon as I can tell,
You will know that all is well."

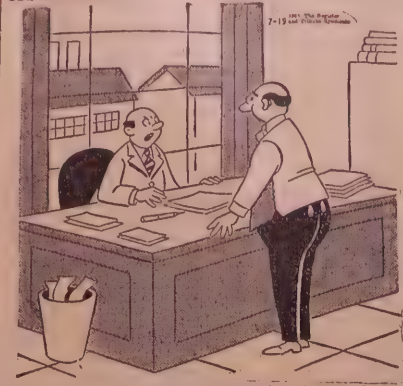

"Kindness can be overdone;
Than too much, is better none.
If to visit you should go,
Smile and say a glad hello;
Don't without explaining why,
Just as quickly say good-bye."

"Never try awake to keep
One who ought to go to sleep.
In the room don't plan to stay,
Greet your friend and go away.
Better not to go at all
Than too long to make your call."

"Give the patient needed rest.
Always keep remembering
Talk is a disturbing thing.
Pen a note or flowers send.
That's the way to be a friend."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

IN NATURE'S DOMINION

In nature's dominion nothing remains static—all is movement and change. But to those who love to be in this realm there is an appeal to the spirit that has its own charm and mental inspiration. There is little loneliness in Nature because she is constantly giving out of herself. All our great truths have their origin in Nature and her world.

How much is still hidden as secrets in all of Nature! Many of the birds and animals still insist in keeping much of their knowledge tight to themselves. This, perhaps, is well for then we can live in a world of expectancy—believing that there are yet to be greater things and more interesting happenings than any gone before.

No matter how many times we have been to one place, upon returning to it we see something startling. Only this very week I visited a place I had not seen a year ago. Today four new homes and new neighbors talk to freshen their happy spot, for it is friends that make a house a home.

Looking at the commonest flower you can always discover some-

Teachers' Best Reward

(Edmonton Journal)

When school teachers retire after many, many years of devoted service, an exacting and sometimes thankless task, they are usually denied, if not wined, by teachers' organizations and officials of the school board and the municipality. At such affairs, they are eulogized, as they should be, honored with presentations, as is proper; and generally made to feel that their services in one of the most important of all professions have been recognized and are deeply appreciated. All this is well, for their labors are deeply appreciated, not merely by people in office but by tens of thousands of parents and by their students.

We rather imagine, however, that such ceremonial occasions, for all that they provide opportunities for nostalgic harking back to "the good old days," are just the frosting on the cake. What really makes the final parting from the old school "sweet sorrow" and nourishes the spirits of teachers in retirement is the knowledge that they are remembered by their students.

Remembered, so that when a few friends meet for once in a blue moon and the talk turns to school days there will be chuckles about "old So-and-So" who used to drum "math" into some pretty solid heads, or about "Miss Prim" who was so straight-laced in class yet "a darling" on informal occasions.

Remembered, so that each teacher is likely to be greeted on the street at almost any time by an ex-student who, for all the apparent distance of years, still shows just a shade of deference in greeting a touch of affectionate respect which carries its own tribute.

A wonderful thing about the memories both students and teachers cherish is that they mellow with the years.

The teacher who was considered "a bear" for ramrod discipline many years ago at school is likely to be recalled today as "strict but fair" and "a pretty good old fellow."

First-class teachers are recalled with a magnified sense of their abilities. The pedestrian instructors, once notorious for the dullness of their lectures, are remembered only for their morose, grumpy behavior for at the years pass it is the personal qualities of most teachers which remain with us, rather than their academic powers.

Teachers, for their part, must find their faith in young people constantly renewed by the discovery that many a "lazy young rascal" has turned into a very fine citizen, and their interest in the lives and affairs of others maintained at a high level by the daily news of what former students are accomplishing in various walks of life. At the same time, the profession, those who have taught the young are likely to find memories flooding in upon them. That happens to everyone on retirement from a life's work. But teachers also have a rare opportunity to look ahead through their students' lives which are windows facing the future with all its unlimited possibilities.

No Political Reasons Behind Offices Move

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Winters said Monday there were no political reasons behind the transfer of some federal offices from New Westminster, B.C., to Vancouver.

He said in the Commons that it was part of a program of consolidating architectural and engineering branches of his department for greater efficiency.

Mr. Winters was replying to a speech by George Hahn (SC—New Westminster) on July 1. Mr. Hahn said Vancouver newspapers had quoted Liberal Senator Thomas Reid as suggesting the New Westminster offices were closed because the constituency had not elected a Liberal.

Flaming Mitchell Bomber Crashes In North Alberta

COLD LAKE, Alta. (CP)—An extensive search began today 30 miles east of here for the pilot of a twin-engine Mitchell bomber which crashed in flames Monday. Three other crew members bailed out safely.

The Mitchell, used for navigator and radar training, was on a routine flight when it burst into flame.

The three who bailed out were FO A. (Ted) Tomanhauser, second pilot, of Chatham, Ont.; FO Keith Graham, navigator, of Parry Sound; and FO Joseph Ernest Sica, of Montreal.

FOUND BY 'COPTER
A helicopter found the three men and returned them to this air base about 170 miles northeast of Edmonton.

The plane crashed just west of Lac des Isles in Saskatchewan. Air force officials withheld the name of the missing pilot. It was not known whether he had time to bail out.

The crash was reported to RCAF officials at Cold Lake by an army private on leave.

Cold Lake station is used for advance training for jet pilots, flying CF-100s. It includes a guided missile range.

Alter Skyline At Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—A construction boom is altering Montreal's familiar skyline at a record clip. City Hall officials have disclosed that 30 permits for the construction of office buildings in the metropolitan area have been issued since Jan. 1, with a total value of $5,710,000. This compared with 21 permits, with a total value of $2,183,430 for the corresponding period last year.

At present more than six new office structures are under construction or being contemplated.

Building industry officials say that expansion of Montreal company offices and establishment of new head offices in the city are responsible for the boom.

Family Wins Two New Cars

OAKVILLE (CP)—A father who has never owned a new model automobile sold his daughter a Lions Club draw ticket last week.

Saturday night, his salesmanship had brought two brand-new autos into the family.

Twelve-year-old Bonnie Patton claimed a canary-yellow hardtop convertible for her ticket. Her father Walter Patton collected a smaller vehicle for selling the lucky ticket.

Paul Robeson Refuses to Say He Is Not Red

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department said Monday singer Paul Robeson has refused to sign an affidavit swearing he is not and never has been a Communist.

The state department reported this after the Negro baritone, accompanied by two lawyers, was granted an unprecedented 75-minute hearing by a top rank team of five department officials headed by security chief Scott McLeod.

Robeson emerged from the meeting expressing confidence that state department restrictions on his travel would be eased sufficiently to permit him to go to Canada to sing at a concert in Vancouver next Sunday.

Robeson has been barred since August of 1950 not only from traveling overseas but from visiting such countries as Canada, Mexico and the West Indies where passports are not required of U. S. citizens.

Atomic Power Cooks Hamburger In New York

WEST MILTON, N. Y. (AP)—The free world's first commercial atomic-electric power went "on the line" Monday, and one of its first uses was the grilling of a hamburger by a housewife.

Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission turned a switch that unleashed "several thousand" kilowatts of atomic-electric energy into the public utility system of the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp., which services sections of upstate New York.

The electric power was generated by steam produced by a counterpart of the atomic reactor that will power the world's second atomic submarine, which will be launched Thursday at Groton, Conn.

A spokesman for the General Electric Co., which built the generator from which the power was transmitted, told a reporter that the generator could provide additional power for up to 35,000 homes in the system served.

The spokesman said that "one of the first persons" to utilize the atomic power was Mrs. John Thomas of nearby Ballston Spa, who cooked a hamburger with the power.

Minor Baseball

Ernie Young's Stewart Warner nine fought back from a 6-0 first-inning deficit at the fair grounds last night to the Houston's 6-6 in a hard fought midget battle for the right to represent Belleville in the O.B.A. playoffs. Nothing definite had been decided upon as to which club will advance.

John Foster started on the hill for the Stewart Warner nine and gave up all Houston's runs on two hits and four walks before Jack Elliott took over. Elliott allowed but three hits in 6 1/3 innings, fanning five and passing two in a great relief job.

The underdogs played single runs in the first and third frames and knotted the score in the 4th. Both teams had men in scoring position in the last two frames but clutch hurling by Joe Ryan and Elliott prevented further scoring. Both teams came up with some excellent fielding plays.

Joe Ryan went all the way for Houston's, surrendering seven hits, whiffing nine and walking 11.

Jack Elliott once more paced his team at bat with a double and single while Jim Sopha punched a brace of singles and Dave Coe doubled. Jack O'Neill and John Foster had singles. Latchford was tops in Houston's behalf with two singles while Bill Dickey crashed a double and angles went to Ab Wright and Eric Beeby.

CONSERVATION Ketch's Korner

by the ROVING SECRETARY OF THE CARLING CONSERVATION CLUB

A slight change of pace at the old Korner this week. Thought we would take time out to describe a rather unique experience which occurred this week at Wyndwyck. Concerns wildlife.

Like thousands of others, we've been hugely enjoying our annual vacation. And we've taken the opportunity of watching and occasionally seeing something of what goes on under the variety of creatures which share their home with us. We have on the property an old, unused tool shed, and in this ready-made hideaway there's one fellow who seems to have everything just the way he wants it. We call him "Zeke". Unlike most of his kindred, who generally will have no truck at all with humans, old Zeke seems to fancy himself as an integral part of the establishment. As this story will illustrate, he seems to be convinced that what's good for humans must also be good for groundhog. Zeke is a woodchuck. Since Christmas, by the way, we've had a new edition to the Wyndwyck menage—a honey-colored Pekinese called Ta Fee. This young lady was born and raised in the city, and if there ever was a city slicker, she's it. And of course the other animals around the farm are to her a continuing and absorbing novelty.

At Wyndwyck, there has long been one unwritten law—wildlife has the run of the place, free from threats. Even the skunks who live and prosper under the big barn seem to respect our "hands-off" policy, for to date they have shown us no ill will. The rabbits, the black squirrels and the red squirrels all have the run of the place. There are, however, occasional disturbances when the odd domain is usurped.

To get back to Zeke. He seems to have gotten a bit lonely. And he doesn't seem to have any chums of his own kind in the immediate neighborhood. So, desperate for company, he has taken to playing with Ta Fee, the Pekinese, just outside our kitchen door. Zeke will waddle from his house, stand on his hind legs, and watch for the little dog to come out into the sunshine. When she appears, the fun begins. Ta Fee strolls nonchalantly toward the groundhog, who immediately goes into his hole. He runs a little way, leaps up on the well housing and peers at her. Then he'll hide. She begins to look for him and he pops up on the other side. Or perhaps Zeke will duck down one of his many holes and leave Ta Fee waiting at the entrance. And up he'll come over the cellar steps. . . . Naturally it would be fascinating to an hour or so at a time. But this couldn't go on forever. The climax came one Sunday recently. Ta Fee, who was apparently wearying of the game, decided to go in the house. We opened the screen door to let her in. . . . and along came Zeke, marching right along behind her! The big woodchuck looked the place over carefully—cashed the joint—and rather seemed to enjoy the novelty of being in a house. It looked as though he was determined to investigate all those things which heretofore had been denied all groundhogs. The pantry and the refrigerator obviously appealed to him. He looked them over pretty thoroughly, then discovered the cellar steps. . . . Naturally it would be fascinating to search to see just how human-made to appear. But no Zeke. Then, disconsolately, she'd come back to a painstaking survey of the concrete walls and floor, he decided that digging through that stuff would be too much like work. So, he scampered up to the place where the garden hose was stored—a perfect, comfortable resting-place for a tired woodchuck. When the growing urgency of hunger finally spurred him into activity, Zeke decided he'd be better off outside—and out he went.

Just prior to having me missed Zeke for about a week, and an animal portrayal of "Madame Butterfly" was enacted daily. Ta Fee would come out in the morning and wait by the hour for her playmate to appear. But no Zeke. Then, disconsolately, she'd come back to a painstaking survey of the concrete walls and floor, he decided that digging through that stuff would be too much like work. So, he scampered up to the place where the garden hose was stored—a perfect, comfortable resting-place for a tired woodchuck. It takes TCP to get the full power from High Octane Gasoline

Cars being made today are the most powerful ever built. And with this extra power you also get extra economy—more miles per gallon.

The reason for these benefits is that today's engines are high compression engines and make more complete use of the power available in today's higher octane gasolines.

But did you know that the kind of driving most people do most of the time—local driving—can, in a short time, create a condition that offsets the extra power and economy that these engines should get from high octane gasoline.

Why? Because this kind of driving increases the build-up of certain combustion chamber deposits—the root of most power and gasoline waste. And to overcome these deposits you need a gasoline with a special kind of additive.

What happens is this:

As your engine warms up, these deposits warm up, too—glow red hot. And these glowing particles act like hot coals—ignite the gasoline mixture ahead of time . . . before the pistons reach proper firing position. This is called pre-firing and means that power works against you instead of for you.

In addition, these same deposits have another power-wasting effect: They foul spark plugs, causing your engine to miss.

Engineers will tell you there's nothing more wasteful of power and gasoline than pre-firing and spark plug "miss."

But there is an answer—there's one high octane gasoline that gives you all the advantages of high octane without the power-crippling effects of these deposits—Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP.

TCP, the Shell-developed additive, fireproofs the deposits so that they no longer cause pre-firing. No longer can they glow red hot and ignite the gasoline mixture. And TCP stops spark plug "miss," too. Your spark plugs do the job they are supposed to do.

Start getting the full power built into your engine. Get Shell Premium with TCP. It's the most powerful gasoline your car can use!

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and High Octane!

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU WANT TO BE POPULAR? TRY THESE SUGGESTIONS

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm a girl of 18 and I have a boyfriend 17 I met him last summer but a month after I met him he went to another state to work and was away for nine months.

While he was gone, he wrote to me and said he loved me, and promised a lot of things, but when he came back to a job here, three months ago, he only took me out for about a week. Now he phones me occasionally, but never takes me out, and it seems as though he has forgotten all his promises and that he doesn't love me as he said he did. He tells me now that he's been out with another girl.

My parents know all about him and how he acts, and my mother is beginning to hate him for it.

Please give me your advice—C.R.

Dear C.R.:

You want my advice? Go out with other boys and don't let this one think for a minute that it is a love story. I don't care whether he comes around or not. Don't you, at your age, realize that it doesn't make sense to try and build a big romance on a month's acquaintance? Or that a boy—and girls, too—say a lot of things they don't mean when they happen to meet somebody they like, and then forget all about them when they meet somebody else? Or that the quickest way to drive a boy off is to remind him of the things he said, and to act as though he had done you wrong? If you don't, then you should start learning.

And here are some other things you should begin to learn:

1. The surest way to get and keep a boy interested is to be a falling cheerful, fun to be with, always ready for the right kind of good times, and a good sport in everything you do and say—even when a boy you like starts getting interested in someone else. That may be hard to do, but it pays off in the end.

2. The girl who will attract boys is the one who has lots of friends, both among the girls and among the boys, not the girl who tries to hang on to one boy so hard that she gives the impression she's afraid she'll never have another boy friend.

3. The popular girl is the one who has a whole lot of healthy interests—sports, hobbies and other activities—so that she always has a plenty of interesting things to talk about and always something to interest in someone else. That kind of girl will never be at a loss for a good time, whether she has a date on a particular day or not.

4. And finally, the girl everybody likes is one who doesn't sit around waiting for invitations, but who is one to suggest ideas and start things herself—a party, a trip to the beach, a picnic or anything else that all young people enjoy.

Start thinking along these lines, then, and you'll find life opening up in a richer and pleasanter way than you've ever known before.

Cornwall Interlude

By Mary Moore

Are you still with me?

We were breaking bread (hot saffron cake) on the road from Mevagissey when I came to the end of my space yesterday, and that leads me to three of the most perfect days of our trip: our stay at "Bryn", the home of Doris' doctor friend in Truro, Cornwall.

In trying to decide what was the highlight I'm torn between Dr. Andrews' twinkling-eyed Irish hospitality, the dish of early morning tea he delivered to our door and the profusion of tall rosy red rhododendrons at the bottom of his central garden.

To begin at the end, Irishwise, on the morning we left we were just finished breakfast (huge English strawberries and Cornish cream, bacon and eggs) when the doctor excused himself to go to the garage (pronounced gahr-uh) to fill our car tank with petrol (!). Doris immediately objected: "This you will not do, Charles!" That gave him pause but only to say with the inimitable twinkle: "My girl, the decision is not yours."

To make our delight doubly understandable, on the first morning Marianne and I were writing letters in the sunshine on the patio overlooking the colorful garden when the doctor returned from his rounds. With a direct look at me he asked "Would one of you ladies like to cut the flowers for today and arrange them to your liking?" I jumped to my feet, offering for one feature of my heaven will be cutting and arranging the flowers. Imagine cutting the first long-stemmed multiple-flowered sweetpea of the year, hurriedly rhododendron or "any thing that takes your fancy" in that fairland.

Marianne and I will never forget the gentle knock on our bedroom door and the quiet masculine voice: "Your tea ladies."

Marianne rolled out of her bed, and with the door opened barely wide enough reached through, picked up the tray from the rug, backed up, and deposited the tray on my lap, for by this time I'd struggled to a sitting position. And you know it was good—very good. Operation Morning Tea was carried off ever so unobtrusively but it was a memorable ritual. (I'm working on discovering a gent to deliver it to me of a morning now that I'm back home.)

I think there will be folk in this audience who are familiar with Falmouth near Truro, and may be the Crag Hotel too. Dr. Andrews invited two of his medical colleagues and their wives to have dinner with us there—a party of nine.

To my dismay I have lost track of the number of courses, but there were six or seven, each one perfect starting with mellow, turbot, chicken, an ice, cheese, and a savory of soft herring roe. During the latter part of this delightful two-hour meal strains of music reached us from the hotel lounge. When they finally pulled us all to their source we found a pianist at a baby grand, playing anything and everything requested in the key the singer wanted. We had a glorious time joining in. There were guests there from several countries besides our Canadian delegation, and we sang our native songs and if one were to be a dancer or had notions everybody eagerly learned it on the first run-through and joined in. This went on until at eleven p.m., the husband of a friend of mine, a clergyman, I'm very sorry to bring this to a close but we have house guests who have retired." If Dr. Andrews had planned it it could not have been a more entrancing ending to a perfect day. It would never happen here, more's the pity.

This kind of anecdote may gush forth all summer, so stop me when you've had enough.

BEAUTY

BEAUTIFUL EYEBROWS

Like a 11 beauty fads—the excessively tweezed eyebrow has run its course. And good riddance. Hollywood experts, who direct make-up trends, are responsible. Observe the lovelies of the screen and you will note that their brows follow natural patterns.

The most flattering eyebrows are those of medium width, beautifully arched, the far terminal tapering neatly. They form pretty frames for pretty eyes and they can be wonderfully expressive.

Eyebrows should conform to the shape of the eyes. The outline should be clear cut, so it is sometimes necessary to pluck away little strays.

After applying the powder puff to your face, anoint the brows with a lash cream—you will find them at cosmetic counters—and sweep it upward from the inner end of the brow then straight across at the center, down at the far terminal.

There is need of a darkening agent, a crayon will serve better right for lashes Use. Little short strokes with the pencil, being careful not to touch the flesh. Crayons come in different shades but a dark brown is usually the best selection.

SOVIET MAKES OFFER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia offered Monday to join with the United States in measures aimed at preventing any new clashes between American and Soviet planes in the Alaska area. The offer was made in a note delivered to the Acting Secretary of State, Herbert Hoover Jr., by Russian chargé d'affaires Striganov.

BEN LOST BOOM

LONDON (Reuters)—Big Ben's bong disappeared from London for six hours Monday. The 100-year-old giant clock above the Houses of Parliament lost its noted bawling voice at 11 a.m., confusing thousands of Britons until 5 p.m. Repairmen finally spliced a tear in the heavy steel rope that pulls the boomers for the hours and quarters.

OPENS EXHIBITION

EDMONTON (CP)—Canadians should "strive with constant effort to prevent a psychological curtain from separating the several and varied elements of our people," Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal said Monday night. He was opening the jubilee Edmonton Exhibition.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

GLOVE ETIQUETTE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm a devotee of the "short short" gloves, and I wear them whenever possible. Informal ones, for informal occasions; formal ones (generally soft white kid) for such formal occasions as wedding receptions. I know you've written that a woman should remove her gloves when she eats or drinks or smokes. But does this concern only a long or medium-length glove? Must I remove my short gloves in these cases? — Patricia

Yes, Ma'am! Before you begin to eat or to drink or to smoke or to make-up, remove your gloves, even those "short shorties." It's mighty unattractive to see a woman keep her gloves on when she eats (even only one tiny, tiny sandwich at a wedding reception) or when she drinks (even a small glass of fruit punch), or when she lights a cigarette (or worse, when she crushes it out) or when she applies powder or lipstick, however delicately.

WHOM TO INVITE TO SAY GRACE?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband passed on quite recently. We always had grace said at our table. My husband always said grace unless we had a clergyman at our table, which was quite often as my husband had several relatives and close friends who were clergymen. Now I am wondering (1) if I myself should always say grace, at my table or (2) if I should ask a man guest to say grace for example, the husband of an older couple are dining with me) or (3) if I should only ask a man to say grace when the man is a clergyman. Thank you for your advice.

My advice, dear lady, is that you yourself say grace at your own table unless you have a clergyman at table, when you would, of course not ask a man guest to say grace to ask a man guest to say grace just because he is a man guest. . . but if you particularly wish to, you might ask a man who is a devoted relative of yours, perhaps an uncle or an older cousin, or a man who is a close, long-time friend of yours and, or your husband's.

WOMAN'S SIGNATURE SHOULD TELL HER STATUS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In the special circumstances of the position I have recently entered, I occasionally receive business letters from women who sign their names "Mary Smith." "Katherine Jones," "Ellen Robinson," with no title. What form of salutation should I use when I answer these letters? That is, should I begin "Dear Miss Smith," or should I assume that the writer is "Mrs. Smith"? Is there a rule I could follow about this? — E.W.R.

When a woman signs her letter "Mary Smith," you will be correct in assuming that she is "Miss Smith," and you would begin your reply to her "Dear Miss Smith." If she is "Miss Smith," it is correct for her, though not necessary, to write "Miss," in parentheses, either before her name or underneath it. . . (Miss) Mary Smith.

A married woman should sign her letter to you like this: Very truly yours, Mary Smith (Mrs. Robert Smith)

Then, of course, the salutation of your reply to her is "Dear Mrs. Smith"

Triumph of the Turban

By ALICE ALDEN

There's nothing like the draped turban for ease, for comfort, and when well handled, for style and beauty also. Here is one of the smartest turbans we have seen so far. The original is of organdie but, as the season wanes, the design will be seen in other less airy fabrics. What interests us is the slit crown and the manner in which the fabric is draped into large puffs at the neck. Irene did this version.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and Glasses Magee found out how to tell the bewty looking twine apart, on account of having noticed that one of them has an exter freckle right under one eye where the other one has a vacant space, the only trouble being we didn't know whether Flor had the exter freckle and Dora didn't, or whether Dora did and Flor didn't, and Glasses said, Now we got to find out which one's got it.

Or elts which one hasn't, I said, and Glasses said, Sure, that'll do just as good.

And as soon as we saw them come out of their home in the next block we went down, saying, High, Flor, high, Dora.

High they both said together.

Not proving anything, and we stood there talking to them and waiting for clues, and their mother looked out the front window, saying, Don't go away, Flor, the doctor is coming.

Okay, mamma, one of the twins said, and we quick looked at her, and she was the one with the exter freckle, and I winked a private wink at Glasses and he winked one back, and the twins took a hold of hands and jumped around each other to mix themselves up, and after a while we both looked at the one without the exter freckle, and I said, Hello, Dora.

How are you, Dora? Glasses said, and she said, I'm Flor.

Like fun you are, Glasses said, and I said, You can't fool us any more, these days are gone forever, and you're Dora.

You can't prove it, she said, and I said, Yes we can, too, but we won't.

It's too good of a secret, Glasses said.

And we kept on calling them by their right name according to

The Bourkes all work at the Bell!

Away back in 1922, a young man by the name of Arthur Bourke joined our company. Little did he realize that his children—all six of them—would follow in his footsteps to careers at the Bell. Today Mr. Bourke would be more than proud of his handsome family. We know we are!

The Bourkes, like all telephone people, know from their own experience that the Bell is "a good place to work". They have found pleasant associates and interesting work at good wages. They have also found satisfaction and opportunity in serving the public in an essential business.

And this is as it should be, for good telephone service depends upon people who like their jobs, and convey this feeling to our customers. This is the feeling that is largely responsible for "the spirit of service" you find in Bell employees wherever you meet them.

How to feel air-borne in one easy session

Just be our guest at the wheel of a Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflo[®] (AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION)

It's The Hardtop with Four Doors!

Another big reason for Buick's soaring sales is the 4-Door Riviera—the new bit in hardtops that's taking the country by storm. The "Convertible" look, with no center posts—but with separate doors for rear-seat passengers. Shown here is the SPECIAL Series—also available in the high-powered CENTURY Series. Both now in volume production to insure prompt deliveries.

THE RIDE ALONE is enough to make you feel you're cloud-cruising when you're in a Buick.

Big soft-acting coil springs on all four wheels—a steady full-length torque-tube—the pillow-cushioning of low-pressure tubeless tires—and a long list of other great ride-engineering gems see to that.

But you're closer to flight travel than just in the way you ride when you're in the driver's seat of a new Buick. Variable Pitch Dynaflo sees to that.

For here you do what the pilot of a modern airliner does for quick take-off and climb, and for better gas mileage aloft—you vary the pitch of your driving propellers.

You do it quite simply—just by the way you press the gas pedal.

Press down in the normal way, and twenty propeller-like blades inside the Dynaflo unit hold at their high economy angle—to give you many more miles from every tankful of gas.

Press way down when the need arises—and you switch the pitch of those blades for high performance.

Instantly, you're off and away. Instantly, you're at full-power acceleration in a safety-surge of forward momentum that's thrilling beyond all previous motoring experience.

What more can we say—except come try it!

It's a new kind of spectacular action—yours with the might of Buick's record-powered V8 engines—and easily yours at great-buy prices that are sending Buick sales soaring to all-time best-seller highs.

Come in this week and be our guest at the wheel of the most sensational Buick ever!

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

TAKE YOUR PICK FROM THE HOTTEST BUICK IN HISTORY

For example, check the price of the Buick SPECIAL shown here. You'll be amazed at how little more it costs you to own—and drive—and delight in this big, powerful beauty. But don't delay. See your Buick dealer today, and get all the answers.

Unemployment Falls to Lowest Point Since November, 1953

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment during June fell to lowest point since November, 1953, the bureau of statistics and the labor department estimated today.

In a joint statement, they estimated that those seeking work dropped 56,000 to 157,000 from 213,000. This compared with 186,000 seeking work at June 19 last year. The labor department reported that those registered for work with the National Employment Service at June 16 dropped to 251,936 from 323,378 a month earlier and compared with 295,747 a year earlier.

LABOR FORCE GROWS

The bureau estimated the civilian labor force at 5,615,000 in the week ended June 18, up from 5,537,000 in the week ended May 21. In corresponding periods last year, the labor force rose to 5,483,000 from 4,843,000.

In Ontario, here are the NES applications figures for, respectively, June and May of this year, and June last year: 77,471; 93,621; 100,659.

Sinn Fein M.P. Loses His Seat

LONDON (Reuters) — The House of Commons Monday declared vacant a seat won in the May 26 general elections by a man disqualified from sitting because he is serving a 10-year prison term for treasonable felony.

The unseated member is 23-year-old Thomas J. Mitchell, inmate of the Belfast jail, who was elected in the Northern Ireland constituency of Mid-Ulster.

Mitchell's party, the Sinn Fein, the political arm of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, is pledged to unite Northern Ireland with the Irish Republic, by force if necessary.

Mitchell was sentenced for his part in a raid on a British military barracks, in which arms were stolen and five British soldiers were wounded.

In the election, Mitchell, though behind bars, defeated a candidate of the Ulster Unionist party, which is loyal to the British government. As a result of Monday's action, a by-election will be ordered.

Rylstone

RYLSTONE — Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Lily Anderson was hostess to the Woman's Association of the Rylstone United church. There were ten ladies, the Rev. H. E. Beare and five children present. The president, Mrs. Ray Stewart, opened the meeting. The Scripture reading, Genesis chapter 48 was given by Mr. Beare. A reading "Blessings Through God's Love," was read by Mrs. Ray Stewart. The minutes of the June meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Wilfred Spencer. The roll call was answered by a Scripture verse containing the word "Blessed." Readings were given by Mrs. Fred McKeown "Unexpected Happiness," and Mrs. Clarence Thompson "Why I Go To Church."

A letter from Mrs. Stegink, missionary to Africa, was read by Mrs. Will Rutherford and a report of the 23rd convention of the W.A. held in Madoc, was given by Mrs. Thomas McKeown. A duet, "Let the Sun Shine In," was given by Sherry Spencer and Marilyn Stewart, with Mrs. Ellis Jones accompanying at the organ. Two more readings were given by Mrs. Anderson, "The Guiding Hand," and Mrs. Ellis Jones, "Her Own Little House." Mr. Beare gave a short talk and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Just before the meeting was dismissed, Mrs. Anderson was called to a chair, and Mrs. Will Rutherford read a few words of congratulations to her, the day being her 75th birthday anniversary. In appreciation of her years of service to the W.A. and the church, Marilyn Stewart, Mrs. Anderson's great niece, presented her with an insulated tea pot. Brian Thomson collected birthday cards from all the members and gave them to her. Everyone sang "Happy Birthday" and Mrs. Anderson spoke a few words of thanks for the gift. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Stewart. Mrs. Harry Munby will be the convener. The key word will be "Christ."

Visitors at the home of Mrs. Preston Bothwell last Saturday in honor of Bonnie Bothwell's birthday anniversary were, Mrs. John Cleugh, Ellen, Colin and David, Dwayne Kerr, Agnes McKeown, and Wayne Wildman. They enjoyed a picnic supper at Crowe River Bridge.

What might have become a serious fire was narrowly averted Wednesday when a spark from a bonfire at Rylstone Cheese factory blew into the tall, dry grass, and burned over a large area before it was brought under control. If it had gone as far as Finch's and Spencer's woods, it would have been much harder to put out. Everything is tinder dry. A day's rain would be a blessing to everyone.

WESTERN LEADERS

2. European Security — The United States offered Russia unspecified new "reciprocal" safeguards. Britain suggested the Big Four plus a united Germany form a non-aggression pact. Eden also proposed a demilitarized zone, including East Germany, between East and West Europe. France favored a security alliance of all European states under which both NATO and the Communist Warsaw alliance could exist. Russia asked a temporary non-aggression treaty between the Warsaw alliance and NATO pending formation of an all-European treaty to replace the Western and Communist alliances.

3. Disarmament — Eisenhower concentrated on setting up a tight inspection and alarm system to prevent violations. Eden proposed limiting arms in Europe as the start of a global program. Faure called for cutbacks in military spending, with the savings diverted to aid of under-developed areas. Russia called for an immediate freeze on forces of the great powers, prohibition of atomic weapons and subsequent reduction of military forces to 1,500,000 men each for Russia, the U.S. and Communist China; 650,000 each for Britain and France and 150,000 to 200,000 each for all other powers, including Germany.

4. Soviet Satellites — The U.S. asked greater freedom for East European peoples. Russia rejected consideration of the issue, terming it interference in the internal affairs of independent countries. Britain and France did not express themselves.

5. International Communism — Eisenhower deplored it as a source of international tension. Bulganin refused to discuss the issue. Eden and Faure were silent on the matter.

6. The Far East — Russia repeated Red China's claim to Formosa, reminded the U.S. of Peking's "offer" to negotiate a Formosan settlement with Washington, and called again for Red China's admission to the United Nations. The Western powers ignored the subject.

7. Trade — Bulganin called for an end to the Western blockade on shipment of strategic goods to the Communist bloc. Faure urged expansion of East-West trade and cultural relations as a means of relieving tension. Eisenhower and Eden did not mention the matter specifically.

AMERICAN REACTION

Informed sources said the first American reaction to Bulganin's opening speech was this:

1. Regret at the refusal to discuss international Communist subversion and freedom for the satellites although the Soviet reaction was anticipated.

2. Gratification at Russia's announcement that she would contribute "an appropriate amount" of fissionable material to the international atomic agency now being set up as part of the Eisenhower atom-for-peace plan. It was pointed out, however, that the offer was hinged on the actual formation of the agency and was thus subject to withdrawal.

3. Regret over the "negative" attitude of the Russians on German unification.

4. A feeling that the Far Eastern issues Bulganin raised are not appropriate for discussion here.

It thus became apparent that some of the issues raised were for all practical purposes already eliminated from the conference agenda.

THE 5 MOST ASKED QUESTIONS ABOUT...

DOGS

Is it true that mongrels are generally smarter than purebreds?

All the evidence points the other way. The kennel dog has all the advantages of breeding and training and more often than not is 'smarter' than the mongrel. You'll notice that sheepdogs, hunting dogs and other highly trained canines are almost always purebreds. And seeing-eye dogs are always pedigreed.

Do dogs thrive better in the country than in the city?

Strangely enough they don't. The reason is easy enough to understand. In the city the dog is a pet. He gets better care, more intelligent feeding and is more likely to be taken to a 'vet' if he falls sick. There are few statistics on the subject but such figures as are available indicate that the town dog outlives the country dog by some two or three years on the average.

Should a dog have bones to gnaw?

Unless you can give your dog a big beef bone that he cannot crack or splinter into dangerous fragments, don't give him a bone.

at all. Many dogs are killed every year by people who give them bones from chops or poultry. Such bones break into sharp splinters that injure the dog internally and often these injuries lead to death.

Should a dog be given potatoes?

There are many old beliefs about starches being indigestible by dogs. But although these beliefs are untrue it is a fact that potatoes and bread are not a good diet for a dog. Dogs can digest starches but they cannot maintain good health and vigour without meat... raw or cooked. For convenience most people feed their dogs one of the better dog foods containing the essential meat.

How can a dog be cured of jumping at people?

The time to cure this habit is the first time he puts his feet up on you. As soon as he does it, tread very gently on one of his hind paws. After a few experiences of this he will associate the discomfort with the jumping-up and never develop the habit.

THINGS TO COME!

A well-developed golden-skinned youngster walked into the news rooms yesterday. He has the early attributes of a youthful giant, and by the time he reaches the age where he can mark a ball, will probably tip the scales at 190-200 and the beam at six feet.

Right now at sixteen, he lacks 25 pounds of 200 and two inches of six feet. He has the physical development of a young Hercules; a decided lack of cranial inflation, the mental equipment of a brilliant student and the ambition to become a National Hockey League player.

He is Bobby Hull of Point Anne, one of the best professional hockey prospects to come out of this neck of the woods since way back when. For a youngster his age Bobby has had phenomenal success along the ice. Last season he was an outstanding star with the Woodstock Warriors, and his shooting, skating and all-round hockey know-how were no small factors in the Warriors' successful uphill battle to the Ontario Junior "B" championship.

Such early success usually has an effect on youngsters of this ilk. They suddenly order hats much larger than the usual size. Buttons on shirts and coat fronts are strained. They strut with a decided heads-up air and by accident or design forget former friends in the home-town or village.

Not so with this fine youngster. Bobby is as unspoiled as a fresh apple. He exudes a friendly atmosphere and needs "prodding" verbally, that is to talk about his success thus far. He is a natural hockey player, the type that is a coach's "dream" insofar as ability, flexibility, and adaptability to "dream" instruction is concerned. Bobby does not reason why with coaches. He merely listens to instruction—then follows orders.

But Bobby can be spoiled. He is only human. But in our opinion he is too level-headed to listen to blandishments that might turn his head.

Bobby teched on a puck. He took to hockey at the toddling age and learned to skate almost as soon as he learned to walk. He was a moppet sensation in his bantam days and graduated with honors to the midget class. He even played a few games with the Point Anne Trent Valley entry.

A keen-eyed Chicago Black Hawk scout saw possibilities in this blonde youngster. He immediately placed him in his negotiation list and when Bobby was 14 sent him to the "Galt Black Hawks" Junior "A" training camp. He made good and in 1953-54 was sent to the Hespler Junior "B" squad.

His play improved rapidly. Last season he was sent to the Hawks' Woodstock Junior "B" squad where he was a sensation in the headless hockey ranks of that city. Woodstock fans went into raves over this modest unassuming youngster and his scintillating performances on the ice.

During the regular season he scored 22 goals and had 20 assists. Bobby, however really came into his own in the playoffs and playdowns. He paced the Warriors to the group title and sparked them in their elimination of the tough Seaford squad. The real test came when the Warriors met the Woodbridge Dodgers for the Junior "B" title. Bobby was in the van all the way although a marked man by the opposing defence. The Warriors won the crown after a bitterly-fought series, with Bobby scoring 20 goals and being credited with 24 assists over the playdown series.

Bobby's ambition is to become a National Hockey League player. He has been blessed by nature with the physical attributes. He has taken the right attitude toward attaining his goal. He knows by the experience of others that nothing but hard work, perseverance, loyalty to training regulations, keeping physically fit and living a clean life will help him to the top.

He is remarkably fast foot. Bobby could have been a track sensation but he is a one-sport-love man and that's hockey. He is a softball and baseball player at the moment, turning in an excellent job with the Point Anne softball squad and the Haggis junior baseball team. His track potentialities attracted Woodstock track and field coaches, but Bobby believes that concentration on hockey will help him achieve his ambition. Besides he is by-passing the possibility of injury to those valuable legs.

Bobby comes from a Hull of a big family. Four boys and seven girls constitute the Hull brood—and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hull are doggone mighty proud of them.

At that, Bobby may be the forerunner of other Hull big-time hockey players. His younger brothers, Ronnie, 13; Garry, 12; Dennis 11 are minor hockey players and showing excellent promise. His seven sisters, Laura, (oops no ages please); Barbara (Mrs. Ray Brannigan); Jacqueline, Maxine, Caroline, Judy and Peggy, are loyal supporters of Bobby.

While Chicago owns Bobby (he reports to the St. Catharines Junior "A" squad in September) other NHL scouts have shown interest in him. He had an offer from Detroit, likes the Red Wings and hopes some day to play for them. However he says the Hawks have treated him royally and he has no complaint. A Maple Leaf scout approached him once and offered him a fabulous sum for a rookie—but Bobby said no.

Incidentally, Bobby, very wisely is not neglecting his education. He graduated with honors from Grade 10, Woodstock Collegiate this summer, and will continue his studies in St. Kitts next semester.

GOSH IN HIMMEL

Ach du lieber! Donner und blitzen: der tufel und mein, golly, looks what on the menu for the Friday evening rattle menu! The faithful are still reeling over the Alamo antics of the terrible Texans Lou Ulmer and Dick Ralnes. They witnessed the eventual downfall of those headbangers before Lord Layton and Prince Maliva last Friday. Now they've got a new hate on their hands. It couldn't be otherwise. For what else would be tossed into the ring against those Adonises of Pachemria Palladium Whipper Billy Watson and Layton?

That it who is heading the menu Friday in a tax team match against—brace yourselves—a couple of Mein Herrs, Karl Von Schubert and Fritz Von Eric.

One pitcher can't solve the problem for last-place Baltimore, but if nothing else, Jim Wilson is keeping the American League pennant race honest. None of the fling contenders has managed to get really fat on the Orioles with the 33-year-old right-hander around.

Wilson, who pitched the lone no-hitter in the majors last season for Milwaukee, tops the Baltimore staff with seven victories. Four of them have been against the top teams in the league—New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Boston—and in none of the four did he give up more than four hits.

The San Diego, Calif., veteran, sold to the Orioles by the Braves this spring, came up with a two-hitter Monday to knock off the White Sox, who had won seven straight, 3-0. Chicago, looking ahead to the first-place battle with New York that opens tonight, didn't get a hit after Gil Coan singled with two out in the third inning.

THIRD SHUTOUT

It was the third shutout of the season for Wilson. He fanned five and walked none.

Gus Triandos gave Wilson all the support he needed with a two-run homer in the first inning off loser Mike Fornieles. The other run came in the eighth on an error and Hal Smith's double.

The defeat left the Sox two games behind the Yankees, who were idle because of the game went to Washington, 6-3 over Kansas City, which now has lost seven in a row. In the National, Brooklyn retained a 12½-game lead despite a 9-5 defeat by Cincinnati as second-place Milwaukee lost to New York 6-5. Philadelphia tumbled Chicago to its seventh and eighth straight losses, winning the wrap-up of Sunday's suspended game 8-4 and taking a regularly scheduled contest 2-1.

HOMERS BROKE IT UP

Joe Black, the ex-Dodger, and reliever Art Fowler were enough to halt Brooklyn although the crippled Dodgers rallied for four runs in the seventh. That cut the Redlegs lead to 6-5, but Stan Palfy and Ted Kuszewski hit back-to-back homers to open a three-run ninth. It was the second of the game for Palfy and No. 30 for the season for Kuf.

The Giants overhauled a 5-4 Milwaukee lead in the seventh when Billy Bruton dropped a fly ball in deer center field off the bat of Willie Mays for a two-run error. The Braves had taken the lead in the fifth with four runs. Warren Spahn, victim of the error, suffered his 10th defeat. Don Liddle won in relief.

Glen Gorbous belted a three-run homer to get the Phils rolling as the suspended game picked up in the last of the sixth inning. Herm Wehmeier went all the way and Roy Smalley hit a two-run homer in the nightcap triumph that sent the Phils into sixth place ahead of Cincinnati.

The Senators breezed in against the A's with Roy Sievers hitting two home runs and a double in three trips. He drove in three runs and scored three, coming home after his double on a home run by Eddie Yost.

Leafs Drop Kings to Third; Royals Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs held the upper hand in their running battle for first place in the International League with the Havana Sugar Kings and Montreal Royals—but they still have a long way to go for another title.

Toronto, last year's champions, aided no end by home runs off the bats of veterans Sam Jethroe and Loren Babe subdued the Kings 8-6 Monday night and dropped them into third place as the Royals nipped the Columbus Jets 3-2.

In other games the Buffalo Bisons defeated Syracuse 5-2 to move into a tie for sixth place with the Chiefs. The Rochester Red Wings and the Richmond Virginians split a doubleheader. The Red Wings took the opener 5-2 and Richmond reversed the score in the nightcap.

Toronto extended its season record over the Cubs to 7-4 and holds an 8-3 mark over the second-place Royals.

SOLO HOMERS

Jethroe and Babe contributed solo homers in the Leafs' 12-hit attack against four Cuban hurlers. Toronto scored seven runs in the first four innings and then had to hold off a late surge by Havana.

Eddie Blake, who last season won the opener 5-2 and Richmond reversed the score in the nightcap. Toronto extended its season record over the Cubs to 7-4 and holds an 8-3 mark over the second-place Royals.

The Royals managed to get two of their four hits in the third inning to score all their runs, as Don Drysdale scattered eight Columbus hits. The Bisons denied the Chiefs fourth place with a neat seven hit performance by Dick Marlowe. J. W. Porter got the Bisons off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning with a three-run homer. Clyde Vollmer also rammed his first home run for Buffalo.

Dick Starr hurled a strong five-hitter to give Richmond the night cap as the Red Wings committed three costly errors. Lefty Ed Ludwick tossed a six-hitter to capture the opener.

Eskimos' Coach Driving 'Em Hard To Maintain Clutch on Grey Cup

EDMONTON (CP) — When Edmonton Eskimos opened their pre-season training camp a week ago, coach Frank (Pop) Ivy made one thing clear: If Eskimos don't keep the Grey Cup, it won't be through lack of hard work.

A record 54 men were on hand when the Western International Football Union and Canadian football champions started workouts at Clarke Stadium. So far there has been one cut, the surprise retirement of guard Frankie Morris, 1954 co-captain.

The squad settled down to twice-daily workouts—a morning session, concentrating on plays and the finer points of kicking and passing, and an afternoon scrimmage.

The two-day training schedule is in line with a new school of thought in the WIFU that clubs must make the most of high-powered coaching staffs before the season starts.

Three coaches are assisting Ivy in his effort to build a second championship team. They are Go-mer Jones, formerly with Oklahoman, Ray Prochaska and Eagle Keys.

During training sessions, all players wear face masks.

"We don't want anybody out with a broken nose or a smashed mouth," said Ivy.

Shaping up as the Eskis first-string quarterback is fleet Jackie Parker who last year picked up a loose ball and scampered almost the full length of the field for the tying touchdown in the Grey Cup game against Montreal Alouettes.

Standout backfield holdovers include fullback Normie Kwong, halves Rollie Miles, Davie West, Don Simon and Oscar Kruger.

Frank Anderson, Steve Bendak and Steve Mendryk are back shooting for end positions.

The centre of the line shapes up strongly with Ray McLeod, Mike King, Ted Tully, Steve Paproski, Jimmy Quandamatto and Bob Dean back. Promising newcomers include two former Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, Roy Stevenson and Jack Lamb.

Golf Champion's Life Not Bed of Roses

DETROIT (AP)—The golf world is his for the asking, but Jack Fleck, the new U.S. Open champion, isn't all it's cracked up to be.

The 32-year-old Iowa is finding out that the life of a champion—especially one who has beaten the mighty Ben Hogan—isn't all it's cracked up to be.

"I'm not sure about my future," Fleck said Monday after firing a practice round in preparation for the Professional Golfers Association tournament starting Wednesday.

"Maybe I'll play in a couple more tournaments, then go fishing. I don't know, I just don't know. I don't want to make any commitments."

Ever since his dramatic playoff victory over Hogan for the U.S. title last month, Fleck has been on a dizzy merry-go-round of handshaking, autographing, back-patting and picture-taking.

"It's all great, sure, but it affects your game," he said. "I originally planned to make a tour but now I'm not fit to do it mentally or physically."

Fleck says he feels no pressure. But he speaks through taut lips.

Last week he made his first competitive appearance since whipping Hogan but failed to qualify in the Milwaukee Open.

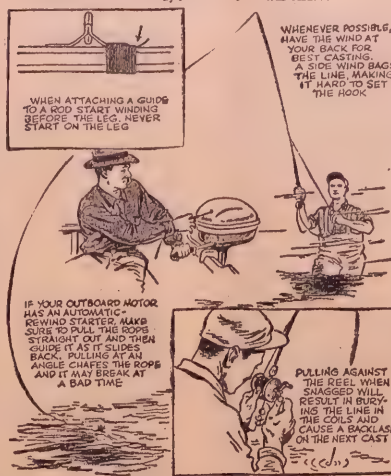

Sam Snead's Golf School

If you swing is tense all your muscles tend to be rigid and this is at the expense of rhythm. Tension produces jerkiness and prevents the sort of coiled-up, spring-like action characteristic of a good swing. You should be gently firm in a golf-swing. This is midway between sloppy, loose action and rigidity. Concentrate on what you are doing throughout the golf swing. Never let your mind wander. It is only by concentration that you develop the habit of always making the golf swing correctly. Even the finished player regards concentration as perhaps the most valuable piece of his golfing equipment.

London Thumps Oshawa 13-1; Elgins Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Al Dumouchelle, a little man with a big pitch, gave Alex Kvasnak a rough ride in the latter's initial appearance as a manager in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League Monday night.

Dumouchelle, a 30-year-old pitcher who hails from Windsor, limited Kvasnak's Kitchener Panthers to seven hits as St. Thomas Elgins took a 10-4 decision.

Kvasnak took over Panthers before the game after former manager Dick Welker resigned Saturday.

In other games Monday night, Bramford Red Sox, cellar-dwellers, defeated Galt Terriers 8-3 and London Majors turned back the league-leading Oshawa Merchants 13-1.

WAS MOVED UP

Kvasnak had been acting as coach with Panthers, but when Welker moved from Kitchener to Buffalo, Kvasnak was moved up to manage the club. Welker will stay with the team as a player, commuting from Buffalo to the team's games.

Don Fontana Named Member Davis Cup Team

MONTREAL (CP)—Don Fontana of Toronto Monday was officially named fourth member of Canada's 1955 Davis Cup tennis team.

Lorne Main of Toronto and Vancouver, Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke Que., and Henri Rochon of Montreal were named to the team last week.

Fontana was picked largely on the strength of his showing in the Canadian tennis championships played in Quebec City. Matches for individual championships had to be postponed until August after rain washed out matches for three successive days.

Play for the men's doubles championship was transferred to Montreal where the final will be played today.

Canada meets British West Indies in a Davis tie here starting July 22.

Bedard and Fontana are heavy favorites to take the men's doubles despite a semi-finals victory Monday night by Larry Barclay of Montreal and Paul Willey of Vancouver. The latter two combined to beat John Swann and Davis Cupper Rochon 6-1, 6-3, 6-4.

South Hastings Baseball League

Three games originally scheduled for last Friday night in the South Hastings baseball league were played last evening with Cannifton edging Melrose 4-3, Read shading Shannonville 8-7 while Latta blanked Foxboro 10-0.

It was a tight squeeze at Cannifton, with their opponents of Melrose, Cannifton downing the visitors four runs to three.

Foster, pitching for Cannifton, gave up three walks, two strikeouts, and seven hits. No scoring for Melrose in the first saw them with two in the second, one in the sixth, McMechan getting a hit, Leavens got on base by being hit by pitcher Milligan, with an infield hit was safe, but Leavens got the out, with Milligan a stolen base to second, Dafeo getting a double made the first two runs for Melrose, putting them ahead by one run in the second, then a final run in the sixth completed their scoring of the game.

Dafeo for Melrose gave 8 bases on balls, two strikeouts, eight hits, made up the game for the boys of Cannifton.

A double by Sheffield brought in Marner for the first run in the first innings. The second and 4th saw no scoring but in the third, Marner getting a double, Sheffield getting a walk, Cole getting his first double brought in two runs to put them in front by three to two. In the fifth by MacDonald getting a single, Cole with his second double of the game, and an error, brought in MacDonald to clinch the game for Cannifton.

Melrose had four men left on bases, Cannifton five.

Bob Baker Verdicts Layne

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—A title shot next winter appeared today as a possible reward for big Bob Baker of Pittsburgh after he counter-punched and jabbed his way to a close decision over Utah's rowdy Rex Layne.

Baker, a big Negro, went into the ring with a four-pound weight and a three-inch reach advantage over Layne, who weighed 210. He took it comparatively easy early in the fight, counter-punching the slugging Layne and pounding his midriff in the clinches, but in the later rounds he opened up with left jabs and had Layne bleeding from several cuts as the 10-rounder ended.

Baker is now rated No. 2 contender for heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano's crown—next behind Archie Moore. Layne is No. 3.

Supreme Court Backs Commission

NEW YORK (AP) — The state Supreme Court Monday upheld the right of the state athletic commission to bar a fight in which the manager of one of the boxers has been suspended.

Justice Martin E. Frank made the ruling in the case of Chris Christensen, Danish welterweight, who had been scheduled to meet Gene Porter of Niagara Falls, N.Y., at St. Nicholas Arena next Monday night.

Christensen sought to compel the commission to lift its ban imposed after Christensen's manager, Charles Bauer, had been set down by the New York athletic commission.

Bauer was suspended, along with a group of other managers, for failure to testify at a commission hearing into activities of the Managers' Guild.

Says Crazy Legs Signs With Argos

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says a Regina source reported this morning that Elroy Crazy Legs Hirsch, Los Angeles Rams great in the National Football League, has signed with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union.

The paper says the source claimed the pass-catching and left the Rams' camp Saturday and agreed to terms with Toronto's Big Four club. Saskatchewan Roughriders also expressed interest in Hirsch but he was beyond their price range.

Harry Sonshine, Argo team director, had said earlier he had attempted to reach Hirsch last weekend. Previously, Hirsch said he would retire from the gridiron this season in favor of a career in films and television.

Ball Franchise For Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—City council Monday appointed a committee to study a proposal to bring an unidentified Pacific Coast League baseball franchise to Vancouver. Coleman E. Hall, chairman of the citizens' baseball committee here, told council the deal would have to be completed within 30 days when the club has to renew its present home-town lease.

Hall said he couldn't identify the club because "it would hurt them at home and they're still planning."

Lawyer A. M. Russell, representing the PCL team, presented proposals to lease Capilano Stadium for 5 years with the right of renewal for further five-year terms. Hall recommended accepting the offer and said the club would have to move to Vancouver at the end of the present season.

Heart Attack Ends Colorful Career Of Well-Known Western Horseman

WINNIPEG (CP)—R. J. Speers, prize breeder of western Canada horse racing and Canada's leading thoroughbred breeder, died at home early today at the age of 73.

A heart attack was the immediate cause of death, closing a career that gave Canada its first horseman whose thoroughbreds won more than $1,000,000.

Born at Elmbank, Ont. the son of a blacksmith, Jim Speers came to Winnipeg as a harvester when he was 18. He left five years later for old Battleford in northern Saskatchewan, bent on making good.

With little money, but a large store of determination, courage and an acute trading sense, he prospered in the grain and livestock business.

BUILT RACE PARKS

His cattle business took him back to Winnipeg in 1920 and he decided to try operating a race meeting. With two partners, he leased River Park in 1922 and in 1924 he built Whittier Park.

A year later he built Polo Park in Winnipeg and following that built Chinook Park in Calgary.

In the best traditions of the West, the big, bluff sportsman gambled in cattle, grain, politics and horses. There were times when he blew his entire bankroll.

But it was a gamble during the depression that assured the eventual success of his turf enterprise.

Columnist Thinks $64,000 Question Will Go Begging

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Several million Americans will tune in their television sets this evening to CBS-TV when an Italian-born New York gentleman will try to answer some questions about opera. They will watch to see whether he will work his way to a final question which, if he answers it correctly, will pay him $64,000.

"The public has flipped on the $64,000 Question program," a follow-up said. Indeed it has. Since one of the choirs of this department is to go around asking people to forecast what's going to happen in television and radio, it's $64,000.

AT THE CAPITOL

'Barefoot Savage' in Tradition of 'Bitter Rice'

In "Barefoot Savage" the new American-language I.F.E. Release which is now showing at the Capitol Theatre, Italy has again sent us one of those earthy, passionate, neo-realist films in the tradition of "Bitter Rice" which have made the post-war Italian pictures so popular in the United States and Canada, in fact, throughout the world.

Like "Bitter Rice," "Barefoot Savage" was filmed in the fertile sun-drenched Po Valley of Southern Italy. This time though, the setting is golden wheat fields, the time, harvest season, and the star is the new "Roman rocker," sloe-eyed sub-bred Eleonora Rossi Drago. Already her impassioned performance as the farm hand who is loved by two brothers has catapulted Eleonora to the same stardom heights now occupied by such Italian dreamboats as Silvana Mangano and Gina Lollobrigida.

Many of the scene in "Barefoot Savage" were photographed at a displaced persons camp near Mantova where many Italian refugees from the Yugoslav section of Trieste were given temporary quarters. After director Clemente Fracassi had "scouted" the camp, Rossi Drago moved into the women's dormitory for a week to absorb the atmosphere and acquaint herself with the daily life and daydreams of the inmates.

The main trouble with a grand slam is that you dare not lose a single trick. This means that you are hemmed in with a few possible plays and very little room to manoeuvre.

West made grand slam in hearts with the hands shown here:

NORTH

♣ K J 10 3

WEST

He got an opening lead of a spade from north and, of course, ruffed with a small dummy trump. A club from dummy was ruffed in his own hand. His lead of a second spade was ruffed in dummy.

A return dummy club was ruffed by west. A return small spade from west was ruffed with the last dummy trump. A third dummy club was ruffed by west. Four trumps were then led from west.

By this time all hands were down to three cards. Declarer held a trump, spade king, and his dinky diamond. It mattered not what the north hand kept. But he hung to his top clubs.

Dummy in east was left with a club and ace with jack of diamonds. South was the feared opponent. He kept spade ace against the west king and king with queen of diamonds against the dummy diamonds.

Right here the west declarer led his last trump and sluffed the dummy last club. This put south

Two Film Stars Back in Hollywood After Triumphs on Broadway

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two escapades from film contracts are back in Hollywood for a movie, fresh from Broadway triumphs. But they won't stay long.

David Wayne and Celeste Holm, both of the 20th Century-Fox contract list three years back are here to appear with Frank Sinatra and Debbie Reynolds in "The Tender Trap."

Wayne scored on Broadway as the leprechaun in "Finian's Rainbow" and as Ensign Pulver in "Mister Roberts." He did a dozen or so movies, including "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

His kiss-off from the studio was not exactly a happy one. He was assigned a minor role in an early Cinemascope slinker called "Hell and High Water."

It was the final film under his contract, but he wasn't upset. He had the script of a new play, "Teahouse of the August Moon." He returned to Broadway and scored his greatest success as the Okinawa interpreter.

His new film doesn't mean he is returning to California. He now considers Westport, Conn. his home and plans to build a new house there for his wife and children. He'll commute here for picture assignments.

He has two or three other film deals in the firm and hopes to do "Teahouse" when MGM makes it.

He might get his wish. Marlon Brando was reported set for the role, but the deal has cooled.

This fall Wayne embarks on an in the precarious position that is commonly known to bridge players as a squeeze.

He must give up one of his three remaining cards; either one of his high diamonds or his spade ace. So far as declarer cards, south can choose his own poison at that moment.

Will south give up spade ace? If so, west spade king and the dummy diamond ace take the last two tricks. The only alternative is for south to give up a diamond.

Because dummy wins a diamond with ace to drop the last diamond in south. Dummy jack of diamonds is then good for the last trick.

When in a squeeze you may as well freeze.

jinx," she said. "After I won the Oscar, I also got nominations for roles in 'Come to the Stable' and 'All About Eve.' So I wouldn't exactly call that a jinx."

Miss Holm has had an active career in the East, scoring a hit on the New York stage in "At the Fair of State." She also did "The King and I" and a TV series.

"Honestly Celeste," The latter failed, she said, because she was required to do standup comedy, which is not her forte.

"My great love is saloon singing," she added. "I have an act I am very proud of."

exciting project. Under auspices of the state department, he'll tour Asia with a "Teahouse" company, taking along four actors and recruiting others in Japan, Hong Kong, Philippines, Indonesia, etc.

Celeste Holm is another who returned to Broadway after a Hollywood fling. The original Anne of "Oklahoma!," made a sensational movie start by winning a supporting Oscar for "Gentlemen's Agreement." She hasn't made a movie in four years and has sometimes been lumped with those who suffered the "Oscar jinx."

She denies it.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for

WEDNESDAY, JULY 20, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — It's a day for middle-of-the-road action but you often gain more when you are more moderate in demands, slower and more thoughtful in deed. You can achieve if you are patient.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Good head work and patient planning should put your day on the credit side. You can make headway in whatever your occupation, and perhaps add to your assets by doing more than just your job.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — There can, should, be a close relationship between personal advancement and business success. Stop occasionally to improve the quality of your efforts, to gather all good available knowledge.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Added responsibilities? You can handle them... especially if you use your talents, capability and knowledge in the right areas and concentrate on the most important jobs first.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — It will be necessary to be unusually alert, shrewd and calm in tasks, problems, in discussions and decisions now. Not an easy day for gains, perhaps, but one that will eventually repay intelligent, steady effort.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Your endeavors will be highly acceptable if you give them your best and don't become easily upset, worried. Take time to allocate duties properly; it will pay in the end.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Keep in touch with current happenings; watch those who are succeeding, and recheck your own methods and equipment. Be flexible in thought so that you may properly evaluate new ideas.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — A healthy and challenging period for the enterprising Scorpio native. Try the new and it has value but don't sacrifice workable, good equipment or methods just for the sake of change. Avoid recklessness.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Your best tip for this energetic, stimulating period: Stop long enough to get the right start, proper instructions; then you can move ahead with less restriction. Beneficial rays.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — You have encouraging influences now and should be able to get your program in fine shape. Extra care suggested signing papers, in legal matters, agreements, etc.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — While the outlook is promising, nonetheless you will have to be on the job, ready to make any changes necessary. Economize sensibly.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Influences similar to Cancer. Have firm faith in your own ability, also in the opportunities available. You are the one to achieve in your occupation...

You Born Today are usually entertaining, sympathetic and very sensitive; sometimes you feel you are being slighted by others. You seek approval but like to do things in your own way.

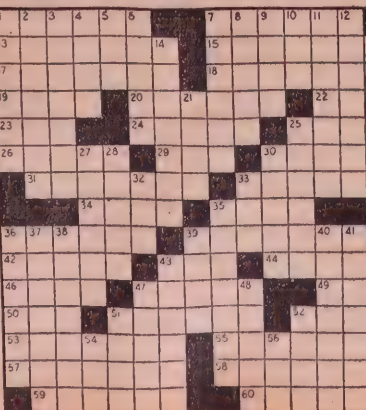

Not caring to be ordered about, you will respond to appeal, however. You can, if you really try, carry things you start through to a successful finish. You have a fine memory; could be an excellent historian, lawyer, speaker, teacher.

Says Union Will Block Unloading
Of 2 Freighters

MONTREAL (CP)—Two Norwegian freighters docked here with cargoes of clay today after sailing from Milwaukee, Wis., where a 15-month strike prevented them from unloading.

Harbor officials said the Fossum tied up at 8 a. m., EDT, and the Divina docked about two hours later.

The ships headed for Montreal when they were unable to land their cargoes of English clay at Milwaukee district ports because of a strike at Kohler Company by the United Auto Workers (CIO). The clay was destined for Kohler.

In Montreal it was planned to load the clay into railway cars for shipment to Kohler.

TO BLOCK UNLOADING
E. L. Slaughter of St. Louis, Mo., secretary-treasurer of The International Brotherhood of Longshoremen, said at Port Arthur Sunday his union will block any attempt by the freighter Fossum to unload its cargo of clay at any Great Lakes port, American or Canadian.

Longshoremen are supporting the strike by The United Automobile Workers conducted against Kohler operations for the last 15 months.

Slaughter, at the Lakehead to organize a new port council of maritime union locals, said "as far as we are concerned, the Fossum is a ghost-ship—she can go back to Germany."

He said longshoremen are seeking support of all maritime unions to prevent unloading of the Fossum anywhere in the United States or Canada.

"NO GASOLINES ARE SUPERIOR TO NEW 1955 B-A 88&98"

"Today's high compression engines are extremely critical of the fuel they use. To give you consistently best road performance, they must have a high octane gasoline. Our new 88 and 98 gasolines completely satisfy this need."

However, octane alone is not enough. By selective blending and special processes, we have refined our harmful impurities from B-A gasolines. We call these impurities the 'dirty-burning tail-ends.'

Now we have 'clean-burning' high octane gasolines. We know this, because we tested them for months on new automobile engines. In all tests, we found that in the engines using our new 'clean-burning' gasolines all parts were essentially free of combustion deposits—even after thousands of miles of hard driving.

These gasolines are now at your B-A Service Station. They have the high octane that's needed in a high compression engine... and they 'burn clean' to give you full engine power, thousands of miles longer—with less engine wear."

BIG FOUR CHIEFS CONSIDER SECURITY

Anti-Reds Rioters Raid Indochina Truce Commission

Two Saigon Hotels Attacked On Anniversary of Treaty

McCann Resigns His Position With Trust Firm

OTTAWA (CP)—Anti-Communist rioters stormed through a police barrage of tear gas and fire hoses today to ransack the headquarters of the international commission controlling the Indochina truce.

Two hotels were attacked and the rooms of Indian and Polish truce officials wrecked. Rooms of liaison officers of Communist Vietnam were also broken into.

A police officer said an Indian member of the commission—Canada is the third member country—had been injured in the attack, which occurred on the first anniversary of the Geneva agreement ending war in Indochina and partitioning Viet Nam.

The rioters, looking as if they had been hit by a hurricane, were strewn with broken crockery, perfume bottles and masses of water-soaked paper. Bedroom furniture had been smashed with axes by demonstrators who burst past French guards and stormed up the stairs to the top of the hotel.

Government supporters had organized the demonstrations, massing about 10,000 people, on the truce anniversary as a 'day of mourning' for the partition of the country.

Papers and personal property of the control commission's Indian chairman, M. J. Desai, were thrown from the window of his hotel room.

The Indian consul-general, Madhav Kuttu, protected six United States embassy girls from rioters who stormed down a second-floor corridor in the Hotel Majestic and broke in the door of the room where the girls had taken shelter.

The demonstrators said they were looking for Vietnamese officers, and left the girls unharmed.

Some of the demonstrators took axes to the door of Mrs. Marie Mesta, former U. S. minister to Luxembourg who was staying at the Majestic. She threw open the door and shouted:

German Law Saves Briton From Hanging

LONDON (Reuters)—The British Army today commuted to life imprisonment a death sentence ordered on a British sergeant for murdering another sergeant, faking a suicide and then marrying his widow.

The army council decision saved Sgt. Frederick Emmett-Dunne, 33, from the hangman. He had been sentenced at a court-martial in West Germany two weeks ago for the two-year-old slaying.

The council stated that the reason for the commutation was that German law forbids the death sentence and the British Army in Germany had to acknowledge the law.

Emmett-Dunne killed Sgt. Reginald Waters with a judo blow to the throat and then raped the body in a barracks building to make it look like a hanging suicide.

Seven months later, he married Waters' pretty German wife, with whom he had been having a love affair before the slaying, the prosecution alleged.

Oil World's Mysterious Billionaire, 'Mr. Five Per Cent' Gulbenkian, Dies

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Clouste Sarkis Gulbenkian, legendary oil magnate and one of the world's richest men, died today of a kidney ailment. He was 88.

Gulbenkian was one of the most mysterious men in the world. He shunned publicity of any kind and lived quietly in the Hotel Aviz, where he died. He had been ill since January.

In the oil industry, source of most of his fortune, he was called "Mr. C" or "Mr. Five Per Cent" because of his reported share of the profits of the fabulously wealthy Irish Petroleum Company.

He was rated probably a billionaire, and his name was little known outside the oil industry.

He devoted his talents to acquiring wealth, building one of the world's most valuable art collections and keeping himself obscure.

PUBLIC WORKS PLANS RECEIVE HOUSE APPROVAL

Catch-All Debate Sees Members Ask Projects

OTTAWA (CP)—The annual Commons catch-all debate on post office buildings, bridges, docks and the like has ended.

The House Tuesday night approved the spending plans of the public works department after two straight days in which members raised usual demands for a better deal for their constituencies and the government faced some new charges of political patronage.

From east to west the pattern was the same.

Thomas M. Bell (PC—St. John-Albert) said the customs house in Saint John, N.B., is "a dilapidated, rotten mess" with one side crumbling away.

Dredging and purification of the smelly, polluted Laitet and St. Charles rivers in Quebec City was demanded by J. Wilfrid Dufresne (PC—Quebec West).

NEW BUILDING PLANNED

Works Minister Winters, on his feet several dozen times through the day with replies, said a new customs house for Saint John is being designed.

Mr. Winters' parliamentary assistant, Maurice Bourget, said the two rivers in Quebec City are not a federal concern. He accused Mr. Dufresne of playing politics on the question.

The government itself was accused several times during the day of playing politics over renting of space for government offices.

Solomon Low, socialist leader, questioned the propriety of the rental of a building in New Westminster, B.C., from William Mott while he was Liberal MP for the riding from 1949 to 1953.

Mr. Winters replied that Mr. Mott reluctantly leased his building to the government, under rent controls, two years before he was elected. The lease had run through his four-year term.

Mr. Low said the Social Credit members of the Alberta legislature, C. Landeryou and Roy Lee, resigned their seats when it was found they were renting property to the provincial government.

SEeks Missing Man

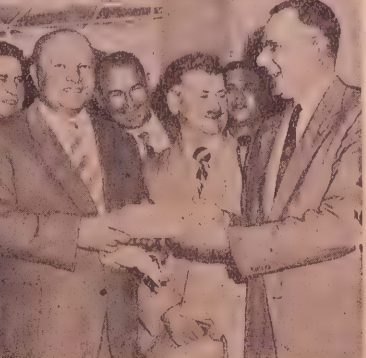

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Firemen dragged nearby Chippawa creek today for the body of John Forty, 22, reported missing Tuesday night.

Forty, who lived with his aunt, Mrs. Nick Arment, was reported missing when he failed to return home. Mrs. Arment said he frequently went swimming in Chippawa creek.

REOPEN TALKS

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Contract negotiations were renewed here Tuesday between officials of the Massey-Harris-Ferguson Company and the United Automobile Workers (CIO), it was announced. The talks, which continue today, are on behalf of 6,000 employees of the company in Toronto, Brantford and Woodstock.

Believe Peaceful Stalemate Lasting Years Russia's Aim

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
GENEVA (AP)—Soviet policy in the "summit" conference may be aimed at freezing the East-West division of Europe for an indefinite period of peaceful stalemate.

Key Western diplomats say privately that this may well be the common purpose running through several moves by Premier Bulganin in the Big Four meetings to date.

These moves are:

1. Bulganin's making clear Tuesday that the Soviet government is unwilling to reunify Germany unless it has no chance of military links with the Western powers.
2. West Germany now is a member of the North Atlantic alliance and the West wants a united Germany to have the option of joining NATO.
3. Bulganin's statement in the Big Four discussion Tuesday that the Russians know it is unrealistic to expect the Western alliance with Bonn to be broken at this time.

The large part of the divided struggle that lies beneath the affability of the meeting is Germany. The larger part of the divided struggle is the expansion of Soviet influence there.

But Bulganin may hope Germany's allegiance to the West, as expressed in the policies of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, is not forever unchangeable. Perhaps the Soviet leaders believe that in a few years it may be possible to break the Germans' Western ties and unify the country on terms far more favorable to the expansion of Soviet influence there.

In the first stage, military forces in western Europe would be frozen at their present levels and a non-aggression pact made between the Eastern and Western blocs. Later, a new European security system and permanent disarmament would be put into effect.

President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Eden and Premier Faure are firmly opposed to these Russian policies.

Bulganin's position on these issues suggest, therefore, that he is not as concerned with indicating concessions to promote bargaining as he is in making it plain that things are going to stay the way they are for a long time.

The great prize in the power struggle that lies beneath the affability of the meeting is Germany. The larger part of the divided struggle is the expansion of Soviet influence there.

Mistake to Assume Deadlock Exists at Geneva--Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—It would be a mistake to assume that there is an East-West deadlock at Geneva, External Affairs Minister Pearson said today.

Such an assumption would be premature, he added. The atmosphere at Geneva was good although the gap between the big three Western powers and Russia was still wide.

He told reporters at Rockcliffe airport on his return from Paris and London that many people expected a great deal from the Geneva conference in a few days and therefore have been disappointed.

Mr. Pearson said he believes some progress will be made at the "summit" meeting. It was hoped that problems besetting the world would be identified and clarified and an atmosphere created for their solution.

He said he hopes the Big Four will lay down a basis for reunification of Germany, "but it won't all be settled in a week at Geneva."

Mr. Pearson attended the NATO council meeting in Paris which preceded opening of the Geneva conference by two days. He also discussed the Indochina situation with those concerned in Paris and London.

He noted that consultations between Communist North Viet Nam and non-Communist South Viet Nam on the holding of an election for the combined states next year have not begun.

He said that if no election is held, the work of the international truce supervisory commission is nearly completed. Canada, India and Poland comprise the three-nation commission.

He said that the problem of elections may have to be taken to Britain and Russia, co-chairmen of the July, 1954, Geneva conference which reached the Indochina settlement.

Britain and Russia now were at Geneva but Mr. Pearson said he doesn't know whether they will discuss the Indochina situation.

Ottawa Authorities Doubt Boy Got Polio from Vaccine

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal health authorities said today there is every indication that a 10-year-old Lexington, Ont., boy suffering from polio did not contract the disease from the Salk vaccine.

They said that if Charles Girardin had contracted polio from the vaccine, it would have appeared within 10 days of the time he was inoculated. However, more than four weeks had passed from the time he received his second vaccine injection.

"The boy is Canada's first polio case despite inoculation with the vaccine. Some 800,000 children were inoculated up to the end of June."

The vaccine program has been halted until after the school holidays because medical authorities say there is some uncertainty whether injections would be safe during the height of the polio season.

TWO AT TRENTON IN BIG SHUFFLE OF RCAF CHIEFS

AVM Plant No Longer On Tri-Service Board

OTTAWA (CP)—A major shuffle in the top echelons of the RCAF involving nine senior officers was announced today by air force headquarters.

Air Commodore M. M. Hendrick, 45, of Ottawa takes over as chief of technical services, succeeding Air Vice-Marshal John L. Plant who was removed from the post in June for his "scrap-the-army" speech. Air Commodore Hendrick, now chief of telecommunications, will be promoted to air vice-marshal.

Air Vice-Marshal Plant, 44-year-old native of Swansea, Wales, had been made chief of air materiel command. He no longer is associated with the navy and army on tri-service policy.

Air Commodore Kennedy now is assistant vice-chief of air staff, a post which will be abolished.

Air Commodore Brown will be succeeded Sept. 1 by Group Capt. J. B. Harvey, 43, of Winnipeg, now chief air staff officer at the Canadian joint staff headquarters, England. He will be promoted to air commodore.

'Old Stone Bottom' Mellow as Cello As Once-Stern Molotov Woos Masses

By EDDY GILMORE
GENEVA (AP)—Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov, mellow as a cello these days, has confided to a member of the American delegation at the "summit" conference that he is not so much of a "stone bottom" as he once was.

The Soviet sphinx is turning into a veritable publicity hound.

Discussing his recent visit to the United States, he said that the conversation to that day last month in Wyoming when he posed in a 10-gallon hat.

"If you see the photograph of me in 'American cowboy' style," he asked the man who used to be known in Communist party ranks as "old stone bottom."

The American, who asked that his name not be used, said he could not have escaped the picture of Molotov in the 10-gallon headgear—it was printed in so many papers, "it did 'you think of it as publicity,'" he said.

"How do you mean?" inquired the American.

"I mean you had great publicity, or was it bad publicity?" he asked.

"Do you mean publicity for the Soviet Union, or for yourself?" an American inquired.

"Publicity for myself," Molotov explained. "You see, I'm getting old now and I'd like the people to know me as something more than a man who says 'no.'"

The American said he asked Molotov if his cowboy hat was the right size.

"No," the Russian replied, "but it's more important to have good publicity than to have a hat that fits."

Molotov left the cowboy hat in Moscow and didn't bring it to the Big Four conference, but he's up to other tricks in his mission of winning friends.

When he got out of his automobile he greeted the crowd of Nations, where the conference is being held, he greeted the retired Swiss policeman who is chief doorman for the conference.

"How are you?" asked Molotov. "I remember you from the Geneva conference last year."

And he's always smiling these days.

Unified Germany Problem Sheaved For Time Being

Foreign Ministers Find Two Issues Closely Linked

Howe Says Govt. Not Pledged To Buy All Uranium

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four sent back to their foreign ministers today the knotty problem of trying to iron out East-West differences over European security and the unification of Germany.

By MAX HARRELSON

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four leaders took up the broad question of European security today, putting aside the specific issue of Germany.

The heads of government met for their fourth session at 4 p. m. (11 a. m. EDT). For two hours earlier their foreign ministers tried to arrive at some sort of agreed recommendations on the German problems. One Western source said they just argued in circles. They got nowhere.

The West finally agreed to recommend that the "summit" talks move on to the security problem—second on the agenda after Germany. It was expected the two questions would be discussed together.

MOST VITAL PROBLEM

Western leaders had recognized the close link between the German and security issues, but they had won top priority Tuesday for German unification, which they consider the most vital problem in Europe today. The Russians after a day of discussion on the German question proposed that the talks move on to the next item of business.

Although the outlook for any sort of agreement on Germany appeared dim, one American source said the shift to security certainly did not mean that the German discussion was finished.

A communique from the foreign ministers after a two-hour meeting described the German question and European security as "inter-related" and said the ministers had decided to recommend that the "summit" talks switch to security this afternoon.

The statement failed to say whether the German question would be brought up later or whether it was being dropped permanently.

RUSSIAN CONDITION

The Russians proposed Tuesday that it be dropped until West Germany pulled out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The West, however, demanded further discussions and won Russian agreement to refer the matter to the foreign ministers for recommendation.

Surprise Handed On Silver Tray

Mrs. Kay Meines, 152 Church St. answered a knock at the front door last evening — and got the surprise of her life.

A stranger stood there, smiling. He was not the brush man, the vacuum-cleaner man — or the Good Humor Boy.

In his hands he carried a handsome silver tray.

He identified himself as a representative of the Bradings Brewery. Smiling he handed the surprised lady of the house the gleaming piece of engraved silver. It was the Bradings Brewery Bowling Trophy, symbolic of winning the high singles in the Ladies Afternoon Bowling League. Mrs. Meines won the tray with a score of 355 during the 1954-55 season.

She was surprised and needless to say very happy, smiled Mrs. Meines, after she recovered from the pleasant shock.

Jobless Number Declines During Past Month

The employment picture in Hastings County brightened during the past month with the number of claims dropping from 796 on July 15th to 654 by July 14th.

Figures released today by H. H. Reed, director of the local office of the National Employment Service, revealed only 30 unfilled vacancies, 25 male and four female.

On July 14th there were 486 unemployed male and 419 unemployed female applicants for work. On female applicants for work, on July 15th, 1954, there were 17 unfilled vacancies for males and 403 unfilled vacancies for females and 381 unemployed applicants.

On July 14th of this year, 176 male and 206 female claims were being paid claimants in person at the local office while 180 male and 12 female claims were being paid by mail.

One year ago ordinary claims numbered 173 male and 159 female while postal claims numbered 137 male and 81 female.

All figures apply to the area served by the local office which includes the whole of Hastings County, with the exception of Trenton, the RCAF station and the village of Deseronto.

Mr. Reed stated that the total working force in the area served by his office numbers approximately 16,500, an increase of 300 over the same period a year ago.

Last year many local laborers and tradesmen were employed on construction work at Millhaven chemical plants and the Port Hope ammunition depot. Both these jobs have been completed and the men are again working in this area.

The changeover to the new telephone here left about 80 switchboard and supervisory personnel of the Bell company unemployed.

It is expected that the advent of the tomato canning season locally will substantially reduce the number of unemployed females, possibly by as many as 175 to 250.

Completion of construction of the Deloro Smelting and Refining company's new metal molding plant east of the city early in 1956 is expected to brighten the local employment picture.

With the employment of 100 male and 100 female workers.

Boat Owners Warned of Tires Floating in Bay

With little or no regard for the accident hazard created, some persons are dumping worn-out automobile and truck tires into the bay here.

The tires, after the pattern of icebergs float barely on the surface of the water, with the greater part submerged.

They are constituting a definite menace to navigation of small power boats. Smashing the propellers of outboard engines and inboards for that matter, the tires could easily cause capsizing with the possibility of serious accident, if not worse.

The tires, some of them the heavy truck type, drift over the bay according to the whims of the wind.

Some twenty-five have been recovered from the water thus far. Harbor Commission Chairman A. H. Ketcheson said today in warning boat owners and others of the menace, that everything is being done to rid the bay of the tires.

"While those guilty of tossing the rubber relics into the bay may not be aware of the seriousness of the act," he commented, "they are reminded that they could easily be the cause of accident if not loss of life. There is lots of room in the city dump for the tires, so why not relegate them to the proper place?"

Finance and Oil Subjects of Talks

Finance and fast-flowing oil were subjects of addresses delivered Belleville Kiwanis' weekly meeting Tuesday.

Speakers, both Kiwanians, were Ben Chipman, representative of Industrial Acceptance Corporation Limited, and Bill Harvey of Shell Oil Company of Canada.

Both members spoke briefly on their separate businesses.

Mr. Harvey's talk was highlighted by the showing of a film on the company's trans-northern pipeline, the 410-mile long pipe that carries petroleum products through Belleville on its way from Montreal to the industrial centres of Toronto and Hamilton.

Police Blotter

Someone in the city is making a banner production of petty theft.

Yesterday a member of the Orange Hall reported to city police the Union Jack had been stolen from the flagpole in front of the hall on Church St., sometime during the previous night.

Elsewhere on the nightwatch police discovered around 11 p.m. a parking meter on Foundry St. knocked over and out of the pavement. Investigations are proceeding into the matter.

A forced door on the premises of Reid's Dairy on Parker St., aroused suspicion during the night. Checked by Det.-Sgt. Harold Reid, the office was found intact with nothing missing.

OPP headquarters here reported an uneventful night.

Two Burwash Prisoners Flee

Council Sends Congratulations to Maj-Gen. Graham

TRENTON, (Special).—Trenton council Tuesday night passed a formal resolution congratulating Maj-Gen. Howard D. Graham on his appointment to Chief of Staff of the Canadian Army. The distinguished soldier, who twice was decorated for gallantry on the field of battle, served as Mayor of Trenton in between world wars when he practiced law here.

Council ordered town solicitor Ramsay Park and Engineer Reid Clark to investigate two lots on the north end of MacLellan Avenue, F. L. Worrall offered to purchase from the town for $900. It seems that there is a registered right-of-way crossing the land, allowing ingress and egress to a gravel pit belonging to Miss Marjorie Gothard and operated by Jack VanAlstine.

C. Nidderly Sets New Golf Record

TRENTON (Special).—Trenton's ranking golfer, Clarence Nidderly, set a new course record for 18 holes in competition for the Branscombe trophy recently. Nidderly shot a spectacular 32 for the first nine holes and then continued the same blistering pace for the last nine.

It was principally because of Nidderly's outstanding performance that the local team of Nidderly and P/S Jim Uukata, RCAF

Former Rector of Tweed Church Now Grand Master Of Masonic Grand Lodge

A former rector of Tweed's Anglican Church and a native of Roslin today is Grand Master of Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario.

The one-time Hastings County churchman today is Most Rev. William Lockridge Wright, D.D., Archbishop of Algoma, Metropolitan of Ontario (Church of England).

Yesterday Archbishop Wright was named Grand Master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario, at the centennial celebrations of the Masonic Order in Toronto.

Born in Roslin in 1904, Grand Master Wright graduated from Trinity College in 1927. He is a member of Rose Croix and Murtion Lodge of Perfection of the Scottish Rite.

He was ordained in the Cathedral Church of St. George, Kingston, and for two years served as curate of the Church of St. George-the-Martyr, John St., Toronto.

Trenton, defeated Belleville representatives Val Smith and Mike Aquafredda. Nidderly finished strong — four under par with a 66.

Competition for the club championship moves forward with Clarence Nidderly pitted against F/L Norm Wallace, RCAF Trenton and Carl Charlton playing S/L Eric McDowell in the semifinals.

Survivors of this round meet the first week in August.

Despite long periods of drought this season, club professional Dick Charman has managed to keep all greens in fair condition.

FINE PITCHING

LAC Vic Allan, RCAF Trenton pitcher, allowed Frankford Merchants no hits and drove in the Belleville Bobcats' only run in one of the strangest upsets on record Tuesday night.

Frankford defeated the Templenians 2-1. Adding insult to injury, the Bobcats produced six hits but failed to bunch them. Their downfall was decided by walked opposing batters who scampered home on Bobcat errors.

Supported by air-tight fielding, hurler Doug Radner went the route for the hosts.

McCANN RESIGNS

1st add 2nd lead hu-McCann . . . Mr. St. Laurent also disclosed that one of the photostats which Dr. McCann showed Premier Frost of Ontario last April was a receipt given by James S. Dempsey for money received from the late John Drohan for an interest in forest lands under control of the Ontario government.

CLIMAX TO DISPUTE

Today's surprise disclosures climaxed a hot political dispute growing out of the campaign for the June 9 Ontario election.

Mr. Dempsey, a Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Renfrew South which is Dr. McCann's federal riding, lost the support of Premier Frost for not reporting campaign contributions of $6,800 in 1951 from Mr. Drohan, wealthy Barrys Bay lumberman, Guarantee Trust handled the Drohan estate.

Later in the Commons, John Diethelm (PC-Prince Albert) accused Dr. McCann of showing Mr. Frost photostats of copies of the minister's connection with Guaranty Trust also was strongly criticized. Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) introduced a bill May 16 to ban cabinet ministers from holding directorships in outside companies.

Mr. St. Laurent said today that as prime minister he will never "shirk any responsibility for the propriety of the conduct of any of the members of the government."

He said there has never been any conflict between the private interests of Dr. McCann and his responsibilities as a cabinet minister.

He said Dr. McCann told him he resigned as director of Guaranty Trust not because he felt there was anything wrong but out of respect for the feelings of a large number

The prime minister said that at the April federal-provincial conference Dr. McCann had wanted to check with officials of the Ontario government, which like the federal government levies a succession duty on estates.

He said Dr. McCann wanted to check into the receipt for the interest in Ontario forest lands for which Mr. Drohan had given money to "the man who signed the receipt."

There had been nothing in the assets declared by the Drohan estate which seemed to correspond with assets for which the receipt was issued.

Dr. McCann had asked Premier Frost about it, since the premier also is provincial treasurer.

He said he checked into the case and is satisfied that "there was no wrong done."

PEARSON RAISES A POINT

Hon. L. B. Pearson, Canada's minister of external affairs, continues to display a commendable originality in his not-infrequent addresses on international problems.

A case in point is a suggestion he made last Saturday to the North Atlantic Treaty Association Council, when he intimated that assumptions of the western nations about disarmament might be out-dated. He voiced doubt that disarmament as a means of checking on what the countries are actually doing. It is reported that this view may be based on the fact that it is possible to be within five yards of certain kinds of new explosives without knowing of their existence.

As far as we are aware, this is the first suggestion that the West's earlier proposals for handling any disarmament agreement have been made obsolete by new developments. It would appear essential that such proposals should be revised repeatedly in order that they may remain, at all times, practical. Otherwise the West could find itself in a most embarrassing position if the Communists were to accept some earlier proposal which was no longer workable.

The question of the value of inspection is a technical one. On another point, though, Mr. Pearson made an observation the value of which the layman is better equipped to judge. He expressed doubt whether the United Nations remains the proper instrument for disarmament discussions when countries such as Germany and Italy are outside it. He might have remarked, too, on the absence of Communist China. Obviously any disarmament agreement would have to include Red China.

There is, of course, an alternative to removing the disarmament discussions from the auspices of the United Nations; that is to admit all nations to the UN. Mr. Pearson did not raise that point, probably for the same reason that he chose to name Germany and Italy, rather than Red China, as powers which are not members of the UN but which would need to be considered in any disarmament agreement. He was being a diplomat, a task which he undertakes with considerable skill. It might be added that his diplomacy and his originality reflect credit on Canada as a nation, as well as on Mr. Pearson's own stature as a statesman.

WINGS IN THE EVENING

The other evening the swallows were scampering around the fading skies.

"Swooping" is the word which is usually associated with swallows. The two words came up nicely together to produce an euphonious phrase. But, while springtime swallows do swoop, in long, graceful glides and great sweeping curves, these summer swallows were dashing about helter-skelter. Occasionally their wings would be set, but for the most part they were beating as fast as those of a "butter-ball" getting away from the decoys after the blast of the first barrel.

This scampering, though, did not tend to lessen the observer's admiration for the swallows' command of pace and space. No blind flyers, these birds never depend on radar and never seem to misread the other flyer's intentions. A twist of the body, a couple of extra fast beats of the wings and a collision is expertly avoided. This without any apparent rules of the air. Man, that giant of intelligence, cannot even achieve as satisfactory results when walking on a sidewalk. Obviously, the observer thinks, the swallows fly by instinct; it is not an acquired habit.

Just then, much nearer the ground, wings flash close by. They are carrying two robins; one a mature bird riding escort on a fledgling. The fledgling is tired and, sensing this fact, Mama Robin grasps a guy wire from a telephone pole firmly in her claws and comes to a sure, safe stop. Not so the fledgling. Once, twice, three times, he tries to grip the sheet-iron guard that covers that guy wire a foot or two below his parent's perch. Each time tired wings have to beat hastily to avert a fall, until the young robin finally gives up the attempt and settles on a convenient fence a foot or so away.

So even the birds are not born with all the knowledge they need. Even the young robin must learn what it takes to provide an adequate perch.

The eye returns to the scampering swallows with a new respect for their agility and certainty.

THE EXCEPTION THAT PROVES THE RULE

The House of Commons last week adopted an unanimous all-party report aimed at saving time and expediting work in future.

The Canadian Press report on this decision noted that Jean-Francois Pouliot, the Liberal member for Temiscouata, "took 25 minutes to say that every member can say what he has to say within 20 minutes or so if he isn't interrupted."

This sentence looks like a sly dig at the volatile Monsieur Pouliot, but there is a variety of defences open to him.

1—The "or so" in "20 minutes or so" surely covers an additional five minutes.

2—Mr. Pouliot is generally interrupted.

3—In any event, he is the exception that proves the rule, for though a few other members may have as much to say as Mr. Pouliot, none of them are able to say it in quite so entertaining a fashion.

With doctors, lawyers and merchant chiefs all steering lawn mowers these days one realizes, once again, that grass cutting is a great leveller.

Every summer a through highway sign takes on new meaning as the highway passes through at least one detour.

PRESENT BOYHOOD

When I was just a little chap,
 My wants were few.
 I never had a coonskin cap
 Or pistols too.

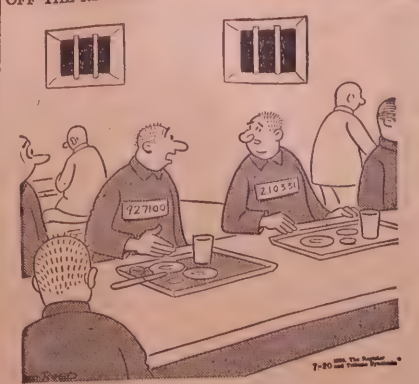

Neither my uncles nor my aunts,
 I see them with their guns and
 Though kind were they,
 Bought me a pair of buckskin pants
 To wear at play.

The things these modern youngsters get Grow more and more.
 The helmet of a space cadet
 I never wore.

I see them with their guns and caps
 And costumes gay,
 And think when small I was perhaps
 As proud as they.

School Without Bad Pupils

(Written for UNESCO by Janos Helyi)

"I can't do this sum," said Roger, "I keep getting 32, but it can't be right. You look at it, Mummy." His mother glanced over his shoulder. "Yes," she said, "you've made a mistake. The correct answer is 44." A few minutes later she happened to look again at her son's exercise-book. "But you've still got 32," she exclaimed. "I told you the answer was 44!"

"Yes, I know," said Roger, chewing the end of his pencil, "but I don't understand why it's 44. And if I put it all the same, my teacher won't be able to explain where I've made a mistake."

It was surprising that a boy of seven should be more interested in learning than in good marks and I was anxious to know what school he attended.

This is how I came to hear about the "New School" at Boulogne-sur-Seine—an experimental establishment which carries out practical research into modern educational methods.

It is located in a pleasant Paris suburb, close to the river and the woods of Boulogne, in a historical mansion where Marie Antoinette lived for a time, and later Prince Metetrich.

The school itself is only eight years old. It was established in 1947 by a group of enthusiastic young teachers—all members of an educational summer camps association—who were eager for the opportunity of trying out in a real school new methods developed during the holidays.

They were also anxious to prove that these new methods need not be restricted to expensive private schools, but could very well be applied in a State-run elementary school whose pupils come from all walks of life.

The buildings provided by the Boulogne Borough Council were in a bad state of repair, but the "New School" was soon operating with financial help from the American Council on Education.

The following year, the American students spent their summer vacation at the school working as bricklayers, carpenters and odd-job men. The results were impressive.

And in October 1948 when the school reopened it counted more than 200 pupils of 3 to 12 years old—from kindergarten to elementary certificate level. The "New School" was firmly established on its own rather unconventional way.

The children arrive at 9 a. m., the older ones unaccompanied, the little ones with their parents. They do not start lessons immediately but spend half an hour or so playing in the garden. Some use the time to feed the chickens, rabbits and turkeys, while others make straight for the sea-saws and play equipment, which they all feel perfectly at home.

In the class-rooms there are no conventional desks and benches but small low tables where the children sit in groups of five or six, each intent on his own particular "job". Tiny tots aged three or four are "keeping house", splashing about in water or ironing.

For others, a little older, there are tools of all sorts—hammers, saws and chisels—as well as a palette and plenty of crayons and paints. There is no compulsion but the work of each child is carefully guided by the teachers.

In the higher forms, the children "practise" writing and reading. They make rapid progress but are never forced, for reading and writing must come naturally and gradually like learning to speak.

Anyway, there are so many other exciting things to do at school! One can draw, or instance, or model in clay, or grow flowers and vegetables in the garden, before learning to read.

Arithmetic is also a gradual process. The children are given counting frames with wooden beads strung in rows of ten. Each bead has a small square and ten squares the size of a large cube. Learning to count becomes a game, and the children soon begin to understand the principles of length, surface and volume.

Each form also has its own pair of scales and sets of weights which the children use when playing "shop" and other games. All this stands them in good stead when they come to the various business of standard weights and measures.

The same principle is applied to the teaching of more complicated subjects—history and geography, for example. Classroom study develops round a "centre of interest" chosen by the children themselves. It may be a statue, or a film, show, or a visit to a historic castle.

This year, the children in one class are enthusiastically studying Greece, fired by a documentary film which they saw some time back. The children busily collected photographs and art reproductions and this led them to prepare a "Greek exhibition" on show in the Assembly Hall.

The work of a different class exhibited each month so that all the pupils can see what their school fellows are doing. Not long ago, one of the classes produced a most impressive exhibit on "Alsace", gathering together a very varied collection of objects—post-cards, sketches, photographs, and so on (the emblem of Alsace), as well as characteristically shaped wine-bottles, etc.

All this makes for a rather unconventional atmosphere, very much in contrast to the traditional

Personal Health Talks

A lady has a rash on neck and back. She has spent the usual time for treatment without benefit.

Phenomenal how such expenditures grow as time passes! Long ago when I was an honest doctor in Penn Yan this approach led to a new patient filled me with dismay, for I found that in such cases I had just one crack at it, and if I failed that was all. But then, on the other hand, even if by happy coincidence the trouble had run its course just as the patient came to me, the chances were the patient would decide I must have been a trivial ailment and I had a lot of cheek to charge $2.

Please write on Allergy and Air Conditioning, the lady requests (Calculus, three a day, have done her tremendous good. No more does she have hay fever or asthma, except in an air-conditioned place. Thanking me for her extreme good health she is mine sincerely...

By quick reflex action I managed to hold back from the chuckle most of the lady's letter. The extraordinary allergy with air conditioning—I must have read it too hurriedly. No, that's what the lady says—she is free from hay fever or asthma except in an air-conditioned place.

Normally we would expect an individual with allergy to be less much pap and cheat food.

More and more growing children are suffering from calcium deficiency nowadays because the everyday diet doesn't include far too much milk but does include far too much pap and cheat food.

CATHEDRALS—OLD AND NEW

As the year A.D. 1000 approached, and later the year A.D. 1500, Europe was thrown into the utmost excitement by the belief that Jesus Christ would immediately appear.

Under these circumstances we would expect that people would have dropped their work and sat down to await the coming of the Lord. As a matter of fact, the period between these two dates was a period of intense church activity. Particularly did the people give themselves to the building of cathedrals.

A great English church leader has pointed out that all this has a special reference to the life in which we live. This very decided is not a cathedral building age; it is a scientific age. It is the most active period world history has known anything like it. In fact, in the midst of our activity we are in very great danger of losing fundamental spiritual values.

Women Doctors Are No Novelty Among Chinese

TORONTO. (CP) — Women doctors are no novelty in China, says pretty Dr. Yin-Ching Yeung. A third of her classmates were women.

An attractive brunette from long Kongs, just a shade under five feet, Dr. Yeung is now intern at Toronto's New Mount Sinai Hospital.

She began her medical studies at Sun Yat Sen University on the Chinese mainland. But half-way through the Communists took control of China. Faced with the choice of continuing her course under Communist rule, or writing off more than two years' study as lost, she remained to get her degree.

After graduation in 1952 she returned to Hong Kong where her father is a well-to-do merchant. But Dr. Yeung plans to get a licence qualifying her to practise anywhere in the British Commonwealth.

TRAINED IN DETROIT

Last year Dr. Yeung spent a year interning at Women's Hospital in Detroit. Several weeks ago she arrived in Toronto for further training.

But Dr. Yeung hasn't definitely decided her future. She hopes to specialize in gynaecology and obstetrics and return to Hong Kong. Dr. Yeung admits to having a boy friend, also from Hong Kong, now interning at Oshawa General Hospital. The two may eventually practise together in their native city.

The young woman doctor comes from a medically-minded family. Of her three brothers, one is studying medicine in Hong Kong, another dentistry in the United States. Her oldest brother is an engineer in San Francisco.

Canadian Girl Makes Big Hit With 'The Man in the Raincoat'

(By GARY SMITH)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A slim 14-year-old school girl last month watched a recording of her voice climb to 11th place among best-selling popular records in the United States.

The number is "The Man in the Raincoat," a blues number tune-fully recorded by the husky grown-up-sounding voice of London's Priscilla Wright.

This month, Priscilla and the song, written by Warwick Webster, a Toronto industrial worker, were still making history in the Canadian popular music field.

A poll conducted by a music magazine rated her version of "Raincoat" the 14th most played of popular recordings in the U.S. during the last week of June.

KNOWN AS PERKY

Priscilla, known as Perky to friends at Midway high school, where she is an 11th grade student, lives in a rambling white frame house on London's outskirts with her father and mother, two husky teen-aged brothers, a black spaniel and a Persian cat named Sunbeam.

Her father is 46-year-old Don Wright, youthful-looking sandy-haired musician who directs the mixed voice Don Wright chorus over a CBS network Sunday evening.

He also writes musical commercials under contract to Canadian radio and television sponsors.

Priscilla's father spotted her voice during a family sing-song in their home last New Year's Eve.

"We were singing Blue Moon," recalled Mr. Wright, "and because the standard key seemed a little high I took it down a couple of notes."

A GOOD ALTO

"You should have heard the result. We spent the rest of the evening just trying Priscilla out on other pop songs." He describes her voice as "a good alto with a little better than average range."

In March Mr. Wright found four new songs he thought suited Priscilla and she made four recordings. Spanton of Canada bought the records but it wasn't until the U.S. rights were leased and issued on the Unique label that the song started to sell.

The Wright recording of "The Man in the Raincoat" still tops all other records of the song in sales.

Priscilla and her father are planning to make four new recordings of her voice sometime in August. Meantime she has been busy keeping up with her first hit.

TV APPEARANCES

On July 3, Priscilla appeared on Ed Sullivan's CBS television network show "Toast of the Town" from New York. She spent the next ten days with her mother visiting disc jockeys and song pluggers in Detroit, Buffalo, Rochester, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Mrs. Wright is the former Lillian Meighen, daughter of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Canada's only living former prime minister.

The Wrights agree Priscilla may sing as long as she likes, provided her career doesn't interfere with school. When the novelty wears off, said her mother, "she can stop any time she likes."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU'D BETTER WALK OUT OF THIS MESS WHILE YOU CAN

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For the first two years of our marriage, my husband and I were quite happy. Then we bought a home, and he was not even given two boys by another marriage. I was brought to us from an orphan home. These boys have a mother, but the only time she wants to be in when she can cause trouble for me.

I've had them now for six years, and all that time has been terrible. My husband drinks quite a bit and at those times is mean and unreasonable. He hasn't drawn a sober breath for almost three months now, and even when he is sober, he pays no attention to the boys. He will never make a man of them. They are now 15 and 16, and he tells them not to listen to me or do a thing I say, and they curse me all the time.

I still think quite a bit of my husband, but I'm at the point where I can't stand much more of his drinking or the boys' behavior. I'm especially as I am very nervous, having been sick for three years.

Should I leave my husband for the sake of my health, or stay with him and die a slow death?

—Frances

Dear Frances:

I can see no reason why you should have to stand any more of such a situation.

It would be one thing if, with the help you should have had from your husband, you had been able to bring these boys up properly. Your husband would have been glad to take pity on children so unfortunate as to have been deprived of their own home and put into an orphanage, through the separation of their parents, would have taken them to her heart and tried to make them feel loved and wanted.

But you, evidently have had no chance at all to follow out your motherly instincts and desires. Instead of making it possible for you to treat his children as your own, to train them up to be attractive, well-behaved boys, your husband seems to have done everything he can to have it otherwise. No matter how hard you tried—and I'm sure you have tried hard—he seems to have checkmated all your efforts, and made you an object of scorn and ridicule to his sons, rather than one of love and respect.

In all charity, it must be admitted that the boys can hardly be blamed for the way they have turned out. With such an abnormal background, it was practically inevitable that their personalities should be warped. But even so, that does not mean that you must be a victim of the warped personalities not only of other people's children but of their parents as well.

So now, I think, that is under all the circumstances, it is only right that you be free of this mess in order to regain your health and have a life of your own. If I thought there was any chance of bringing these two things about without leaving your husband, I would certainly advise you to stay, but I cannot see that there is much hope ahead.

If you do not have any definite idea in mind how you could support yourself if you left your husband, then you should go to some qualified adviser near you and ask for help in making plans. There is a Family Service Association in your city, where I am sure you could find this sort of practical help. Look it up in your local telephone directory, call there and ask for an appointment to discuss a serious family problem. I am sure you will receive sympathetic understanding and wise guidance.

Sunday Dinner on the Seine

By Mary Moore

Would you like to take a boat trip on the Seine through Paris on a sunny Sunday afternoon, and eat your midday dinner all during the three hours you are abroad?

It is a quick switch from the green English countryside I was telling you about yesterday, but I'm impatient to give you the recipe for "Les Grenadins de Veau d'Austerlitz" which to you and me is a braised veal with a little cream and wine thrown in so they could charge 1600 francs for it.

It was a glorious day and Antoinette and Jacques were with us. Jacques was our Paris host-and-guide-extraordinary—handsome, energetic, elegant, ever-thoughtful, selfless—and he could speak English fluently. Just the ticket for us three innocents abroad in the enchanting city of Paris.

(Another day I will tell you about the supper we had at Antoinette's and Jacques' home.) But aboard the boat!

We were guided to and protected by the strong sun, covered with brilliant yellow canopies, which heightened the sunniness of the atmosphere and protected our (presumably) lovely complexions.

We were guided to our reserved table and eventually handed a menu, all in French of course, when we were under way. After some questioning and interpreting and deliberating, I ordered Le Melon Glace au Porto, Le Filet de Sole on Bateau-Mouche (the name of the boat company), Les Grenadins de Veau d'Austerlitz (see below), La Salade et les Fromages, La Tartiflette aux Fraises. (The French strawberries were large like the English ones and the separation of their parents, would have taken them to her heart and tried to make them feel loved and wanted.)

But you, evidently have had no chance at all to follow out your motherly instincts and desires. Instead of making it possible for you to treat his children as your own, to train them up to be attractive, well-behaved boys, your husband seems to have done everything he can to have it otherwise. No matter how hard you tried—and I'm sure you have tried hard—he seems to have checkmated all your efforts, and made you an object of scorn and ridicule to his sons, rather than one of love and respect.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and Glasses Magee have found out how to tell the bewty looking twins apart, on account of Flora having an extra freckle under one eye and Dora not having anything there except her face, and this afternoon we saw them in front of their house in the next block, and we quick went down, and I looked at the one with the extra freckle, saying Hello, Flora, and Glasses looked at the other one, saying, Hello, Dora.

Oh, you cant fool us, you're still just guessing, Flora said, a n d Dora said, you dont know who is which, and we wont tell you.

You dont have to tell us, because we know, Glasses said, and I said, If you want us to prove it, go in the house and come out again, and we'll call you by your right names every time.

And they went in and came out and said 7 times, and we called them right every time, and Dora said, Tell us how you know?

Why should we? I said, and Flora said, because if you dont, we'll never speak to you again.

Well if we tell you, will you promise to admit it? Glasses said.

Which they promised, and I said, Flora has one more freckle, right under her eye.

We think you're awful, we never knew anybody so sneaky, Dora said, and Flora said, We think you're horrid.

Well, you said you'd admit it, we said, and Flora said, And we do, but we didn't say we'd ever speak to you again.

And they went in the house and stayed in, and now we dont know if they're speaking to us or not.

Proving girls like to think they are mysterious, and it's probably a good idea to let them keep on thinking so.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BECKMAN

PLANS FOR SMALL CHAPEL WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beckman:

1. At my very informal wedding in the chapel of our church, I am planning to wear a silk summer suit, somewhat on the order of a dressmaker-type suit, and the groom will wear a dark, light-weight business suit. But I have always wanted to "walk up the aisle" at my wedding. I wear such informal dress, would this possibly be correct?

2. Also, would it be correct for me to have more than one attendant?

We are planning to invite to the chapel ceremony the members of the two families of course, a few close relatives on the sides, and a very few intimate friends. Considering all these plans, would it be proper for us to have an informal reception at my home, and invite quite a few friends not invited to the ceremony? — E.L.

1. Yes indeed it will be entirely correct for you to "walk up the aisle" at your wedding, even though the chapel aisle may be a very long one. However, I'm sure it will be long enough to make your cherished dream come true. You and your father (or whoever is to escort you) walk up the aisle together, preceded by your attendant, alone.

2. No, my advice is that for such a small, informal wedding, you have only one attendant, a maid (or matron) of honor, your witness.

3. Yes. Even though your chapel wedding is to be so small, it is entirely proper for you to have a large, informal reception at your home.

OF COURSE... TELL HIM YOU'VE SEEN THE MOVIE

Dear Mrs. Beckman:

If your escort suggests going to a movie which you have seen, should you tell him that you have seen it, or say nothing about it and go—even though you didn't particularly like it when you did see it? — Rosamond.

No reason to be a martyr! Don't hesitate to say you have seen the movie. This straightforwardness makes sense, since the man is trying to plan a pleasant evening for you, and certainly doesn't want to spend money to have you bored. You might say, for example, "Jim, I did see that movie the other day. But if you particularly want to see it, let's go." This graciously leaves the choice up to your host... and I'm sure (or at least I hope) he'll get the point of your not being enthusiastic about the picture!

GIFT NOT NECESSARY

Dear Mrs. Beckman:

Please tell me if it is necessary to acknowledge an engagement announcement, whether it is a note or a card, by a gift? — May M.

No... not necessary. We should of course acknowledge the receiving of the announcement of the happy news—usually by a note of good wishes. But we needn't send a gift unless we particularly wish to.

BEAUTY

MID-SEASON BEAUTY AIDS

When you go swimming and emerge all wet, are you all-washed up as far as appearance goes? Powder flouted away? Rouge and lipstick but a memory? Mascara dripping on the cheeks?

Work no longer for cosmetic chemists have come to your aid with waterproof make-up. Next time you fare forth to the tobaccies counter, take a look at these items. You'll be surprised. Other girls on the beach, looking all drippy and droopy, will envy you your fresh loveliness.

It all started with waterproof mascara, a revolutionary product. Now that is supplemented by a foundation cosmetic that sticks to one like a friend or a brother. After that is tapped gently into the flesh, liquid rouge is applied which can only be removed by cold cream.

Apply the rouge in a three-dot triangle—one dot close to the lid below the center of the eye; another directly beneath it, slightly higher than the tip of the nose; the third below the outer corner of the eye. Blend the three together, working upward and outward toward the temple.

After that you use a special lotion, tapped on lightly. The next step is powdering. Dust away the excess with a powder brush. This may sound a bit complicated but, actually, it isn't any more bother than usual make-up routine.

Waterproof lipstick will not have to be renewed while you are basking in the sunshine on the beach, either. It's on to stay!

2 Fires on Successive Days
Gut House as Folks Away

PICTON—Two fires, on successive days, gutted a bungalow owned by Mrs. Walter Demille and rendered four persons homeless. They are Mr. and Mrs. MacBurrell and two civilian cooks at the army camp. All four lost all their possessions.

Origin of Sunday's and Monday's fires are mysteries as no one was home either time. On Sunday, neighbors saw smoke issuing from the house on Pitt Street and called firemen. A wall in one part of the house was charred and the ceiling in the other half damaged. Many household articles were damaged by water.

About 5.30 Monday when the occupants were absent, smoke was seen coming through the roof and a short time later flames had broken through. Firemen soon had the fire under control but not before the interior was made uninhabitable by fire, smoke and water. All the contents were ruined.

Mrs. Burrell, who was employed during the afternoon at a King Street home, was driving to pick up Mr. Burrell, an employee at Graham's garage. She saw the smoke in the direction of her home and raced to the scene. She suffered slight burns, on the arms and face in an attempt to secure some personal possessions. The fire spread and homes close by were not endangered. The house is just a short distance west of York Street school. No explanation for the outbreak has been suggested.

Hooks 4 Muskies,
Just Lands One;
Weights 33 Pounds

PICTON—"It's the thrill of a lifetime!" declared Harry G. Young of Long Branch yesterday as he displayed a 33-pound muskie which he had taken from the Bay of Quinte, off Adolphustown, the previous evening. The fish measured 42 inches in length and had a girth of twenty inches. It put up a forty-minute battle before being landed by Mr. Young, who is a former Picton resident.

Mr. Young had hooked another big one in the morning but it got away after a great battle. Late yesterday he reported having hooked two more but failed to land either of them. This is the first muskie landed in local and district waters this year.

Sunk at Regatta

PICTON—Two frogmen from Trenton were required to help recover a boat of Canadian One Design which sank in the bay here at Saturday's regatta. It was owned by Paul Apperly of Trenton RCAF and was recovered in 25 feet of water. Roy E. Miller and Les Collar of Trenton, aqua-lung divers, located the craft and a tow rope was attached and the boat pulled to the yacht club dock. Except for a soaking, boat or motor did not appear to be damaged and it was returned to Trenton.

BABY FOR BEAUTY
MANILA (AP)—Miss Universe of 1952, the former Arnel Kusela of Finland, now Mrs. Virgilio Hilario of the Philippines, gave birth Monday to a seven-pound, 15-ounce boy, to be named Anne after the Finnish beauty's father. It is the first child for the Hilarios, who were married in Tokyo in 1953.

Charges That One of Campney's
Chief Supporters Got Profitable Deal

OTTAWA (CP)—Howard Green said Tuesday one of the chief supporters of Defence Minister Campney in Vancouver Centre was able to obtain extremely high rentals on a building leased to the federal government in Vancouver.

The Progressive Conservative member for Vancouver Quadra sparred with Works Minister Winters in the Commons for half an hour concerning government rental of a building for use by the RCAF ground observer corps as a filter centre.

Mr. Winters said the property is suitable for that purpose and that the rent is reasonable. The government first paid $400 a month in rent for part of the building in Vancouver Centre. Mr. Campney's riding, and last year leased the entire premises at $750 a month.

Mr. Winters said the government now is paying $1.80 per square foot of floor space in the building compared with $2 when the first lease was signed in 1952.

SAID OUT OF LINE

Mr. Green said one of the owners of the building is a prominent Liberal in Vancouver Centre and that he was able to benefit from the deal, obtaining rentals that were entirely out of line.

(The owners previously were identified as Rowe Holland, Vancouver barrister, and William C. Couper, retired businessman.)

Mr. Green asked why a ground observer station should be set up in downtown Vancouver and in a building practically under an approach ramp of the new bridge over False Creek.

"What are you trying to show, that we are dishonest or wrong?" Mr. Winters snapped at one point. Mr. Green said the owners got extremely high rent. The government shouldn't allow this to happen and if it had a proper system of checks on rentals it wouldn't.

SEEK DAMAGES

He said the owners now are seeking $35,000 damages from the city because the ramp has depreciated property value.

He added that the owners' own evaluators now estimate a fair rent for the building would be $400 a month.

Mr. Winters said it is natural that the owners are trying to devalue the property so they can collect damages from the city. He said utility of the building for the RCAF hasn't changed and the current rent is reasonable. If the owners now thought the rent was too high, the government would consider looking into the matter.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Mott Election was defeated by George Hahn. So-called a building to the federal government while William Mott was a Liberal member of Parliament, it was disclosed today in the Commons.

Works Minister Winters said the Belyea premises in New Westminster were rented before in 1947, two years before Mr. Mott was elected Liberal MP for New Westminster. The lease was continued by the government throughout his four years in Parliament. Mr. Mott was defeated by George Hahn, Social Credit, in 1953.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, questioned the propriety of Mr. Mott renting to the government while he was an MP.

Mr. Winters said Mr. Mott had not intended to rent the Belyea premises to the government but had reluctantly agreed to do so on the request of the government. The rents at that time were controlled,

British Farm Workers to Get Wage Increase

LONDON (CP)—Britain's 658,000 farm workers are in line for wage increases worth £3,000,000 annually.

Government officials hope the increase will help check the labor drift from farms.

A ministry of agriculture spokesman has indicated farm workers will be awarded a flat time-and-a-half rate for all work over 47 hours a week. Another ruling will make the full wage for men payable at 20 years of age, instead of the present 21.

Since 1947, farm hands in England and Wales have been leaving the land at the rate of 20 every working day. There were 777,000 agricultural workers in 1947, against 658,000 in June of this year.

By giving 20-year-old farm workers the adult wage—which means 25 shillings more per week for them—it is hoped more youths will return to the farms after their two years' military duty.

Adenauer Calls Aides to Study Soviet Attitude

MUERREN, Switzerland (AP)—Vacationing West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer summoned his top diplomatic advisers to this Alpine resort today to consider the extremely negative Russian view on German reunification.

Soviet Premier Bulganin said Tuesday the time has not yet come to consider the reunification of Germany. His statement plunged Bonn observers at Geneva into gloom.

They believed it could have a bad effect on planned Soviet-West German talks for restoration of diplomatic relations and might cause Adenauer to cancel a proposed trip to Moscow.

A German spokesman said the Soviet Union has made no effort to set up private—or public—contact with the German observers in Geneva.

Felix von Eckardt, West Germany's United Nations observer, said "not the slightest attempt has been made to establish such contact" and he knew of no urgent wish by the Russians to do so.

Auto Workers Indicted For Corrupt Practice

DETROIT (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted the CIO United Auto Workers Union on charges of violating the federal Corrupt Practices Act in politics.

The grand jury accused the 7,500,000-member union of using general union funds to finance political activities in the 1954 congressional campaign.

This was the campaign in which Patrick V. McNamara, Democrat supported by the UAW and other labor groups, defeated the then senator Homer Ferguson, Republican.

Billy Graham Back in Britain

LONDON (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham returned to Britain Tuesday after a six-week crusade in Europe. He said he was greatly encouraged by what he called a spiritual awakening on the continent.

Graham flew in from Geneva and told a press conference:

"In political and diplomatic fields we may be making painfully slow progress, but there are abundant signs that men are uniting spiritually and are prepared to follow the Christian path to peace."

Buffalo's Claim Enrages Toronto

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—What's the "first major port of call on the St. Lawrence seaway" now under construction?

According to the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce its Buffalo, naturally, and the chamber says so on some of its envelopes.

When such envelopes appeared in Toronto, however, an outraged cry was raised.

"What's this all about?" asked irate Torontonians.

"The school children over there must be getting a horrible education," said Toronto's Mayor Nathan Phillips Tuesday. "This slogan makes it look as though the seaway is coming in from the Pacific."

Mayor Phillips said he would invite Mayor Steven Pankow of Buffalo, a Lake Erie city, to visit Toronto to see for himself what really was the first major port of call.

Mentally, the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce says it will stick to its slogan.

"We got into a tussle once with St. Louis over our claim for Buffalo as the 'U.S.' second largest city," a spokesman said. "We sent them some facts and figures and never heard from them again."

Veterans Killed As Two Planes Collide in Air

HIGH POINT, Md. (AP)—Two veterans of combat flying dropped to their deaths near Chesapeake bay Tuesday after their plane ran into another 3,000 feet in the air.

Both twin-engined craft were from the Bolling Field air force base in Washington, a short hop away. The two occupants of one plane walked away from their crash with only slight hurts although it broke up after hitting a house.

The plane carrying Lieut. Francis Vioring, 31, who went through 50 combat missions in Korea, and Maj. Lud Miliste, survivor of 38 flights in the China-Burma-India theatre of the Second World War, carried them almost directly earthward to their deaths.

Thomas Predicts Butter, Cheese Surpluses to End

KITCHENER (P)—Ontario Agricultural Minister Thomas said here Tuesday night it won't be long until Ontario does not have surpluses of butter and cheese.

He spoke at the annual bull night at the Waterloo Cattle Breeding Association, attended by 1,200 members.

Mr. Thomas said the surplus of cheese last year amounted to about three-quarters of a pound per capita in Canada and butter about 1½ pounds.

"We must dramatize these products a little better," he said. "After all, marketing is the most competitive business in the world."

Mr. Thomas said he did not think the loss of farm land to commercial and home sites was alarming. He said the loss of some good land was indicative of the growth of Ontario's population, and represented more markets for the farmer.

Queen Mother Enjoys Tea With Stevedore

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen Mother had tea Tuesday night in a stevedore's house in London's east end.

She was touring gardens in Dockland and was halfway through her two-hour visit when she was invited into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Williams. Their married daughter made up a four-course meal.

"Thank you, I enjoyed it very much," the Queen Mother said as she left to continue her tour.

UNIFIED GERMANY

ommendations.

Some Western officials are reported still hoping for some progress on the German problem—at least for an agreement to have it taken up at a fixed time by representatives of the four powers.

President Eisenhower made a strong personal appeal at Tuesday's meeting to his wartime friend Georgi Zhukov, Soviet defence minister, to witness his honesty and vouch for his peaceful intentions.

Eisenhower called on the Russians to put aside their worries about NATO and agree to German unification under present conditions. The president declared that NATO is a peaceful agency and that the United States would never take part in aggressive action against any country.

BELIEVED SINCERITY

Zhukov, as a subordinate member of the Soviet delegation, did not reply, but Bulganin said he was grateful to Eisenhower for his statement.

The Soviet position dashed the president as a great war leader and architect of allied victory and he believed in the president's sincerity. Nevertheless, he expressed reservations as to the defensive character of NATO and demanded West Germany's withdrawal as a precondition for German unification.

The Soviet position dashed lingering hopes that Russia might come up with a surprise new position on Germany. Bulganin also made remarks on Prime Minister Eden's European security proposals which discouraged some Western officials.

The security item, next after Germany on the four-point conference agenda adopted Tuesday, was one on which Russia had laid great stress before the leaders gathered. Bulganin spoke at length on it in his opening statement Monday.

Tuesday, however, he brushed aside the British prime minister's proposal for a mutual security pact of the Big Four and a unified Germany as "unwarranted."

NOT FOR THE STRONG

"The Soviet Union," Bulganin was reported to have said, "does not depend on the guarantees of others such as those proposed." Such guarantees were "comprehensible for weak states which were not in a position to defend themselves, but unwarranted in the case of strong powers."

Eden and the Russians continued the discussion of Germany at the security issue Tuesday night at a dinner the prime minister gave for the Russians at his lakeside villa. A British delegate reported that Eden had a "very useful and serious discussion" after dining with Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party chief.

The delegate added that Eden considers that an East-West understanding on Germany is not impossible.

The conference is in its third day without visible signs of progress, and in addition to German unification and European security, the leaders still have before them the question of disarmament and a fourth general item, "contacts between East and West," designed mainly to embrace trade restrictions and other barriers.

Retirement 'Severe Wrench' But 'Right and Necessary' Gen. Simonds Tells Troops

NAMED IN PROBE

R. K. Gervin was mentioned in testimony before the Tupper commission investigating charges of corruption and laxity in the Vancouver police department. Mr. Gervin is a former city alderman and is vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. (CP Photo).

CAMP GAGTOWN, N.B. (CP)—Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds told Camp Gagetown troops Tuesday that although his retirement at the end of August as chief of the general staff is a "severe wrench" he feels it is "right and necessary."

He made the comment before a farewell salute to the 1st Canadian Infantry Division at the biggest military review of its kind in Canada. Headed by Maj.-Gen. J.M. Rockingham, the entire division marched past at Blissville airport, within the camp's 427 square-mile area.

Speaking to the long lines of troops through a public address system, Gen. Simonds said he has served his full period in office. He subscribed fully to the important policy of providing regular promotion and if this policy was to be carried out his retirement was necessary.

Earlier Tuesday, at a press conference in Fredericton, the general said Canada, in effect to keep its powder dry despite the current talk of peace.

COULD BE DANGEROUS
He expressed a personal opinion that peaceful signs from Moscow and Geneva could create a "dangerous situation." The Geneva conference had been made possible because of the strength and cohesion of the Western powers, "and now isn't the time to abandon our policy of military strength just when it's beginning to bear fruit."

At the time Gen. Simonds' retirement was announced in Ottawa it caused considerable comment in the House of Commons. Several opposition members, led by Progressive Conservative leader Drew, wanted to know why a man of the general's abilities should be retired at the age of only 52.

The government replied that Gen. Simonds had served his full period in office. There was no special significance, it said, to his retirement; it was just a matter of course.

Two Canadians Attend World Veterans' Camp
LONDON (CP)—Two Canadian "teen-agers" are attending the third summer camp organized by the World Veterans Federation at Aspet, in the French Pyrenees.

The boys are Roddy Gordon, 15, of Ottawa and Beverly Anne Smith, 13, of Winnipeg.

More than 150 children from 20 countries are spending six weeks—July 15 to Aug. 30—at the international holiday camp for sons and daughters of veterans.

Both the Canadian children have been living at Metz, France, where their fathers are at RCAF headquarters there.

Boa Constrictor Is Unpopular At Detroit Beach
DETROIT (AP)—A boa on the Belle Isle beach broke up bathers' basking Monday.

An unidentified man dropped a 10-foot boa constrictor out of a hamper and let it slither on the sand, bathers fled.

Police asked the man to pick up his pet and leave. He did. He said he was just giving the snake "an airing."

Canadian Civil Defence Experts To Attend Course
WASHINGTON (CP)—Six Canadian civil defence officials, five of them from Alberta, will attend the 1955 summer session of the U.S. federal Civil Defence Administration staff college opening this week at Hentle Creek, Mich.

Maj. Stanley C. Tanner, chief administrative officer of the Canadian Civil Defence College at Arnprior, Ont., will take the course on administration while the five Albertans will attend the evacuation course, which demonstrates how to meet the threat of radioactive fallout.

The Albertans are Provincial Secretary C. E. Gerhart, the provincial minister responsible for civil defence; Air Vice-Marshal G. L. Howsam, Alberta civil defence co-ordinator; Lt.-Col. Arnold J. Laviole, assistant to Air Vice-Marshal Howsam; Lt.-Col. A. E. Lawrence, CD director for the City of Edmonton; and Lt.-Col. Geoffrey O. Bell, CD director for Calgary.

Defence Plants 'Mothballed,' Production 'Stretched Out,' As Arms Spending Reduced

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—More and more Canadian defence plants and production lines are being mothballed as the government reduces its arms spending.

And in many active plants, production is being slowed or, as officials put it, stretched out.

The reason for the stretch-out is that the armed forces now are fairly well equipped and they aren't growing any bigger.

Production could be maintained at a hot-and-heavy pace and all units would be fairly quickly. But this would result in shutdown of production lines.

The government wants to keep at least some of the lines open in case of emergency and, just as important, to keep skilled workers well trained in the latest production techniques. No major plants are being entirely shut down.

SHOULDN'T HURT ECONOMY
Officials say the stretch-out is unlikely to have any great effect on the Canadian economy. Even when the arms program was going full tilt, armaments production comprised only about six per cent of total national production.

In some cases, it is possible to mothball a single production line while keeping the rest of a plant producing.

The defence production department now is searching for the best method to maintain stand-by defence plants. Officials are in the United States studying American methods.

The $8,000,000,000 rearmament program, brought on by the Korean crisis in 1950, actually reached its peak in late 1953 and then levelled out. Now it is declining.

For instance, the defence department plans to spend in the 1955-56 fiscal year $625,700,000 for weapons and equipment compared with $791,941,000 in 1954-55 and $870,533,000 in 1953-54.

PRODUCTION CUT
Production of the CF-100 long-range jet interceptor, Canada's chief defence weapon, is understood to have been about five a week near the end of last year. But this rate has been slowed.

Ontario Pea Crop Is One of Best In Past Decade

AYLMER (CP)—A bumper Ontario pea crop—one of the best in 10 years and worth more than $2,500,000 to farmers—has been harvested and packed by canners.

Favorable early weather and long hot days made possible the big crop. Mechanized cutting and processing techniques led it through canneries in 35 days instead of the usual 45.

About 30,000 acres in counties extending from Essex to Wellington produced the crop. Most growers averaged a ton an acre.

Morocco Quiet After Riots

CASABLANCA, Morocco (Reuters)—This great North African port was returning to normal Tuesday after several days of violent street battles in which at least 63 white settlers and Moroccans died.

No serious incidents were reported Tuesday night and a curfew was set back two hours to 9 p. m. because of the improved situation.

But fires flared up in shanty towns near the port of Fedala, 15 miles north of here. The shanty town of Douar Elahya, where 25,000 people lived in shacks, was razed by men with torches. A blaze also started in the shanty town of Douar Brada, where 5,000 lived.

The shacks were evacuated and fired as a demonstration against the death of a Moroccan in the riots.

Wants Parking Under Parliament Hill's Lawn

OTTAWA (CP)—Underground parking beneath Parliament Hill's front lawn was suggested in the Commons Tuesday as a cure for parking problems of MPs and parliamentary staff.

Gordon K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough) said during study of public works estimates that it is awkward to park cars. It was unfair to ask members and staff to let their cars stand in the snow and sleet without protection.

Mr. Fraser said the parking space could be built at present street level. It then could be covered over, raising the lawn to the level of the paved terrace in front of Parliament's centre block.

Works Minister Winters replied that plans for development of the Hill call for underground parking beneath the west lawn of the west block. But such plans would be coupled with reconstruction of the Hill and laying down of pedestrian tunnels beneath the west and centre blocks.

Claims Public Money Wasted

OTTAWA (CP)—An Ontario Progressive Conservative Tuesday charged that public money was wasted on construction of the psychiatric wing of the Westminister Hospital, London, Ont.

Harry O. White, Middlesex East, said during Commons study of works department estimates that $37,438 in repairs had to be made to the hospital five years after its completion in 1949. The hospital, built at a cost of $1,625,700, is operated by the veterans affairs department.

Works Minister Winters said the building was turned over to the government by Sterling Construction Co. before the repairs became necessary. The contractor had fully discharged his obligation.

Mr. Winters told L. Elston Car diff (PC-Huron) his department is considering an addition to the post office at Exeter. He also said that no decision has been reached on a new public building for St. Thomas, but that the department favours an extension to the existing building on Main street.

Pelee Island Now Has Hydro

PELEE ISLAND (CP)—The Ontario hydro electric power commission officially opens its Pelee island power line today.

The ceremony is an important event for islanders who now enjoy almost every modern convenience, including good air transportation and radio-telephone service.

Many of the power consumers have enjoyed Hydro's benefits for several weeks since the laying of the nine-mile underwater cable—longest in Hydro's system—was completed. Prior to that time islanders relied on small gasoline operated generators.

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States government must decide soon whether it will join in seeking renewal of the international wheat agreement set up in 1949 to help stabilize world markets.

The agreement is due to expire when the present wheat marketing year ends next summer.

If a renewal is to be negotiated by the U.S., work must start before the end of the year so that the matter may be submitted to the Senate for ratification at the 1956 session.

At a recent meeting of the council which administers the agreement, Washington did not indicate what its stand will be toward renewal. Plans were made, however, for a committee of participating countries to review the matter at a meeting to be held in October, probably in London.

At present, 44 wheat importing and four exporting countries are parties to the agreement. It seeks to stabilize prices and supplies by use of export and import quotas and of maximum and minimum prices in world markets.

Besides the U.S., the exporting countries in the agreement are Canada, Australia and France.

There has been American criticism of the agreement because of the cost. The U.S. has offered its wheat to importing countries at considerably less than domestic prices, which are supported at prices above world levels.

The cost has averaged more than $125,000,000 a year in subsidies. Great Britain, the world's biggest importer, withdrew from the agreement two years ago because it felt it could do better outside such an arrangement. Other importing countries may take the same position and reduce the field of possible participants to a point where the U.S. might decide it would not be worth while to extend the program.

Rescuer Killed by Helicopter, Three Fliers Die, Four Safe In RCAF Crash at Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of the rescuers was added to the death toll Tuesday after an RCAF amphibian Canoe piled up on a sandbar seconds after taking off, killing the pilot and co-pilot.

An airman visiting the Sea Island air base here to pick up supplies was assisting medical officers when he walked into the whirling rear rotor of a helicopter being used in the rescue operation. He died an hour later in hospital.

Four crew members survived the crash. They were conscious and screaming when crash crews arrived. One officer said it was a miracle the plane did not catch fire and exploded after dropping 500 feet to the Fraser river sandbar.

The twin-engined Canoe veered off and fell as soon as it became airborne and stuck fast in the reed-tangled water covering the bar. Engine failure was the reported cause of the crash.

BRANTFORD MAN VICTIM
Killed were Flt. Lt. Donald R. Dewar, 31, the pilot, FO Donald C. Onysko, 23, the co-pilot, both of Vancouver, and LAC Ronald Wiley Kitchen, 24, of Brantford.

Flt. Lt. Dewar piloted one of the three Canoes used last summer to carry the Duke of Edinburgh and his party to Arctic points during the duke's three-week Canadian visit.

LAC Kitchen was on temporary duty at the RCAF summer camp at Abbotsford, B.C. He had stopped at Sea Island to pick up supplies for Abbotsford and joined rescuers when the plane crashed.

Most seriously injured of the survivors was FO Douglas O'Connor of Vancouver, the navigator. He was in fair condition in hospital.

FO George Waugh of Vancouver and Nanaimo, B.C., was in good condition with lacerations, and shock. LAC Ronald Lenson of Amherstburg, and Cpl. William Tombs of Vancouver suffered only minor scrapes and a shaking up.

NON-PAYING FARE
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A taxi cab flung a pedestrian onto its top Monday night and carried him 50 feet with his head hanging down over the windshield. Louis Herndon, 48, was walking against a stop light when he was spreadeagled on the cab. Knocked unconscious, he was taken to hospital with head injuries.

Airwoman Jean G. M. Bowley, 21, was returned to St. Hubert air force base by RCAF helicopter, which sped to the scene of the accident. She had minor leg injuries.

Reserve Pilot, Airwoman, Hurt In Harvard Crash

MONTREAL (CP)—A reserve RCAF pilot and his airwoman passenger, both with Ontario-based squadrons now on summer training at nearby St. Hubert, were injured Tuesday when their Harvard training plane crashed in a field near Ste. Helene de Bagot, 60 miles east of here.

The pilot, FO G. M. Georgas, 22, was brought to Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital in Montreal by ambulance for treatment for head and facial cuts. A member of No. 400 City of Toronto Auxiliary Squadron, his father is Michael Georgas of Lindsay.

Airwoman Jean G. M. Bowley, 21, was returned to St. Hubert air force base by RCAF helicopter, which sped to the scene of the accident. She had minor leg injuries.

The big corporations are stepping out into so many fields these days that it's getting to be a rare one whose principal product can be identified by the corporate name.

A subsidiary of General Tire and Rubber Co. is buying RKO radio Pictures Corp. from Howard Hughes. It was already interested in the television business, was a major producer of plastic sheeting and film, and a maker of rocket motors.

Its rivals in the tire industry are deep in diversification themselves. They make shower curtains and footwear, airplanes and chemicals, run cotton plantations and citrus groves.

Diversification as a corporate practice has flourished in the post-war world.

Sometimes it has grown out of the firm's original business. For example, a chemical company develops a new test tube mixture and finds itself in the textile business.

Sometimes diversification is deliberate—an effort to find more than one basket for the profit eggs. For example, a maker of cold remedies takes on a cosmetics company as a hedge for the day when someone will find a cure for the common cold and make medical treatments obsolete.

Sometimes the diversification is some through mergers and acquisitions. It comes about through seeking common outlets for its primary production function. A leading steel company is deep into the kitchen cabinet field. And another has long been in the shipbuilding business.

Ancient Ritual Marks Masonic Installation

TORONTO (CP)—With ancient pomp and ritual Ontario's Masons Tuesday ended their three-day ceremonial communication by installing the newly-elected officers of the grand lodge.

Sworn in for a two-year term as grand master of the Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of Canada in the province of Ontario was The Most Rev. W. L. Wright, Anglican archbishop of Algoma.

Archbishop Wright, who lives at Sault Ste. Marie, succeeds Joseph Horn of Toronto. Another Toronto man, H. L. Martyn, was elected to fill Archbishop Wright's former post as deputy grand master.

More than 35,000 persons Sunday attended a thanksgiving service conducted by Archbishop Wright. A choir of 150 persons under the direction of Toronto organist Charles Peaker provided the music.

A grand master's banquet was held Monday evening, attended by 3,000 Masons from Canada, the United States, the British Isles and Australia.

ANCIENT ORDER

Monday and Tuesday delegates and visitors participated in closed sessions of the annual Ontario communication. Elections were held Monday night and the officers were installed early Tuesday.

Masons trace the roots of their organization back to ancient Greek and Near-Eastern mystery cults. Its formal history begins in the early 18th century, an era of religious persecution in France and England. Although semi-religious in nature, the order emphasizes an ethical rather than a religious approach to life.

Nevada Convicts, Hot and Hungry, End Their Strike

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Tired, hot and hungry, Nevada state prison convicts who Monday afternoon started a bloodless rebellion against the prison routine, gave up Tuesday night without gaining a single point.

More than 200 of the rebels lined up and started filing back into their cell block a few minutes after they had been warned by warden Art Bernard that the time had come for a showdown.

The rebellion started during the Monday afternoon recreation period. When time came to line up for the dining hall, the convicts refused to budge, declaring they would sit until they had an audience with state Governor Charles Russell, whom they never did see.

Throughout the chilly night the prisoners sat in the floodlighted yard while heavily armed guards patrolled the walls around them. Tuesday they still sat in broiling heat up to 95 degrees.

Besides demanding the interview with the governor, the prisoners demanded a list of changes in the prison when they started their strike. They wanted better food, a chance of the captain of the guards and of the prison doctor, better opportunities for parole—and more work.

Far from the forgotten man in the atom age, the bayonet-wielding infantry soldier has the final job to do after the tanks, planes and artillery have finished. Safe in a trench during the simulated A-bomb test, the infantryman then advances under the protection of big guns as they did in World War II.

FEW BODYGUARDS FOR REDS AT GENEVA

Russia's Premier Bulganin, left, is greeted by Swiss President Max Petitpierre, centre, in Geneva as the "Summit" talks began. Husband Slays Pregnant Wife

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—A 35-year-old woman, eight months pregnant with her seventh child, was beaten to death Tuesday night. Police said her husband admitted killing her while their six children watched television in a nearby room.

Arthur LaSalle, 34, was held without charge in connection with the death of his wife, Florence, 35. Police said LaSalle gave no reasonable motive for the act.

Police said LaSalle apparently believed he was to be committed to a mental institution. However, no such plans were in motion.

$1,500 Diamonds Sold to 'Nick' For 75 Cents

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A six-year-old girl admitted Tuesday that she stole three diamond rings valued at $1,500 and sold them for a quarter each, police said.

But the child didn't know who she sold them to, except that his name was Nick.

The rings belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Stockton Perkins, who are visiting the child's parents.

"No—we are your friends! We are Americans!" One of the student leaders who understood English formed a cordon in front of Mrs. Mesta's apartment and kept back the mob, who laid waste to the five-storey, government-owned building.

TRAPPED IN SUITE With Mrs. Mesta at the time were her two American secretaries, an unidentified American woman visitor and the latter's baby.

They were trapped in the suite for an hour and a half, while the student cordon outside beat back several groups trying to break into the room. Finally Frank Malloy, first secretary of the U.S. embassy, and an embassy marine guard rescued them unhurt.

Taking as many of Mrs. Mesta's 17 pieces of luggage as they could carry, the group picked their way down the hotel's litter-crowded stairs to the street, where thousands of demonstrators were shouting and hurling stones.

As Mrs. Mesta stepped into an embassy sedan police fired shots into the air and exploded tear gas bombs.

"To the floor! To the floor," the chauffeur shouted.

Mrs. Mesta and her party flattened as the car sped through the crowd and down Saigon's main street to the embassy. From there Mrs. Mesta was driven to the Saigon airport, continuing her world tour during which she had stopped here for two days.

SOME REPORTED HURT Police said no one was killed in the riot, which also erupted at the Hotel Gallieni, a mile away.

First reports indicated seven Vietnamese received minor wounds at the Majestic and a French girl and a French soldier were hit by stones. Several Frenchmen were reported hurt slightly at the Gallieni, where the first floor was wrecked.

By noon most of the area, in the heart of the French business section, had been cleared of the rioters, but excited crowds gathered several blocks away.

The rioting followed what had been scheduled as a peaceful demonstration by 30,000 students, refugees and government workers in front of the city hall to denounce the armistice commission, the Geneva armistice and communism.

Supporters of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem in recent weeks have been accusing the commission's Indian and Polish members of favoring the Communist government of North Viet Nam.

CPR Commissioner Is Dead in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Geoffrey G. Ommanney, development commissioner of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company until his retirement in 1944, died Tuesday at his home.

A native of England, he joined the CPR's engineering department in 1907 and shortly after took charge of construction of the company's eastern Great Lakes terminal at Port McNicoll.

Mr. Ommanney later was engaged in harbor and railway surveys in northern Vancouver island and was appointed special engineer to the president of the CPR in 1914.

Marilyn Resumes Training Grind

FOLKESTONE, Eng. (CP)—Marilyn Bell slipped back into the water today to resume training for her assault on the English channel.

The 17-year-old Toronto swimmer, who last year stroked across Lake Ontario, was forced to break off her daily practice swims nine days ago when she contracted a minor throat infection. Since then she has rested in a hotel room, awaiting doctors' approval to hit the water again. The illness prevented Miss Bell from being presented to the Queen at Buckingham Palace with some 45 Canadian debutantes last Thursday.

The Channel attempt is considered likely to take place around July 27-28 or Aug. 10-16 when tides will be most suitable.

Ike Lunches With Zhukov

GENEVA (AP)—President Eisenhower arranged to lunch today with Marshal Georgi Zhukov, to whom the American leader appeared personally Tuesday for help in unifying Germany.

Officials said two interpreters—one Russian, one American—were the only others invited to the formal lunch, giving the president and the Soviet defence minister their first chance for an extended private talk since the opening of the Big Four conference.

The president and the marshal were occupation commanders together in Germany after the war and Eisenhower visited Zhukov in Moscow then.

New York Shoemaker Wins $8,000 in Quiz

NEW YORK (AP)—A New York shoemaker won $8,000 Tuesday night by answering questions about opera on the CBS television show, "The $64,000 Question."

The winner, Gino Prato, 53, can keep the $8,000 or return next week and try for $16,000. If he should miss the $16,000 question he would receive an automobile as a consolation prize.

The quizzing goes step by step to a final $64,000 question. No one has gone that far yet.

Have $1,600,000 To Divide Among Unknown Heirs

TORONTO (CP)—With a $1,600,000 estate to divide among persons able to prove a claim, Toronto executors holding the kitty have said they intend broadcasting an appeal for applicants.

Likeliest names will be Cox and Bogart which has alternative spellings of Bogert, Bogart, Bogard and Bogarde, able to trace family ties to Peterborough, Ont., or Penn Yan, Yates county, N.Y.

Executors and solicitors for the estates of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Coplin Cox already have advertised their problem in Toronto, Peterborough and New York state newspapers.

W. G. Thom of National Trust Co. Ltd., executors, said Monday a circular goes out today from lawyer Frank McCarthy's office here to radio stations in eastern Canada and the United States, asking for co-operation in the search.

Mr. McCarthy is solicitor for the estate.

BORN IN PETERBOROUGH
Mr. Cox, born in Peterborough to Senator and Mrs. George A. Cox in 1873, was president of the Canada Life Assurance Company from 1914 until 1928, remaining thereafter as chairman of the board. He died in 1947.

Mrs. Cox, the former Louise Bogart, was born in Penn Yan around 1874, moved to Toronto with her parents while an infant and remained in Canada the rest of her life. She died in 1948.

They had no children or other immediate family.
The quest is on because both their wills were declared invalid. That cut off 30,000 Canada Life employees and dependents whom Mr. and Mrs. Cox sought to make their beneficiaries.

TO BLOOD RELATIONS
Litigation reached the judicial committee of the Privy Council, which ruled last May, in effect, the money had to be distributed among their "blood relations."

Soviet Experts See Iowa Farm
SLATER, Iowa (AP)—A group of Soviet farm experts visiting the United States Monday inspected their first American farm.

The 12-man delegation, led by V. V. Matskevich, toured the 160-acre farm of Richard and Verda Allemen. The party walked through the corn and oat fields and examined the chicken coops.

Afterwards, the Russians entered the house and asked the Allemens detailed questions about the operation of the farm, with particular reference to financial matters, working schedule and recreation.

The Russians are to visit other farms in South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota and California before returning home.

Novel by Callaghan Will Become Musical

TORONTO (CP)—"The Loved and the Lost," by Toronto author Morley Callaghan, has been adapted for presentation as a Broadway musical, Mr. Callaghan said Monday night on his return from New York.

The book, which Mr. Callaghan says "is an expression of a man's faith and vision in a girl," has been adapted by a young New York advertising agent, Thomas Chastain.

Albert Moritz has written the music and lyrics.

Storm Blows Small Boat Through Window

ASHHEIST, N.S. (CP)—Mrs. D. U. Smith of Tidnish, N.S., about 30 miles from here, is wondering how one gets an anchor out of a living-room wall.

In fact, she considers that problem more serious than the few cuts she received when a small rowboat with oars and anchor attached hurtled through a picture window and into her living room Monday night.

The boat was picked up by freak windstorm that whirled through Northumberland Strait and damaged summer cottages.

Sick Thousands Seek Blessing

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuters)—A stream of buses, taxis and private cars carried thousands of sick people to receive a special blessing here Tuesday during ceremonies marking the 36th International Eucharistic Congress of the Roman Catholic Church in Brazil.

Some pilgrims were accompanied by nurses and doctors from local hospitals where they are being treated. Others were brought on stretchers and one lame man 75 hobbled from a nearby trolley stop to kneel in the huge congress arena on the shores of Rio de Janeiro bay.

About 4,000 sick people attended at the arena, and another 10,000 worshippers joined the ceremony. While the sick were being blessed, prisoners were receiving Holy Communion in jails throughout Brazil.

3 Forest Fires In Tweed Region Held In Check

Three forest fires, one near Bancroft and two in the Denbigh area Tuesday were being fought to a standstill by firefighters.

Monday, two other fires in the Denbigh district were put out by Lands and Forests firefighters. All the fires are under control, some 60 fighters having been called in to confine them since they first started a few days ago.

Most of the blazes have been in second-growth timber, although little damage is reported. Fast action on the part of the department, using fire-pumps and a bulldozer, confined all the blazes before they could grow out of hand.

The finger still points to careless campers and smokers who thumb their noses at safety precautions in the open spaces, for causing most of the forest fires in this district.

On Tuesday, Department of Lands and Forests officials at Tweed reported 59 forest fires since the beginning of the year in the Tweed district.
And 32 of these were sparked by careless campers and smokers. The balance were caused by lightning, locomotives and prospectors.

Coldwell Says Thatcher Lost Trust of All

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—CFP leader M. J. Coldwell says Ross Thatcher lost the trust of all parties when he split with the CCF to sit in the House of Commons as an independent member.

"The general feeling in the House was that he behaved very, very badly," Mr. Coldwell told a CCF federal constituency convention Monday night.

The meeting saw about 60 registered delegates officially turn their backs on Mr. Thatcher, elected in Moose Jaw-Lake Centre under the CCF banner. Delegates ended plans to reorganize the constituency in preparation for a nominating convention later this year.

Mr. Coldwell said the member's "failure to honor verbal commitments made at a party convention in 1953 to support party principles had made him untrustworthy in the eyes of all parties."

When a resolution was introduced asking Mr. Thatcher to resign his seat, Mr. Coldwell declared "it's no good to ask Thatcher to resign from the House because he isn't going to." The resolution was dropped.

Says Standards Not Endangered

TORONTO (CP)—An Ontario education department official said Monday night persons taking an accelerated summer course for secondary school teaching "are well qualified and will not lower educational standards."

Dr. L. S. Beattie, director of secondary education, commented on a claim earlier Monday by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation that the course might lower standards.

Dr. Beattie said the course attracted "an excellent selection" of teacher candidates.

"If any of them shows incapability during the year, he or she will not be allowed to return next summer to finish the course. This gives us a net to catch the poor ones."

Atomic-Driven Merchant Ship Is Authorized

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives voted Monday to build an atomic-driven merchant ship—but not the demonstration type requested by President Eisenhower.

The House passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate a measure authorizing the maritime administration to construct an experimental, commercial type ship that could come day complete for the world's shipping business.

The bill left it up to the atomic experts just what type of vessel to build. The construction job could take five to 10 years.

Archbishop Heads Ontario Masons

TORONTO (CP)—Most Rev. W. L. Wright, Anglican archbishop of Algoma, was installed Tuesday as grand master of the Grand Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Canada in the province of Ontario.

His installation climaxed Freemasonry's three-day celebration of the 100th anniversary of its establishment in Canada.

Leading Masons into their second century of activity in Canada, the Sault Ste. Marie clergyman is the first "man of the cloth" to hold the position.

Archbishop Wright was elected bishop of Algoma in 1944. This year he was elevated to archbishop on election as Metropolitan of Ontario. He will be grand master two years.

Succeeding him as deputy grand master is H. L. Martyn of Toronto. Results of the elections, held Monday night, were announced today.

THIEF FINED

ST CATHARINES (CP)—A youth from Cornwall who police said robbed a woman of her wallet after being given a lift by her while hitch-hiking was ordered Monday to pay a $50 fine or spend 10 days in jail. Evidence was that Frank Radcliffe, 18, got only 20 cents from the wallet.

Radcliffe said that another Cornwall youth accompanying him, Jack Payette, 16, knew nothing of the theft. Payette was freed.

U.S. Plane With Water Tank Helps Ont. Fight Forest Fires

TORONTO (CP)—A United States airplane with new equipment aboard Tuesday started fire-fighting operations at a 55,000-acre blaze northeast of Sault Ste. Marie.

The aid was welcomed by fire-fighting officials here, as upwards of 100 fires currently threaten Ontario timberlands.

J. C. Dillon, Ontario supervisor of forest fire control, said the help was a result of a recent meeting of Canadian and U.S. firefighters at Kenora.

He said the device being tested at the Blind River is a "water tank," thought to be an improvement.

He said the tank "looks good so far."

The tank holds 240 gallons and is tipped three or more times to dump the load on the most dangerous places. The water reaches the ground as a fine rain. Refills are supplied by means of a small pump from nearby lakes.

John Wernham, chief of the Minnesota fire service, sent the Norseman plane up from Ely, Minn., Monday and it was at work at 5 a.m. today.

Mr. Dillon said the move was just one example of the goodwill between Canadian and U.S. firefighters along the international border. Each year a meeting is held to exchange ideas and make plans for co-operative ventures.

The system presently used in Ontario is to drop strings of eight three-gallon bags, which burst when they hit a tree or the ground. Planes usually carry 24 of the water-proof bags, so total capacity is only 72 gallons.

Container is not lost, while the fire bags can be used just once, Mr. Dillon added.

Reeling Yankees Rally To Whip White Sox, As Indians Bow To Senators

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

READY TO GO!

Husky Tommy Pedder oozed confidence this morning. The stocky 40-year-old distance swimmer fresh from an eight-mile practice grind in the CNE waterfront course in Toronto says he never felt better nor in better shape for the long 26-mile Atlantic City marathon swim on August 1.

Tommy with trainer Eddie Roach in tow negotiated the Toronto eight miles in four hours and never "turned a hair".

He has been invited to participate in the cross-the-lake swim, a feature of the Canadian National Exhibition's sports program. Says he is seriously considering the invitation, but at the moment has more important business to attend to.

Tommy leaves with Bill McMurtre for Atlantic City on Tuesday, July 26. Eddie Roach of Toronto will meet them in the American city. The party will stay at the Brigham Hotel. Tommy expects to plunge into the Atlantic on a few practice swims before the day of the big race. He says he does not know the time of the kick-off, all depending on wind, water, tide and weather. If the race is postponed from August 1, it will be held the next day.

It is expected that several Canadian swimmers will take part in the marathon. Among them are Cliff Lumsden, well-known Toronto swimmer and swimming coach who won the CNE event last year, and Jack Jeremy, another Queen City native.

Tommy expressed his sincere appreciation of the assistance he has received both from the city council and private individuals. "Tell them I am truly appreciative and thank them from the bottom of my heart for all they have done for me, financially and otherwise."

Incidentally those who care to contribute to the Pedder fund should do so by the end of the week. Tommy is leaving on Tuesday as was said before and would like to have any funds in his hands before or by Sunday. You can send them to this department, Jack Devine at CJBQ or to Jerry O'Connor, Front Street Jeweller.

CHANGE IN PLANS

Seems there was a slight error in yesterday's "rattle" announcement. Comes from looking at too many Sherlock Holmes videos. We had "Watson" on the brain and used the Whip's name instead of that of buddy Pat Flanagan.

The nimble-footed Irisher will team up with Lord Athol Layton instead of the East York rattleboy. However, we're still puzzled over this Heine opposition, reported to be two big bad boys from Stuttgart, Frankfurt, Cologne, Bremerhaven or wherever they hang their steins. Rumor has it they're ruff, tuff and inclined to be quite "nasty" between Schupers.

We haven't had any sauerkraut enthusiasts down this way, since the wicked Hans Schmidt nearly wrecked the joint with his mayhem tactics. And there is no reason to believe Fritz Von Schuper and Karl Von Eric are any different.

However (will be more than passing interesting to see what this latest addition to the Tooney-Loney Hate Parade looks like. They won't be any sedate meerschaum-smoking kraut-guzzling old Herrs, you can bet your liverwurst on that. And they'll have some pretty speedy opposition in the lithe Layton and flashy Flanagan.

COULD BE!

Golfing enthusiasts who like the short end of 18-1 odds are saying a Canadian can do it again this year to keep the Seagram Gold Cup in Canada.

For 18 straight summers, Canadian golfers failed to retain the symbol of Canadian golfing supremacy. The Canadian Open had long been regarded as the country's top tournament for professionals and amateurs alike. Every spring, Canadian sports writers took the patriotic line that it was just possible that a Canadian would walk off with the honors.

Few of the sports writers or their loyal readers really believed this until last year when a Canadian, Pat Fletcher, as Saskatoon, drove, chipped and stroked his way through a four-round, 72-hole competition and came up with the winning score—280 strokes. Even then, there were critics who pointed out this was six or seven above other winning scores in previous years.

But Saskatoon's Pat Fletcher was there with the performance when it counted, and he has announced he will be out again come August to defend his championship at the 1955 Canadian Open at the Weston (Toronto) Golf and Country Club.

The Open this year will attract the top golfers of the continent. Early entries indicate the field will comprise at least 160 of the best amateurs and professionals in Canada and the United States. The entry will be loaded with Americans who enjoy the advantage of sharpening winter competition. The odds are about right at 18-1 that Pat Fletcher (or any Canadian) will have to hustle to take first money. But the prize money of $15,000 is attracting promising Canadian golfers who believe it can be done a second time. After all, it is the Canadian Open Championship and the title really should stay in Canada.

Minor Softball

In a wide open Pee Wee softball game played at Firemen's Park on Monday evening, Lee Grills outscored Mott's Lumber 23-14.

Burns and Sager hurled for the winners, Sager gaining the win while pitching the last five innings. They surrendered 13 hits between them and walked 10. Vance started and took the loss for Mott's in two innings. Line relieved him in the third as they allowed 11 hits and issued eight bases-on-balls.

Ross and Sager spearheaded the victors' attack with a double and three singles each, while Clapp added a two-bagger and two singles. Williams was best for Mott's with a brace of doubles and a single as Kiser connected for a double and two singles.

The receivers were Boyle for the winners and Kiser for Mott's.

Howard's Homer Clinches Win Nats Club Four Tribe Hurlers; Bucs Edge Braves in 19 Sets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hate 'em or love 'em, but you've got to give New York Yankees their due. When the chips are down, Yankees are up.

They had their lumps, losing nine of their last 13, as they wobbled into Comiskey Park Thursday night for a showdown with the runner-up Chicago White Sox, fresh from winning eight of their last nine games.

Yankees needed at least one victory in the three-game set to retain their American League lead, down to two games.

They got it. Elston Howard's two-run homer in the eighth inning carried New York through to a 4-3 win, making up for two Yankee errors that had handed Sox a 3-2 lead in the seventh.

It was one of those "big" games Yankees usually win. With the victory they moved three games ahead of Sox and four games up on third-place Cleveland, whacked 8-1 by Washington.

ERRORS HELPED

It was in the seventh that errors by Yogi Berra and Joe Collins and a single by George Kell gave Sox the lead. Walt Dropo had tied it at 2-2 in the sixth with his two-run homer. Then it remained for rookie Howard to belt the homer off Byrd, working in relief of Connie Johnson.

Tommy Byrne was the winner, with relief by Jim Konstanty. In the other American League games, Boston defeated Kansas City 6-3 and Detroit laid the wood to Baltimore, 12-4.

In the National, Pittsburgh edged Milwaukee 4-3 in a 19-inning game that tied the major league longest night-game record; New York lost 3-1 to St. Louis, then beat Cards 4-2 in a two-night twinnish and Philadelphia took a two-night pair from Cincinnati, 7-3 and 6-2. First-place Brooklyn and Chicago were idle.

Vern Law went 18 innings for Pirates, who worked the 19th and allowed Milwaukee a 3-2 lead since the game's first run since the fourth. A double by Dale Long tied it again in the bottom half, and he scored the clincher after Frank Thomas had singled as Del Crandall dropped Billy Bruton's throw at the plate. Gene Conley, sixth as Milwaukee fell 13 games behind the Brooks.

Washington clubbed Bob Lemon, now 12-7, and three Tribe relievers for 12 hits. The Nats scored five unearned runs in the fourth after Ralph Kiner's error. Dean Stone scattered six Cleveland hits for the victory.

ONE BELOW RECORD

A solo homer by Jackie Jensen broke a 2-2 tie for Boston in the fifth and a two-run shot by Norb Zauchin packed it away in the sixth. Elmer Kiser saved Willard Nixon's eighth victory as Sox lost their eighth straight.

Rookie Babe Birrer, coming on in relief to protect Frank Lary's ninth success for Detroit, swatted a pair of three-run homers against Orioles. That gave him one RBI less than old Yankee Vic Raschi's major league one-game record for a pitcher.

Robin Roberts drove in three runs while claiming his 15th victory of the season as Phils made it seven straight in the nightcap. Robin's two-run double powered a three-run eighth inning. In the opener, Del Ennis drove in four runs with two hits, one a homer, in support of Murry Dickson's seven-hitter against Redlegs, who have lost five of six.

St. Louis slipped a percentage point behind the Phils, who moved into fifth place. Windy McCall four-hit the Cards after Willard Schmidt had checked the Giants on four safeties in the opener. St. Louis rookies Bill Virdon and Ken Boyer homered in the first game. The Giants won theirs on two runs in the third, one unearned, and Willie Mays' 28th homer—his first since July 7.

Howard Wins Over Marcune

HALIFAX (CP)—Richard (Kid) Howard of Halifax, Canadian lightweight champion, scored a unanimous 10-round decision Tuesday night over Pat Marcune of New York. Howard weighed 138, Marcune 134.

The officials had Howard far ahead. All three judges scored him only one round, which was awarded him by the referee when Howard landed two low punches.

Yanks Option Pitcher To Maple Leafs

TOLENTO (CP)—New York Yankees of the American League Tuesday optioned right-handed pitcher Ed Cereghino to Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League.

The 22-year-old bonus player has been with Sacramento Solons of the Pacific Coast League this season where he has been used sparingly. He is expected here Thursday.

A native of San Francisco, where he was signed from semi-pro ranks Cereghino won 11 and lost 14 with the seventh-place Kansas City Blues last season when Blues were in the triple A American Association as a Yankee farm team.

Cereghino won two games and lost five with the last-place Solons this season.

Lions Obtain Steeler Guard

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Lions of the National Football League said Tuesday they have obtained Pete Ladygo, an offensive guard, from Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Lions said they gave up a future draft choice to obtain Ladygo, a 220-pounder who played with the University of Maryland before joining pro ranks three years ago. The draft choice number was not disclosed.

In Ottawa, Ladygo said his intention to play for Ottawa Rough Riders won't be changed.

Ladygo, who has signed a contract with Ottawa's Big Four football club, said:

"I have not signed any contract with Pittsburgh and certainly not with Detroit."

"The Steelers exercised their option on me last May, but I don't think that entitles the club to my services. I want to play with Ottawa and intend to do so."

Detroit Sloop Race Winner

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP)

Revelry, a class B sloop out of Detroit, appeared the likely winner today in the slowest Chicago-to-Mackinac race of its 45-year history.

The Norman Sarns entry, passing its bigger class A competition, crept over the finish line of the 333-mile course Tuesday night with an elapsed time of 77 hours, 52 minutes and 15 seconds. Its corrected time was 70 hours, 59 minutes and 3 seconds.

Three other boats, making small progress in a calm, edged over the finish line before midnight and two others were almost within hailing distance.

More than half of the 60-vessel fleet, frustrated by calms and heavy fog ever since the race began Saturday, had yet to clear Gray's reef, 22 miles from the finish. Several entries dropped out tonight — Minor — Pee Wee — of the race and came to port under power.

Finishing second behind Revelry was the Revenge, the class A cutter of Charles Bissell and H. W. Sears Jr., which had an elapsed time of 80 hours, 25 minutes and 45 seconds and a corrected time of 73:25:42.

Late-Inning Triple Gives Juniors 7-5 Victory Over Wellington Club

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Ted Batchelor's two-run triple in the bottom of the eighth with two down and darkness approaching gave Al Kelleher's Belleville Juniors a 7-5 victory over Wellington in the final scheduled B. and D. baseball game here last night.

The Juniors went in front 3-0 in the second frame but errors paved the way to one Wellington tally in the fifth, helped tie the game at 4-4 in the seventh and sent the visitors ahead 5-4 in the top of the eighth, setting the stage for the Hoggis rally.

Bobby Hull's infield single started the homesters away in the last of the eighth and after Harvey Stolkier sacrificed him to second, Hull rode home on Cam Buskard's single to left. Buskard stole second and Gerry Goyer dropped a single to short left before Kingston grounded to second for the second out. Batchelor scouted with a high blast to deep left field to plate the winning markers.

Leo "Wiener" St. Denis picked up the victory in a one-inning relief stint, hurrying the final frame by giving up one unearned run without allowing a hit while whiffing one and walking two. Stan Reid worked the first seven innings and would have easily coasted to the victory, minus the team's five errors. He gave up eight hits, only two in the first four frames, while fanning seven and passing none.

Larry Abbott worked the route for Mowatt's nine, giving up 10 hits, five in the second inning and four in the last. He threw three strikes by four and was worked for five free passes while employing an assortment of slow breaking stuff.

Belleville got to Abbott for their three in the second when Kingston lined a single to right and Batchelor lifted a double to right. The lead runner went home on a balk while Batchelor took third. Gord St. Louis drove him home with a mighty triple while McKay's sacrifice fly plated the third run. Hull walked and singles by Reid and Buskard loaded the sacks before the third out.

A pair of errors by St. Louis, Mowatt's infield single and Johnston's base hit counted one for Wellington in the fifth while Kingston's triple and a passed ball got it back in the winners' half.

A single to the mound by Abbott and a double off Johnson's bat sent the visitors' first run across in the seventh and Doug Hull knotted the score when he tripled to deep right and came on home when Batchelor's attempted relay went wild. Kingston put them ahead for the only time when he walked and raced home from second on Buskard's dropped third strike that went back to the screen.

Ted Batchelor started with the hickory, slugging a triple and double while Charles Kingston pounded a triple and single and a brace of one-baggers went to Cameron Buskard. St. Louis tripled with singles for Hull, Goyer and Reid. Doug Hull hammered a pair of triples in a losing effort, Johnson claiming a double and single while Mowatt singled twice. Holding and Abbott also hit singles.

Leafs Clip Kings for Two; Royals Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If right-hander Dick Farrell continues to belt the ball as he did Tuesday night he may find himself holding him a regular berth for the Syracuse Chiefs of the International League.

The 21-year-old hurler racked up his eighth triumph against the same number of defeats, with an excellent pitching and hitting exhibition as the Chiefs coasted to a 12-2 victory over the Buffalo Bisons. Farrell contributed three hits including a three run home run, in the Buffalo 14-hit attack.

In other Tuesday games the Toronto Maple Leafs clipped the Havana Sugar Kings in both games of a doubleheader, 3-2 and 7-6, with the first game going 13 innings. Rocky Nelson's two home runs paced the Montreal Royals to a 7-6 victory over the Columbus Jets and the Rochester Red Wings downed Richmond Virginians 6-3.

Bob Miceliotti got the Chiefs off flying in the first inning with a three-run homer off Buffalo starter Jim Stump. Syracuse was leading 3-2 going into the sixth when they exploded for four runs. They routed Stump in the next frame with another four run rally. Farrell held the head scoreless after the fourth and allowed seven hits while fanning six.

BOTH WENT 13 INNINGS

Lou Morton's single drove in Toronto's winning run in the 13th inning of the scheduled seven inning opener. Both starting pitchers went the whole 13 innings. Jack Crimian posted his 11th victory in 15 decisions and Pat Scantlebury suffering the loss. Lou Limmer broke a 6-6 tie in the second game with a ninth inning single. The Cubs held a 6-4 lead going into the fourth when the Leafs tied the score. Limmer led the 10-hit Toronto attack with three singles and two runs batted in.

Nelson poked his 16th and 17th homers to lead the Montreal attack on two Columbus hurlers. The Royals took a 6-3 lead in the fifth but the Jets tied the score in the seventh on Russ Sullivan's three run home run.

The Royals won in the bottom of the ninth, when Charlie Neal's blooper dropped for a double to score relief hurler Pete Wojewy with the winning run.

Rookie catcher Bob Rand's 410-foot triple sparked a Red Wing four-run uprising in the seventh inning. Rochester smacked for Rich, mound hurlers for 13 hits as John Mackinson racked up his sixth victory against six defeats. Mackinson needed help from Gary Blaylock in the eighth. Rand sparked the Wing hitters with his triple and a pair of singles in four trips to the plate.

Butch Somerville led Stamford Kerrios to a 19-6 shellacking over St. Catharines Saints in a Niagara District Senior League game. Somerville pounded out two home runs, one a bases-loaded clutch. It was his second four-run homer in three games. He also got three singles in five trips to drive in eight runs.

CIESLA LED WAY
Chuck Desson had four hits in as many times at bat for the winners. Hank Ciesla, who recently signed a National Hockey League contract with Chicago Black Hawks paced the losers with four hits in five trips, including two doubles.

Second-place Coniston Red Sox moved closer to first place in the Senior Nickel Belt League by defeating Calumet—dwellling Garson Greyhounds 1-0. In another game Creighton Indians were shoved to a fourth place as Copper Cliff Redmen moved into third place with a 10-2 win over the Indians.

Canadian Football Roundup

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

British Columbia Lions were supposed to roar in '54. They won one game in 16.

Now, says coach Annis Stukus, things will be different. From the Lions' retreat in Kelowna, B.C., Stukus says the big Stukus is working on a new formation.

Details weren't disclosed but Stukus says he's chucking the single wing formation of last year for a slightly different version of the straight T. Stukus heralds the move as the major artillery of the Lions' attack this season in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Meanwhile, the other eight big-league Canadian football teams are working on their own strategy in training sessions.

Stukus also started to trim his list of 56 Canadians and imports Tuesday. He cut guard Chet Daniels, Pacific coast conference all-star with the University of Oregon in 1949. Daniels was overweight when he arrived at Kelowna and was making no headway getting back into shape.

There are 50 players still battling for positions with Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Sixteen of them are American imports.

In the east, Montreal Alouettes went through a light, two-hour workout Tuesday night. The players were split into squads to practice pass patterns.

A couple of Canadians have been impressing coach Chan Caldwell of Ottawa Rough Riders. They are Bobby Simpson and Bill Sowalski. Says Caldwell:

"Man, Simpson and Sowalski are grabbing those passes. That Simpson, of course, is a natural. He catches a pass as though it were the easiest thing in the world. Sowalski's a good boy, too. They'll be a real help to us."

At Toronto, Hubert Bobo, the great 210-pound fullback from Ohio State, has left—probably temporarily—the Argonaut camp.

Team manager Harry Sonshine gave Bobo time to go home to Chardon, Ohio, to discuss the Argo contract terms with his father. If everything is fine, Bobo, who led the Ohio State Buckeyes to a rose bowl victory over Southern California last New Year's Day, will be in Toronto Friday.

Argonauts cut three more players Tuesday night. Out is Jerry MacTaggart, with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the Ontario Rugby Football Union last year: George Ellis, a half with the ORFU Toronto Balmy Beach and Bob Smith, another halfback from Beaches.

'Crazy Legs' Swaps Footlights for Football With Argonauts

By RUSSELL ELMAN

Canadian Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK (CP)—If Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch comes out of retirement and signs with Toronto Argonauts it will be the first time a Hollywood movie star has taken time off to play Canadian football.

Hirsch, the great former all-American, hung up his uniform in the Los Angeles Rams' dressing room last winter to become an actor.

But football still remains Crazy Legs' first love. His wife has disclosed that Hirsch will go to Toronto next week to talk things over with Argos' officials. Hirsch himself doesn't want to go back to his old Los Angeles Rams.

As an actor, Crazy Legs has done well for himself. When the Warner Brothers prison drama "Unchained" made the rounds of the movie houses earlier this year, there was Hirsch, a throw criminal trying to sort himself out in a California model jail.

Only link to football—and a brief one at that—was a scene in which Hirsch, dressed in a football with his son on visitors' day.

The New York movie critics liked Hirsch's performance but to most persons, Hirsch is still remembered as the fast-running, weaving, belauding end who streaked 1,495 yards on passes in 1951 to crack the National Football League record set by Don Hutson of Green Bay Packers.

A 30-year-old native of Wausau, Wis., Hirsch probably hit the peak of his playing career in the 1951 season when the Rams won world professional championship from Cleveland 24-17 after being defeated in the finals the two previous seasons.

The ability to pull off the right play at the toughest moment has put Hirsch among football's all-time greats.

The only Michigan athlete to win varsity letters in four major sports—football, basketball, baseball and track—in one year, Hirsch was an all-American halfback.

He got his nickname in a game against Great Lakes in which he was the only player to be tackled by the opposition sprawling while making a touchdown run down the sidelines. Francis Powers, reporting football for the Chicago Daily News, tagged Hirsch "Crazy Legs."

A film of Hirsch's life made in 1953 was also titled "Crazy Legs." Hirsch has this to say about his running style:

"Ever see a woman run? The way she puts her toes in and throw the legs wide, that's the way I run in the open."

"I wobble. I picked it up as a kid. I love to run."

In the fall of 1954 it seemed his playing career was over for good when he was carried off the field with a bad skull fracture. The doctors said he would get well but could never play again.

But eventually he was back in shape and the Rams picked him up. Although he built his reputation as a halfback, he now changed to end and it was in this position in 1951 that he broke Hutton's yardage record, scored 102 points and held 17 touchdowns.

WANT FALL-OUT STUDY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Senate called Monday for a United Nations study of the effects of atomic fall-out on health and safety. It passed on a unanimous vote after a resolution urging ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. to work within the UN for establishment of procedures to collect such information.

CHICAGO (AP)—Jerry Coleman, New York Yankee second baseman, suffered a brain concussion and a possible skull fracture Tuesday night when struck by a pitched ball.

Coleman, just returned to the starting lineup from the disabled list, was struck in the seventh inning by a pitch thrown by Chicago White Sox pitcher Harry Byrd. The Yanks went on to beat the Sox 4-3.

Dr. John Claridge, White Sox physician, said x-rays of the veteran infielder showed a "very suspicious line of fracture" on the left frontal bone. Coleman was struck just above the left eye.

The veteran Yankee infielder was making his first appearance since April 27, when he suffered a multiple fracture of the left collarbone in a home plate spill.

Cary Middlecoff Favored For Pro Golf Title

DETROIT (AP)—A stop-and-go tournament program has paid off for Cary Middlecoff this season in two prestige-loaded golf titles, three other tournament victories, and $22,643.93 in cash. And it has made him favored to win another big one as the 37th Professional Golfers Assn. championship gets going today.

Fresh from winning the rich Milwaukee Open last week, the dentist from Memphis took a deep breath of Detroit's steamy hot atmosphere on his arrival at the Meadowbrook Country Club, PGA tournament site, and remarked:

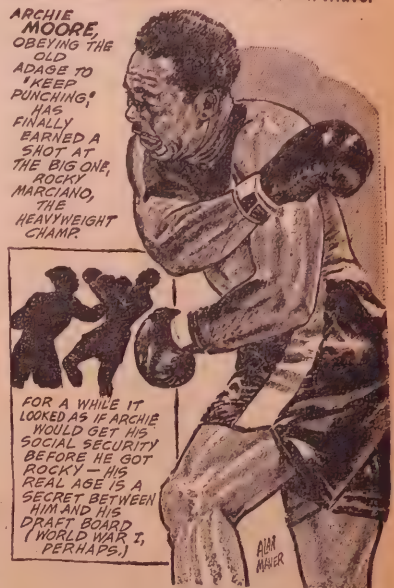

"If the weather stays like this I don't know that I'll make it."

Then he went on to explain his new program, which calls for frequent rest intervals during the hot summer months.

After eight years on the circuit, the tall Tennessee figure has finally learned to pace himself and he plans to use his energy trying to win the tournaments that count.

He has taken the Masters and the Western Open, both regarded as major events, and if he wins the PGA he'll join Sam Snead, now the only player who has won all three the same year. Snead, of course, figures to be one of his toughest rivals here.

Bobcats' Vic Allan Tosses No-Hitter But Loses 2-1 Verdict to Frankford

FRANKFORD—(Special)—Vic Allan, Belleville Bobcat pitcher for the Belleville Bobcats, fired a no-hitter against the Frankford Merchants here last night in his second start of the season but dropped the game 2-1.

Allan and Doug Radnor hooked up in the pitcher's duel as the Bobcats' hurler stopped the Merchants without a single safety. Both teams were held scoreless for the first three frames but the local broke the goose egg in the fourth when Mike Cosgrove drove a base-on-balls to lead off.

Duesbury then bobbled Dafe's grounder, Cosgrove taking second and going to third on a wild pitch and crossing the plate on another wild home. They played the deciding marker in the fifth, Allan hitting Appley with the runner advancing on Radnor's sacrifice, another error and coming home on a balk.

Belleville worked desperately to get Allan some runs and succeeded in finally plating one in the ninth. The little and too late Gord Donovan got a life with none down when Dafe dropped his fly to centre. Radnor wild pitched him to second and Allan singled the runner to third, the latter out trying for a double but Donovan scoring on a felder's choice. Radnor then fanned Woods and got Duesbury on a ground ball to end the game.

Radnor gained his sixth victory the same number his team has won, while giving up six hits. In only one frame did the Cats claim the hits, that in the sixth but Radnor pulled out of trouble after walking Bone to load the sacks. He whiffed six while walking 3. Allan fanned but two and issued

Argos, Ticans Swap Players

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union Tuesday traded Mervyn Collins, 225-pound guard, to Hamilton Tiger-Cats for Pete Woolley, an offensive guard and defensive end.

Collins was placed on waivers last week by Argos. Woolley suffered a knee injury last week at a Tiger-Cat practice.

With all clubs, and especially with irons, the left arm line must straighten as pictured here. Our player is swinging down toward the ball. His hands have reached the hip-high position where the uncocking of the wrists just begins to begin. If you start uncocking the wrists earlier in the downswing you spend the power of the wrists in empty air and for no good. Hold the uncocking of the wrists until the hands are hip high then you can start pouring them in. And this means that in the last third of the downswing the powerful action of the uncocking wrists will be added to the other force factors of pivot, arm swing, all of which will fuse into rhythmic power at impact. At impact the only place where power is any good. It must be rhythmic power so that the club-head will follow out along the direction line after the ball. Note your right side is rotating under.

Behind the no-hit hurling of Dale Archer, Deacon Quakers increased their lead in the Belleville Minor Baseball Pee Wee League on Monday night, downing the second place Parkdale club 13-1.

Archer was unbeat on the hill for the Quakers and had a shutout in the making until the last inning when Parkdale tallied their lone marker on errors. The Quakers had eight miscues while the winners batted seven times. Archer handed out three free passes as did Keeble who tolled for Parkdale. He gave up 24 hits.

Peter Weston had four hits for the victors including a double while Archer helped his own cause with two doubles and a single. Mavely pounded a trio of doubles with Pointer claiming one.

(This is a shortened version of my column of more than a decade ago, reprinted by request.)

Progressive contract is a craze of merit in a lot of ways. It also has its goofy side, which most of us would like to hide.

You get invited by a dame who likes your moustache or your name, but does not care a tinker's wit if you can play the game or not.

You're asked to bring a dizzy 12 who's not your wife or maybe is. Your hostess is a gushy mound who introduces you around to many whom you have not met whose names you promptly quite forget.

The place is crowded in a way with chairs and tables in array; and cluttered with a lot of junk that never should have left the trunk. The table that you're seated at is one of those, just bet your hat, which soon will fold up in your lap.

Whichever way the bidding goes, a self-appointed teacher shows. Whatever bid you make you're bound to get advice, profuse, profound, from someone who may know much less than Mrs.

Mooney's goal, I guess.

No sooner do you start to play than someone has to play to play. The operations that they had are soon compared, deciding which could boast the most or longest stitch.

Or else the men discuss the fights or what they win on Sunday nights. Or why their golf game went to pot. Or why the Cubs are not so hot.

I could go on and tell you more of how they fiddle with the score, and this or that. But what's the use? You've maybe gone through this abuse, in spite of which, admit with grace progressive contract has its place. It has advantages which we cannot ignore consistently.

A hostess has a chance to lose the Christmas presents she can't use; the ladies of the group you know can bare the backs they like to show; the married couples can give vent to sallies to their hearts' content; and call each other names which they at home would never dare to say.

Suppose you are dealer with this south hand:

SOUTH
A 5
K 8 5
A 9 6
A 6 3 2

Should you be sorry you have no opening bid? No. Be glad the opponents do not have 'your cards.

Bedard, Fontana Ready For Davis Cup Play

The pair—each 33 years old—has been playing on clay courts steadily since Canadian tennis championship play started at Quebec City at the beginning of July. They both have been playing in matches every day since Feb. 4, most of the time on clay or cement courts.

TV Crew Finds Dedication Of Disneyland Confusing

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — Anybody who's ever found himself involved in small-town pageants knows that the bigger the pageant the bigger the confusion. If the people at ABC-TV didn't realize that before, they knew it after covering the dedication of Disneyland at Anaheim, Calif., last Sunday.

Disneyland is a huge and fascinating place in time will be visited by millions of children and parents. Walt Disney is one of the authentic geniuses of the motion picture industry who provides consistently good television entertainment. Given those basic facts, it might seem mere carping to recount the problems ABC had with 29 TV cameras and 10,000 feet of coaxial cable in Disneyland.

To Art Linkletter, Robert Cummings and Ronald Reagan fell the unhappy task of running all over Disneyland, covering parades, people, ceremonies and places. It was too much, John Daly is the best man ABC has for this type of job, but it's doubtful if even Daly could have been ubiquitous in Disneyland.

Precious time also was wasted in plugs for various Hollywood personalities. The personality plug is rapidly becoming one of the most tedious things on television.

When roving cameras caught the eager, entranced faces of children, Disneyland is a place of wonder. Perhaps some day the cameras will go back there after all the "big names" have cleared out and catch the wonder on the faces of little children.

It's the fashion to be skeptical of Dunnington on his Saturday night show (NBC-TV). That's natural since a mind-reader can remain popular only as long as he proves the skeptics wrong. Last Saturday night Dunnington concentrated on the name of a president of the United States.

Staring at the close-up of his concentrating face on the screen, one viewer—for reasons inexplicable—got a name. Another viewer also got a name. Each wrote down the name and then showed down the other's slip of paper. On both slips were written "Martin van Buren." Strange? It will be even stranger if it turns out that was the name Dunnington was transmitting to the TV audience.

"It sure does make a difference" said lanky Fontana Tuesday night after he and Bedard copped the doubles title by defeating Montrealer Larry Barclay and Paul Willey, Vancouver, 6-4, 8-6, 6-4.

Bedard and Fontana have been getting in a little practice on the grass at the west-end Mount Royal Tennis Club in between matches and now have two full days before Cup play begins.

Two singles matches are scheduled for Friday, doubles match for Saturday and two more singles matches for Sunday. The team winning three of the five events will win the tie.

Lorne Main, Toronto, and Henri

Rochon, Montreal, comprise the balance of the four-man Canadian squad. Both are veterans of Davis Cup competition as is Bedard, from Sherbrooke, Que. Toronto's Fontana will be seeing Davis Cup action for his first time.

Jennifer Jones Is at Work, What's More She Is Talking

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jennifer Jones is back at work, and talking, which is news in itself.

The actress, who is one of the less approachable of film stars, was feeling pretty chipper on the opening day of "Good Morning, Miss Dove" and discoursed on love in films and sundry matters.

She was made up as a New England school teacher of 60 years or more, with severe hair-do and shapeless dress. Complimented on the makeup job, she replied, "flattery will get you nowhere."

She settled down in her dressing room, which was bedecked with flowers, as is the opening-day custom in films.

In "Good Morning, Miss Dove," she has no love interest whatsoever. That, she sighed, is symptomatic of most films today.

NO LOVE—BLAMES MEN

"They don't seem to make the love stories they used to," she commented. "Just when we start going back to love, someone comes along and makes a wonderful picture with only men in it. That sets the girls back again."

"I think we ought to get even and make a movie with no men. Did they ever make 'The Women' again?"

She was told MGM has plans to make it into a musical, possibly with Lana Turner, Grace Kelly, etc.

Miss Jones added she enjoyed doing romantic pictures like "Love Letters"—"that's what makes the world go round." She said her last picture at 20th-Fox, "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing" with William Holden, has a strong love theme in it.

THE ACADEMY AWARD winner has made amazingly few films since rising to fame with "Song of Bernadette" (1954). Not counting the Westerns she made at Republic as Phyllis Isley, her pictures have totalled only 14. But she hopes to speed up her pace.

She would like to return to the stage, despite the disaster of her last venture. In 1954, she took "Portrait of a Lady" to Broadway and it flopped.

"Everything was wrong with it, including me," she remarked. "It was a difficult experience. You can tell when something is bad, yet

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find that your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, July 21, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — The more quietly and calmly you plan and act today the greater will be the reward, benefits. Much to you and your clever management and common sense. Difficult tasks, familiar matters can succeed.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — You can be ingenious when ingenuity is needed. Don't worry if things do not come easily today; just think of the best course to pursue, then follow it without shyness. Have faith.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Coordinate your finest qualities — such as creativity, promptness of action and willingness to achieve — and you can have a productive, generous day. But, do not be reckless or slipshod.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Need advice of Taurus today. Good news now or soon. Do have faith and liking for your occupation. Things go much more smoothly when we enjoy what we do.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — You and Gemini have similar vibrations now, and you also have similar aptitudes — are quick, willing to work for goals, not easily discouraged. Do your best, insistently, and you will achieve.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Don't seek the unreasonable or engage in activities which may cause undue strain. Should accomplish most in line duties, but you can also dream through new ideas, methods, innovation. Don't be fussy.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Extra effort will be rewarded; familiar matters can proceed along with your sensible and efficient help. Friendly rays or mental alertness, artistic matters.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Some days unusual energy is required for success. On other occasions, calm, patient endeavor is more effective. The latter is today's best recipe. There's no need to rush but there is need for consistent effort.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Don't allow yourself to become involved in controversies. There may be some tricky situations now. The P. M. will be a good period for picking up loose ends, finishing incomplete tasks, personal affairs.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Most business, manufacturing and higher type professional undertakings freshly founded. Consider facts thoroughly, then proceed with firmness and faith toward desired goals.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — There may be some irritating situations but, rightly handled and well-understood, matters can forge ahead. We all need challenges at times; they awaken us, make us attack tasks with more vigor.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — You should be in a pleasant today. Steady, conscientious workers will move on to make better records regardless of what others do or say. Get started early.

You born today possess organizing ability, good business sense and a persuasive personality to help you to great heights in the vocation you choose. You have many fine talents, are a capable somebody if you develop your God-given talents. Self-control, a calm attitude and regular rest periods are needed to recapture the energy you burn up daily. Do not be too critical; be patient with details.

Birthdate of Saint Philip Neri, founder of the Oratorians.

Peron's School Is Bombed, His Position Is Precarious

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A bomb exploded early today in front of a Peronista political school in downtown Buenos Aires, shattering windows in the vicinity and damaging a nearby automobile slightly.

There was no immediate report of any persons injured.

Police put a cordon around the area of the school, which gives courses in the principles and political practices of President Juan Peron's dominant Peronista party.

The post-midnight blast caused widespread alarm. It came after a day and night of all sorts of rumors, some of which were spread by the announcement Wednesday that the Argentine fleet had sailed on its first maneuvers since the June 16 revolt by navy and marine forces.

PERON DEPOSED?

Rumors news agency reported today from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, that reports leaking out of Argentina indicated that Peron's position was "extremely precarious," and "it was generally believed he had been deposed."

The Reuters report said the army, Peron's main backer among the Argentine armed forces, was "said to be making strenuous efforts to keep him in office."

A report from Montevideo, Uruguay, said Pan American and KLM Airlines had cancelled flights from there to Buenos Aires Wednesday, giving as the reason that the war over Argentina was bad. However, reports from the Argentine capital said good weather prevailed there.

Two government communiques broadcast Wednesday night by the Argentine government radio network denounced rumor-mongers and asserted "the nation is tranquil."

"Nothing can alter the order," one of the communiques said. "Against the false and ill intentions of the rumor-mongers there is being raised an invincible wall of normality and progressive peace, and of work organized for the well-being of all Argentines."

Until the bomb blast, generally normal conditions had prevailed on the streets of Buenos Aires. The only unusual activity was the posting of extra guards at federal police headquarters and a few other strategic points for a few hours before dawn Wednesday.

MASKED BANDITS ROB MAIL TRAIN IN MANHATTAN

Only Cancelled Cheques In 8 Mail Sacks Taken

NEW YORK (AP)—Two masked desperados held up an outbound mail-express train Wednesday night as it stopped briefly in an open cut below the Manhattan street level near the Hudson river shore.

As in a wild-west movie scenario, they bound and gagged a mail clerk and dumped eight mail sacks on the tracks. Then they disappeared into the night with the bags.

Police today said the bags contained worthless cancelled cheques. The bandits apparently jumped on the 11-car New York Central train when it stopped for inspection of its air brakes.

An interstate alarm was flashed for two men described as in their 20s and wearing dark suits and hats. Both were armed.

KNEW THEIR WAY

"They were brazen and clever," said deputy police commissioner James Kennedy. "They knew exactly what they were doing."

Police said, however, that the bandits discarded a mail pouch containing $2,700 in small bills and silver.

The train was heading for Albany, Utica, Rochester, Troy and Syracuse, all in upstate New York. Six of the cars carried mail.

Mail clerk Thomas Mason, 60, of Buffalo, N.Y., was on duty in the next-to-the-last car when he saw two men jump in front of him. Their faces were hidden behind handkerchiefs and both held guns.

THREATEN TO KILL

"This is a stickup," one of the men told him. "Where is the money? Don't yell or we'll kill you."

When he refused to tell them, they pulled his arms behind and bound his wrists with a pair of handcuffs they had brought with them. They rolled him over and one of the bandits put his foot in the small of his back.

"I wasn't frightened until I got a good look at the guns," Mason recalled. "At first I thought they were fooling—I thought they were a couple of kids, wise kids."

The robbers tied Mason's ankles with a cord, stuffed his railroad cap in to his mouth and fled. Mason said the train was moving again when he managed to free his legs and spit out the cap. A tower signman heard his yells and the train was stopped.

MARLER DENIES DREDGING FOR FERRY MADE WATERS TOO ROUGH TO USE PORT

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has presented its case in the case of the William Carson, Newfoundland ferry.

Transport Minister Marler said it is unfair to say that harbor dredging at Port aux Basques, Nfld., to clear a channel for the $1,545,000 Carson is necessarily the cause of rough water conditions which are sending her temporarily to another port.

Moreover, he said, some experts think the danger is exaggerated. Mr. Marler was presenting the government's side of the issue, developed by opposition members ever since it was learned that the ferry, built to ply between North Sydney, N.S., and Port aux Basques, Nfld., would be diverted to the run Nfld.—adding 190 miles to the run.

Opposition members have said the dredging was too shallow, that it knocked out natural breakwaters making the harbor unusable for the Carson and that now the government must have to build new breakwaters to stop the ocean swells.

No Soviet Concessions Likely As Reds Balk at German Unity

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

GENEVA (AP)—Western leaders have decided to keep the door open and hope alive for some important Soviet concessions on German reunification right up to the last minute of the "summit" conference.

Privately, experts see no evidence in the positions so far taken by Soviet Premier Bulganin that the Kremlin intends to yield on any important point.

But in post-war negotiations over the last 10 years, Soviet delegates have occasionally sprung last-minute surprises. There may be a chance that this practice will be repeated this time.

The evidence is that Bulganin and his associates have been trying to get one of their own words to "normalize" relations with the West. They seem to conceive of this not so much in terms of giving up important interests of the Russians, but in terms of the inevitability of what they cannot change in the West.

Fresh indication that this is the Soviet policy line came Wednesday night when French, British and American experts analyzed the proposal Bulganin introduced Wednesday for creation of a new European security system.

They decided that it tacitly recognizes West Germany's right to remain as a member of the North Atlantic alliance and Western European Union.

1,200-Year-Old Indian Town Is Found Near Peterborough

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New knowledge has been gained of Ontario's early Indians from discoveries of artifacts buried for centuries near Port Arthur and Peterborough.

Evidence of an Iroquois village between 500 and 1,200 years old was discovered in the Stony Lake area near Peterborough by a scientific expedition, it was reported Wednesday. The oldest known site in the province, the Burly site in the Peterborough district, dates from the year 600.

Monowho, W. A. C. M. owner of a summer resort at Reflection lake 120 miles east of the Lakehead, said he dug up a collection of Indian baubles and implements on his property.

He also found copper tools and bracelets, a necklace of 15 copper discs, a tomahawk blade of pure copper and a set of five copper arrowheads of varying size. Also found were two flint arrowheads and what is thought to be a flint meat scraper.

A Port Arthur historian, J. P. Bertrand, said the find is of "great importance."

An expedition headed by W. R. Adams, an anthropologist at the University of Indiana, discovered the Iroquois relics near Peterborough. In two surveys of a Stony Lake farm owned by Lyle Quackenbush the expedition unearthed pottery shards, clay pipes, bowls and tools of black basaltic rock.

More important, charred pieces of corn kernel and cobs enabled the expedition to take a radio-carbon dating of the site, thereby establishing its age.

The old Indian site is believed to have covered about nine acres.

Sheppard Starts Prison Term For Murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The dark grey walls of Ohio penitentiary hold a new prisoner, just another number—98,880—with grey prison pants, blue and a white striped shirt and cap.

But this prisoner—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard—attracted a horde of reporters and a score of other persons when he arrived at the penitentiary Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Sam, as newspapers had headlined his name across the country, was convicted last Dec. 21 of the murder of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31. Her battered body was found early July 4, 1954, in the bedroom of the Sheppard home at Bay Village, a Cleveland suburb. The 31-year-old osteopath denied his guilt throughout the long trial. Tuesday an appellate court in Cleveland had turned down his second appeal for a new trial.

Now comes the waiting—at least 10 years—before Sheppard will be eligible for parole on his second-degree murder conviction.

open Union.

One provision of the Soviet plan specifically recognizes obligations of countries under existing treaties—such as the North Atlantic pact. That presumably would include West Germany's promise under the Paris agreements to raise a force for NATO.

This was a surprising change in Soviet policy. Six months ago Moscow was known as German rearmament at every turn.

It is not so surprising, however, when viewed as part of a policy of "normalizing" what they can't change.

Bulganin already has told the Big Four conference that he knows it would be unrealistic to expect the Atlantic alliance and West Germany's links with it to be dissolved soon.

All he has said in this respect appears to be of a piece with his invitation several weeks ago to the Russians. Under present conditions they cannot agree to it without giving up their position in East Germany. That, in turn, might shake their influence over east European satellite states.

It would mean pulling back Soviet power from its present forward position in northern Europe.

MAPLEDORAM BANS TRAVEL IN NORTH'S BUSH

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Lands and Forests Minister Mapledoram today banned bush travel in the north of the province as 140 forest fires burned across Ontario.

Areas affected are: Kapuskasing, Cochrane, Swastika, Gogama, Chapleau, White River, Sault Ste. Marie, and Sudbury. All highways are open, however.

The department denied a report of an acute shortage of hose.

"There is sufficient hose in all areas and no fires have been lost for lack of it," officials said.

However hose is taken into department reserves as quickly as it is produced—at the rate of 8,000 feet daily—"in case of outbreaks in areas that are quiet at present."

HAZARD INCREASING

Thirty-one fires started during the last 24 hours and the same number were out of control. At least 17 fires were extinguished during that period.

The fire hazard across the province was "high and increasing," and temperatures in the high 80s and 90s, together with low humidities, were forecast.

The biggest fire in the province—60,000 acres of old burn, spruce, pine, balsam and assorted hardwoods—50 miles north of Blind River—was termed "in pretty fair shape but still out of control."

About 4,500 men backed by 60 aircraft were fighting fires across the province.

Teachers Refuse To Withdraw Resignations

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Talks Tuesday night between the Port Arthur board of education and the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation failed when teachers refused to withdraw some time ago 44 resignations from local high school teachers to be withdrawn as a prerequisite to negotiations.

The 44 teachers resigned May 31 en masse claiming the hiring by the board of new secondary school teachers at higher salary rates had nullified an existing wage agreement between the board and the teachers.

Improve Wharves

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal government wharf facilities at Montreal are to be improved at a cost of $7,000,000, Transport Minister Marler said Wednesday.

The extensions result partially from the impending construction of the St. Lawrence seaway, which will bring large lake ships into Montreal. Mr. Marler told the Commons.

Who Could Blame Crows for Not Liking This Bird?

CHICAGO (AP)—Police are looking for a parrot that looks like an eagle, cackles like a duck and laughs like a human.

Summerville police blamed crows for the disappearance of Sam Duke's parrot, Eagle. Police said that crows have been invading the district and they may have ganged up on Eagle while the parrot was on the wing near Duke's home.

Duke said Eagle is a foot tall with yellow head and green body and "doesn't talk in parrot fashion." His only sounds, Duke said, are duck cackles and the human laugh.

Police Find Stricken Recluse In House Debris

TORONTO (CP)—Police said a 75-year-old recluse with failing sight was found Wednesday lying paralyzed among old mattresses, cans and sacks of potatoes and surrounded by yapping bizzare home at nearby Milliken.

Fred Brambridge, spaniel breeder and former CNR conductor whose faint cries were heard by a dog in the confusion of his home, was reported today in serious condition at a city hospital.

Police said Brambridge apparently suffered a heart attack and may have lain on his back 36 hours without food and unable to move from the junk-strewn front room where he collapsed. His dogs escaped from their wire mesh kennels and were running wild in the house, they said.

Two Groups Wide Apart On German Reunification

Discussions of European Security Planned for Fall

GENEVA (CP)—The Big Four conference today temporarily gave up trying to agree about Germany and moved on to its first formal discussions on disarmament.

There was a general hope in the Palais des Nations that the disarmament phase of the "summit" talks might have more concrete results than the deliberations on German unity and European security, which one source said now "are in the ice box."

The expectation is that these questions will form the subject matter of a conference of the Big Four foreign ministers, possibly in Geneva in October.

Today the foreign ministers drafted "proposals of guidance" for such a meeting and referred them to the heads of government for a final decision.

BELATED HOPE

The Big Three will wait until the last possible moment in the hope of some belated Russian concession, but the general guess is that the conference—now past the halfway mark—is pretty well finished with Germany.

Russia still insists European security must take precedence over German reunification. The West puts unity first, although Prime Minister Eden has offered the concession that they might be discussed "simultaneously."

It was understood the British delegation is not disappointed with results so far. "We have not expected any greater progress than we have made," one official said. Generally the conference so far has produced few concessions on either side but discussion has been conducted in a more reasonable manner than any East-West talks since relations congealed in the cold war.

WORDS, NOT WAR

The important thing may be the implicit understanding, in this conciliatory mood, that disputes must be settled with words and not by war.

More and more, the Geneva meeting is beginning to look as External Affairs Minister Pearson predicted it would some time ago. He said then it might be the beginning of a long series of meetings, perhaps spread over years, with a gradual loosening of positions on both sides.

The foreign ministers met for almost two hours today and reached substantial agreement on plans for continuing discussions of the German unification and European security problems after the "Summit" Conference.

The Big Four leaders met at 3:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m. EDT), a half hour earlier than usual, to take up the plan discussed by the foreign ministers before going on to disarmament.

Nothing to Stop Egypt, Israel Reaching Accord

GAZA, Egypt (AP)—Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, United Nations truce chief in Palestine, told reporters Wednesday night "there is nothing to prevent agreement" in the current Egyptian-Israeli talks to reduce tension in the troubled Gaza strip.

Army Does Not Help Home Builders So Why Supply Bands to Promoters?

TORONTO (CP)—Walter Murdoch, leader of the musicians' union in Canada, has written a letter to members of the House of Commons and the Senate explaining why the union doesn't like football games.

"The army does not call out its plumbers and electricians to build houses for private contractors at government expense," he said.

"Under the same reasoning it is no more logical that the armed forces send its musicians to provide free music for promoters of sports events or to other functions where the public is charged admission."

The letter was in the form of a reply by the American Federation of Musicians of the United States and Canada to a demand in the House July 11 for action to prevent the union blocking military bands from playing at public functions.

Col. Douglas Harkness, Progressive Conservative member for Calgary North, said military bands should be under no dictation from any labor union in Canada, or the public is charged admission.

Playground Week Here Is Planned Starting Aug. 1

"Playground Week", from August 1st to the 5th, will give the city's children a chance to show off their summertime stamping grounds to their parents.

A week of festivities for children and parents has been planned for all 11 city playgrounds. Program for the week includes a "Neighborhood Night" Tuesday, August 2nd, a "Mother and Daughter Tea" Wednesday, August 3rd, and a "Penny Carnival" on Friday, August 5th.

A special program has been arranged on each playground for "Neighborhood Night" when mothers and fathers in each district will have a chance to meet one another and inspect the playgrounds at the same time.

Girls will be hostesses, and their mothers guests, on Wednesday at the "Mother and Daughter Tea". The care and feeding of stray fathers is to be a secondary activity on Wednesday.

Thursday will be spent preparing for Friday's "Penny Carnival" which will be held at the East Hill playground. Children from each of the other 10 playgrounds will be in charge of various phases of the carnival program.

Parkdale playground is planning a program to coincide with the city's festivities.

Montgomery Sees H-Bomb Shelter Regular Forces Most Important

PARIS (Reuters) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery has told a group of parliamentarians from the 15 NATO countries that he believes emphasis in defence budgets should be placed on regular forces, rather than building up reserves, sources close to supreme Allied headquarters (SHAPE) said here Wednesday.

Montgomery gave the group a private briefing at SHAPE Tuesday. According to the sources, he told them the intensive initial phase which would characterize future war made it essential to concentrate on regular forces, "ready at the word go."

Montgomery did not advocate the abolition of reserve forces, the sources said. He said he believes they might be especially valuable in civil defence work.

The field marshal reaffirmed his often-expressed belief that no NATO country could fully meet its defence obligations without two years compulsory military service, the sources said.

H-Bomb Shelter Offer Rejected

TORONTO (CP) — The metropolitan civil defence committee Wednesday night rejected a proposal by a Toronto newspaper to build an H-bomb shelter in front of city hall.

It supported an opposing motion by Hecce C. O. Bick that if there was going to be a shelter the CD committee should erect and pay for it. The Telegram offered to build the shelter.

Metropolitan chairman Fred G. Gardiner also objected to the shelter plan, saying private concerns want to use this committee for their own ends.

The proposed shelter would have been built as an above-ground exhibit to educate citizens in nuclear air raid precautions, The Telegram said. It was designed to house a complete family for from two to seven days.

DISMISSES CHARGE

Would Guard St. Lawrence From Pollution

OTTAWA (CP)—Immediate action to ensure future purity of the St. Lawrence river was urged in the Commons Wednesday night.

Hayden Stanton (PC-Leeds) said the river flowing past his eastern Ontario constituency is clear now. But there were fears that heavy increases in shipping after completion of the St. Lawrence seaway would bring air and water pollution from ships' smoke and the debris dumped overboard.

The government should study the problem now to guard against it developing.

HURT BY OPERATIONS

Consideration of the pleas of St. Lawrence river farmers, hurt by winter-long icebreaking in the river was also asked in the Commons.

Lucien Cardin (L—Richelieu-Vercheres) said he is not opposed to the new project under which a channel below Montreal is kept open to ease springtime flooding. But it had brought substantial losses to farmers who cultivate islands in the river. They used to cut hay and wood the summer and carry it across the ice to the mainland in winter. Now the cost of barge transport was almost as much as the cost of producing the goods.

Says Industry Unable to Fill All Coal Orders

OTTAWA (CP)—Mines Minister Braden said Wednesday night the Nova Scotia coal industry has been unable to fill all orders placed in recent years by the CNR.

He spoke in the Commons after Charlie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) criticized the publicly-owned railway for not using more Nova Scotia coal. A purchase order of 500,000 tons could have saved the big No. 1-B colliery of Dominion Coal Co. at Glace Bay, N.S. It closed down June 30.

Mr. Gillis said the minister's statement about inability to fill orders "gives the lie to the president of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation" (Lionel Forsythe, whose firm is parent company of Dominion Coal).

"Somebody is wrong and it is nearly time that the truth was smoked out," said Mr. Gillis. "If markets are available and if the company cannot satisfy the markets, then there is something wrong with the statements that company has been making."

Killed, 2 Hurt In Auto Crash

TORONTO (CP)—One American was killed and two companions injured Wednesday night when their car rammed into a concrete monument on the Queen Elizabeth way near here.

Jose Martinez, a native of Independence, Mo. who had been living in nearby Port Credit, was killed when the car, which he was driving, burst into flames.

Cecil Reader, 59, formerly of Wichita, Kan., suffered a broken leg and cuts to the throat and body. Allan Strand, 27, of Independence, Mo., received a broken left shoulder and cuts.

SUDBURY MAN DROWNS

SUDBURY (CP)—A 38-year-old Sudbury man drowned Wednesday while swimming in McCharles lake, about 15 miles west of Sudbury. Provincial police identified the victim as Neal Alexander McDonald.

Miami Lions Tail-Bitten By Small Dog

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A small dog who likes to live dangerously is giving the lions at Crandon Park zoo a hard time.

Attendants said the dog was passing the lions' cage one day when he noticed that a lion had gone to sleep with his tail hanging through the bars.

The dog rushed over, bit the lion's tail, barked ferociously, then trotted away.

After that, the pup started hanging around the cage, biting the lions' tails whenever he saw one sticking out. The lions know him now. They roar whenever he approaches.

"He's driving the lions crazy," attendants said.

Study Canadian Labor In New England Bush

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate labor sub-committee has begun a study of the effect of imported Canadian timber workers on wage scales and employment in the New England states, principally Maine and New Hampshire.

Before the committee is a resolution by Senator Margaret Chase Smith (Rep. Me.) which if adopted would result in an investigation of present policy permitting bonded Canadian laborers to enter the United States. The inquiry would take in the number present and the extent, if any, to which their presence cuts job opportunities or lowers wage rates of Americans performing similar services.

An estimated 5,000 Canadians now are employed in New England forests.

Will Try 14 In Italian Drowning Case

ROME (AP)—Italian courts ended a 14-month probe of the Wilma Montesi scandal Wednesday and ordered jazz pianist Piero Piccioni to trial on manslaughter charges.

Also ordered to trial with the 22-year-old son of ex-foreign minister Attilio Piccioni were two leading Romans: playboy Ugo Montagna and former police chief Saverio Polito.

Young Piccioni is accused of contributing to the death by drowning of 20-year-old Wilma Montesi on April 10, 1953, "by abandoning her, believing her already dead, on the edge of the sea."

Montagna and Polito face charges of "favoreggiamento," or aiding and abetting a crime by trying to help Piccioni escape prosecution.

Eleven other Italians, ranging from bar girls to estate caretakers, were ordered to stand trial on charges of concealing evidence or faking crimes. The trial is expected to begin early this autumn.

Germans Open Canadian Mill

PORT MOODY, B.C. (CP)—More than 800 high level representatives of industry, saw the first steel pipe mill of western Canada in action Wednesday during the official opening here of the $7,000,000 Canadian Western Pipe Mills Ltd. plant.

Financed completely by West German capital, the plant represents the largest single investment in North America by German industrial interests, said E. M. Reiner, vice-president and managing director.

Weddings

WILSON-WOOD

A lovely summer wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne McIntyre, Springbrook, R.R. 1, on Saturday, June 18, at 2 p.m., when the Rev. H. E. Beare, pastor of Springbrook United Church, united in marriage June Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Wood, Springbrook, and George Edward Wilson, son of Mrs. Joe Grills, Carmel, and the late Edward Wilson.

The ceremony took place beneath an arch tastefully decorated with pink and white streamers and bells.

The bride chose a waltz-length gown of white nylon marquisette, fashioned with short sleeves and a flared skirt accented by an insert of satin ribbon. Her shoulder-length veil of embroidered tulle illusion was caught to a halo style headpiece. She wore white shoes and gloves, and carried a bouquet of red roses and white lilies tied with matching streamers.

Mrs. Jack Wilson, Frankford, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid, wearing a street-length gown of yellow nylon with picture hat and matching gloves, and carried a bouquet of yellow lilies and red roses with matching streamers.

Mr. Jack Wilson, Frankford, attended his brother. Following the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served to about 60 guests by Misses Helen Finch, Doris Reid, Donna Carlisle, June Free, Viola Free and Doris Grills, all girl friends of the bride. For a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride donned a light blue silk frock with white accessories.

Guests were present from Trenton, Frankford, Carmel, Toronto, Campbellford, and Belleville.

Women's Activities

SCOTT'S W.M.S.

Scott's W.M.S. met in the church, Wednesday evening. Mrs. M. Sine called the meeting to order.

A prayer by the president stressed how thankful people should be for various blessings bestowed upon them, health, strength, friends, love and the material things that make life comfortable.

The ladies present brought in their cent-a-day jars for June and July. Four local calls and two hospital calls were reported. The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Martin at the usual time.

DISCUSSION BOOK

The president spoke on the new book, "Treasure in Trinidad". Miss Wagar, whose story it is about, is spending her first term of service in Trinidad under the Woman's Missionary Society. Before this she was an active W.M.S. leader in Bay of Quinte conference. She has also previously taught in the Peterborough Normal School. The treasure she speaks of lies in the people, their

Mrs. Ross Datoe was in charge of the worship service. Three ladies read the Scripture from the hymnary: 696, 1-11; 715, 5-8; 715, 17-18.

Mrs. Datoe gave a prayer for blessing and wisdom for all nations. The group prayed especially for Canada. They also prayed for Trinidad that her leaders might face up to their opportunities and responsibilities. The members wish to lend a helping hand to this sister land in her new Christian endeavors.

The meeting was closed with the benediction.

Skinkle on "We Must Share", was presented in dialogue form with Mrs. F. Aikens, Mrs. B. Harder, Mrs. W. Slavin, Mrs. H. Shortt, and Mrs. H. MASSASSAGA W.A.

Mrs. Albert Wallbridge kindly opened her home for the July meeting of the Massassaga W.A.

With the president, Mrs. George McKillop, presiding. The roll was answered by 14 members, and there were two visitors and four children present.

Under general business, correspondence was read including "thank you's" for flowers and gifts from Mr. Will Gray, Ken McKillop, Mr. Jim Broad, Mr. Roseberry and Mrs. Roy Valieu. There was an unanimous decision that Massassaga W.A. supply money for a front door for the new parsonage.

Mrs. William Jose gave the treasurer's report.

Collection amounted to $3.86. Under new business the picnic was discussed. It was decided to hold it at Wellington Park, August 3rd for 12 o'clock dinner.

Melrose W.M.S. Hears Interesting Talk on Trinidad

The July meeting of the Melrose W.M.S. was held at the church.

Due to the absence of the president, Mrs. G. Morgan, Miss M. Bailey presided over the service of worship.

During the business period, it was voted to dispense with the August meeting. The September meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. E. Pascoe. Mrs. R. McFarlane, Literature and Temperance convener, gave a reading entitled "The Drinking House Over the Way". Mrs. John Milligan gave a talk on "Trinidad" which is sometimes known as 'the land of the humming bird' where the sun rises at 5.30 a.m., and sets at 6.30 p.m., and does not vary only a few minutes throughout the year.

Trinidad, only 17 miles from the coast of Venezuela, was discovered in 1498, and has been under British rule since 1787.

The native people are musical but also most superstitious. There's much poverty and squalor in Trinidad; the streets are lined with beggars. The poorer native houses are made of mud and coconut leaves and are built high off the ground for ventilation. They have many heavy rains.

Trinidad does not import from Canada or the United States, due to the devaluation of their money. The Canadian dollar has been known to be worth as much as $1.75 in Trinidad.

Mrs. Milligan showed many pictures of places of interest, among them was the famous Pitch Lake, out of which comes asphalt that is exported to all parts of the world. Also on display was a huge knife known as the cutlass. These knives are often carried by natives, and are used in the harvesting of their tropical crops.

Another interesting feature of the meeting was the reading of a letter from the Rev. and Mrs. Jack Loughheed of the Indore University teaching staff in India. At the time of writing they were attending a language school in the Himalayas. This school accommodates 200 missionaries from all over the world and are of many denominations.

Jack is the son of a former minister, and the prayers and best wishes of the WMS go with him and his wife in their life's work.

The delegates to the convention held in Madoc, May 26, gave detailed reports. Mrs. E. Jose giving the morning session and Mrs. Gordon Boyle for the afternoon. Mrs. Ernest Jose gave a humorous reading "Because". The hostess, assisted by the July group, served refreshments, and a social half hour was enjoyed by all.

Montreal Nurse Nearing End Of 40-Year Career

MONTREAL (CP) — A 40-year career in maternity work will end Aug. 31, with the retirement of nursing supervisor Caroline Barrett of the Royal Victoria Hospital here. Miss Barrett has been nursing supervisor of the women's pavilion since 1926.

Miss Barrett has gained a national reputation for the training of graduate and post-graduate nurses. Some 8,472 have passed through her hands over the years. Hospital officials in announcing Miss Barrett's retirement, said the high standards set at the women's pavilion have been due in no small measure to her efforts.

More than 70,000 babies have been born in the pavilion since Miss Barrett's appointment to her post.

In this strange but interesting country, Mrs. Roy Badgley was program convener for the afternoon. Little Miss Shirley Pascoe favored with a solo entitled, "I'm Only a Little Christian".

Mrs. Badgley, Mrs. Charles Bates Sr., and Miss B. McFarlane took part in a playlet which depicted a day in the life of Miss Constance Vagar, missionary to Trinidad, formerly of the Bay of Quinte district.

During the afternoon, Miss M. Bailey welcomed the Rev. and Mrs. Hogerward, who were attending their first meeting since coming to the Shannonville pastoral charge, the 1st of July. Mr. Hogerward thanked the ladies for the welcome and kindly offered his services whenever needed.

Accident Made Peterborough Woman Artist

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Doctors didn't expect Mrs. Eric May to survive injuries suffered in a car accident three years ago.

Since then she has had 10 major operations, and discovered a new talent which has brought her fame and happiness.

While Mrs. May was recovering from her most recent operation last January, she decided to try her hand at oil-painting. It didn't take her long to decide she liked it and now she paints when she's not doing the house work in her two store home.

The Peterborough housewife isn't the only person who likes her detailed landscapes of Canada in scenes. Soon many friends and neighbors were asking to buy them and examples of her work now hang in many Peterborough homes.

The latest triumph for Mrs. May took the form of an invitation from Vancouver to exhibit her paintings at the Pacific National Exhibition hobby fair there.

"I started out just for something to do," she said recently as she prepared her paintings for the journey across Canada. "I never expected to sell any paintings."

OLD CHARGE IS DEADLY

MULHOUSE, France (AP) — A charge of dynamite abandoned in a potato mine 25 years ago exploded Tuesday, killing two miners and injuring five. A miner working at the 2,700-foot level apparently struck the forgotten dynamite with a pick.

STOP CROSS-BEARER
FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Police Tuesday night stopped the pilgrim, age of 25-year-old Leonello Naldi, who was carrying a heavy wooden cross from Milan to Rome as penance for "misleading youth." He collapsed on the highway near here and was carried to a hospital suffering from heat and exhaustion. When he left the hospital police told him it would be "against public order" to continue his march.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:
My husband and I have been married eight years, and have four lovely children.

Up until six months ago, we have always been happy, but then I began to hear rumors that he was running around with other women, and one night I actually saw him with one. Since then, I have been so unhappy I just don't know what to do. It has hurt and humiliated me so that I feel I should leave him if I am ever to get any pride or self-respect back, but I have the children to think of, too.

Sometimes I think, though, that it might be better for the children if we did separate, because I am constantly reminding my husband of what he has done to me, and I know that is bad for the children. But hard as I try, I can't forget it. It is always on my mind, and that makes me irritable with the children. I even keep trying myself for being tied down because of them, as otherwise I could just walk out.

My husband doesn't want a separation, and it's true that he stays home in the evenings now, so that I am sure he isn't seeing any women. He also says he loves the children and me, and is sorry he was so foolish. He says the girl he went out with a few times never meant anything to him and that he never thinks of her except when I bring her up, but I just don't see how our marriage can ever really mean anything again, after what he did to it.

Do you think I should leave and gain back my self-respect, or live with my husband with this thing always between us? — Mrs. W.

There is no disputing the fact, of course, that it is a sad thing indeed for a wife to have the sort of experience you have had. But, frankly, I'm afraid you would have only yourself to blame if it were to happen again. Also, it seems to me that you are making the whole thing worse than it ever was.

These seem no reason to believe that your husband was actually unfaithful to you. You're now sure that he isn't seeing any women. He has said he is sorry and that he loves you and his family. I would say the way is open for building up your life together again if you were only willing to have it to be what it is. But what chance has your marriage if you are continually throwing his mistake into his face all the time? You harp on it and brood over it and keep yourself miserable — to say nothing of keeping your husband and children miserable. What kind of a home is that? One a man would be so happy in that he would never want to be out of it? Or one so grim and depressing that he would feel like getting out of it as fast as he could?

Maybe that's what you're really trying to do — drive him away, so that you can have the separation you want without your having been one to leave. Is that it?

You feel, it appears, that pride and self-respect demand that you refuse to go on living with your husband. To my way of thinking, it would show a great deal more of pride and self-respect if you would decide to bury the past and concentrate on making the kind of home and yourself the kind of person that a husband would hate leaving for a single hour.

I am not unsympathetic about the hurt your husband caused you. It was perfectly natural that you should have been not only hurt, but angry and resentful as well. But you can overdo your angry and resentful attitude — and you are now doing it — until you yourself have wrecked your marriage. Or, on the other hand, you can change your attitude and build your marriage up again.

As I see it, the choice is up to you.

'Floating Island' Is English For 'Oeufs A La Neige'

By Mary Moore

Coming home was fun too, for while the stack of mail was enough to stagger a stenographer, when I settled down to open it on Monday I had many a heart-warming chuckle.

I had forgotten I had sent out an S.O.S. for the recipe for Oeufs a la Neige, so there were dozens of letters from you telling me they were simply "Floating Island" and giving me careful instructions to pass on to Anne K. For instance:

Dear Mary Moore: This is my day to write. I love reading your articles on homemaking and thank you from the bottom of my heart for the way you write to us readers. It's for sure you love us and it's for sure we love you. — Anne K., who's so sweet, and asks about Oeufs a la Neige. . . dear, dear me, this is one on her, bless her soul; Oeufs a la Neige is nothing else but "Floating Island" — you see I'm French.

mother of seven children and grandmother of twelve. . . my hobbies are music and collecting recipes. . . now your husband Anna, at Oeufs a la Neige or the plainest way of making floating islands, that is without the frills. . . nutmeg was the flavoring grated on the whites (which were cooked on hot milk) before making custard with the yolks. . . happy cooking to you all. — Mrs. C. V. C.

Now that you have started writing Mrs. C. V. C. let me hear from you again, especially if I might be able to help. Your letter was very dear to me.

Here is another:
Dear Mrs. Moore: I am a French-speaking home economist and dietician. Our people are very fond of "Les oeufs a la Neige" and it is a great pleasure to send you the recipe.

OEUFS A LA NEIGE

Two egg whites, pinch of salt, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 quart boiling water; 2 egg yolks, 2 tablespoons sugar, pinch of salt, 2 cups milk, nutmeg or vanilla. Beat egg whites and salt until foamy. Add the 4 tablespoons of sugar, a tablespoon at a time, and continue beating until egg whites form stiff peaks. Pour the quart of boiling water in a mixing bowl. Drop egg-sugar mixture from tablespoon onto hot water to form six meringues. Let stand about 20 minutes. Meanwhile bring the milk to the boiling point, beat egg yolks slightly, add the 2 tablespoons of sugar and the salt. Add small amount hot milk to eggs and vigorously stir for more, and cook stirring, until custard begins to thicken and coat the spoon. Remove from heat. Add flavoring. Pour into dessert dishes. Top each with meringue. Serves six.

Thank you Emerienne. What a pretty name. Your recipe is now in my permanent file.

And still another version:

OEUFS A LA NEIGE
(SNOW EGGS)

(Courtesy Frances W.)

Ingredients: For 6 people 6 eggs, 3 pints milk, 8 oz. lump sugar (or sugar crystals), 8 oz. castor sugar (icing sugar), flavoring of vanilla, lemon, etc. according to taste.

Method: Put the milk, lump sugar, and flavoring in a saucepan. (This should not be a very deep one, otherwise it is difficult poaching the "eggs".) Bring to the boil, stirring well until sugar melts. Beat the whites very stiff — stiff enough to support a shell egg. Now add the castor sugar to the whites, beating steadily. Put a little of this mixture in a spoon, and with a knife smooth it and give it the shape of an egg. Drop these, one at a time, in the boiling milk, and after 1-2 minutes, turn each "egg" carefully over with a fork, so that other side gets cooked. Leave them in for exactly two minutes more, not longer or they will collapse. Remove from milk with perforated spoon and let drain on a large sieve (or clean cloth). Strain the cooled milk. Beat yolks and add the warm sweet milk to them gradually. Put back on stove and stir until mixture begins to thicken. Remove at once. When cold put the custard in a glass dish, and arrange the whites (now "eggs") which will float on the surface.

Thank you too Frances W. and for your new address. I hope Betty M. sees your version for a while, as she wanted that variation. Also thanks to Simone for all the custard recipes she sent, which I will print eventually.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

HOW TO REPLY TO AN INTRODUCTION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have just arrived at a very attractive summer resort to spend my longer-than-usual vacation of five weeks, and I want so much to have these weeks mean "How to friends here now and several who know the place very well. I'm sure I'll be meeting a few people. And I want to "meet" them right, say the right thing when I'm introduced and when I leave them. Your column has taught me to know that all I need to remember to say when I am introduced, is: "How do you do." (And I've also been trying to follow your added suggestion to listen carefully to catch the name and add that to my "How do you do.") Knowing that will be a great help when I'm meeting new people these days.

Now my question is: When someone says to me, after an introduction and perhaps a short conversation, "I am very glad to have met you," just what should I reply? Is it enough (as several of my girl friends insist it is, and as I've heard so many people reply) just to say "Thank you"? Somehow this reply doesn't seem quite right, but still I don't know why. — Anne S.

You are right in your thought about this. "Thank you" is definitely not enough of a reply. Let's figure out why not. When you acknowledge this pleasant comment ("I'm very glad to have met you" or something similar), your acknowledgment should have two parts: (1) your "Thank you" for some word to assure the person that you had pleasure in the meeting. For example, the simplest reply is: "Thank you, Mrs. Clark, I am so happy to have met you." Or, "Thank you, very much. It was such a special pleasure to meet you too, Miss Graham." It's an excellent idea to mention the name of the person who introduced you. "Thank you, Mr. Thompson, I enjoyed so much our chat together about California. I hope you'll have a grand time on your trip there next month." Many gracious people respond to "I'm very glad to have met you" by replying, "Thank you for your kind words, I enjoyed so much meeting you. . . and I hope that we shall meet again soon (or 'very soon' or 'soon again')." Gracious-words-of-reply to make the meeting memorable!

Remember: It's not only ungracious to say only "Thank you," but it's a little ridiculous too, for it means that you're grateful that the other person was glad to meet you. . . but you say nothing about being glad to meet the other person. Certainly no social grace about this. . . no "way to win friends" (And right you are that this is a special question for vacation-time when you're meeting new people, many of whom will, I am happily, sure, be coming to you, as you're after an introduction, "I am very glad to have met you.")

ON GODPARENTS AND GIFTS
Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our baby is to be christened soon. My sister tells me that my husband and I are expected to give a gift to each of the friends who are going to be godparents for the baby. I've never heard of such a thing, but since this is our first baby, I'm not very familiar with our responsibilities. Is my sister right about this? — C.S.

No. The gift-giving is quite the other way 'round. . . it is customary for a godparent to give a christening gift to the child.

BEAUTY

DIRECTIONS FOR THE HOME SHAMPOO

In beauty shops throughout the land, thousands of feminine heads are shampooed every day. But still more thousands are dunked in the washbowl at home. However, not all of the home-shampooed tresses come out shining clean, every silky shaft lustrous, soft and fluffy.

The experienced beauty operator can tell by the "feel" of the hair if it is clean. When the shampoo is thorough, the wave set will last, ringlets will stay in pretty spirals. If particles of soap are left in the hair, however, the permanent will lose its resiliency because the shampoos, gummed together, lose their coil quality.

Many a home shampooer has rushed into a beauty shop complaining bitterly about an unsatisfactory permanent only to find that, after a professional shampoo, the waves are strong as ever.

It is inadvisable to use bar soap on the hair since it leaves tiny particles which are not easily rinsed away. There are excellent preparations to be found at cosmetic counters. You have your choice of liquid soaps, creams and oils. It is good idea to experiment with different ones. Read the labels carefully as some are compounded for oily hair, others for dry tresses.

A good shampoo can be a scalp treatment of sorts. Start with a

M.P. Stakes Seat on Charge Postal Investigators Shield Man Linked With Robbery

OTTAWA (CP)—J. Wilfrid Dufresne, Progressive Conservative member for Quebec West, says he will put up his $10,000-a-year Commonsense seat to support his charge that postal investigators shield post office robbers.

He said in the House Wednesday he would stake his seat if the government gives him a free hand to conduct a full investigation of alleged connections between investigators of the post office department and a man he identified as Marcel Belair of Montreal.

Although he named none of the names, he said some recently were promoted to higher posts instead of being questioned about their relations with Belair.

There was no reply from the government. Acting Postmaster General Pickersgill was not in the House.

CLAIMS NEVER CHARGED

Mr. Dufresne said that about a week after a $29,142 robbery at a post office in Montreal's Notre-Dame-de-Grace district Belair turned over $28,000 worth of stamps to postal investigators but was never charged with theft or receiving stolen goods.

He said Belair was named as an accomplice by a man convicted of a part in a post office robbery at Cabano, Que., in the autumn of 1953. But Belair had never been charged.

Mr. Dufresne said postal investigators, whom he described as the department's secret police, obstructed justice in not bringing charges against Belair.

LIBERALS JEER
His demand for a full and complete judicial investigation was met with jeers from Liberal back benches.

Mr. Dufresne charged postal investigators tried to put Belair out of circulation by getting him a job last September in Sept-les, Que., under the assumed name of Arthur St. Jean. He said an investigator falsified Belair's identification papers and that the expenses of the pair were paid for by the department.

Mr. Dufresne said Belair has often been seen drinking with postal investigators in Montreal bars since quitting the Sept-les job.

Radio Pioneer Dies in Montreal

He was mayor of nearby Chambly and assistant to the president of radio station CJAD in Montreal at the time of his death.

$40,000 Disappeared from Strongbox After Drohan's Death Says Paper

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says $40,000 or more disappeared from a strongbox after John Drohan, wealthy Barry's Bay lumberman, died in 1951.

Mr. Drohan's name came into the news before last June's Ontario election as the donor of election contributions accepted in 1951 by James Dempsey, now independent Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Renfrew South.

Revenue Minister McCann has been criticized for telling Ontario Premier Frost about these unreported contributions. During House debate he said he could "unfold a story... that would raise the hair on your head" if it were not for secrecy provisions of the Income Tax Act and Succession Duty Act.

The Telegram's story, by Norman Campbell, its Ottawa correspondent, says the missing $40,000 is the "chief element" in the story Dr. McCann has not told.

It continues: "John Drohan, reportedly wealthy Barry's Bay lumberman, died in 1951."

"Immediately on death his strong boxes, in which he was known to keep considerable cash, were sealed in accordance with the Succession Duty Act."

U.S. Army Asks Leave to Deepen Lake Channels

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Army has asked congressional authority to deepen major channels connecting the Great Lakes. The request was based upon a report by the chief of engineers saying that deeper channels would permit use of larger vessels and cause an estimated saving of $10,000,000 a year in the shipments of iron ore, stone and grain.

The project, the engineers said, would cost $110,327,000 initially and require $200,000 a year for maintenance.

The engineers recommended the deepening of the following channels: St. Marys river, Straits of Mackinac, St. Clair river, Lake St. Clair and the Detroit river.

Belgian Senate Passes School Reforms Bill

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—The Belgian senate passed the government's controversial school reforms bill early today after one of the longest sessions in its history.

The upper house session, which began Wednesday morning, lasted 18 hours with only two short breaks for lunch and dinner.

Before the final vote, which was 91 to 0, the Catholic Opposition walked out.

Toronto Trade Fair Doomed, City Will Not Continue It

TORONTO (CP) — The International Trade Fair, a showplace for world traders for the last eight years, is on the rocks.

The Toronto board of control said Wednesday it has decided to drop attempts to sustain interest in the fair following the federal government's move to end financial support. And it was reported that the Ontario government has abandoned any thoughts of keeping the fair going.

Mayor Nathan Phillips said he regretted to see the fair disappear "but nothing can be done to save it." He said Premier Frost told him the province will not back the exhibition.

The federal government withdrew financial support June 8 for the fair, which had shown an annual deficit of about $400,000. Mr. Frost said then that the Ontario government would not let it die. He suggested the province and metropolitan Toronto keep the fair operating on a partnership basis.

It was reported that officials have decided the Ontario government would not be justified in underwriting a heavy deficit. Under its sponsorship, the fair would probably cost $1,500,000 a year since the province does not have available for organizational purposes the various federal offices throughout the world.

Provincial authorities also said Canadian manufacturers were lukewarm.

Controller Ford Brand told the board of control Wednesday that as far as he is concerned "the trade fair is out."

"It would be ridiculous for the city to take this thing on," he said. "This effort needs Dominion government support and they have indicated they are no longer interested."

The board also discussed a letter from the Toronto Board of Trade which said the board had no resources to back the venture. Mayor Phillips mentioned briefly a private conversation with Premier Frost who, he said, gave him to understand that the province would not back the project because it was of an all-Canada nature.

Racing to Keep Ahead of Russia, U.S. Navy Launches Second A-Sub

By ELTON C. FAY

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The United States Navy, racing to keep supremacy over Russia in the means of underwater warfare, today launches its second nuclear submarine, the Seawolf, and lays the keel for a third.

Eight atomic-powered American submarines have been authorized. The first, the Nautilus, was built here at the yards of the Electric Boat division of General Dynamics Corp., where the Seawolf and the third sub are building. The Nautilus was commissioned six months ago, and now has thousands of miles of operation, hundreds of dives and a long cruise to the Caribbean on her log.

Externally, the Seawolf looks much like the Nautilus, but with a somewhat sleeker hull. Official statistics show the Seawolf to be of about 3,000 tons displacement, 330 feet long, and with a 27-foot beam. Her underwater speed is stated in the same general manner as that for the Nautilus—"over 20 knots."

Actual speed may range between 20 and 30.

The Seawolf will carry a crew of about 100, including officers. The official cost estimate of the Seawolf's hull, minus the atomic power plant, is $32,700,000. The Nautilus is estimated unofficially to have cost about $57,000,000, including the atomic engine—which accounted for about half the cost.

Primary difference between the Nautilus and the Seawolf is in the type of atomic reactor. The Nautilus power plant transfers the heat produced by fission into steam by using ordinary water under pressure. The Seawolf will use a form of liquid metal for the heat transfer. The Nautilus reactor is called the thermal or "slow neutron" type. The Seawolf will use an "intermediate" reactor where the speed of the neutrons is faster. This, in theory, means that absorption of the faster neutrons by the metal structure of the reactor is reduced, perhaps making for a more efficient, more easily maintained atomic furnace.

C Beauty's Slip C Slides Down, P Poise Stays Up

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Miss Vermont, a 22-year-old blue-eyed, blonde business girl, Wednesday night won the title of Miss U. S. A. over 14 other pretty finalists in a curtain-raiser to the Miss Universe beauty contest.

In private life Miss Carlene Johnson of Rutland, Vt., who operates her own jewelry business, Miss U. S. A. now enters the Miss Universe semi-finals starting tonight. Also competing in this latter event is Canada's Cathy Duggles, a North Bay beauty queen who once won the Miss Toronto title.

In Wednesday night's finals, Miss Georgia, Carolann Connor, of Atlanta, lost her slip on stage but not her poise. As the beauties lined up for the evening-gown judging she stepped back and let a half-slip fall and then made a lateral pass to the stage manager. He took it away without at least half the audience knowing what had happened.

'Dean' of Hyde Park Orators Deals Expertly With Hecklers

By ARCH MacKENZIE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Rev. George Kendall, OBE, "Dean" of Hyde Park orators, has decided to ease up after nearly 30 years as an articulate prop of London's lusty verbal monument to free speech. Through bomb, "fearsome" heckling and bad weather, the stocky, keen-eyed Methodist parson has stuck stoutly to his platform for the public morality council.

"I'm not really retiring next year," says Kendall, 74 in October and firmly opposed to the idea of getting entirely out of harness.

NOT SO ENTIRE

"I just won't be speaking as often."

A landmark's landmark, he joined the Hyde Park corner soap-box brigade in 1926 and has delivered more than 1,000 addresses. Kendall loves what he calls the "strangest corner in London," with its heavy traffic swirling by through marble arch and Millonaires Row along Park Lane. Behind is the leafy skyline of the park.

By unwritten law, this is the site where speakers can expound dogmas orthodox and unorthodox—at the risk of facing hecklers as enthusiastic, highly individual and constant in attendance as themselves.

ANYONE CAN SPEAK

"The great thing about Hyde Park is that anybody can speak there," said Kendall in an interview. "You never know what you will hear or who you will see."

In the old days it might be George Bernard Shaw, strolling through the crowd. Today, Kendall may be speaking to a Canadian member of Parliament. Spanish church men and diplomats—visitors from round the world—as well as Britons of every rank and income.

"There are few more thrilling experiences — for speakers who love their work — than facing 500 or 1,000 persons outdoors."

"Not that it's so delightful at first," added the former army chaplain, who appeared on every British front during the First World War and received his order of the British Empire honor after being mentioned in dispatches.

VAST OPEN SPACE

"You see in front of you a vast open space. Someone is shouting from a platform on the left, and another voice booms from one on the right."

"But if you have a good voice and a little humor, you begin to draw a crowd, especially if the heckler begins his usual tirade against parsons."

In his time, the doyen of the Methodist Church's 4,500 active ministers has turned the other cheek, waged resolute battle and learned that humor heals most wounds. Rationalists and advocates of free love have been his most consistent baiters.

"Do you believe in the devil?" one persistent heckler asked him one day. "I do, and in his agents, for you are one of the main ones," retorted Kendall.

Time for a QUICK PICKUP

You don't argue with a locomotive. So a manufacturer of rail equipment has developed a lightweight rail inspection car that carries four people yet can be taken off the track by one man.

Since men who design rail cars, aircraft and other transportation equipment regularly use aluminum to cut down dead weight and increase pay load, it is no surprise that aluminum was used to replace heavier materials in many parts of this inspection car. The person who will be surprised is the locomotive engineer who first sees a rail inspector nonchalantly — and single-handedly — hoisting his scooter from the track.

Frozen Semen Could Produce Super Cattle

KITCHENER (CP) — Roy G.

Snyder, unit manager of the Waterloo Cattle Breeding Association said Tuesday night the result of using frozen semen in cattle breeding could be a super race of cattle.

He said the Waterloo association's artificial insemination unit has become the first in the world to use 100 per cent frozen semen.

Mr. Snyder said that 35,000 cows had been bred with the frozen semen and the conception rate was a little higher than from liquid semen drawn daily, and possibly a little better than by natural breeding.

Mr. Snyder said he does not think there is a great deal more cost in using the frozen semen than the liquid semen. The extra cost involved in freezing is offset by the fact that there is no wastage, and stricter quality controls can be maintained.

"If a super race of cattle does not develop from these modern methods, it is only because the minds of men cannot produce the ideas for the right matings," he said.

Highways Official, Sheriff Lay Charges

BRACEBRIDGE (CP) — Sheriff W. B. Elliott of Muskoka and Frank Lawson an official of the Ontario highways department, Tuesday laid charges of common assault against each other. The case will come before magistrate Redmond Thomas here Aug. 5.

Police said the two men last Friday went to see property owned by sheriff Elliott near a new section of Highway 11. A quarrel apparently broke out when the sheriff said he would not allow the site to be used for a new motel. Lawson said he was painfully injured.

AUSIE DIVORCES

There were 6,528 divorces in Australia in 1954, compared with 8,815 in the peak year of 1947.

In a letter received Tuesday by the board of education, the former British prime minister said:

"I am complimented by your request that your new school should be named after me. I am happy to agree to the suggestion."

"I send my sincere good wishes for the future of the Canadian boys and girls who will find their education there."

Slammin' Sam Seizes Lead In Professional Golf Tourney

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—It may be true that Sam Snead is the "Old Guard" of the PGA, but he is also the "Slammin' Sam" who is being eased into the rocking chair, but there's one old coddler who still has plenty of fight left in him. He's businessman-golfer Samuel Jackson Snead—and don't call him "Grandpa."

It is said but true that old Sam, now 43, can't hit a lick in the U.S. Open. He's been trying for almost 20 years but still no cigar. When it comes to the Professional Golfers Association tournament, however, there are few who can measure up to his record. The books show that he has won this testing, all-professional tournament three times, and was runner-up twice. Snead also was PGA medalist twice, and now he is favored to take medal honors for the third time in the 1955 event at the Meadowbrook Country Club. Using a brand-new putter, Sam shot a six-under-par 63 Wednesday to seize the lead in the first of two qualifying rounds at the 6,701-yard, par-71 layout.

Seventeen players in the field of 135 broke par but nobody could match Snead and a new putter.

He used the blade to one-putt eight greens. He booked four birdies on the back nine, dropping puts of seven, nine, 10 and 12 feet. It gave him a one-stroke lead over Jackie Burke Jr., and Doug Ford, golfing buddies from Kiamisha Lake, N.Y., and Skeel Reigel, 1947 U.S. amateur champion from Ithaca, Pa.

A pair of outsiders—Ernie Ball of Oak Park, Ill., and Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill.—were next with 68s, while seven players were bracketed at 69.

Asks Olympic Flag Lowered At European Games

NEW YORK (AP)—Col. Henry D. Henshel, a prominent executive of the United States Olympic organization, demanded today that the Olympic flag be lowered at the Mediterranean Games now in progress in Barcelona because Spain barred Israel's participation.

He said Spain first invited Israel and then withdrew the invitation under the pressure from the Arab states. The Mediterranean games, like other regional games, are closely connected to the Olympic organization.

"I demand that the Olympic flag be taken down at Barcelona because they are making a mockery of the Olympic ideal," said Henshel in an interview. "This raises the serious question whether Spain should be admitted to future Olympic Games."

Competing in the games in Barcelona July 16-25 are Spain, Italy, France, Turkey, Malta, Monaco, Egypt, Greece, Syria and Lebanon. Henshel said he called the attention of Avery Brundage, Olympic international president, to the exclusion of Israel but the Olympic Committee meeting in Paris last month failed to act.

Canadian Football Roundup

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Argonauts didn't let fancy prices stand in their way of buying a star football player. They won't hesitate to drop a player even if he has a no-out contract.

Argonauts, trying to rebuild their Big Four Football Union team into a Grey Cup winner this year, laid the law down to player-wrestler Gil Mains, former Detroit Lions ace. Either he attends seriously to football or Argos will pay his $11,000 salary for the 1955 season and let him go.

When the big tackle was signed it was agreed that he could wrestle during the early practice season on Thursday and Saturday nights only. Thursday was chosen because he wrestled in Toronto after training drills; Saturday because no practice was scheduled and he could keep his grappling dates out of town.

When Argonauts opened training a week ago last Monday, Mains had a wrestling engagement out of town and didn't show up for football drills. Tuesday he stayed for the pre-practice lectures and skip the practice—he had a wrestling appointment.

He then appeared briefly at practice sessions for two nights. Coach Paul Lapointe of the University of wrestling was interfering with Mains' football. He told Mains he was loafing and that he could leave. Team director Harry Sonshine backed Swiacki all the way.

However, Mains promised to buckle down. He showed well on practices Saturday and Monday. On Tuesday he hurt his right elbow. Wednesday night he was on the slightly-injured list with bursitis in the arm.

Meanwhile, the three other Big Four teams continued their drills. Montreal Alouettes donned pads and scrimmaged for the first time this year. Ottawa Rough Riders dropped five Canadians. They were centre Tom Cayes of Woodstock and London, Ont., and George Grant of Fort William, half Joe Kiluk of Fort William and flying wings Bob Acton of Toronto and Paul Lapointe of the University of British Columbia.

Ottawa officials also reported that half Gene Choo-Choo Roberts has been waived out of the league and is a free agent. There is talk he might try the Western Interprovincial Football Union for a job.

In the WIFU, Edmonton Eskimos had good news Wednesday night. Veteran guard Frankie Morris came out of his five-day retirement.

ST. THOMAS (CP)—St. Thomas Elgins moved into a tie for third place with idle London Majors when they defeated Galt Terriers 7-1 in a Senior Intercounty Baseball League game Wednesday night.

Elgin righthander Gene Floryck went the distance, scattering eight hits and striking out seven with only one base on balls.

The only run counted off Floryck came in the final inning when Chick Longest lined his second double of the game to score Bill Bowman, who had singled.

Elgins opened the scoring in the second on three singles and Marc Reaume's steal home. In the sixth, Elgins scored five runs, four on Ollie Wall's bases-loaded homer.

Dan Lewandowski, relieved by lefty Don Lumely in the ninth, was charged with the loss.

BOXER CAUGHT SPEEDING

ABESCON, N. J. (AP)—State police said they arrested former welterweight boxing champion Johnny Saxton Tuesday for speeding after a four-mile chase.

Trooper Dominic Caruso said the 25-year-old boxer was driving 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone. He was travelling alone in a new convertible. Saxton paid a $24 fine.

Files Charges Against Managers

NEW YORK (AP)—Julius Helfand, New York state athletic commission chairman, said Wednesday he will have his counsel file written charges against four managers of the Boxers Guild of New York. Helfand said this would be done in order that a hearing could be conducted at the earliest possible moment on the suspension of licenses of the four managers. They were suspended last month for refusing to testify at a commission hearing. Boxers in their control are not allowed to contract for bouts.

The four are Charlie Bauer, Gus D'Amato, Bobby Melnick and Bob Nelson.

Looks Like Old Times at Beaches, Old Gang Rallies Around Grid Team

TORONTO (CP)—It's going to be like old times around the Balm Beach Football Club.

The old gang is coming back in force to run things the way they did before football became a big business operation. The players will be playing for the fun of it, with no thought of pay unless there are a few bucks left over after expenses. There won't be any imports either unless they want to go along on the same basis.

The Beaches operated that way for years in the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union and they think they can do it again. The oldtimers behind the move didn't want to see the club fold and let down their friends who run Sarnia Imperials and Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen—the other two teams in the league.

The decision to return to the old way was taken Tuesday night at a club going.

meeting of former players and officials.

The reorganization followed the move of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four in dropping the Beaches a farm club. Argos lost money the five years they operated the club.

Such fellows as Ted Reave, Sam Shefsky, Bob Reid, Bobby Porter, Ab Box, Ike Commings, Gordon Shields, Sammy Sward and Johnny Nelson are ready to give it a whirl again. They'll operate on a shoe-string but they expect to get a lot of fun and fellowship out of it like in the old days.

Reid, a former player and a member of last year's executive, said Wednesday that more than 50 ex-players and officials have indicated they want to help keep the club going.

HELPFUL... AND DEADLY

BALTIMORE (AP) — Eleven-month-old Vanessa Green died Tuesday after her three-year-old sister, who was trying to be helpful, gave her some oil of wintergreen by mistake. The police report on the tragedy said the older child heard the baby crying and decided to give her a drink of water. She got the wrong bottle, put a nipple on it, and fed it to the baby.

Communist Inspired Strikes
Paralyze Singapore's Business

By A. I. MCINTYRE

SINGAPORE (AP)—Thousands of grey-haired and wrinkled Chinese are watching their younger generation today with distress.

Many are descendants of the first pitted coolies who voyaged here in search of fortune in the British colony of Singapore and protectorate of Malaya.

Then the coolie toiled for the white man in the hope he one day would own a tin mine or rubber estate and become a millionaire. Sometimes he succeeded. Singapore and Malaya have about 400 Chinese millionaires (a million Malay dollars is worth $230,000).

But today such organizations as the Communist "People's Anti-British League" have given young Chinese a blazer goal—to drive the white man out, by violence if need be.

Discipline generally is lax among the 80,000 boys and girls in the 240 private Chinese schools in this colony of a million people. Communist influence—outside the curriculum—is common. The same influence is noted in trade unions.

In two months, the city has been ridden with a series of strikes, 94 at once, and teen-age Chinese have joined in riots.

The trouble marked the beginning of the administration of a new chief minister, David Marshall. His new Socialist Labor Front party won by a landslide in the April elections, ousting the right-wing Progressive party government.

Marshall, a genial, pipe-smoking criminal lawyer of 47, swayed with the masses with slogans like "Down with colonialism" and "Down with capitalism."

The present constitution provides that, for the time being, three of nine ministers are to be British.

colonial officials but that Singapore people are to take over the full government gradually.

In his first address to the Legislative Assembly April 26, Marshall complained that the manual laborer earned only $1 Malay dollar a week ($10) here "in the 10th busiest port in the world, the richest country in Asia." He declared this caused "hatred so bitter that it cannot distinguish between the system and the rulers."

He said he would abolish the emergency regulations — "police laws," he called them — brought into force in June 1948 to deal with the Communists. But a month later he had to use them himself to jail eight strike agitators.

On the other hand, he had wooed the Chinese by calling them the colony's body politic. He settled a riotous bus dispute by having the company re-employ 300 Chinese workers it had fired for lack of discipline. He cancelled an order for the ouster of Chinese student leaders who had taken part in the riot.

Meanwhile Communists have crept into the extreme left-wing People's Action party, which has three men in the Legislative Assembly. And 90 per cent of the population is Chinese. Red students campaigning for that party among these Chinese could be a real threat.

Mill Union Plans
To Ask Robeson
To Vancouver

ROSSLAND, B.C. (CP) - Singer Paul Robeson will be invited to stage a concert in Vancouver, Harvey Murphy, regional director of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), said Thursday.

Mr. Murphy is here attending the annual convention of the Mine-Mill union, which was ousted from the Canadian Congress of Labor in 1949 for alleged Communist leadership.

Mr. Murphy said the invitation will be extended Sunday to Robeson at a union-sponsored rally in Peace Arch Park near Blaine, Wash.

Robeson long has been identified with leftist causes. However, at Ottawa, immigration director C. E. S. Smith said the department understands Robeson will not seek entry to Canada.

He was granted permission by the U.S. earlier this week to travel to Canada but not to other countries.

5-Point Program
To Keep Freedom

LONDON (AP) - The Baptist World Alliance Thursday unanimously approved a five-point program to combat "the menace to freedom, basic human values, even Christianity itself."

The resolution was submitted and approved at the alliance's jubilee meeting in Albert Hall, attended by some 8,000 delegates from all over the world.

Before considering the resolution the delegates heard the Gospel preached by a Russian Baptist minister, Rev. Alexander Karev of Moscow.

FIVE PRINCIPLES

The resolution contained these five principles:

1. "That the right to be free is a gift from God to all men of whatever race and color."

2. "That a man's right to choose or change his faith must be preserved, as well as his liberty to dissent or to make objections because of conscience's sake."

3. "That toleration is not enough; that freedom to worship is not enough. As Baptists we seek not to be tolerated but to be accepted everywhere as equals in Christ with all the privileges and responsibilities of loyal citizens. What we desire for ourselves we would secure for others, both for Christians and non-believers."

4. "That real religious liberty guarantees not only freedom to worship privately and publicly, but the right to teach, preach, publish and advocate, openly and without hindrance, the Gospel of Christ, and other religious convictions."

5. "That our churches must be free from the interference of the state, that all our churches should, so far as the principles permit, abide by the laws of the state and loyally co-operate with the civil authorities in helping to create a community in which freedom of the press, speech and assembly and social righteousness will be assured."

The Eskimos, who came from the eastern Arctic sea, were flown by RCAF Dakota from Baffin Island and in 12 hours today. They were bewildered by the photographers and the bus waiting to take them on the last leg of the trip.

The Eskimos had left their homes near Probyer Bay, Baffin Island, when the temperature was in the low 40s. It was in the high 90s when they arrived here. Hamilton had a sizzling 100 in mid-afternoon.

Dr. T. McConachie of the sanatorium said it was the first time Eskimos have been flown here from their homes. He said the sanatorium now is used for treatment of the eastern Arctic Eskimos.

NEW YORK (AP) - Federal Judge John C. Knox has dismissed a $400,000 damage suit by Joseph Baker, Negro entertainer and French citizen, against Walter Winchell columnist, the Hearst Corp., and King Features Syndicate. The entertainer's lawyer did not file requested briefs.

Canadian-Born
Actor Drowns

CLAYTON, N.Y. (AP) - A 23-year-old Canadian-born actor, a member of the Thousand Islands Playhouse summer stock company, was drowned Thursday while swimming in the St. Lawrence river near here.

Police identified the victim as David Pelton, a native of Peterborough, Ont., now living in Greenboro, N. C.

Pelton, considered a strong swimmer, was under about half a mile from the mainland. He was swimming with another actor.

Pelton was playing the role of Duke in the playhouse's production of "Tobacco Road."

Two Granby Men
Go to Gallows
For Holdup Death

MONTREAL (CP) - Two men were hanged early today at grim, grey Bordeaux jail for the shooting of a bank manager in a holdup 19 months ago in the quiet little community of Notre Dame de Stanbridge.

Marcel Bouchard, 29, and Adrien Lebeau, 40, both of Granby-20 miles from the holdup scene and 50 miles from Montreal—were executed for a crime that netted them nothing.

Bouchard shot 53-year-old Ovide Courville and then fled empty-handed to a waiting car driven by Lebeau.

The two were picked up at Granby after a 48-hour hunt through the eastern townships area. Bouchard was the first to be executed. He climbed the scaffold, was bound and hooded by Quebec's official hangman and dropped at 1:15 a. m. He was hanged at 1:03 a. m. EDT.

Even before jail physician Dr. Marius Denis had pronounced Bouchard dead, Lebeau was led to an adjacent gallows and was hanged at 1:15 a. m. He was declared dead at 1:28.

As usual, there were none but official witnesses at the execution. Sheriff Paul Hureau announced afterwards the times of the deaths but gave no further details.

Courville's slaying shocked Notre Dame de Stanbridge. He had been manager of the Banque Canadienne Nationale branch there since 20 years. Hundreds of residents turned out for his funeral.

Reached for GUN
Courville was shot as he reached for a revolver to protect the money. As the bandits fled, he struggled with the telephone and told his brother Louis, "I've been shot; come quickly."

Within a half hour provincial police had set up road blocks and a province-wide alert had been sounded.

Toronto council said Thursday it was stepping up its program of water supply for every settled area of the Metro area may have unrestricted water supplies within five years.

Council promised tap water for all developed sections of metropolitan Toronto by mid-1956. It will spend $15,000,000 on extending water services in 1956 or more than double the $7,000,000 planned for this year.

The metropolitan area is consuming 200,000,000 gallons of water a day. Many suburbs have a shortage. In North York, water is banned for gardening purposes.

Painting Is Not
Missing Hogarth

NEW YORK (CP) - The Metropolitan Museum of Art has written Mrs. Edith Side in Wallaceburg, Ont., that it has not been able to recognize a painting belonging to her as a work of the 18th century English painter William Hogarth.

Mrs. Side furnished the museum with a photograph of the painting which she believed might be the lost of Hogarth's series of six titled "A Harlot's Progress."

A museum spokesman said the original paintings of this series are lost, but that engravings were made of them and many sets of prints are in existence. Museum experts said the details of Mrs. Side's painting do not correspond with prints of the Hogarth works.

At Wallaceburg, Mrs. Side said Thursday night she intends to keep after art authorities in the hope of learning whether or not the painting is a genuine Hogarth.

Mrs. Side said she had having new photographs of the picture taken in color and will submit them to the museum if they prove satisfactory.

Grants Increases
PITTSBURGH (AP) - U.S. Steel Corp. said Thursday it has given pay increases ranging from $4.60 to $11 a week to all salaried employees. The increases are retroactive to July 1.

The increase will give top-salaried employees a weekly pay of $142.28.

The steel firm, largest steel producer in the world, said the salary increases are comparable with an average of about 15 cents an hour given to hourly production workers July 1.

BRINGS HONOR TO HIS COUNTY

To say that Most Rev. William Lockridge Wright, D.D., Archbishop of Algoma, Metropolitan of Ontario (Church of England) brings honor to his native county of Hastings is obviously a truism.

Any man who rises to the eminence of Archbishop Wright is an honor to his birthplace and his achievements are a source of pride to other residents, past and present.

However, when Archbishop Wright was elected Grand Master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario, Hastings residents had a new cause for pride.

It is one thing for a man to rise to prominence in the profession of his choice. It is an even greater honor for that man to win the acclaim of his fellow men, in other professions and of other faiths, by his election to the most important office in an organization of the scope and with the high ideals of the Masonic Order.

Grand Master Wright will be flooded with congratulations. Perhaps he will permit us to add our own and those of all of the citizens of his native county.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE

The practice of some citizens of dumping their refuse into the nearest body of water has progressed from the stage of being a nuisance to that of being a menace.

The person or persons responsible for throwing worn-out automobile and truck tires into the Bay of Quinte may yet have a death on their conscience.

Such tires could easily upset a small boat, particularly if the lake is rough.

There is no more reason why a person should be permitted to dump rubbish into a river or a lake than why this same person should be free to turn a city street into a garbage dump.

Offenders should be prosecuted.

If the courts do hear such cases, however, the defendants can create an awkward situation for the prosecution.

They could point out that the chief offenders are municipalities—with their sewage.

HIGHWAY TRAMP

Rambling Rose of Haines City, Fla., was in Belleville, on Thursday morning.

She just paused long enough to get tanked up.

Rose has evidently been around, if we are to believe the story traced by a finger in the dirt on her back.

Oh? Oh, beg pardon, we forgot to explain that Rambling Rose is a truck, pulling a tractor trailer. On her was painted her name and home town, and on the trailer were scribbled names like Sioux City and El Paso, Texas, presumably places Rambling Rose had visited since her last bath.

Just what Rambling Rose was doing in Belleville we do not know, but from the attention being given her needs at a local service station it was evident that she was preparing to continue her journeys.

Rambling Rose looked like a tramp truck, corresponding to the tramp steamers which roam the high seas, final destination unknown, just picking up a cargo wherever they deliver their earlier one, sailing for any point on the globe.

There is no reason why there could not be a fleet of tramp trucks—except that governments have a habit of drawing up a fancy list of licences and allotting territory, a problem with which skippers of tramp steamers do not have to contend.

QUICK LUNCH

Newspapers are funny.

Morning papers publish their first editions in the evening, while evening papers first come off the presses in the morning.

In Toronto the two evening papers get out their first editions just in time for them to be snatched up by scurrying workers racing to grab a bite to eat at the noon hour.

The other day the readers of the Toronto Star were confronted by two banner lines across the front page of the first edition:

Ike, Zhukov Arrange Quick Lunch

In Effort to Speed Geneva Talks

Just the kind of story to whet one's appetite for a ham sandwich and a cup of coffee.

Order given, and the story. Ah—here it is.

No lunch mentioned in the double-column lead.

Here's that sandwich. Mmm—good.

Coffee's just right, too.

Now let's see—ah, yes, the story.

Munching and reading, the news-seeker reaches the bottom of the story.

Ah, yes, here it is, second paragraph down.

"Zhukov arrived at Eisenhower's villa on the shores of Lake Geneva in reply to the president's invitation of two days ago."

Two days ago! And that's worth two banner lines on the front page by Geneva standards!

For a real quick lunch, Ike and Zhukov should come to Toronto.

Come on, grab the cheque, push your way up to the cashier and let's hurry. We'll be late.

Passengers On Arctic Ship Will Be 'Vera' Dry

OTTAWA (CP)—The amount of liquor shipped on board the federal Arctic patrol ship C. D. Howe on last summer's cruise "does seem rather large," transport Minister Marler said Thursday.

But there are a number of explanatory factors, including the number of passengers and the nature of the voyage, he informed the Commons.

Mr. Marler was replying to opposition criticism of the fact that 200 dozen cans of beer and 66 cases of liquor, all duty-free, were shipped on board last year. None was returned after the three-month cruise through the eastern Arctic.

He said the ship's crew varied from 65 to 75 persons. When it left Quebec City it had 32 passengers and during the trip there were as many as 104 additional passengers.

DRY SUMMER

Mr. Marler also remarked that passengers wouldn't have much to occupy them on a northern cruise and there would be "greater opportunity for cocktail hours."

This year, however, the captain had been told not to take aboard alcohol for the benefit of passengers.

"It does promise to be a dry summer," he said.

A government report Wednesday said that besides the beer last year there was one case of creme de menthe, 13 cases of scotch, 32 of rum, five of rye, eight of gin, five of cognac and two of liqueur.

Member Protests Layoff of CNR Track Workers

OTTAWA (CP)—Layoffs of CNR track maintenance workers in western Ontario were criticized yesterday by H. O. White, Progressive Conservative member for Mid-West.

He asked in the Commons whether any contracts to do the same work have been let to the R. F. Welch Construction Co., which has held a number of similar contracts in western Canada.

Mr. White said he understands that since then more contracts have been let to the Welch company.

Other opposition members said earlier in the session that some CNR maintenance workers in western Canada were replaced by low paid immigrant workers hired by the Welch company.

Transport Minister Marler said he understands some small contracts have been let by the CNR to the Welch firm. He did not specify where.

Man Arrested For Manslaughter

SUDBURY (CP)—After two weeks of investigation, Martin Charles Delyea, 45, of suburban Neelon township, was arrested Wednesday by city police on a charge of manslaughter.

Police charge he was involved in an assault July which resulted in the death of Jules Lefebvre, 58, of Sudbury.

Lefebvre was found lying injured on a city street. He died three days later.

Delyea is being held without bail. He was remanded one week when he appeared in magistrate's court this morning.

Knights Templar Will Convene

TORONTO (CP)—Six hundred Knights Templar from Canada and the United States will visit Toronto next month for the 2nd annual assembly of the Sovereign Great Priory of Canada, it was announced today.

Toronto residents may see some of the pageantry of the 800-year-old freemason organization in a colorful parade Aug. 7. Annual selection of the Queen of the Knights Templar and election of other officers will feature the three-day meeting.

In Canada there are 72 preceptories and more than 13,000 Knights Templar. The Toronto and Hamilton preceptories will mark their 100th anniversaries in conjunction with the assembly.

No By-Elections

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier E. C. Manning said Wednesday he has no intention of calling by-elections to try to find seats for three cabinet ministers defeated in the June 23 Alberta general election.

Mr. Manning said he hoped to have the cabinet situation settled before the end of the month.

Paper Mills Made Quieter

OWA (CP)—A Russian-born Canadian scientist has found a way to eliminate much of the noise in the huge, roaring machines of the paper mills.

The National Research Council scientist, Dr. George Thiesen, has devised a complex mathematical formula for re-arranging thousands of suction holes on one of the machine cylinders called a "couch roll."

This roll is extremely noisy but when the holes are rearranged and the cylinder moves at the right speed range, "the sound waves interfere with each other and nearly all of the noises are cancelled out," the council said in a statement Thursday.

Dr. Thiesen, 42, emigrated to Canada from Russia in 1923. He received his training at the University of Saskatchewan and Columbia University. He is head of NRC's acoustics group in the applied physics division.

Woman Slain In Kitchen, Husband Held

WINDSOR (CP)—Police in Sandwich East township said Thursday night Mrs. Alda Casey, 56, was found slain in her kitchen.

Police said they are holding her husband, Simon, 57, for questioning. No further information was released by police. Simon, a carpenter's mate, was taken by police to hospital and treated for cut hands.

The couple was married last year. The dead woman's previous husband died in 1940. She had four children by her previous marriage. Simon has three sons by a previous marriage. All live in the Windsor district.

Company Contests Union's Claim On Strike Vote

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que. (CP)—A conflicting statement by Consolidated Paper Corporation has added to a lengthy and confused labor situation in this central Quebec industrial district.

The statement, issued Thursday night by Wilfrid Mosher, manager of Consolidated Paper's Belgo mill, denied a claim by the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor that 95 per cent of the workers at the Shawinigan Falls mill voted to continue a month-long work stoppage.

"We disbelieve their statement entirely," Mosher said. "Because our average working force is around 850 in normal times and there are 375 people still at work in the mill."

Mosher's statement came in the wake of rival charges by the National Federation of Pulp and Paper Workers (CNCL), whose locals in Shawinigan Falls and Grand-mere were decertified last week by the Quebec labor relations board, and the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (AFL-TCU).

EACH MAKE CHARGES

Philippe Lessard, national federation president, charged the American Federation of Labor with "raiding" the membership in Shawinigan Falls.

Marcel Franco, director of services for the international brotherhood, countered by saying the workers want peace and a labor contract which the national federation can no longer provide.

"In any event," Franco added, "all we (the international brotherhood) are doing is taking back members that the federation stole from us about a dozen years ago. That organization was formed from a nucleus of our own members."

The QLRB announced last week that three CNCL syndicates—representing the two Consolidated Paper mills and the Shawinigan Falls plant of Dupont of Canada—were being decertified for illegal work stoppages.

Winnipeg RCAF Command Charge Is Announced

OTTAWA (CP)—A change in command for RCAF station Winnipeg was announced today by air force headquarters.

Group Capt. R. B. Inglis, 41, of Brantford, commanding officer of the station since January, 1953, has been appointed director of air intelligence at air force headquarters. He will be succeeded by Group Capt. G. F. Jacobsen, 38, of Winnipeg, who has been assistant to the director of strategic air plans at RCAF headquarters here. The change is effective July 23.

LITTLE AGREEMENT AT GENEVA, BUT DISCUSSIONS CONTINUE

Before sitting down to a session of the Big Four conference in Geneva, the principals pored over this picture. Left to right are Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, President Eisenhower, French Premier Edgar Faure and British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden. Though reports indicate disagreement on many issues, there is evidence that both Russia and the West wish to keep the discussions alive.

No Whitewashing In Ferry Case Marler Promises

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Marler says there will be no whitewashing by the government of the controversy over the planning of the Port aux Basques harbor facilities for the Nova Scotia-Newfoundland William Carson ferry service.

He told the Commons Thursday that a competent expert he will hire to advise on what should be done about the disputed harbor works will have no attachment to the CNR or federal departments involved in the project. These departments are public works and transport.

"I prefer to have someone who will not be labelled afterwards as having whitewashed anything that was done in connection with Port aux Basques," he said.

Mr. Marler announced to the House Wednesday his intention to hire the expert. Thursday, he said he hopes the expert's services can be engaged this week or next.

CLAIMS GROSS BLUNDER

He was replying to Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quebec) who said a gross blunder was made in planning the harbor facilities. Mr. Green said the transport department should take the blame and that someone in the department or in some branch of it "needs to have a going-over."

The $500-ton ferry, built at a cost of $11,500,000 to ply between North Sydney, N.S., and Port aux Basques, Nfld., was completed recently. However, it will go into service initially between North Sydney and Argentina, Nfld., because the CNR, which will operate the ferry for the government, has expressed reservations as to whether she would be safe in Port aux Basques harbor in bad weather.

Mr. Marler said the new ferry service has cost an estimated $21,700,000 to date. This included $11,500,000 for the Carson, $6,334,000 for terminal facilities at Port aux Basques, $280,000 for dredging in Port aux Basques harbor and $3,646,000 for terminal facilities at North Sydney.

Rush's Widow Applies for Job

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Allan J. Rush, widow of the former London mayor who died while serving as head of the Dearness Home for Senior Citizens, Thursday submitted her application for the superintendent's position.

Ald. Ray Dennis, chairman of the home's board of management, said he had received no indication that Mrs. Rush was interested in the job. He said he would call members of the board together next week and recommend a joint meeting with city council to deal with the selection of a superintendent.

Vandals Wreck Windsor's Parks

WINDSOR (CP)—City parks manager Charles Cook said Thursday acts of vandalism have caused damage estimated at "many hundreds of dollars" at local parks within the past few weeks.

At one park the Windsor Optimist Club had spent $8,000 on a building which was still not completed, he said.

"It's a shambles," Cook said. "Every window has been broken and every door smashed."

At other parks teeter-totters, slides, volleyball standards and refreshment booths have been damaged.

Massey-Harris Makes Offer

TORONTO (CP)—A package deal including an hourly wage increase of three cents was offered members of the United Auto Workers of America (CIO-CCL) Thursday by Massey-Harris-Ferguson Ltd., to all its employees.

The offer came after two days of bargaining talks under provincial government conciliator A. C. Dennis. It would bring the company's basic labor rate to $1.44. C. B. C. Scott, director of industrial relations, said.

He said the offer, affecting all the company's Canadian plants and works, is "under consideration" by the union. Negotiations have continued since May 3 with the union asking for a 10-cent-an-hour increase in the basic rate, plus other benefits.

Kingston Tries Experiment For Play-Goers

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Kingston is in for a new experiment—theatre in the half-shell.

For production of the Victorian farce "Arabian Nights" the end of July, the Dominion theatre company plans to have the stage set only with flats and an arch. The audience will be seated in a semi-circle raised above the stage.

Gordon Robertson, company director, said the company is not entirely enthusiastic—but they are willing to go along with it.

Robertson returned to Canada three years ago, after five years on the English stage, planning to establish a theatre company in his home town of Kingston.

But he and his English wife, actress Valerie Pearson found several obstacles.

Interest in drama was active but so was the competition. They found a good part of the local talent and players siphoned off by one professional company, and two amateur groups.

DOUBLE BILL

The Dominos first play was staged at a local movie house along with a double bill of cops-and-robbers films. It was the only place they could find and Robertson said "it was a highly amusing mistake—the double bill and Sartre just didn't mix."

The company rose to prominence in 1954 when it appeared at the Dominion Drama Festival with the Sygne drama "Playboy of the Western World." Robertson won the award for best actor that year.

Kingston city council gave the group space in Portsmouth town hall, an old, crumbling limestone structure with old world charm.

The hall seats only 150—so plays will run for a week. If "Theatre in the half shell" is a success the Dominos hope to stage more productions—"Ring Around the Moon" which they consider their greatest popular success, and "Much Ado About Nothing," their first crack at Shakespeare.

PLAN TAFT MEMORIAL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate rules committee Wednesday approved unanimously a proposal to erect a $1,000,000 bell tower on the Capitol grounds as a memorial to the late Senator Robert A. Taft.

Plans call for a white marble shaft, rising 115 feet from the grounds of front plaza, to house the bells which will ring out in tribute to the late Ohio Republican who was majority leader in the Senate at his death on July 31, 1953.

Burns Remains As Palestine Truce Supervisor

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld today announced a one-year extension in the term of Canada's Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns as chief of the United Nations truce supervision organization in Palestine.

At the same time Hammarskjöld made public a letter to the 58-year-old Ottawa officer in which he expressed appreciation for Burns' efforts "to maintain and strengthen" the work of the truce organization.

The general was originally appointed chief of staff of the UN body last Aug. 11 after serving as deputy minister of veterans affairs in Ottawa.

IMPORTANT ASSET

His calmness of manner is an important asset in the sensitive job of attempting to reconcile conflicts between Arabs and Jews on Israel's frontiers. Most violent of several outbreaks he had to deal with during his first year occurred last February in the Gaza strip, between Israel and Egypt, when 39 Egyptians and eight Israelis were killed.

Recently Burns has apparently made progress in soothing over the bitterness that incident provoked. Since June 28 he has presided over eight meetings between Israeli and Egyptian delegates aimed at reducing tension in the strip, and after one session this week he told reporters "there is nothing to prevent agreement."

The parties are "getting closer each time we meet," Burns said, adding that he felt more optimistic now than when the talks began.

Burns, who commanded the 1st Canadian Corps in Italy during the Second World War and later served as a member of Canada's UN delegation, proposed a four-point peace plan when the Palestine talks began in a bullet-scarred hut on the armistice line.

JOINT PATROLS

The plan called for joint patrols of the border, a local agreement between commanders on both sides, creation of barbed wire between the zones and employment only of regular troops in forward areas.

Burns' proposals were endorsed by the UN Security Council, to which he reported personally following the Gaza clash. At least one of them, the local commanders' agreement, appears to have been largely accepted by the two sides.

They have agreed to permit their senior officers to meet on border problems and have arranged for them to keep in telephone contact.

Heads Canadian Mill Workers

ROSSLAND, B. C. (CP)—Nels Thibault of Sudbury Thursday was elected president of the newly-formed Canadian section of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

Thibault was unopposed after B. C. regional director Harvey Murphy declined nomination. Murphy was installed by acclamation as western vice-president.

The Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union was ousted from the Canadian Congress of Labor in 1949 for alleged Communist leadership.

Canada's 'Cathy' In Semi-Finals 'Miss Universe'

LONG BEACH, Calif. (CP)—Canada's Cathy Diggles, a Junoesque northern Ontario girl from North Bay, was one of 13 beauties from all over the world who Thursday night won their way into the Miss Universe beauty contest semi-finals.

Cathy, who won the Miss Toronto title after leaving North Bay, will be among the girls who tonight will parade for hours before a panel of judges, with the first elimination parring the group to five finalists for the "Universe" title.

The other semi-finalists are from Argentina, Belgium, Brazil, Ceylon, El Salvador, England, Germany, Guatemala, Honduras, Japan, Norway, Sweden, the United States and Venezuela.

FAVOR SWEDEN

A reporter asked all 15 in the group for their choice as winner. The answer was practically unanimous—Miss Sweden. She is Hillevi Rombin, a buxom, short-haired blonde who wears a bathing suit as if it were sprayed on her.

Miss Sweden fits the pattern of previous Miss Universe winners. The judges, virtually the same year after year, lean toward the wholesome, milkmaid type of beauty. Miss Diggles measures 38 inches in the bust—a statistic that is better than an Oscar in Hollywood. Miss Guatemala also is on the bosomy side. Her fact sheet lists her at 36 inches but observers believe there's at least a two-inch slighting there. Miss Germany has the thinnest

Weddings

BARRY-CHAMBERS

The Salvation Army Citadel, Tweed, Ontario, was the scene of a pretty summer wedding on Saturday, July 16, at 2:00 p.m., when Lieutenant William L. Brown, of Bowmanville, Ontario, united in marriage Margaret Frances Chambers, of Tweed, daughter of Mrs. Lois Chambers, and the late Mr. Oscar Chambers, to Edward James Barry, of Oshawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Barry. The Citadel was profusely decorated with roses, a variety of cut flowers under the sponsorship of the ladies of the Home League.

Mrs. G. Morton rendered the wedding music. Miss Lois Fisher accompanied Mrs. Lieutenant Brown, who sang "O Perfect Love" and the "Wedding Prayer". Given in marriage by Mr. Edward Sextsmith, of Toronto, the bride was charmingly attired in white frosted nylon, made by the bride's mother, featuring a basque waist with sweetheart neckline, and full skirt in ballerina length. She wore a fingertip veil gathered to a ribbon band seeded with pearls, matching gloves, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. A single strand of pearls completed her ensemble.

Miss Joyce Sinclair, of Tweed, cousin of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid, was gowned in princess style green brocade satin with fitted bodice having a scoop neckline and cap sleeves. The circular skirt was gracefully full. She wore a bandana of ruffled matching nylon net dotted with crystal beads, white gloves, and shoes and carried a bouquet of yellow mums.

Little Wanda Sinclair, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl, sweet in her short pink nylon frock with full skirt, accented by a floral panel in front, and pink velvet tie sash adorned with flowers. She wore a braided nylon net headress sprinkled with rhinestones, white nylon gloves and shoes, and carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and roses.

Mr. Calvin Sinclair, of Oshawa, attended his cousin, while Mr. Glen Chambers, brother of the bride, and Mr. Bob Brown, nephew of the bridegroom, were the ushers.

The reception, which followed the ceremony, was held at St. John's United church hall, where the bride's mother, attired in navy linen with white and beige colored accessories and corsage of red roses, received the guests. The bridegroom's mother assisted in receiving, wearing navy crepe with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Williamsport and Pennsylvania, U.S., the bride chose a turquoise-colored dress with a feathered hat, white accessories and corsage of yellow mums. Mr. and Mrs. Barry will reside in Hamilton, Ontario, upon their return.

Guests were present from Oshawa, Ajax, Harold and Toronto.

New Wonder Fabric
Textile Tycoon Treats Fashion Editors to Lavish 19-Hour Party

By SYLVIA HACK

Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP)—The millionaire textile tycoon was ready to introduce his wonder fabric so he threw an airborne party for 30 fashion editors. And it lasted 19 hours!

Cyril Lord, owner of 150 British mills, shuttled his press passengers over 100 miles of England and Ireland to show them taho, a shantung-like cloth claimed to be "one of the fabric successes of the century."

The material, soon to be sold in Canada, has the warm touch of silk but is said to be washable and crease resisting. "The exotic name comes from the Chinese word for cannon—"because it will go with a bang."

Lord sent his lavish presentation party aloft at 7 a.m. with a flight from London to Manchester to inspect four Midland mills. Next stop was Lord's large home at Donaghadee, 20 miles east of Belfast, North Ireland, and then on to the newly-purchased Pig n' Chick'n Inn at Templepatrick for a moonlight supper.

The yawning newspaper women arrived back in London at 2 a.m. The next day and nine hours later they trudged into the first taho fashion show in a plush Mayfair club.

salon. The 100-per-cent acetate rayon material is made in two weights, a light variety for frocks, shirts and skirts and a heavier type for suits, rainwear, shoes and gloves.

Several top London couturiers have already adopted taho and their creations were displayed at the Mayfair show.

Michael Sherard showed a tailored suit in citron yellow. The jacket has black velvet collar and cuffs and the pencil-slim skirt features a fantail of pleats at the back.

A middy suit by Sybille et Cie comes in royal blue with a novelty drop shoulder line and diablo bodylene. Tie, hat and umbrella cover come in blue and white polka-dot taho.

Before turning his guests loose, Lord offered some statistics on the state of the Lancashire textile industry, a question which was well debated in the recent general election.

He said the industry, now only a quarter of its pre-war size, turns out 2,400,000,000 yards of woven material. Some 400,000,000 yards are exported.

But Britain, he said, annually imports about 700,000,000 yards of fashion show in a plush Mayfair club.

Women's Institute

IVANHOE W.I.

The July meeting of Ivanhoe W.I., was held recently at the summer home of Mr. P. M. Wood, Moira Lake, with an attendance of 23 adults and ten children.

After a delicious pot-luck dinner, the president Miss Jayne Gay, opened the meeting.

It was proposed that the Institute would sponsor a bus trip to Toronto exhibition. The arrangements were left in the hands of the executive.

An interesting report on her three-day trip to Guelph attending the officers' conference, was given by Mrs. John McInroy.

Boating and swimming were enjoyed.

Mrs. William Shaw, on behalf of W.I. members, extended a hearty vote of thanks to the general host and Mr. Wood in reply stated this was the fourth annual picnic held at his cottage and it gave him a great deal of pleasure, and invited everyone to come back next year. The members left for home feeling it was a pleasant way of spending the day together.
